Council Votes Support Of Medical Facilities

A resolution of support for the sale of $800,000 in supplementary bonds for the construction of a new medical office addition to Northwestern hospital was passed by the Thief River Falls city council during an adjourned regular meeting in the city auditorium council chambers Tuesday night.

A bond election will be held Thursday, July 17 from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m., instead of July 15, the date set by the council last week, because legal notice of the election was not published two weeks in advance of the voting, as is required by law. Voters have already approved a bond sale of $2 million, but construction bids on the project came in well above that figure, and the hospital requested a referendum to permit acquisition at the extra funds to begin the project.

Early in the meeting last night, the councilmen voiced unanimous support for the project, but alderman William Penning indicated he had not seen enough statistical data to justify a vote in favor of the resolution. Specifically, Penning questioned the hospital's ability to repay the debt to be incurred by the supplementary bond issue (the Farmers Home administration will purchase the city's bonds at five per cent interest with a 30 year repayment period).

To answer Penning's queries, Marvin Lundin, hospital board chairman, and Norman P. Peterson, hospital executive vice president, produced a study prepared by T. G. Evenson and company bonding consultants in 1973, which stated that based on present operations, at that time the hospital could afford an annual additional debt repayment of about $110,000. The hospital representatives said that allowing for depreciation and third party payments, the hospital's annual obligation for the new addition would be $102,000.

Nearly an hour was spent discussing this figure and other details of the hospital's bond redemption schedule; but finally, although Penning had difficulty accepting some of the figures presented before the council, he voted in favor of the resolution, moved by Fred Sorensen and seconded by Milton Reierson, supporting the medical office building and supplemental bond issue. Mayor Robert Carlson, apparently representing the majority of the councilmen, endorsed the character of the citizens on the hospital board and indicated his trust in their judgment.

In other matters, the council passed a resolution requesting the Pennington county board of commissioners to proceed with an investigation into the discovery and acquisition of an approvable solid waste landfill site within the county. The results of the investigation is expected to assist the county in arriving at a decision whether to participate in a regional solid waste management system.

At a meeting with Soo Line officials June 18, the council was requested to pass a resolution that would allow Soo Line trains to pass through the city at speeds in excess of 10 miles per hour on First, Third and Eighth streets in order to help prevent future traffic delays caused by slow

Strike Delays Law Enforcement Center Start

Construction of the Pennington county law enforcement center has been delayed due to a general strike by state construction unions against associated general contractors. Representatives of the unions and the contractors have been unable to decide on a new contract for this year, an agreement which was scheduled to have been reached by April 30.

On Monday of last week—the day Loeffel-Engstrand construction of Hopkins was to have begun the law enforcement center project—the construction unions, including carpenters and bricklayers, walked off the job.

Hugh Swift, Crookston, president of the Minnesota state council of carpenters, said the unions' dispute with the contractors centered on the laguage of the proposed contract, rather than money, and complained that the contractors have not shown sufficient interest in bargaining.

Terry Webb of Loeffel-Engstrand, who will be supervising the law enforcement center project, said he knew very little about the reasons for the dispute, but that he anticipated it would be resolved within a month.

Judging Contest Being Planned For County Fair

Judging contest for adults, 4-H club and Future Farmers of America members has been scheduled as a new event at the Pennington county fair this year. It will be jointly sponsored by the 4-H and FFA.

According to Duane Wastweet, FFA advisor, the competition will be for both individuals and three-member teams in all three classes. Beef animals, sheep and hogs will be judged in the event and are counties may also be invited to participate.

Date for the judging contest has been set for Friday, August 1, at 10 a.m., the day following judging of 4-H club, FFA and open class exhibits.

Corbid To Ride In Parade Sat.

State representative John Corbid is scheduled to ride in the Thief River Falls Jaycees aquacade parade beginning Saturday at 1 p.m. The parade is one of many events scheduled during the aquacade this weekend.

Among the 55 units included in the parade are: Three floats constructed by city boy scouts; several antique cars; six out of town princesses; aquacade pageant queen candidates; and marching bands from Lincoln and Plummer schools.

NEW PRESIDENT of the Thief River Falls board of education is Clyde Christensen, elected to succeed Wallace Sparby at the reorganizational meeting of the board last night. Maynard Wedul succeeds Christensen as vice president, Larry McDowell succeeds Harry Sjulson as clerk and Robert Sorvig replaces Kenneth Murphy as treasurer. Other information from the reorganizational meeting will be published in Monday's edition of the Times.

All units wishing to participate in the parade must meet at the point of departure at Kinney avenue and west Third street by 12:15 p.m. The parade will proceed down Third street to Horace avenue, head north on Horace for one block and then return on Fourth street. After the parade refreshments will be served to the participants at the starting point.

A children's theatre production of "The Ugly Duckling", staged by the Northland summer theatre company will be held at 11 a.m. on the grounds of the Northland community college campus. Admission is 25 cents per person.

At 8 p.m. Saturday the Miss Thief River Falls pageant at the Lincoln high school auditorium will feature eight contestants vying for the title held by Queen Sharon Lindeman. Contestants will be judged in swimsuit, talent and evening gown competition and Sharon Lindeman will also perform.

Sunday events will include an afternoon of free festivities at LaFave park. At 1 p.m. the Prior Lake Water Ski exhibition will perform a series of ski stunts. At 5 p.m. karate instructor A. S. Dicken of Thief River Falls will give a martial arts exhibition. The city band will give its second performance of the season at 7 p.m. At 7:30 p.m. the pop group "Midnight Special" will offer youths music to dance to, and fireworks will conclude the day's activities at approximately 10:30 p.m.

Some aquacade events will be held prior to the weekend. Water fights will be held Thursday at 8:30 p.m. on Second street between Knight and Duluth avenues.

At 10 a.m. July 4 a 4-H horse show will be held at the Pennington county fairgrounds.

Fire, Floods And Wind Make News In Times Area During The Week

Fire, wind and water all made news in the Times area during the past several days. While area residents worried about the stormy weather which has been the rule here since the end of last week, torrential rains fell in several areas and a spectacular fire destroyed a Thief River Falls business place.

Fire reported at 11:45 p.m. Tuesday at B & M Feeds on north Davis avenue destroyed the building and contents. Gary Boughton, owner of the business since March of 1974, said a conservative estimate of loss of elevator, equipment, fixtures and inventory would be $100,000. He added that replacement cost would be considerably above that figure. The Purina dealership operated out of the former Shetler feed mill building.

Fire chief Duane Noel said that heavy rain and hail pouring down when he arrived at the fire, drenching him as soon as he stepped from his car. The rain likely did help prevent spread of the fire to older residences and other commercial property in the area as sparks billowed from the burning building.

About 20 firemen were on the scene during the fire, directing seven streams of water from the front and rear of the building. Three fire trucks and hydrant connections at Atlantic and Sixth, Davis and Sixth and Davis and Seventh were used to contain the fire to the single business.

While firemen were battling the B & M fire, calls were also received by the department from Farmers Union elevator and a residence at Seventh and Main. Both of these proved to be false alarms. In the first instance an automatic alarm had apparently been triggered by an unknown cause. In the second a homeowner apparently smelled smoke from the elevator blaze and called the fire department, then began looking for an expected home fire.

Boughton said his company had a fireproof safe which had not been opened this morning but is expected to have protected the company records. He said that temporary offices had been offered by the Ed J. Lyng sunflower company just south of the burned building, and that headquarters would be established there. Boughton termed work of the fire department as "fantastic" and expressed his appreciation for efforts by the firemen and concern shown by others during and following the fire.

Patrick Barry, deputy state fire marshal located in Thief River Falls, began investigation this morning to attempt to determine the cause of the fire.

Based on investigation which showed the upper area of the building to be most heavily charred, and an area resident's report of hearing lightning strike prior to seeing the elevator on fire, probable cause of the fire has been listed as lightning.

Farmland flooding became the rule in areas north and east of Thief River Falls last night following exceptionally heavy rains in the Holt and Goodridge area. These rains compound the problems already experienced by farmers south and east of Goodridge where heavy rains and hail over the weekend were expected to cause severe crop damage.

Reports late this morning indicate that flooding is extensive in the area north of Thief River Falls. The Soo Line railroad is reportedly washed out about 10 miles north of Thief River Falls and water is also flowing across highway 59 in that area.

Stan Holmaas of Newfolden reported that the fire department there had been busy pumping basements but had now abandoned that effort as the east side of the community is flooding. Albert Larson, who lives a short distance from Stan's Grocery, was taken from his home by boat this morning because water covered the floor of his home.

Soo Line officials said that train traffic has been interrupted by the washout and that work crews are waiting for water to begin to recede before attempting to crib the washout and fill it with rock presently on track in Thief River Falls.

Dearle Henry, who farms in the Mavie area northwest of Goodridge, said that an

FIRE!

FLOOD!

FLOOD WATERS from the heavy rain which struck the area north of Thief River Falls last night are flowing over Marshall county road 7 and state highway 59 at the intersection about four miles south of Newfolden and four miles west of Holt. Flooding is also reported in the city of Newfolden where most of the east side of the community is said to be under water and at least one person has been evacuated from his home. Rainfall at Holt yesterday and last night was measured at 8.65 inches. This Times photo was taken about 12:30 p.m. today.

WIND!

HIGH WINDS gusting at over 70 knots (approximately 85-90 miles per hour) caused considerable property damage at several Thief River Falls residences early Monday morning. At approximately 5 a.m. a tree collapsed over the roof and front entrance of the Marvin Hink trailer home, located on rural route 3 near the airport. Although the act caused extensive damage, no one was injured.

St. Hilaire And Plummer Plan Celebrations

Fourth of July celebrations at St. Hilaire and Plummer will add to area festivities on Friday. Fourth of July events at Newfolden have been announced in previous issues of the Times.

Plummer's "Alive in '75" event will begin with a queen parade Thursday with the main parade to be held at 11 a.m. Friday, featuring the Elks motor patrol unit of Fargo, N.D. A fiddler's contest will be held at 8 p.m. in the school gymnasium with a dance to follow the contest.

On Saturday a dance featuring the Stardust Playboys will be held at the Plummer hall and Sunday will be kiddies' day with a parade and contest.

At St. Hilaire the activities will be confined to Friday with a full day of events scheduled. Horseshoe games will be in progress all day and concession stands will be in operation. A canoe relay will begin at 9:30 a.m. and children's games will begin at 11 a.m., the same time as the start of go-cart races.

At 1 p.m. a kiddies' parade will be held, followed at 1:30 p.m. by the main parade. A tug of war between the Jaycees of Thief River Falls and a St. Hilaire group will begin at 2:30 p.m. and a water fight between St. Hilaire and Red Lake Falls is slated for a 3:30 p.m. start.

At 4:30 p.m. a demolition derby will be held and the concluding event will be a dance from 8 p.m. to midnight with music by the "Country Four". Fireworks display will be held beginning at 9:30 p.m.

Registration times have been set at 8 to 9 a.m. for the canoe relay, 8:30 to 10 a.m. for the go-cart races and 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. for the demolition derby.

'Ugly Duckling' To Be Performed Here Saturday

Having completed a successful run of Edgar Lee Masters' "Spoon River Anthology", the Northland summer theatre company will perform again Saturday morning . . . this time with the children's classic "The Ugly Duckling" by A. A. Milne.

Billed as "A children's story which will appeal to young and old alike", the play is a story of a young princess and the unusual spell cast on her which causes her beauty to be hidden until she marries a prince. The play, one of Milne's few, contains the charm and warm comedy of Milne's classic "Winnie the Pooh", according to director Michael Tillman.

The company will perform the play at 11 a.m. on Saturday on the Northland community college lawn. Admission is set at 25 cents per person. If it rains, the play will be moved into the college commons. According to Tillmann, the play is about 45 minutes long, so parents will have time to get children from the play and to the Aquacade parade with no difficulty.

The cast for "The Ugly Duckling" includes Charles Erickson, Donna Keck, Jane Olson, Jan Swanson, Billy Saetre, Joel Peterson and Paul Mehrkens. The play is being performed in cooperation with the Jaycees and Mrs. Jaycees as part of their 1975 Aquacade festivities. Original fliers had indicated that the play would begin at 4 p.m., but the new performance time of 11 a.m. was chosen instead to allow area citizens to take in all Aquacade activities. Tickets will be sold at the performance.

City Youth Ends Treasure Hunt

Miles Lund, 14, of Thief River Falls ended the Jaycee Aquacade treasure hunt Wednesday morning when he found the prize, a $100 certificate, lodged underneath the concrete steps on the east side of the old city arena.

Donald Grabanski, chairman of the treasure hunt, said Miles was not seeking the treasure, but "just happened to stumble into it."

County Board Asks For Report On Rain Problem

In a special meeting Tuesday in the county courthouse, the Pennington county board of commissioners requested that the county disaster committee investigate reports of flooding and crop damage caused by the heavy rainfall this week.

County auditor C. W. Rodekuhr said the commissioners will await a report of the committee's findings and then call another special meeting to discuss possible action on the matter.

The disaster committee, authorized by the federal government, is composed of personnel from the county's extension office, ASCS, SCS and FHA.

Mary Kay Mehus Weds Robert Rasmussen In TRF

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rasmusson are at home in Cohasset following an exchange of marriage vows on Saturday, May 10, at 7 p.m., at the Evangelical Free church in Thief River Falls.

Mrs. Rasmusson is the former Mary Kay Mehus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Mehus of Thief River Falls. Mr. and Mrs. David Rasmusson of West Cohasset are the parents of the groom.

Rev. Ivan Carlson officiated at the ceremony. Acolytes were the bride's cousins, Debbie and Millie Jean Reierson. At the organ was Mrs. Naomi Lindquist of this city. She presented a program of nuptial selections as the guests were ushered in by Timothy Mehus, brother of the bride, and Larry Tupper of Cohasset, brother-in-law of the groom. For the processional, she played "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring." The recessional was "To God be the Glory."

Grace Hanson provided the piano accompaniment for the bride's cousins; Don Reierson, as he sang "Wedding Song," and Lori Wood of Pembina, N.D., as she sang, "The Lord Is Our Shepherd." During the ceremony, the groom sang, "Follow Me," "One With You," and a song which he had composed especially for their wedding day. The ceremony concluded with Renae Trontvet, Grace Hanson and Debbie Trontvet singing, "Trust in the Lord."

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. She was attired in a floor-length gown which she had designed and which had been made by her aunt, Mrs. Gordon Reierson of this city. The gown, fashioned of white satin, featured long puffy sleeves with lace trim on the cuffs, at the V neckline and on the high-rise waistline. Her pearl-trimmed Juliette headpiece held a veil of imported silk illusion. She carried an arrangement of pink roses accented with white daisies and gypsohilia.

The bride's personal attendants were Connie Olson of Minneapolis and Mrs. Connie Tupper, of Cohasset, a sister of the groom.

Maid of honor was Miss Renae Trontvet of Thief River Falls. Serving as bridesmaids were Misses Lorna Hanson of Thief River Falls, Miss Mary Aaker of St. Hilaire and Miss Phyllis Rasmusson of West Cohasset, a sister of the groom. All wore identical floor-length gowns of a floral print jersey, styled in shirtwaist fashion. To complement their gowns, they wore straw hats trimmed with a large pink rose and pink streamers, and carried baskets filled with pink roses. Their necklaces were gifts from the bride.

Best man was Justin Peterson of Cohasset. Serving as groomsmen were Harlan Severson of Anchorage, Alaska, Stephen Mehus, brother of the bride, and Dennis Rasmusson, the groom's brother.

Following the ceremony, the parents of the bride hosted a reception in the church parlors. Host and hostess were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wessel of Thief River Falls. Mrs. Diane Rasmusson of Grand Rapids, sister-in-law of the groom, was at the guest book. Punch was served by Renae Twistol and Joyce Dahl Dalzell, friends of the bride.

Highlighting the serving table was a tiered wedding cake featuring a fountain with flowing water in the same shade of pink as the roses that decorated the cake. The cake was baked and decorated by Mrs. Martin Hanson, who together with Mrs. Rose Riffle of Iowa, cut and served it.

Pouring were aunts of the bride, Mrs Gordon Reierson and Mrs. Milton Reierson of this city. Virginia Reierson was at the gift table and Sharon Erickson, Barbara Erickson and Robyn Trontvet, served as waitresses.

The evening prior to the ceremony, the parents of the groom hosted the rehearsal dinner.

For her going away attire, the bride wore an aqua blue pant suit and blouse ensemble with a corsage of pink roses.

The bride is a graduate of Lincoln high school, attended Northland Community college, and is a graduate of Oak Hills Bible institute at Bemidji. Prior to her marriage, she was employed in Thief River Falls. The groom, a graduate of the Grand Rapids high school, is also a graduate of Oak Hills Bible institute. Both are employed in Grand Rapids, the bride at the J. C. Penney store and the groom with Sutherland Excavating. Photo, Neal Fox Studio.

Laura Dodds In Queen Contest

This is the sixth in a series of interviews with candidates for the Miss Thief River Falls title at the Jaycee Aquacade. The official Miss America preliminary pageant will be held Saturday, July 5, at the Lincoln high school auditorium.

When Laura Leslie Dodds of Red Lake Falls presents her talent number at the Jaycees Aquacade pageant on Saturday, the years spent in practicing piano lessons will be relived. Although she stated that music is her natural talent, her selection will represent hours of practicing piano lessons when her friends were free to pursue other activities. Considering her activities the time spent practicing was not a hindrance.

Through her elementary and high school years, she was active in the Girl Scouting program for 10 years, studied piano and organ, and was active in speech and drama club, was first chair flute in band, a member of the stage band, first alto in the chorus, and was a member of the pop choir and girls triple trio;

She was also active in the Spanish club, participated in two fall plays, one act plays and the school musical production of "Bye Bye Birdie", girls hockey, VICA, youth board, Tenn-Age Republicans serving as secretary, and was the high school member of the Community Youth council.

Her other activities include being Miss Red Lake Falls Sno-fest queen in 1975, alternate to Girls' State, alternate to All-State band, nominated to McDonald's All American band, secretary and president of the youth board, junior marshal of the 1974 Lafayette graduation, three-time winner of the Minnesota Music Teacher's association piano contest, been chosen to perform at the Piano Honors contest at the University of Minnesota three times, was an honor student, graduating with the class of 1975 at Lafayette high school in Red Lake Falls; and

In church, she has been Sunday school teacher, church organist and choir director.

She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dodds of Red Lake Falls and works as a salesperson in her father's drug store. She has a 14-year-old brother Mike, and two pets, a dog, Piper, and a cat, Lucifer.

Her hobbies include playing the piano and organ, reading, ice skating, cheerleading, and being a spectator at all sports. She plans to attend Moorhead State college where she will major in elementary education and minor in music and children's theater. She was the recipient of the Cum Laude scholarship from Moorhead State.

Miss Dodds, 17, is five feet seven inches, weighs 115 pounds.

Newcomers Club Will Include Craft Workshops

At the meeting of the Newcomers club held Tuesday at the City Auditorium, members discussed the possibility of spending their meetings in craft work when no special speaker or event is planned. It was decided that the articles made would be sold at Farmers Market.

One newcomer to this area attended the meeting as a guest. The newcomer was Mrs. Duane (Jill) Dick who moved here from Enderlin, N.D. She and her husband reside at the Red Carpet apartments.

An alumnus charm was presented to Faye Sexton, who also won the door prize. Carol Peterson served as hostess.

The next meeting of the Newcomers club will be held Tuesday at 8 p.m., at the Jane Shafland residence at 920 North Arnold. The meeting will include a craft workshop.

MARYA HALLSTROM will stress fashion designing and modeling as her talent presentation at the Jaycee Aquacade pageant Saturday evening in the Lincoln high school auditorium. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Hallstrom of rural Red Lake Falls, Marya is five feet five inches tall, weighs 115 pounds and has light brown hair and brown eyes.

Marya Hallstrom In Queen Event

(This is the seventh in a series of interview articles on candidates for the Miss Thief River Falls title at the Jaycee Aquacade Saturday evening. The Times regrets that time and space limitations did not permit the publication of an article on Nancy Gronlund of Verndale prior to the pageant.)

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

Sewing and modeling fashion garments has been a long-time activity for Marya Hallstrom, and she has sewn a number of items to be used in her talent presentation at the Miss Aquacade pageant Saturday evening.

Marya is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Hallstrom of rural Red Lake Falls and a 1975 graduate of Lincoln high school in Thief River Falls. She is 18 years old, five feet five inches tall, weighs 115 pounds and has light brown hair and brown eyes.

Her talent presentation will include modeling of a mix and match outfit which she has sewn, showing different ways in which it can be worn. Other garments that she has made will be on display as part of the presentation.

At Lincoln high school Marya was in pep club, usherettes, co-captain of the volleyball team, pep band, concert band and was sno-fest queen last year.

An active 4-H club member, she has won the county 4-H club dress revue title and has exhibited a number of champion entries at the county fair. She has been reporter, secretary and vice president of her 4-H club and secretary and president of her church Luther league.

Marya plans to major in home economics at North Dakota state university, specializing in fashion design. Her hobbies include cooking, sewing, skiing, snowmobiling and participating in or watching school sports.

She has two brothers, Greg and Dan, and a sister, Anita.

UMC Holding Class On Metric System July 10

A workshop on the metric system will be conducted on the campus of the University of Minnesota technical college at Crookston (UMC) on Thursday, July 10. The one-day seminar is designed to familiarize teachers of vocational agriculture, business people, and other interested parties with the conversion of common measurements into meters via the metric tables.

Dr. W. Forrest Bear, professor of agricultural engineering and agricultural education at the University of Minnesota at St. Paul, will lead the workshop, which will take place in Room 104, Owen hall annex, UMC, from 8:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. Registration fee for the workshop is $11, with books and other prepared materials costing $14.50 optional - but highly recommended. Further information about enrollment and subjects to be covered during the seminar may be obtained from the division of agriculture, UMC, phone number 281-6510, extension 202.

One of a series of professional improvement seminars being held around the state throughout the summer, the metrics workshop is being offered under the auspices of the office of special programs, agricultural extension service of the University of Minnesota. Dr. Bear has recently published worksheets and transparency masters on the metric system. He has also developed a number of teaching tools to help people learn to use metrical equivalents for standard U.S. measurements such as feet, yards, and pounds.

Legionnaires To Host Musical Spectacular

Some of the top junior and senior drum and bugle corps from across the nation will compete in the musical spectacular at Parade stadium, in downtown Minneapolis on Saturday, August 16 at 7 p.m. as a part of the national American Legion convention, according to William H. Miller, national convention director of the American Legion.

The musical spectacular units competing will be those drum and bugle corps which have survived the preliminary contest that are scheduled for Friday and Saturday to determine the finalists.

Tickets for this event, open to the general public, are $3.50 for reserved concert side, and $2.50 general admission and are available from William H. Miller, Leamington hotel, Minneapolis, 55404.

Sunday, August 17, the annual national convention parade of the American Legion will take place in downtown Minneapolis and is scheduled to step off at 2 p.m. It is projected that the parade will take five hours to complete, and will include delegations from all of the 50 states and the eight foreign departments of the American Legion.

The annual convention golf tournament for Legionnaires is scheduled for 9:30 a.m. at the Golden Valley country club. Interested Legionnaires should contact Miller about entry.

It is anticipated that 25 to 30,000 Legionnaires will be in attendance at this 57th national convention in the same city where the first national convention was held November 10-12, 1919.

Bald Tires Can Contribute To Loss Of Control

More than half a million automobiles in Minnesota are beginning the busy summer driving season rolling on one or more bald tires which could cause a serious accident, the tire industry safety council estimates.

"For one thing, bald tires have less than half the stopping ability of new tires on wet, slippery surfaces," explained council chairman Malcolm R. Lovell Jr., "and in sudden showers on crowded vacation roads you need all the car control you can get."

Minnesota has over 1,900,000 registered passenger cars, the federal highway administration reports.

Government studies show 30 per cent of the automobiles in use nationwide have at least one bald, or unsafe, tire. That would mean at least 570,000 cars in Minnesota with one or more bald tires.

Surveys show that while tires are involved in less than one per cent of all highway accidents more than half the tires that are involved are bald.

"Minnesota drivers put more than 18 billion miles on their cars last year," Lovell pointed out, "and many of them started each trip with at least one needless safety strike against them—bald tires."

Bald tires have been found to be up to 44 times more likely to have flats than new tires, according to the Council.

Federal regulations require that all passenger tires manufactured after August 1, 1968 have built-in treadwear indicators called "wear bars." They show up as smooth, ½ inch bands at intervals across the face of the tire when the tread gets down to a depth of 1-16 inch.

Minnesota is one of only twelve states that hasn't legally established a minimum safe tread depth standard yet, Lovell said.

The other eleven states are Alaska, Alabama, Arkansas, Arizona, Idaho, Missouri, Montana, New Mexico, North Dakota, Oregon and Tennessee.

If you suspect your tread is dangerously worn and you still don't see the wear bars, try the penny test, the Council says.

Insert a penny in the tire groove next to the suspected tread. If the top of Lincoln's head is still visible, the tire is worn beyond the 1-16 inch safe minimum tread depth.

The tire industry safety council has available a consumer tire guide containing tips on tire selection, care, safety and mileage.

moving trains. Last night the council complied with this request.

The council moved to terminate the employment of city community development director Terry A. Madson beginning July 15 for a period for one month, after which Madson will re-apply for employment with the city under the federal CETA program. Madson was originally hired as a CETA employee, but was later found to be ineligible for the program under regulations in force at the time. The council anticipates that as an unemployed county resident for one month, Madson would become eligible as a CETA employee. Under the CETA program, the federal government would refund to the city most of Madson's salary for the first year of employment.

Another resolution directed that a letter be sent to the manager and employees of the municipal liquor store directing them not to serve any customer whom they suspect to be under 18, under the legal drinking age. Two liquor store employees were recently taken to court on charges of selling liquor to a minor.

U Researcher Awarded March Of Dimes Grant

Dr. Robert B. Howe, associate professor of medicine at the University of Minnesota, has been awarded a $16,000 March of Dimes clinical research grant to investigate possible harmful side effects of blue light treatment for jaundice in newborn infants.

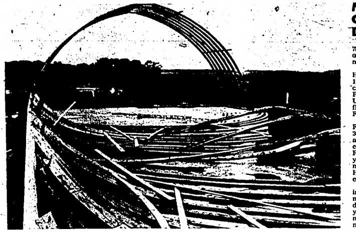
In this disorder, the body fails to dispose of bilirubin, a waste product released at the end of the normal life cycle of red blood cells. Unless it is taken up from blood by the liver, processed into bile and excreted, bilirubin accumulates in body fluids and produces the characteristic yellow coloring of jaundice. Heavy acculuIation in an infant's brain can cause permanent damage or death.

Since the discovery in 1958 that exposure of infants to bright light reduces the amount of bilirubin by promoting its breakdown, phototherapy has come to be widely used. Recently, though, some controversy has developed because of possibly harmful side effects. Not enough is known about the potential toxicity of breakdown products of bilirubin produced by phototherapy.

Howe will test these byproducts in blood and urine samples from both jaundiced and normal infants. He believes that at least one of these substances may interfere with the function of red blood cells by inhibiting their metabolism of sugar. If so, the findings could be especially important for jaundiced infants with liver or kidney failure as an aggravating factor.

The project may make possible a more selective use of phototherapy and prevention of undesirable side effects, and may clarify bilirubin breakdown processes in health and disease.

Aerial photographic surveys of forests are being conducted by the University of Minnesota's college of forestry and the U.S. forest service to collect credible resource data and develop sound management decisions. These systems have been adopted by other public agencies and private concerns and their applicability is being tested in Minnesota for a better understanding of forests, wildlife, livestock forage and minerals.



HEAVY WINDS, believed to be a tornado, destroyed most of this 40x100 building under construction at the Kenneth Coan farm south of Goodridge Saturday afternoon. Although the wind had been from the south all day, the rafters were splintered and toppled in a southerly direction. No other buildings on the farm were damaged. Coan, who was not home at the time the damage happened, reported a neighbor told him that the storm roared over his house and caused his family to seek shelter in the basement.

Farmer Co-ops Help Develop Better Products

Farmer owned cooperatives do more than produce and market some of the highest quality food in the world. Many co-ops also maintain extensive research staffs who probe for better ways to grow, process and preserve the agricultural products of their farmer members.

In fact, most of our modern foods are significantly improved over their fore-runners of 20 years ago. And many of these improvements have come from co-op laboratories and research farms.

Farmland Industries, a farmer-owned cooperative based in Kansas City, Mo., has been producing premium quality pork and pork products for many years. But the co-op's members knew years ago that what was considered "premium quality" in the 1950's wouldn't satisfy the customers of the 1970's. So in 1958 they began a special selective swine testing program.

The goal was to develop a hog that produced leaner, better-tasting meat on smaller quantities of feed. This goal was achieved with a lot of hard work over a 15 year period. But this doesn't mean that the program has ended. Farmland scientists are now working to make their improved hog even better.

The results of the program are pretty spectacular, especially for pork lovers. The "superhog"—known as the Co-op F2 Market Hog—gains almost a pound more per day than its ancestors on a low daily ration of 2.2 pounds of feed. And the superhog yields pork chops that are roughly two square inches larger than the ones sold in the Fabulous Fifties.

In other words, today's pork chops are two bites bigger, but because they come from hogs that are fattened up more efficiently, they aren't two bites more expensive.

Co-op scientists today are studying one of mankind's most storied and favorite foods—honey. Throughout history, people have treasured honey, sought it, and willingly endured the sting of its industrious maker to get at it.

It might seem that there is very little left to learn about a food which has been eagerly consumed by so many people for so many centuries. But researchers at the Sioux Honey association, a co-op based in Sioux City, Iowa, believe that there are still many things that man doesn't know about nature's most delectable sweet and the hard-working creature who makes it.

For example, honey contains anti-bacterial agents and enzymes whose functions and origins are still mysteries. And trying to unlock the secrets of these components keeps Sioux Honey scientists busy the year around. These scientists also conduct basic reasearch on the overall chemical and physical properties of the honey produced in the hives of the farmers who cooperatively own the association. And the association not only conducts basic research on bees and honey, but also markets their members' output throughout the country and the world under the Sioux Bee Honey label.

Whipping cream is a topping some families don't serve as often as they'd like to because it sometimes spoils before it can be used. But now a new way of packaging whipping cream has solved that problem. Not only does the product stay fresh and sweet for a long time in your refrigerator, but it can even sit unrefrigerated on your pantry shelf for a month or more. And when you open it, it will taste just as fresh and sweet as the day it came from the dairy.

Land 'O Lakes, a farmer cooperative headquartered in Minneapolis, has been one of the pioneer users of this new technique which is called aseptic packaging. Aseptically packaged whipping cream is completely sterilized, and put into a sterile package, in a sterile atmosphere.

Because bacteria are totally eliminated from the product, storage and handling are greatly simplified. Thus, not only does aseptically packaged whipping cream keep longer before it's opened, but it also keeps longer in the refrigerator after the seal has been broken.

As with many food industry innovations, a farmer co-op—Land 'O Lakes—developed the application of this new technique which provides consumers with a better, longer-lasting product.

All of this research, and more, has helped farmer cooperatives bring American consumers food products of unrivaled quality at affordable prices. Co-op efforts have benefited all American agriculture, and consumers as well.

Farmer's Union Leaders Urge New Bill Effort

Dean Vatthauer of Red Lake Falls, vice president of the Minnesota Farmers Union, will speak—and—show slides on his recent trip to Russia at the annual meeting of the Farmers Union Oil company of Thief River Falls. The meeting will be held Wednesday, July 9, at 8:30 p.m. in the city auditorium.

According to Melvin Melin, secretary, there will be election of two directors and reading of the financial statement for the past year. Terms of Melin and Irvin Aaseby as directors of the company expire this year. Free door prizes will be awarded and a free lunch will be served following the meeting.

Gravesite Rites Held Friday For Sarah Mae Geer

Graveside services were held Friday at 10 a.m., at the First Lutheran cemetery, near Middle River for Sarah Mae Geer, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Danny Geer of Middle River. The infant died at birth on Tuesday, June 24.

Survivors, in addition to her parents, Danny and Barbara Geer, are the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Rustad of McIntosh; the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Geer of Middle River, and a number of aunts and uncles.

Services Held At Gatzke For Mildred Johnson

Funeral services for Mrs. Mildred Johnson, 60, who died Thursday at Northwestern hospital, were held Monday at 2 p.m.; at the United Lutheran church in Gatzke.

Rev. Robert Amundson officiated at the services. Mrs. Glenn Larson was the organist and Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Blom sang two selections. Interment was in the Moose River cemetery, near Gatzke. The Collings Funeral home of Middle River was in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers were Larry, Orlan and Arvin Dahl, Glenn Larson, Glendon McKeever and Nels Iverson.

Mrs. Johnson was a former resident of the Gatzke community. She was born at Warren on June 8, 1915 and attended school and grew to womanhood at Stephen. On Jan. 20, 1950, she was married in Thief River Falls to Oscar Johnson. The couple farmed in Rollis township, Marshall county, near Gatzke. From 1956 until 1970, she was employed in St. Paul. She returned to Gatzke in 1970. Since the death of her husband in July of 1971, she had made her home in the Newfolden community with her daughter, Mrs. Goreon Bring.

Surviving are three daughtrs: Mrs. Gordon (Barbara) Bring of Newfolden, Mrs. Kermit (Margaret) Strandberg and Mrs. Thomas (Karyl) Cooper, both of St. Paul; two sons: John Hanson of St. Paul and Hjalmer Hanson of Middle River and 17 grandchildren;

Also her step-father, Arthur Olds of Sumner, Iowa; two half-brothers: Richard and Donald Olds, both of Santa Maria, Calif.; and four half-sisters: Mrs. Laura McGrew of Sumner, Iowa, Miss Gerdie Olds of Evansville, Ind., Mrs. Dorothy Childs of Santa Maria, Calif., and Mrs. Eldon (Mary) Goodenbout of Reo Linda, Calif.

In addition to her husband, she was preceded in death by her parents and a half-brother.

Kay Schuster Smith, 55, Dies In Missouri

Funeral services were held at the Speake Chapel at Independence, Missouri for Mrs. Wallace (Kay) Smith of that city. A former resident of Thief River Falls, Mrs. Smith died on June 16 at the Kansas City Research Medical Center of an aneurism. Burial was in Mound Grove cemetery.

Mrs. Smith, the former Kay Schuster, was born on Jan. 7, 1920 at Thief River Falls to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Schuster. She attended school in Thief River Falls and lived here until 1948 when she moved to Blackduck. She returned to Thief River Falls in 1953 and two years later moved to Independence.

She is survived by her husband Wallace, one son; Ronald Langevin of Oak Grove; two daughters: Mrs. Lana Hendricks of St. Paul and Mrs. Sandy Rash of Independence;

Also one brother, Laurel (Bud) Schuster, her step-mother, Mrs. Harry Schuster, two step-brothers: Loren Borsheim and Milan Borsheim, all of Thief River Falls; a step-sister, Mrs. Vivian Biddick of Uvald, Texas; seven grandsons and one granddaughter.

She was preceded in death by her parents and a sister, Mrs. Bush (Ruth) Olson, who lived in this city.

Costume Ball At Goodridge Aids Bicentennial

Mrs. Bennie Svanjord was appointed general chairman for the Goodridge Bicentennial costume ball at a meeting of the Goodridge area bicentennial committee held last week.

The ball will be held August 9 in Goodridge with Joe Solney and his band furnishing the music. Advance tickets will go on sale next week.

Prizes for costumes will be awarded in each of three catagories—Colonial, Civil war and Pioneer eras.

Also appointed to the Bicentennial costume ball committee were Pat Henning, Mrs. Edward Stucy, Mrs. Robert Wiseth and Mrs. Joe Schlofer. As preparations get underway, others will be asked to work on the committee.

Other business conducted at the meeting was the appointment of Dr. David M. Brown, treasurer of the Goodridge area bicentennial committee, as finance chairman of that organization with Jesse Anderson and Phil Swanson also serving on that committee.

Mrs. Ernest Swanson was appointed as historian for the Bicentennial committee.

A Goodridge Bicentennial button will go on sale in a couple of weeks. Mrs. Leo Ellingson heads this committee and working with her are Mrs. Dick Miller and Jesse Anderson.

It was decided by the group to hold a beard contest with prizes to be awarded next year during the two-day celebration set for July 3-4, 1976. A committee will be appointed later to be in charge of that event.

Mrs. Edward Stucy, Mrs. Jesse Anderson, Robert Wiseth, Phil Swanson and Mrs. Lynn Hanson, chairman of the Bicentennial committee, were appointed to a committee to put a tentative program together for next year's celebration. The committee will report to the full committee at a later date.

Larson Retires As Recruiter For Air Force

On July 1 MSGT Dennis Larson retired from the United States air force.

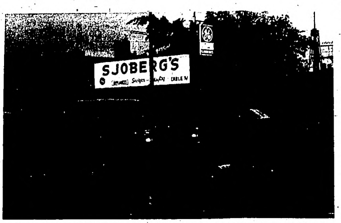
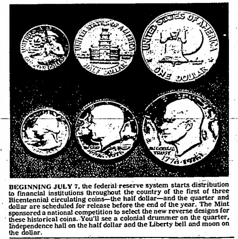
Thief River Falls



MID-AFTERNOON DARKNESS struck Thief River Falls Tuesday as storm clouds moved in and blotted out the sun. This photo was taken at 3 p.m. from the door of the Times office. Some vehicles were using their headlights and the illuminated sign across the street stood out like a beacon in the darkness.



BEGINNING JULY 7, the federal reserve system starts distribution to financial institutions throughout the country of the first of three Bicentennial circulating coins—the half dollar—and the quarter and dollar are scheduled for release before the end of the year. The Mint sponsored a national competition to select the new reverse designs for these historical coins. You'll see a colonial drummer on the quarter, Independence hall on the half dollar and the Liberty bell and moon on the dollar.

Urge Sewing For Fairs To Help Wool Contest

Make it yourself with wool contest will be held November 1 at Northland Community college in Thief River Falls, according to Mrs. Wilbur Hallstrom, Pennington county chairman.

"With county fairs coming, garments can be made for fair entries and used again in the fall for the wool contest," she said. "Any type of garment may be made at any age, provided it is made, crocheted or knitted of material that is at least 70 per cent wool.

"This is more than just a sewing, crocheting or knitting contest; it is also a fashion competition. Judges look for coordination of the fabric to the pattern, poise and presentation, suitability of the garment to the contestant's age and way of life, as well as skill," she added.

This year the adult district winner will also advance to state competition with the junior and senior winners, and Minnesota-North Dakota will also send an adult winner to the National contest.

The various age groups are: Pre-Teen (10-13); junior (14-16); senior (17-21); and adult (over 21).

District I—the 11 northwest counties of Minnesota, won the state contest last year and sent the senior winner to the national contest in Texas.

For information and entry blanks, contact the county chairman, home agents, fabric stores or the District I director, Mrs. Gunder Legvold, 325 North Tindolph, Thief River Falls, Minnesota 56701.

Safety Council Meets Monday

Regular monthly meeting of the Pennington county safety council will be held Monday at 6 p.m. in the Rex cafe. All interested persons are invited to attend.

Updated Maps Of State Counties Now Available

Detailed maps of Minnesota's 87 counties have been updated and are available for public distribution by the Minnesota highway department.

Among the topographical features of each map are the complete road systems, bridges, railroad tracks, air landing areas, rivers and lakes, municipal and township boundaries, conservation and recreational areas, historic sites, park and forest boundaires, public service facilities.

The Minnesota highway department, in cooperation with the Federal highway administration, prepared the 1975 county general highway map series. The maps were last updated in 1973.

The 18x28-inch maps are drafted on a scale of one inch to two miles for 81 counties. For six counties, the maps are on a scale of one inch to the mile. These counties are Carver, Dakota, Hennepin, Ramsey, Scott and Washington.

The number of map sheets for each county varies from one for Anoka county to seven for St. Louis county. Altogether there are 138 map sheets representing Minnesota's 87 counties.

Prints of these maps, priced at twenty-five cents per sheet plus four per cent sales tax, may be purchased at the store room, B-20, state highway building, St. Paul, MN 55155.

A larger version, 36 by 56 inches, is also available and is priced at seventy-five cents per map sheet.

Seven Students From Area Are U of M Grads

Seven area students, six from Thief River Falls, were among the 5,952 graduates of the University of Minnesota Twin Cities campus.

They are: Steven A. Johnson, Thief River Falls, bachelors degree in mechanical engineering; Robert J. Craik, TRF, bachelor of science (with distinction) in business; John W. Hellquist, TRF, bachelor of science (with distinction) in forestry; George B. Martin, TRF, bachelor of elected studies in liberal arts; Richard C. Mattson, TRF, Juris doctor in law; James W. Arhart, TRF, bachelor of science (with high distinction) in dentistry; and Roger W. Sjulson, St. Hilaire, bachelor of science in dentistry.

The all-college spring commencement ceremony for March and June candidates for degrees was replaced this year by separate ceremonies conducted by the various colleges and schools. The change was made to provide more individual recognition to all degree candidates.

Mingren, released in 1963, enabled Minnesota farmers to capture the roasted whole seed market from the California-grown Manchurian variety, which is too late maturing for Minnesota. Before Mingren was introduced, Minnesota nutroasters were importing California seed.

Special Squads On Highways For Fourth Of July

In an attempt to further reduce the number of fatal motor vehicle crashes within the state, a special squad of Minnesota state troopers will begin intensive patrolling of selected high accident areas within the state, Minnesota state patrol chief J. C. Crawford announced recently.

Beginning with the coming Fourth of July weekend, the six-man "saturation patrol" will be operating as a unit within one of the eleven patrol districts in the state with each of the troopers concentrating on a ten-mile stretch of Minnesota highway that has been selected by traffic safety analysts as a high fatality area.

According to Crawford, the special squad will be moving as a unit to various areas throughout the state for the remainder of the summer, probably until mid-September, supplementing the existing state patrol units normally on duty and concentrating their efforts on statistically proven accident causing violations such as driving while under the influence of alcohol, excessive speed, and failure to yield the right of way.

"Each of the six cars in the saturation patrol will be equipped with the latest radar equipment, capable of taking speed readings from oncoming traffic while the patrol car is moving on the highway as well as from a stationary position," Crawford reported.

In addition, each car will also carry alcohol pre-arrest breath testing equipment which allows a trooper to pre-test a driver suspected of operating his vehicle while under the influence of alcohol. The pre-test is given in the patrol car, and if it reads positive, the driver is then taken in to a regular testing station where a precise determination of his blood-alcohol content can be made.

Manpower for the saturation patrol project is being drawn from the Twin Cities metropolitan area where fatality rates have been low compared to the targeted outstate areas which absorb unusually heavy traffic loads during the summer vacation season.

Patrol traffic analysts will be studying the progress of the project to determine its exact effectiveness in fatality reduction and possibilities for continued use in the future.

Fire, Flood And Wind Damage In News This Week

estimated 10 inches of rain fell there yesterday and last night. He said that his rain gauge registered 3.5 inches when emptied at 9 p.m. Tuesday, and that the six-inch measure had overflowed when checked at 6 a.m. today. An inspection of his 2,500 acres of crop revealed 80 per cent to be under water today, although it had been in generally good condition last night.

At the Oscar Fosholm residence in Holt, rainfall from 1 p.m. Tuesday to 5:30 a.m. today was measured at 8.65 inches. Mrs. Fosholm told the Times that 3.15 inches was recorded from 1 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. Tuesday and an additional 5.50 inches of rain fell from 9:30 p.m. to 5:30 a.m. The Fosholm records also show that 4.95 inches of rain had also been received since June 12, falling on June 12, 19, 20, 21, 22, 25, 28 and 30.

Flooding of fields north and east of Thief River Falls is reported to be common as ditches are incapable of handling the large volume of water. Rivers are swift and swollen and reports have been received of boats moored to docks or banks being swept away during the night.

Forecasts of severe thunder storms, heavy rain, possible hail and damaging winds have been heard daily since Sunday and continue today. The weather front creating these conditions continues to remain in the area of northern Minnesota and eastern North Dakota.

John Anderson, superintendent of utilities for Thief River Falls, said that the power plant dam at Thief River Falls has been completely opened today, and is discharging as much water as possible. River level behind the dam had increased to 16.8 feet—about a foot above the level normally held—and more water from both the Red Lake and Thief rivers is expected following last night's heavy rains.

Anderson noted that a canoe and boat had caused temporary jams when caught in openings at the dam and that one boat had gone over the dam this morning. He also noted that a couple of poles had gone down in the last several days, causing temporary loss of electrical service which was quickly restored.

Wind Damage

Scattered reports of wind damage—mostly happening Sunday evening—continue to filter into the Times office. Northlander Camper and Supply south of Thief River Falls on highway 59 reported that several trailers had been extensively damaged and a building destroyed. Damage to houses and loss of trees were also reported.

Bruce and Renae were also supper guests that same evening. Later that evening Mr. and Mrs. Bobbie Zavoral, Marion and Steve and Dave and Denise Naeseth joined them for lunch.

Edward Sjulestad was a dinner guest at the David Sjulestad home on Saturday.

Tuesday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Hanson, Mrs. Dick Lott, Lester and Pearl Kolestrand visited and were coffee guests at the Gilmer Manderud home.

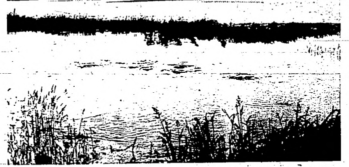
Sunday evening Mrs. Erling Dahlen, Leah and Steven, Helen Brozio and Michelle were coffee guests at the Alice Skreland home.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kotrba, Marie, Tracy and Melanie left Sunday forenoon to visit in New York with Mrs. Kotrba's father and family, the Lyle Schrope family. They will be gone about a week.

Visitors on Friday evening at LyNae Johnsrud's in Thief River Falls were Ricky Bjerklie, Dale Anderson and Jean Lillevold.

Mrs. Marlin Kotrba and Jennifer were visitors at the Norman Adams home Wednesday afternoon.

HAY BALING came to an abrupt halt on this field located about nine miles east of Goodridge, at the intersection of highway 1 with the Grygla road. The rake and baler are surrounded by water and the windrows of hay are either floating or covered by the flood. Inability of ditches to handle run-off from heavy rains in the area caused the water to back up into low areas of fields.



FLOODING CONDITIONS struck a number of farms in the area southeast of Goodridge early this week as evidenced by this photo of a flooded grain field about four miles northeast of Highlanding. Heavy rains in the area northeast of Thief River Falls yesterday and last night (up to 10 inches reported in the Mavie area yesterday alone) caused extensive flooding in that area with roads under water in a number of places.

SECOND PLACE award in the Class B group (retail trucks) for the National Safety council's Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota area was won by the Bridgeman Creameries fleet, according to word received here this week. The above plaque was received by Lars Wold, manager of the Bridgeman plant in Thief River Falls, Monday morning. The award covers the 1974 calendar year and covers trucks operated by Bridgeman's in Crookston, Duluth and Thief River Falls and in Bismarck, Grand Forks, Devils Lake, Minot, and Fargo, N.D.

Entries Sought For Country Art Festival

Invitations are extended to artists in the area to exhibit work at a regional showing and festival of country art to be held in conjunction with the Vikingland USA region country music festival at Hawley on July 19.

The art show will lead up to a state country art festival to be held later in the year.

Three works of art will be selected at each of six regional shows throughout the state for the state festival, said Mrs. Gladys Holmes, director of the statewide project. Mrs. Holmes, Angora, is a free-lance artist and an art instructor.

Any work of art and through any medium which interprets the country experience will be acceptable, Mrs. Holmes said.

Work may be offered for sale, but pieces selected for state festival competition may not be sold until after the finals.

Championship titles and cash awards are at stake in the state contest.

Further information and entry blanks are available by writing to Regional country art festival, in care of Mesabi community college, Virginia, Minnesota 55792.

Sponsor of the country art show as well as the music festival is the Northern Frontier foundation of Minnesota.

Regulatons For Surgical Centers Are Established

Licensing regulations for outpatient surgical centers have been established by the Minnesota department of health, commissioner Warren R. Lawson announced recently.

The regulations, designed to assure quality patient care, require that specific requirements are met relating to the administration and physical environment of the centers and to the services they provide.

Outpatient surgical centers, which are currently being developed in many states, including Minnesota, are an alternative to hospitalization for pre-examined, pre-diagnosed, low-risk patients, according to Dr. Lawson. Their purpose is to provide minor surgery and dentistry on an ambulatory outpatient one-day basis with a substantially lower cost to the patient than if he were to enter a hospital. They are not organized to provide regular emergency medical services and do not include a physician's office or clinic for the practice of medicine or delivery of primary care.

"Outpatient surgical centers will provide a unique service to the people of Minnesota," Dr. Lawson said, "while at the same time offering an alternative to hospitalization and a reduction in health care costs."

The centers may be either free-standing facilities or hospital-associated units. At least three Twin Cities metropolitan area hospitals are currently operating outpatient surgical units of one form or another. A free-standing outpatient surgical center was established in St. Cloud in 1973 and a similar facility is being planned in St. Paul.

THE VOICE of BUSINESS

by Richard L. Lesher, President
U.S. Chamber of Commerce

A 1929 report on the known reserves of important industrial raw materials concluded that supplies of tin would be exhausted in 10 years. Some 40 years and a lot of tin later another study, "The Limits to Growth", foresaw the bottom of the tin cup within 15 years. "At this rate," says the British economist, Wilfred Beckerman, "we shall have to wait millions of years before we have identified enough tin reserves to last us forever."

Thus does Professor Beckerman poke gentle fun at the fallacies of our present-day Chicken Littles, in his book "Two Cheers for the Affluent Society."

Well, four cheers for the professor! There is so much nonsense, misinformation and sloppy thinking underlying the whole question of raw material availability today that I wouldn't be very surprised to see some "expert" predict the world will "run out" of petroleum at precisely 4 p.m. on Aug. 2, 1987.

Of course, the world will probably never run out of petroleum, in the sense of having used up the last drop in existence. What will happen is that the easy-to-find, easy-to-produce supplies will be used first, and we will turn to what's left.

What's left will be more costly to produce, so the price will go up. As the price goes up, less will be used and more substitutes will become competitive in cost. Right now, there are several alternative energy sources which are very close to being cost-competitive with oil, at current world prices.

The day may come when people will wonder why we ever bothered with petroleum (at least as far as its use as a fuel). Sound fantastic? Remember, it was the growing shortage of whales—and whale oil—in the nineteenth century which caused a price incentive for the development of a substitute lamp fuel, kerosene. That search for a substitute created the petroleum industry. How long has it been since you worried about suppies of whale oil?

Three relevant factors tend to be ignored in most resource depletion predictions:

(1) Estimates of remaining supplies are not very accurate. Most present figures are based on the aggregate reserve estimates of the companies in the extractive industries. But these companies are not much concerned with ultra-long range forecasts. They are interested in how much of a given substance will be available at a given quality for the near-term future; for the term that affects their operational plans.

The raw material for many basic products—such as iron, aluminum, glass—is so much a part of the substance of planet earth that "running out" is virtually inconceivable. What we are in danger of running out of is simply the easiest-to-find, highest-quality ore.

(2) With the exception of fuels we convert to energy, we don't really "use up" anything. The earth still has all of the raw materials it started with. Many have been changed from one form to another; many have been dispersed from their original concentrations. But, they are still here, somewhere. And that's where recycling comes in. When virgin sources of a given materials become more expensive to find and develop than the costs of recycling that materials, it will be recycled. Recycling can even become economically viable at unfavorable ratios of comparative cost when it is combined with some other essential activity, such as trash disposal.

(3) Technological advances continually change the whole raw materials picture. New materials are discovered and found to be superior to old. New processes are developed which make lower-grade ores useful, thus expanding manyfold the "known reserves" of a mineral. And we are always learning how to use what we have more efficiently. Let's forget that deceptive expression "resource depletion" and think in terms of "relative availability."

There is really only one way to assure that we will run short of something we need without the coincident development of acceptable subsitutes: Prevent the price of a resource from rising as it becomes scarcer.

Letters to the Editor

I wish to take this opportunity to thank the staff of the Thief River Falls Times and other area individuals and groups who aided us in our recent production of "The Spoon River Anthology." Your paper gave us, as always, excellent coverage. So too did KTRF radio, and First Northwestern state bank, along with all the other businessmen who displayed our posters. And Larson's Music company was again very generous in selling tickets for us.

To these, and the members of the casts and crews, and to all the area residents who supported our opening venture this season, thanks for everything. We hope you will find "The Ugly Duckling" and "Little Mary Sunshine" worthy of your continued support and interest.

Michael Tillmann, Director
Northland Summer Theatre

Fire annually costs the nation more than $3 billion in direct losses. The cost is untold billions more in terms of jobs ended, production suspended sales lost, accounts payable records destroyed—meaning lost income for owners and employees alike.

DEFECTIVE PAGE

TRAFFIC CONTINUED on highway 59 about four miles south of Newfolden in spite of water covering the highway for a stretch approximately 150 yards in length. Water depth varied from an inch to about five inches and traffic was slowed by the flooding. County road 7, a surfaced road running east from highway 59 to the north edge of Holt, was covered with water and badly eroded at the intersection. Except for the surfacing, the road would likely have washed out.

Jobless Claims Total 88,381 In State June 30

Persons in active claims status under the five unemployment programs currently in force in Minnesota totaled 88,381 for the week ending June 20, commissioner Emmet J. Cushing of the Minnesota department of employment services reported recently.

The total is down 954 from the preceding week.

Initial claims filed during the week for the regular program totaled 4,681, up 60 (1 per cent) from the previous week and up 856 (22 per cent) from the corresponding week a year ago. Total number of active regular claims was 59,496, down 727 (1 per cent) from the previous week.

Initial claims for extended benefits (paid when regular benefits are exhausted) totaled 1,598; for federal supplemental benefits (paid when regular and extended benefits are exhausted), 797; for additional federal supplemental benefits (paid when regular federal supplemental benefits are exhausted), 366; and for special unemployment assistance (paid to workers not ordinarily covered by unemployment insurance), 226.

For the week of June 13, 1975, the latest for which figures are available, the total amount of benefits paid under all programs was $4,552,462. Included in those benefits were $3,035,722 in regular benefits, up $1,619,815 (114 per cent) over the corresponding week a year ago. The average weekly benefit amount was $65.69, up $3.99 from a year ago.

During the week of June 13, payments for extended benefits were $868,700; for federal supplemental benefits, $562,254; for additional federal supplemental benefits, 29,005 and for special unemployment assistance, $56,781.

Since the first of the year, $105,389,027 has been paid, up $39,533,447 (60 per cent) from the same period a year ago.

In the Twin Cities metropolitan area serviced by five claims offices (Minneapolis, St. Paul, Hopkins, Bloomington and Fridley), the number of persons on active claims status under all five unemployment insurance programs was 45,211 for the week ending June 20. This was 126 or .3 per cent more than the previous week and 141 per cent more than the same week a year ago.

The number of persons filing initial claims for the regular program totaled 2,243, down 77 from the previous week. Initial claims for extended benefits totaled 824; for federal supplemental benefits, 437; for additional federal supplemental benefits, 202; and special unemployment assistance, 104.

USDA Issues Suspension On Market Order

U.S. department of agriculture (USDA) has suspended some provisions in the Minnesota-North Dakota federal milk marketing order to allow unlimited diversions of milk to unregulated manufacturing plants during July and August.

The action temporarily removes the limit on the amount of milk that may be moved directly from producers' farms to an unregulated manufacturing outlet and still be priced under the order. Without the suspension, milk diverted in excess of the limit in the order (50 per cent) would be excluded from the market pool. Or the milk could be included in the pool at a greater handling cost by delivering it first to a plant regulated by the order and then transferring it to an unregulated manufacturing plant. Paul W. Halnon, dairy official in USDA's agricultural marketing service (AMS), said the suspension was requested by Land O'Lakes, Inc., a cooperative, to accommodate the handling of reserve milk in excess of fluid demand in July and August. The action to suspend was supported by two other cooperatives which together with Land O'Lakes, represent a large share of producer milk on the market.

USDA's notice of the proposed action was published in the federal register June 9 for public comment. No views opposing the action were received, Halnon said.

RIVER VALLEY . .

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Klementson of Thief River Falls stopped to visit at the neighbors Signe Evenson, Einar and Bjarne Olson on Sunday.

A surprise birthday party was held for Sena Chervestad Thursday evening and Mrs. Glenn Tasa, Mrs. Ragne Gunderson and Signe Evenson enjoyed a social evening and had birthday cake and coffee. The following day and evening the Korydon Chervestads and Aaron and the Brad Nelsons and Ryan wished her a happy birthday. In the evening Mrs. Julian and Birdie Gunderson and family, Mrs. Selma Johnson stopped over to wish her many more, along with Mr. and Mrs. Juell Chervestad, Kim, Dawn and Tami, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Matheson and Mr. and Mrs. Orlando Chervestad.

Barbara, Robert and Roger Flaten's aunt from Thief River Falls, Mrs. Helge Johnson came to visit and was an overnight guest at the Orlando Chervestad home last week. Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Orlando Chervestad visited at the Gilman Anderson home and enjoyed coffee with them and making arrangements for the wedding bells ringing for Barbara and Gary Anderson in August.

Sena Chervestad accompanied her daughter, Mrs. Glen Tasa to Thief River Falls to visit with Senas sister-in-law, Mrs. Mary Kjorvestad who has been a patient at the hospital and is now recuperating at her home. Mary hurry up there and get well.

Mr. and Mrs. Brad Nelson and Ryan enjoyed Sunday afternoon at his parents home, The Richard Nelsons of Mavie.

On Sunday Mrs. Orlando Chervestad made a business trip to Mrs. Herb Vraa, east of Goodridge and enjoyed coffee with her. I was very disappointed to see so much water as her farm had been in the midst of a downpour and it was all in a lake. The crops looked great but now everything was under water. She was bright and cheerful and said to me, it's no use to complain, it always can be worse, tragedies and hardships. Bless her heart.

Carl Rupprecht of Agdar was a Sunday afternoon visitor at the K. M. Russell home. Later in the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Donald Larson and family of Roseau visited there after having attended the open house at the L. M. Larson home in honor of the 25th wedding anniversary of Donald's sister Dorothy, Rev. and Mrs. Conrad Cornelius.

THIS TRANQUIL SCENE on Wednesday afternoon belies the problem surrounding it. The Red Lake river at Highlanding was extremely high and had a strong current, causing drainage ditches flowing into it to back water onto low lying farm land. The area shown is the boat launching area and public access just east of the Highlanding bridge.

Mrs. Lloyd Larson and Mrs. Agnes Larson of Thief River Falls attended services at the Nazareth Lutheran church Sunday and enjoyed the Swiss steak dinner served by the Naomi circle following the services. A special table was set for all members of the 1915 confirmation class. Pastor of the Nazareth Lutheran church sixty years ago was Rev. Ordahl.

Saturday afternoon luncheon guests at the home of Chester and Angie Larson were Mrs. Eleanor Olson, Ruth and Barbara, of Albert Lea, Minnesota and Mrs. Olson's grandson, Aaron Vermedal from Anchorage, Alaska. Sunday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Chester Larson attended the open house for his cousin, Rev. and Mrs. Conrad Cornelius (Dorothy Larson) in honor of their 25th wedding anniversary at the L. M. Larson home.

House guests the past week at the Joe Ose home were her mother and brother, Mrs. Leonard Boyd and Shawn from International Falls. Over the past weekend the Ose family and their guests were on a camping trip to Park Rapids.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Halvorson and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Jorde enjoyed fishing at Waskish Saturday and Sunday a week ago.

Mrs. Richard Jorde and Mrs. Larry Gustafson were Monday morning coffee guests at the Joe Ose home.

Raider Win Streak Snapped

Arctic Raiders' remarkable 32-game regular season winning streak came to an abrupt end Tuesday when Hartz stunned the Thief River Falls slow pitch softball team 14-3 in a 10-run rule shortened five-inning ball game.

The Raiders breezed through the 1974 season with a perfect 22-0 regular season schedule and appeared as if they might have another crack at an unbeaten season this summer with a 10-0 record heading into Tuesday's match-up with Hartz.

The hard-hitting Raiders couldn't put it together, however, and Hartz, probably the league's biggest disappointment to date with an undistinguished 6-6 record, showed impressive power in making the game a rout.

Rain made the field a quagmire of mud and standing water. Ironically, Jack Petrillo, a Raider team member and president of the Thief River Falls slow pitch softball association board of directors, insisted the game be played as scheduled when he inspected the field's condition Tuesday afternoon.

And to make matters even a little more frustrating for the Raiders, heavy rains canceled a pair of second games that were scheduled to be played immediately after the completed Raider-Hartz and Modern Woodman-Arctic Power games.

Despite the loss the Raider Major Division lead does not seem threatened. With a 10-1 record, the Raiders are still two full games ahead of both Hamms-Pizza Hut and Solheim Furniture who report in at 8-3—their key second place contest was rained out Tuesday.

The Raiders still boast what appears to be the best talent in the league and will be hard to replace as division champions.

TRF Bowlers Place In State

Bernie Musech of Thief River Falls placed fourth in the singles competition of the Minnesota women's bowling association state tournament held in Duluth during March, April and May, it was announced today. She rolled a 657 in the state event.

Other Thief River Falls bowlers on the state tournament singles prize list were Doris Stoltman, Evie Peterson, Teen Berg, Lois Helm, Marion Jonson, Keks Lee, Judy Evenson, Adeline Quam and Dolly Davidson.

Thief River Falls bowlers placing in the state doubles competition were teams of Shirley Kruschke and Winnie Treitline; Addie Lindquist and Marion Jonson; Judy Evenson and Bernice Musech; Dolly Davidson and Lois Helm; and Kitty Cornell and Sue Hagen.

Mary Jalbert of Thief River Falls bowled 104 pins over her average in the team event to receive a special "100 pins over average award" from the WIBC.

Rain Takes Toll On TRF American Legion Schedule

Rain forced postponement of two Thief River Falls American Legion baseball games earlier this week.

Thief River Falls-Newfolden and Thief River Falls-Roseau ball games scheduled to be played Monday and Tuesday were both scratched by the wet weather.

Coach Rocky Wilson announced that his Thief River Falls ball club will make up the Roseau game Sunday at 8 p.m. on the fairgrounds diamond and will reschedule the aready twice-postponed Newfolden game for Thurs., July 10, at 8 p.m. at Newfolden.

Thief River Falls is scheduled to host Hallock at 7 p.m. tomorrow (Thursday). Following the Sunday night encounter against Roseau, Thief River Falls will travel to Crookston for a 6 p.m. doubleheader Monday.

Rain Washes Out TRF Fast Pitch Schedule

Rain wiped out early week Thief River Falls fast pitch softball league action both Monday and Tuesday.

Wet grounds on the fairgrounds diamond forced postponement of Monday's VFW-Falls Diesel and Schmidts-Melvies ball games. Rain also stopped Tuesday's Schmidts-Pepsi-Cola and Nelson State Farm Insurance-Arctic Cat games.

The league's only other regularly scheduled action this week will find Arctic Cat facing VFW and Melvies going against the Legion in a pair of Thursday night encounters.

The Arctic Cat-VFW contest will be a key East Division affair. VFW currently sits atop the East Division standings with an 8-2 record. Arctic Cat holds down second place, but is two full games behind in the loss column. Despite being only midway through the 1975 season, Arctic Cat can ill afford another setback at the hands of VFW. And the Vets already own two wins over their chief rivals, a 1-0 decision back on May 30 and a 3-1 conquest June 16.

While VFW is in position to lengthen its East Division lead, Pepsi-Cola already owns a commanding edge in West Division play, matching VFW for the league's best record overall, 8-2. Falls Diesel is a distant second in the West at 4-7.

Richard Bjerken Shines As League Commissioner

by Mike Lundgren
Times Sports Editor

Richard (Dick) Bjerken is a newspaper reporter's dream come true.

Bjerken serves the Thief River Falls men's fast pitch softball league as its commissioner. He carries out that position in what can only be described as "simply marvelous fashion."

Bjerken acts out his commissioner's role in a publicist fashion, out-doing all other public relation people, coaches or managers who are asked to cooperate with the press in reporting game results. He does not stop with just a simple final score or line score. He does it up in grand fashion with a complete baseball-type box score and a short game summary. All of this is setting on the Times sports desk comfortably ahead of deadline time.

Furthermore, Bjerken's efforts are not just a once-a-week type offering. His time is occupied by softball nearly every night of the week from mid-May to mid-August each year. Two fast pitch softball games are scheduled every week night except Thursday throughout the summer. And those Thursdays are often used for rain-caused make-up games. There are 80 games scheduled to be played in the fast pitch league this season. It's a good bet Bjerken will be on hand for each one.

Bjerken has served as fast pitch commissioner for three years, and despite the demand the position takes on his time, he plans to continue filling the role in the future. "I just like the game, and it (commissioner's role) gives me a chance to be right in it."

Growing up in Thief River Falls, Bjerken came to admire the softball players as a youngster, watching the games when they were played on the southeast corner of the fairgrounds in the early 1950's and then following the program as it changed over to the East Side diamond until moving back to the fairgrounds, this time in the northwest corner, in 1963.

Bjerken graduated from Lincoln high school in 1958 and served in the Navy ("I got to spend three whole weeks aboard a ship," he quipped,"), before coming back to Thief River Falls. He played in the fast pitch league for three years for the old Bea's Market and Victorio's Pizza teams before "retiring in 1965."

"There used to be some awful competitiveness among the teams and players," recalls Bjerken about the by-gone fast pitch days. "But I think the ball players are getting better," he said. "The younger kids coming out of high school now days are awfully good ball players. Pitching has improved greatly over the years, but people like (current Thief River Falls mayor) Bob Carlson used to give people fits when he was pitching for Bridgeman's."

Bjerken has watched "an awful lot of good ball players and strong teams over the years, but VFW teams have always been the most consistently good teams," he pointed out. "They're (VFW) everybody's nemesis."

Bjerken is not married, which he says, "is probably why I do it (act as commissioner). It gives me something to do."

32-Game Raider Win Streak Is Snapped By Hartz 14-3

Hartz shocked the Arctic Raiders 14-3 and Grain Belt replaced Popplers as Commercial Division leader in a pair of major developments in early week Thief River Falls slow pitch softball league activity.

Hartz shattered the Raider 32-game regular season winning streak that stretched over a two-year span in Tuesday night's Major Division action that was interrupted by rain showers. Modern Woodman edged Arctic Power 4-2 in the other Major Division contest before rain washed out the Hamms-Pizza Hut-Solheim Furniture clash. Northland Electronics picked up a forfeit win over Hydra-Mac.

Monday's Commercial Division results found Times-KTRF knocking off Popplers 8-4, Grain Belt nipped Warehouse Foods 8-7 in eight innings, the Jaycees whipped Kat Haus 15-5 in six innings and Furuseth-Nelson Inc. defeated Professional Building 11-8.

The Times-KTRF win over Popplers cost the losers the Commercial Division lead. The Times-KTRF win over Popplers, combined with Grain Belt's win over Warehouse Foods moved Grain Belt ahead of Popplers in the Commercial standings.

Hartz 14, Raiders 3

Home run power carried Hartz past the previously unbeaten Arctic Raiders 14-3 in a stunning five-inning contest abreviated by the 10-run rule.

Sid Brouse hit a pair of home runs to highlight the 20-hit Hartz assault off losing pitcher Brian Nelson. Jim Myrah and Warren Hannestad also cleared the fences for Hartz. Brouse and Clyde Sorenson both enjoyed perfect four for four nights at the plate while five Hartz batters picked up two hits in three at bats.

Bill Dicken's two-run third inning home run represented most of the Raider offensive effort as winning pitcher Jon Looker limited the hard-hitting Arctic ball club to just 10 hits.

Woodman 4, Power 2

Modern Woodman scored two runs in the top of the seventh inning to snap a 2-2 tie and record a 4-2 win over Arctic Power.

Arctic Power took a 2-1 lead into the fifth inning despite getting just seven base hits off winning pitcher Gerald Grabowska. Dennis Bendickson took the loss.

Grain Belt 8, Warehouse 7

A bases loaded fielder's choice play in the bottom of the eighth inning scored the deciding run in Grain Belt's 8-7 victory over Warehouse Foods.

Warehouse Foods owned a 7-1 lead after three innings, but Grain Belt rallied to tie the contest in the fifth.

Jeff Gustafson enjoyed a perfect four for four night at the plate to spark a 16-hit Grain Belt assault. Warehouse Foods collected only eight hits, but were aided by six Grain Belt errors.

Bill Weigelt decisioned Bob Goff for the pitching triumph.

Times-KTRF 8, Popplers 4

Times-KTRF erased a 3-0 first inning deficit to upset Popplers 8-4.

Jim Olson collected three hits in four at-bats to lead the 11-hit Times-KTRF batting effort. Winning pitcher Paul Forsberg checked Popplers on just seven base hits, giving up only three hits over the last six innings. Mike Stewart took the loss.

Furuseth's 11, Pro. Bldg. 8

John Nelson, Mark Haroldson and Mike Onkka all collected three hits in four at-bats to carry Furuseth-Nelson Inc. past Professional Building 11-8.

A five-run Furuseth-Nelson sixth inning broke open a tight 6-5 ball game. Professional Building scored three times in the seventh to narrow the final margin to three runs.

Furuseth-Nelson enjoyed a 14-8 base hit advantage and Professional Building topped the error charts 4-3 to make Steve Nordhagen the game's winning pitcher and Doug Aaseby the loser.

Jaycees 15, Kat Haus 5

Jaycees erupted for 10 runs in the first inning to roll over Kat Haus 15-5 in six innings.

Myron Peterson banged out four hits in four trips to the plate to key a 16-hit Jaycee attack. Kat Haus managed only eight hits off winning pitcher Dave Olin and committed five of the game's eight errors. Russ Delorme took the loss.

Thune-Upham Wins First Half Trap League Title

Thune-Upham knocked off the Pharmacy 122-119 Monday to finish atop the Thief River Falls Trap League standings at the end of the league's first half season.

Northern State Bank shared first place with Thune-Upham heading into the night's shooting, but fell into a third place tie after losing to the Legion 121-114. The Legion moved into second place with its win.

Johnson's Used Cars defeated the VFW 118-112 and the Viking Varmints stopped the Eagles 117-114 to share third place with Northern State Bank.

The top four teams in the league's first half season standings join the top four squads in the second half season race to form an eight-team post season league tournament. The three-way tie for the final two first half tournament berths will be decided by using the scores from next week's shooting as the league's second half season gets underway.

Other scores from Monday night's competition found the Cat Busters beating L. B. Hartz 123-114, A & W downed Bjorkman's 106-97, Arctic Cat gunned down Hydra-Mac 120-115, the Shrine beat the Beaver Busters 121-115 and Wilson Brothers edged the Times 116-115.

Thune-Upham got by the Pharmacy 122-119 as Stan Sjoberg shot a 23-2, Jay Moum 21-6, Larry Quillin 21-7, Francis Anderson 18-6 and Stan Upham 18-5. For the Pharmacy, Lewis Lohn shot a 24-1, Pete Tri 24-1, Ray Thyren 23-2, Lambert Bronkhorst 17-6 and Dan Pluth 13-8.

Al Steinhauer posted a 25 straight to help lift the Legion past Northern State Bank 121-114 while Steve Lappegaard shot a 23-1, Al Boughton 22-2, Don Kasparl 19-5 and Dick Scullthorp 17-7. Howard Thorson matched Steinhauer's 25 straight for Northern State Bank while Sandy Wilson shot a 24-0, Orren Bendickson 21-3, Duane Holland 20-2 and Mark Enge 17-2.

Johnson's Used Cars beat the VFW 118-112 with Oscar Johnson shooting a 22-5, Brian Daily 20-5, Harry Johnson 22-2, Frandell Johnson 23-0 and Del Stordahl 19-2. For the VFW, Jim Cook shot a 22-4, Ed Krystosek 22-4, Mark Hagen 20-2, Jerry Paulson 16-6 and Craig Vollan 10-8.

Dave Traun recorded a 25 straight as the Viking Varmints defeated the Eagles 117-114. Other scores for the winners found Ike Ellingson shooting a 24-0, Larry Rahn 21-2, Dez Schob 21-2 and Don Wahlbeck 21-2. Joe Nichols posted a 25 straight for the Eagles while Gordie Anderson shot an 18-7, Steve Stoltman 15-8, Roger Hible 15-6 and Hilary Stoltman 13-7.

Cat Busters whipped L. B. Hartz 123-114 with Ron Shern shooting a 24-1, Terry Sexton 21-4, Dave Christianson 21-4, Glen Aaguard 19-5 and Ron Johnson 19-5. For L. B. Hartz, David Hagen shot a 22-5, Howard Hagen 21-5, Walt Leach 19-3, Pat Fischer 21-0 and Norm Olson 17-4.

A & W out-shot Bjorkman's 106-97 as Barry Fellman shot a 23-2, Curt Ness 19-8, Warren Hanestad 22-1, George Hanestad 16-3 and Larry Rudd 9-5. For Bjorkman's, David Bjorkman shot a 21-5, Gene Beito 18-5, Tom Bjorkman 13-8, Dick Bjorkman 7-8 and Dave Beito 5-8.

Wilson Brothers squeezed past the Times 116-115 with John Tofte shooting a 17-8, Stan Wilson 21-3, Bob Puetz 22-1, Mert Wilson 21-1 and Dan Rawerts 14-8. For the Times, Clarance Mattson shot a 22-6, Bruce Mattson 23-0, Marv Lundin 21-2, Bob Mattson 22-0 and Ken Kohler 14-8.

Arctic Cat tripped Hydra-Mac 120-115 as Gary Paulson shot a 22-5, Dave Swenson 19-8, Don Omdahl 19-5, John Giese 18-6 and Gary Dauer 15-7. For Hydra-Mac, Emery Lee shot a 23-6, Bob Olson 21-7, Dale Berggren 20-8, Joe Dimmer 21-2 and John Bugge 9-8.

The Shrine handled the Beaver Busters 121-115 with Carl Lee shooting a 20-6, Phil Prichard 19-8, Gene Gaer 18-7, LeRoy Nabben 19-4 and Irv Wilson 17-6. For the Beaver Busters, Arnie Fjelland shot a 24-3, Ken Beito 19-8, Dick Pollick 17-6, Art Tranby 15-6 and Dick Nieland 13-8.

Open Gym Site Changed To LHS From Northland

A change has been made in the site for the summer open gymnasium periods in Thief River Falls.

The park and recreation department-sponsored evening gym sessions will now be held from 6-10 p.m. each night Monday through Thursday in the Lincoln high school gym. The gym is open to everyone.

Previously open gym periods were being conducted in the Northland community college gym until maintenance work could be completed on the Lincoln gym floor.

The program, under the superivision of Wayne Peterson, will continue throughout the month of July.

ARCTIC RAIDER batter Denny Dinius was forced to fish his bat out of one of tthe many water puddles that covered the fairgrounds diamond during Tuesday night's Raider-Hartz Major Division slow pitch softball game. Hartz upset the Raiders 14-3 in a short 10-run rule, five-inning ball game,

Status Of Chinese Wildlife Improves

Comic, lovable giant panda is not only a symbol of improved relations between the U.S. and the People's Republic of China, but has become so popular in its native land that all Chinese wildlife may benefit, according to the current (July-August) issue of International Wildlife magazine.

"Perhaps the real significance of the panda craze will turn out to be its role in raising the value of all threatened wildlife in China," writes roving editor Norman Myers in a special report on mainland China's wildlife in the national wildlife federation publication.

In the first in-depth look at the status of Chinese wildlife since the lifting of the "Bamboo Curtain," Myers observes that a "conservation ethic has indeed permeated the nation of 800 million people—a new environmental consciousness in some ways almost as revolutionary as the People's Republic itself."

Until the late 1960's, the staggering demands of the burgeoning Chinese population led to the destruction of millions of acres of wildlife habitat, as forests were cleared for croplands, firewood and building materials.

Then, in a dramatic reversal, the Peking government embarked on a program of conservation and began systematically planning a network of wildlife reserves, Myers reports to the national wildlife federation membership.

As a result, the Chinese have declared protected status for at least 32 species and subspecies of animals, including the panda, and are revising their threatened wildlife list to include other creatures.

The remaining several hundred giant pandas are found in a bamboo and forest are encircling the mountains of central China at elevations from 7,000 to 13,000 feet. The principal panda reserve, the Wang-Land reserve in the Min Shan mountains of Szechwan province, covers almost 80 square miles. The animals are rarely seen, due to the inaccessible terrain, and pose no threat to humans or livestock.

Among the other animals who stand to benefit from the new Chinese attitude toward wildlife are the nine threatened species or subspecies of deer found in China. Extensive habitat loss and overkilling already have led to the extinction of Hende's and Swinhoe's sika deer, but hunting now is forbidden and specific sanctuaries have been set aside for the deer.

At one time, the Chinese sought out the deer for their antlers—which allegedly possessed aphrodisiac powers—but the Communist government has succeeded in debunking this myth among the younger Chinese.

Other grazing animals, such as the kiang (Asiatic wild ass), kulan (Mongolian wild ass) and Przewalski's horse have suffered from drastic habitat loss and now are found only in Mongolia and western China.

The beautiful big cats of China—tigers and leopards—once faced extinction as the government undertook a program to eliminate the predatory creatures in order to protect domestic livestock. But the new Chinese environmental awareness has established protected status for the tiger and the rare clouded and snow leopards.

In his travels for International Wildlife, Myers discovered that Hong Kong fur dealers still are receiving leopard skins from China, which suggests that the Chinese are cropping leopards in regions where they are common. However, he found no significant trade in tiger, snow leopard or clouded leopard skins from China, an indication that these animals indeed are being protected by the Chinese government.

Admitting that information about mammals in China is hard to obtain, Myers says that the status of birds in China is "even more obscure."

"I had expected, however, to see a variety of bird species, since they usually are visible in towns and in the countryside even when mammals are not. But wherever I went I saw fewer birds than in any country I've visited," he reports in the national wildlife federation magazine article.

In assessing the future of wildlife in China, the author cites the "rate of human development" as the main factor in determining the fate of Chinese wildlife.

One hopeful sign is the fact that the Chinese have accomplished a near miracle in reducing their population growth rate to 1.5 per cent.

SID BROUSE accepted a congratulatory handshake from a Hartz teammate as he rounded third base after hitting his second home run of the game against the Arctic Raiders in a Tuesday night Major Division slow pitch softball game. The two home runs by Brouse helped carry Hartz to a stunning 14-3 win over the previously unbeaten Raiders.

Legion Baseball Program Is In It's 50th Year

With 260 teams participating in the registered program of American Legion baseball in Minnesota, providing play for over 4,500 team members, the golden anniversary season of the oldest organized national youth baseball program is well under way, according to Robert Marshall, Dilworth, director of American Legion baseball in Minnesota.

The ten district champions will join the host team in an 11-team double elimination tournament in Ely August 8-11 to determine the golden anniversary state champions of American Legion baseball.

A highlight is the annual banquet for the team players, coaches and managers, sponsored by the Northland Ford dealers to be held in the Ely community center at 6:30 p.m. August 7. Invited to attend the banquet are the seven surviving members of the first state American Legion baseball championship team crowned at Mankato in 1926 who were sponsored by Clarence A. Nelson post 154 of Crosby.

The state champions will advance to an eight team double-elimination regional event with six other midwest state champions and the host team August 20-24 at Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Eight regional champions will converge on Rapid City, South Dakota for an eight team double elimination tournament August 28-September 1 to name the 50th anniversary national champions of American Legion baseball.

"The American Legion is proud and happy to have been able to provide a national program of baseball of young people over the past 50 years and would hope that we can continue this program and 50 years from now be able to celebrate another milestone in sponsorship of such a fine program," Marshall concluded.

Offer Boating Safety Vital Check Points

As a boating safety week safety resolution, the Minnesota safety council urges weekend sailors to plot a fire safe course to keep the "pleasure" in pleasure boating.

Here are seven vital check points:

(1) Fueling operations should begin only after all open flames have been extinguished and a strict "No Smoking" rule enforced. Keep fuel away from ignition sources. Immediately wipe up any fuel that spills or splashes.

(2) Portable fuel tanks used with outboard motors should be removed from the boat for filling. Store extra fuel only in approved safety containers or portable tanks, and never keep reserve supplies in the engine or living compartments.

(3) Before starting an inboard motor, ventilate the engine compartment and make sure there is no strong smell of gasoline.

(4) Be a good "boatkeeper." Bilge should be free of oil and gasoline. Avoid accumulating rags—especially oily ones—or papers. Keep matches will out of the reach of children.

(5) Stoves should be only those approved for marine use. When on board, never use a portable stove fueled by LP (liquefied petroleum) gas or by gasoline.

(6) Portable heaters are generally unsafe for use on a boat.

(7) For fire protection purposes, carry the number and type of approved fire extinguishers close at hand or just outside the compartments they are to protect. Be sure they are fully charged and in first-rate working condition at all times.

"Don't leave fire safety precautions on the dock," says the Minnesota safety council. "Fire-safe boating habits are real life-savers."

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Craig Torkelson on the birth of their son, Brett Anton.

Sympathy is extended to Clara Carlsen whose father, Martin Carlsen passed away Monday night. The Carlsens are long time residents of this community.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Arneson and sons Marty, Mark and Tom left Sunday to return to their home at Omaha. They had been visiting for a week at the Clarence Arneson home and with other relatives and friends.

New Equipment Included For Family Bowl

Latest AMF equipment will be installed in the Family Bowl which is now undergoing an expansion program in Thief River Falls, according to Kenneth Bergman, manager.

Included will be new pin spotters, lanes and ball returns, score projectors, settees and ball racks with new carpeting to be installed throughout the entire concourse. New tournament grade pins will be used over the entire operation which is being expanded from 10 to 16 lanes.

Bergman will be assisted in management by Tom Greelis, a certified bowling instructor, who will also continue his trophy business. Family Bowl will continue to sell a variety of bowling accessories and serve beer and light lunches.

"Due to the late start on the new addition, leagues will be required to reserve time and dates on the lanes the same as last year," Bergman said. "The six new lanes may not be ready for play by September and the new improvements on the original 10 lanes may require additional time due to existing equipment leases."

Bergman added that Family Bowl will do everything possible to have the facilities completed by this fall and welcomes calls during the summer months to reserve league time for fall bowling. Persons interested can call - 681-1270 or Bergman's residence at 681-5992.

Senior citizens, juniors, students, handicapped and others are all invited to make use of the new bowling facilities when the remodeling is completed.

Good Hay News
Now available in this area, a hay preservative that allows baling or stacking hay up to 28% moisture. This time difference can easily be the difference between hay and manure.
HAY PRESERVATIVE
—Helps increase hay intake by increasing palatability.
—Reduces field losses.
—Increases digestability of protein and dry matter.
—Reduces mold count to allow preservation.
—Puts baler in field sooner and allows staying longer.
—Applied as swath enters baler or stacker.
DETAILED TEST RESULTS FROM COLORADO, MISSOURI, AND WISCONSIN UNIVERSITIES AVAILABLE
SILAGE AND GRAIN PRESERVATIVES ALSO AVAILABLE
Also: See us for hay moisture testers, bale movers, feeders, mineral feeders, stock chutes, port-panels, headgates, and the famous para-con mineral and parasite control products.

LEGAL NOTICE

July 2, 9, 1975
CALL FOR BIDS FOR NUMBER 2 FUEL OIL
Goodridge Public Schools
Goodridge, Minnesota

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the school board of Independent School District Number 561 of Pennington County and Marshall County will meet in the Agriculture classroom of the Goodridge Public School, Goodridge, Minnesota, on Monday, July 14, 1975 at 8:00 P.M. for the purpose of receiving bids on the furnishing of number 2 fuel oil in transport load lots of not less than 6,000 gallons to the oil tanks at the school located at Goodridge, Minnesota during the 1975-1976 heating season.

Transport must be able to use 75 ft. hose if necessary. Loads may be split between 7,000 and 8,000 gallon, tanks at different locations.

Bids will show the cost per gallon, include all costs as delivered, and be firm for the heating season. Bids may show variation in price for loads varing from 6,000 to 7,000 gallons.

It is estimated that the school will require not more than 75,000 gallons during the season.

Each bid must be accompanied by a good faith certified or cashier's check for $50.00. The successful bidder must furnish a surity bond for $1,000 to insure faithful performance for his offer.

The school board reserves the right to reject any and all bids, and to waive any informality in any bid.

All bids should be addressed to the Superintendent of Schools of Independent School District Number 561 at Goodridge, Minnesota 56725.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Pursuant to the directive of Federal Highway Administration:

The Minnesota Highway Department has adopted the document called "The Action Plan". "The Action Plan" requires the involvement of the public and governmental agencies sufficiently early in the decision making process to influence system plans and project developments.

Notice is hereby given: That the Pennington County Board will hold a hearing on Monday, July 14, 1975, at 10:00 A.M. in the Commissioners room in the Pennington County Court House. The hearing will be to discuss and review the relocation of County State Aid Highway 18 and the construction of Bridge No. LO-265 over Thief River, known as the Golf Course Bridge. The reason for the relocation of County State Aid Highway 18 will be explained by the County Engineer at the above mentioned meeting.

Oak Park Church Hit by Lightening

A thunder storm hit our community Thursday afternoon about 3 o'clock. Lightening came down and struck the steeple of the Oak Park Lutheran church and in minutes the church was in flames.

The fire was noticed by Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Vettelson and son Alan who were returning home from Thief River Falls. They called the fire department from a nearby farm, the Arthur Gustafsons. The Oklee and Goodridge fire departments arrived but were unable to save the structure.

The Oklee fire truck became mired down near the church and had to be watered down to save it from being damaged from the intense heat of the fire. The church was in ashes in an hour.

The church was built in 1916 on a land site donated by Arthur Gustafson and moved across the road on the former Burnell Myrum landsite. In 1959, a 28x70 dining hall addition was built with volunteer labor. Many memorial funds had been contributed to the church which made it a beautiful, dignified and truly restful place.

The charter member as of today is Mrs. Berget Anderson who is a patient at the Oakland Park rest home in Thief River Falls. Her grandson, Gary Anderson of rural Trail was to be married there August 9. She was one of our first ladies aid organizers and contributed her time to make it successful for the future generations and at the present time we have a large number of the younger generations moving back to the farms from the larger cities and are contributing much to make the rural church get more members.

The church was covered by insurance and plans are to build a new church. The estimated loss was approximately $75,000. Our pastor, Rev. and Mrs. Behrens, are in Chicago attending their son's wedding Saturday when they were notified of the fire. Our pastor will be leaving the Clearwater Lutheran synod congregations in July to serve a smaller centralized church in Michigan.

Nazareth, Clearwater and Oak Park congregations will be served by Rev. Wosje of Thief River Falls until a new pastor will be available. The Oak Park church congregations want to express a word of thanks and thoughtfulness to the Nazareth church members for the invitation to continue our church services and activities at their church. Your kindness is appreciated beyond words.

Without a thought my husband and I stopped over Thursday evening after the fire to load up the large antique church bell for future use and discovered it had melted from the intense heat. Not thinking it was made of brass, not cast iron.

Away on Vacation

Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Peterson and Jennifer left Wednesday to spend some time with their daughter, the Stan Curklas of Des Moines, Ia. While there they accompanied the Curklas to St. Louis, Mo. where they saw the gateway arch; Hannibal where they saw Mark Twain's home and toured Tom Sawyer's cave; Ozarks where they saw Unity village.

On Sunday they were accompanied back home by Greg and Brad Curklas who will spend two weeks with their grandparents. Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Solheim of Trail were Wednesday night visitors at the Adolph Peterson home.

Rev. and Mrs. David Lillgard and family from Suttons Bay, Mich. arrived in this area and on Friday evening stopped over to visit at the Juell Chervestad home, and at the Nazareth church on Sunday where the Oak Park ladies aid served a ham dinner. Mrs. Lilligard's parents and relatives live in Fosston. Rev. and Mrs. Lilligard are moving to their new congregation at LaVerne, Minn. soon where he will serve as pastor.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Tiegland and family of Minneapolis visited at the Malcolm Stucy home Wednesday and Friday and were overnight guests there. They had spent 2½ weeks in California visiting her sister Fay, Dr. and Mrs. Carl Johnson of Chico, Calif. The Malcolm Stucys visited her sister on Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Sandsmark of Grygla. Coffee guests during the week at Macs were Mr. and Mrs. Ed Stucy.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Nelson and Jennifer of Thief River Falls have moved their new mobile unit on a trailer lot near Ole Austads farm. We wish the Nelson much success in their new home and community. Bruce is brother of Brad Nelson and is employed by the River Valley construction company. Brad Nelson is manager. They build homes, barns, pole sheds, cabinets, etc. The other crew are Keith Nelson, a brother, Bruce Solberg and Arlan Marques.

Car Accidents In TRF Reported

Five automobile accidents causing total estimated damages of $2,535 were reported to the Thief River Falls police department within the last week.

At 11:46 a.m. Wednesday, June 25, Mrs. Orin Bergsnev of Greenbush was traveling south on Highway 59 when she slowed to turn left into Northland Foods and was struck from behind by a car driven by Irving Swanson of the city. Damages were estimated at $700 on the Bergsnev car and $250 on the Swanson vehicle.

Thursday at 4:18 p.m., Geraldine Sabol of the city was driving east on Nora street when she was met by a car driven by Harry Miller of Bayville, New York, which had started out traveling south from the stop sign at St. Paul avenue and Nora. Estimated damages were $300 to both cars.

Helmer Melhouse of the city pulled out of the Hartz market parking lot into Horace avenue at 5:40 p.m. Friday and turned north. He struck a parked car owned by Godfred Svir of the city and continued. However the collision was witnessed by a citizen, who took the license number of the Melhouse car and reported to the police department. Damage was estimated at $50 to the Melhouse car and $10 to the Svir vehicle.

At 3:05 p.m. Sunday, Wendell Corbet of St. Hilaire was making a left turn into Horace av. from the VFW parking lot when his car met motorcyclist Duane Hagman of the city, who was making a left turn into Horace from Second street. Hagman suffered bruises and abrasions to an arm and leg, plus an estimated $150 damage to his motorcycle. An estimated $200 damage was reported on Corbet's vehicle.

Monday at 2:22 p.m., Michael Kapphahn of Marietta was traveling west on Fourth street and Walter Kingren of the city was driving south on Main avenue. Kapphahn stopped at a stop sign and then proceeded across the intersection when his car collided with the Kingren vehicle, which spun around and struck a parked car owned by Floyd Klopp of the city. Damages were estimated at $50 to the Kapphahn car, $300 to the Kingren car (owned by Mary Thompson of the city) and $225 to the Klopp vehicle.

Two incidents were reported to the police June 24. Bruce Ternes, TRF, said that during the past few days a tackle box and tackle, three reels, one pair of glasses and a sleeping bag valued at a total of $205 was taken from his car. Mrs. Geraldine Sabol said that at some period during the day or night, her garage had been hit (probably by a car) with enough force to knock it off its frame.

Wednesday, June 25, Mrs. Inga Nohre of the city reported that mailboxes, the wall and a baby stroller had been damaged at the entrance of an apartment building. Three mailboxes were torn off the wall. Damage was estimated at $60. The same day, Alfred Knutson of the city told police a tire and chain saw were taken from his pickup while it was parked in the Legion parking lot during the previous evening. His losses were valued at $340.

Two more incidents were reported Friday. Louie Lund, TRF, said that during the night the battery was taken from his car. The 12 volt battery was valued at $32. The beach house at LaFave park was vandalised during the night. Plexiglaxs in the door had been cracked as if it had been hit with a heavy object and the moldings to the door had been knocked loose. Damage was estimated at $30.

In one of three incidents Monday, Mrs. William Meglein reported that the door to her house had been damaged. Screws were missing from the handle and there were deep scratches on it. Damages was estimated at $5. Marvin Manning, TRF, said a battery valued at $15 was taken from one of the pickups parked at his auto sales lot. Pat Barry, state fire marshall, reported that some juvenile boys were filling squirt guns with charcoal lighter fluid and shooting it at Matches causing them to ignite. The matter is under investigation.

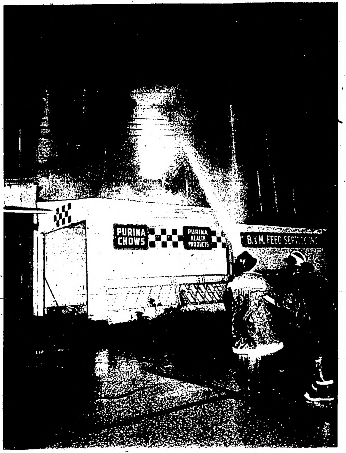
Tuesday, Faron Olson of the city said his car was stolen between 1 and 6 a.m. from Sixth and Arnold av. The vehicle, a 1964 Plymouth, license number FU 7491, is still missing.

Gospel Team To Appear In Newfolden Area

Gospel Truth Evangelistic team will be at the Newfolden Evangelical Free church Sunday morning, July 13, and each evening July 13-20. All evening services will be at 8 p.m.

The team is made up of Rev. and Mrs. Marlin Bjornrud and Mr. and Mrs. Mike Sollom. Each service will feature the team in a variety of special music. There will also be a Bible message every night.

The public is invited to attend.



HOSE LINES running from three hydrants were used to fight the fire which destroyed B & M Feeds of Thief River Falls last night. Approximately 20 members of the fire department were involved in fighting the fire which was reported at 11:45 p.m. Firemen contained the blaze to the building, saving a warehouse owned by Benson-Quinn grain company of Minneapolis located to the north of the B & M Feeds elevator. Although the fire was well under control about 1 a.m., firemen remained on duty at the site through the night and until about 9:15 a.m. today. Fire chief Duane Noel said that the building will be checked periodically to be certain that the fire does not start up again.

State Aid For Townships Will Not Increase

Vast majority of townships in the state will receive little or no increase in their state aids despite inflation and rapidly increasing costs, three state senators said recently.

"A preliminary analysis of the omnibus tax bill passed by the legislature indicates that most of the state's 1,200 townships will not receive increased state aids, even though they are caught in the same inflationary squeeze as their big city neighbors and need extra funds for road and bridge construction," said the senators.

John Bernhagen of Hutchinson, Richard Fitzsimons of Warren, and Earl Renneke of LeSueur (all Independent-Republicans) said the situation was "just another case of the metropolitan majority in the legislature using its muscle to the detriment of outstate Minnesota." They cited the fact that Minneapolis would get approximately $9.2 million in new aids for 1976 alone.

The townships are in their present predicament because of a change in the tax bill which altered the method for distributing state aids, the senators said.

The new formula rewards those governments with high mill levy effort and penalizes those such as townships with low mill levy effort and small populations.

Under the new formula it may be years before township governments again start to receive adequate aids: "Now we are the victims of metropolitan dominance which has little concern for outstate townships," said the senators.

Over the last eight years the legislature has removed personal property from the tax rolls, instituted a sales tax to replace lost revenues and eliminated most shared taxes with local units of government. This loss in tax revenues to local units of government is supposed to be made up by state aid payments. Under the new formula, most townships will receive very little, if any, new revenue.

The senators blamed poor management by the DFL majority for allowing the change to occur with minimal debate. The omnibus tax bill was passed on the last night of the session when bills involved billions of dollars were acted on in haste. "One must ask if this is just one part of the DFL leaderships plan to eventually eliminate townships," the senators said.

They said they will attempt to pass corrective legislation in the next session which would provide townships with a 10 per cent increase in state aids in 1976 and a 15 per cent boost in 1977. The additional aids to townships would cost the state about 4 million dollars per biennium.

Art's Place At Grygla Burned

Art's Place—formerly the Nelson Bar in Grygla—burned to the ground early Sunday morning after reportedly being struck by lightning.

Art Olson, owner of the business, said the 26x40 building included a living area which he occupied, but that he was not at home at the time the fire started about 3 a.m.

State Prohibits Use And Sale Of Fireworks

Fireworks, which under the definition of Minnesota law covers anything short of a toy cap gun that makes an audible or visual effect through explosion or combustion, are illegal to sell or use, state fire marshal Wes Werner warned recently.

"Contrary to popular belief," Werner stated, "even sparklers are unlawful in Minnesota, and any law enforcement officer or representative of the fire marshal's division has the right to confiscate them or any other form of fireworks being used or sold in the state."

With the exception of fireworks displays authorized by permit within Minnesota, only toy cap guns are actually allowed to be used in the traditional Fourth of July revelry. Firecrackers, roman candles, torpedos, sky rockets and other such items are strictlyy forbidden. Sale or actual use of these items is a misdemeanor under state law.

Besides the fact that purchase or use of fireworks is illegal, Werner emphasized that they are extremely dangerous, and that is why they were originally banned. Instances of carelessness in past years has resulted in numerous burn cases, eye injuries, and even death when large quantities of the explosives were accidentally ignited.

"With the numerous authorized public displays which are presented in communities throughout the state, nearly everyone can enjoy a safe Fourth of July celebration without the risk of a needless injury," Werner concluded.

Farmers Union Oil Company Sets Annual Meeting

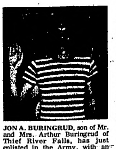
Problem of low and unstable farm income and the prospect that 1975 prices received by farmers could be well below the cost of production still remains, leaders of Farmers Union in Red Lake county said recently.

"Attention must now turn to a long-range farm bill," said Cy Carpenter, president of Farmers Union. "The emergency farm bill was just round one in the war for survival of our family farm bill."

Farmers union leaders said that unless something is done soon, the boom-and-bust cycle may become even wilder than it has been in the past three years.

"We cannot rely on whatever the White House or Secretary Butz may promise to do, should the bottom drop out of the market on crops, as it has already done on cattle and dairy products," said the Farmers Union resolution.

"New and strong farm price stabilization measures are needed if farmers are to survive."



JON A. BURINGRUD, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Buringrud of Thief River Falls, has just enlisted in the Army, with an assignment in Europe forthcoming after basic and advanced training. A graduate of Moorhead state college, Buringrud took advantage of the Army's advance rank program for college graduates and was enlisted as an E-3 with automatic promotion to E-4 after four months. He was also guaranteed an assignment to Europe. He enlisted as a field artillery crewman.

Canning Goods Supply Shortage Investigated

U.S. Representative Bob Bergland says that housewives in the 7th congressional district have been seriously hit for sometime now by a shortage of home canning equipment—particularly canning lids.

In order to determine the cause of the shortages, he had previously contacted several of the manufacturers and government agencies. In additon, a subcommittee of the House committee on small business, on which he serves, held public hearings this week to further investigate the shortages.

Bergland noted that the demand for home canning equipment has increased greatly during the last two years. However, making the needed expansion of production has been complicated due to shortages of raw materials and production equipment. This year's production of replacement lids, which represents an increase of from 50 per cent to 60 per cent for some manufacturers, will be 1.6 billion.

The manufacturers are distributing the lids and equipment to wholesalers and distributors according to an allocation program based on the amount purchased during 1973 and 1974. Shipments throughout the country are being timed according to the harvest time of the crops.

The problem may be due in part to panic buying and hoarding. However, many consumers report being able to buy the complete jar and lid units together but not the lids alone. Congressman Bergland said the subcommittee, of which he is a member, will continue hearings to explore this problem further.

The committee will be hearing from distributors and wholesales in order to determine, too, how they rare dispersing their allocated supplies. "Small grocers as well as larger stores must receive supplies of home canning equipment," Bergland added.

With the rising cost of food over the past few years, many people are turning toward home-grown fruits and vegetables. It is estimated that there will be approximately six million new gardeners this year. In order to preserve many of these foods, home canning is necessary. Home canning has, however, been frustrated by the complete lack in some areas, and severe shortages in others, of home canning supplies.

Minnesota Fire Losses In 1974 Set New Record

Record high property damages of nearly $57 million and the loss of 94 lives were recorded as a result of fires in Minnesota last year according to state fire marshal Wes Werner.

The property damage figure, based on 5,652 fires with losses of at least $100 each, reported to the fire marshall reporesented an $18 million increase over 1973, while the fatality figure represented an additional 16 deaths over the previous year. Fire related injuries totaled 317.

Particularly notable in the deaths was the representation of the very young and the elderly who accounted for more than one-third of the fatalities. Nineteen children under the age of seven died in fires last year, and an additional 15 persons aged 70 and over perished.

According to Werner, fires in homes and multiple dwellings accounted for a large number of the reported fires with the common causes following the traditional patterns of careless smoking habits, children playing with matches, and faulty wiring. Faulty extension cords and over-fused or over-loaded circuits were heavily represented in the wiring category.

New Pacemaker May Endanger The Environment

by Kathryn Wardrop
University News Service

A dust speck of plutonium in your lungs could cause cancer. A teaspoonful of plutonium would have to be dispersed among 20 billion people—five times the world's population—before it would be reasonably safe.

There is a teaspoonful of plutonium in every nuclear-powered heart pacemaker, according to a recent atomic energy commission (AEC) report.

The nuclear regulatory commission (NRC), formerly part of the AEC, eventually hopes to license the manufacture of plutonium pacemakers. Since the AEC statement was issued, however, criticisms of both the pacemaker and the report itself have steadily increased. One critic is University of Minnesota professor Dean Abrahamson, a physicist and a physician.

Abrahamson's criticisms of the pacemaker focus on the plutonium power source. The plutonium pacemaker was "not conceived by the medical community," he said. Instead, commercial nuclear power plants were the "driving force" behind the AEC's research.

Plutonium does not occur naturally on earth, but is a by-product of nuclear reactions. It is a waste product that has a half-life of 24,000 years.

"When nuclear power plants produce a lot of radioactive wastes that are of no value in hand, you try to find something they're useful for," Abrahamson explained. One of the AEC's ideas was to use this waste product, plutonium, in pacemakers.

About the size of a deck of cards, pacemakers are placed in patients with heart blocks or irregular heartbeats. In the conventional pacemaker, battery-powered electrical pulses keep the heart beating. In the nuclear pacemaker, plutonium, instead of a battery, is the power source.

Both the AEC and Medtronic corporation, a Minneapolis-based firm that is the largest producer of both nuclear and conventional pacemakers, maintain that the plutonium in a pacemaker could not be accidentally released into the environment.

Bob Griffin, program manager of nuclear and lithium programs at Medtronic, said that the plutonium "is in the form of a hard ceramic pellet, designed so accidental releases do not occur."

But Abrahamson believes that the plutonium could be released in cases of accidental burning deaths or cremation. According to Abrahamson, the crematorium temperatures reported in the AEC statement were derived from telephone conversations only and not from AEC tests. The temperatures could actually be high enough to melt the pacemaker and release plutonium, he said.

Griffin said that Medtronic has performed crematory tests and that the plutonium does not break down into particles. "The only way it could," he said, "would be if someone purposely took it upon himself to cut a pacemaker open."

Abrahamson is also concerned with possible premeditated release of plutonium through sabotage by a terrorist group. Considering plutonium's toxicity, Abrahamson said, the danger is not in how often releases might occur. "Release of plutonium must not happen at all," he said.

State Chairman Fischer Defends $1 Check-Off

In a statement recently released Hank Fishcer, DFL state chairman, accused the leadership of the Republican party, as well as its legislative leadership, of a "lack of good faith in campaign finance reform." The remark from Minnesota's Democratic party leader came on the heels of Republican criticism of the income tax check-off system of campaign financing.

"The Minnesota DFL party worked very hard to enact a law providing for a wide range of reforms in the financing of political campaigns. Now its appears that the Republican leadership is going to use every trick in the book to try to undermine those efforts," Fischer said.

"If the Republican leadership was truly concerned about campaign financing and the providing of fair and equitable methods of campaign financing, they would share a greater share of their time offering alternative proposals. Instead, they have chosen to take a negative approach and attack what is considered one of the best campaign finance reform laws in the country."

Regarding the legality of Minnesota's ethics in government law, Fischer commented that Minnesota's law can withstand the test of a court challenge. "It was studied very closely at the time it was passed and it has continued to be examined by all parties concerned. The law should have no trouble withstanding such a challenge by the Republican party," he continued.

"It appears to me that this is simply a ploy on the part of the GOP to blame Democrats for the Republican's failure to attract support from the citizens of the state of Minnesota."

In closing, Fischer questioned the motives of the GOP by stating: "I would like to find out if the Republican party and its legislative leadership are truly concerned about improving the method by which campaigns are financed and whether they share our concern that the goals of the campaign ethics legislation are fully met."

"If they are," said the DFL leader, "I would challenge them to join with myself, other DFL'ers and anyone who is concerned about the process of financing political campaigns, in trying to arrive at answers that are fair and equitable to all candidates who are running for public office."

Travel By Auto Up 24 Per Cent From Last Year

Auto travel during May and early June showed another significant upturn, according to figures compiled by the Minnesota state automobile association (AAA). Requests from members for travel routings were up more than 10 per cent over last May and early June.

"We expect this trend to cintinue at least until late summer," said Gene Haustein, auto travel manager. "About mid-July, we expect auto travel to level off. Travel normally crops off after mid-August, but increasing gasoline prices later this summer will accelerate the decline."

According to AAA travel counselors, more Minnesotans are taking vacations by car this year than last year for two major reasons: many Minnesotans put off taking a vacation by car last year, and many feel they may not get another chance soon, due to high gasoline costs or uncertain future fuel supplies.

Cumulative figures since last October show auto travel is up by 24 per cent over the same period last year. That puts travel at, or slightly below, pre-gasoline shortage figures.

The most popular destination for Minnesotans is California and the southwest, with Florida a close second. Minnesota, as a vacation destination, ranks 19th presently and will continue to increase as the summer progresses, Haustein predicts.

State Children's Food Program Funds Increased

U.S. department of agriculture (USDA) has allocated an additional $42,767 to Minnesota to operate the special summer food service program for children this year. This increase raises the state total allocation for the program to $246,456. Nationwide, additional allocations totaled $11.3 million, bringing total commitments for the program to $70 million.

The summer feeding program provides nourishing meals to needy children through day camps and recreation centers. During the school year many of these children are able to depend upon free lunches at school.

Last year some 9,200 Minnesota children participated in the program at 117 sites. Cost of operating the program last year in Minnesota totaled $176,732. Nationally, the summer program reached 1.8 million needy youngsters in 1974.

Experience indicates that most program sponsors request more money than they actually spend because they base their estimates on the maximum number of children in their programs. In 1974, for instance, sponsors requested over $60 million but spent only $50 million.

Declaration Of Christian Independence

When in the course of human, spiritual events, it becomes necessary to break away from bondage of the soul, and to take the label of CHRISTIAN to which God enables them, a reasonable declaration should be set forth as to the necessity to be free from the enslavement of the Devil and sin.

We hold the Biblical truths to be the eternal Word of God, that all men are sinners, but are given the chance to have eternal life through their Creator, Jesus Christ; and along with Christian Liberty and freedom from the bondage of sin, they have the right to say NO to the Devil. That to secure these rights Jesus died and rose from the grave, and he has been made the Savior of all who put their faith in Him. It is the right of the people to throw off the chains of a dictator, called "King Satan".

For when a long train of abuses, corruptions, suppressions, sicknesses, spiritual defilements and all manner of sin are heaped on a soul, it is his right to get rid of such a system, and to ask Christ to save him from his sins and to guard his security.

We, the assembled Christians, appeal to our Supreme Judge and Savior, and in the name of Jesus solemnly publish and declare, that these united Christians are, and of right ought to be free from the penalty and dominance of sin, and that they have the right to wage spiritual warfare.

And for the support of this Declaration, and with a firm reliance upon the protection of our Savior and King, Jesus, we mutually pledge to Christ our lives, our fortunes and our sacred honor.

FROM LAW COMES FREEDOM

When God gave Moses the Ten Commandments they were largely NEGATIVE rules. "Thou shall NOT. . ." We should appreciate God's feeling for us!

For if you were privileged to rewrite the Commandments would you choose to make them POSITIVE? "You MUST. . . you've GOT TO. . ." Totalitarian is just the polite political name for that kind of programmed puppetry. God would have nothing of it!

Truly, every "thou shall not" inspires earnest believers to find their own rightful expressions of conviction and commitment. Our secular Law with its protections of the rights of others does not restrict our moral freedom. It simply guides it into more constructive channels, more fruitful aims.

Never does the Law say "Thou shall go to Church every Sunday." It does say "Remember the Sabbath Day to keep it holy". REMEMBERING OUR SPIRITUAL NEEDS IS THE ESSENCE OF FREEDOM!

Cycle-Related Deaths Double From Last Year

While traffic fatalities in general are below last year's pace, deaths in motorcycle-related crashes showed a sharp increase as compared to previous years, the Minnesota department of public safety, recently reported.

Sixteen persons died in cycle crashes during May compared to only four deaths during the same month last year; and for the first five months of this year, 20 deaths are recorded—double that for the same period in 1974.

"Though this year's experience is tragic," Minnesota department of public safety commissioner Edward G. Novak said, "the increase in May is believable, since cold weather up to the first of May this year kept motorcycle traffic volumes below normal."

Particularly noteworthy, according to public safety officials, was the fact that only five of the fatally injured drivers had passed both the written and over-the-road tests required to obtain a motorcycle endorsement on their driver license.

It could not be determined whether any of the eleven remaining drivers were operating their machines by virtue of a learner's permit, although even the permit status could be ruled out in two of the cases as the drivers were aged ten and thirteen, too young to be operating a motor vehicle under any circumstances under Minnesota law.

Minnesota law requires that operators of motorcycles in the state have in their possession either a learner's permit, obtainable by taking a written test, or a full motorcycle endorsement which is obtainable only by successful completion of both a written and over-the-road test which demonstrates full capability in handling the machine.

The American Conscience

by Dr. RUDY SKOGERBOE

Why do our political leaders fail to listen to ordinary people? This is one of the mysteries of our society today. Last week the Republican Party of Polk County had their convention. The resolutions were tough and conservative, but this has been true for many years.

A year ago the 7th District Republicans produced a platform that was strongly patriotic and conservative, but the Republican Leadership failed to listen. The national leadership did not follow through with these grass-root ideas. Several important topics were covered, but one of the most important outside of our foreign policy was the consideration of land use.

The convention discussed Vietnam and SE Asia at length. It was agreed by all members present that the failure to win in SE Asia waw a legacy of the liberals—and to be specific, the Democrats. One man gave a brief history lesson covering the last 25 years which showed the bad decisions by Democrat leadership first under Pres. Truman, then by Pres. Kennedy and Johnson. The trouble being the horrible result of the idea of containment rather than victory. History has proven this to be true and we now suffer a dangerous loss of prestige throughout the world.

No conclusions were made as to future action, but there was a sense of urgency that something had to change quickly if our freedom and security were to survive.

Another important matter was the "Land Use Planning" threat to ownership of land. It seems that this threat is becoming real through the idea of "Regional Planning". I will therefore quote the resolution on this subject: "All areas of life are closely tied in the economic usages of land. Freedom as we know it is impossible in an economy subject to comprehensive government control. The private management of private property at work in a free market economy is the most efficient device for utilizing economic resources to meet society's needs. This is on the premise that all people have the inherant right to life, liberty, and property, except that their usage must not harm others. Because society is complex it is a fact that no government can know all the local needs or problems in land use. There is another danger through which government land use control will be universal and this is called regional planning. This goes across state boundaries and centralizes power in Washington.

Therefore BE IT RESOLVED: We must preserve the traditional rights of landowners to make their own land use decisions. We believe this is necessary to preserve individual liberty. Also it should be realized that mistakes at the national level could be a real disaster and the price for these mistakes would not be paid by the planners. Further be it resolved that regional planning be eliminated forthwith and the units of government as provided by our Constitution be the government units to make decisions within each of their own boundaries."

This resolution goes to Washington through Republican channels. So far the trend even by Republican Leadership has been toward regional planning. In my opinion this is dangerous, the ordinary people don't want it and still it is doubtful the problem will be resolved. It can be changed, however, if we let our legislators know how we feel about it.

Another friendly country demands U.S. forces leave their country! I'm not talking about the Far East, but rather about one of our long time friends. Turkey has demanded action on military aid to their country or the U.S. must plan to withdraw its bases. Our Country has 20 military bases in Turkey and has worked closely with them in mutual defense problems. For centuries Turkey has regarded Russia as their natural enemy and recently they have been very friendly to the U.S. Now all of a sudden, because of action by our Congress, they are faced with the same danger as Thailand. With strong Communist forces to the North, close identification with an America that decides to go back on its commitments it becomes just simply too dangerous for comfort.

Foreign Minister Ihsan Caglayangil said, "Turkey has waited in vail for reversal of the American decision, which is both unjust and wrong in all its aspects. "This week the Senate finally approved lifting the ban on military aid, but the reason for continuing the embargo is the real mystery. Why should we cut off military aid? Congress said it was their war with Greece. What Congress knows is that we supply both Turkey and Greece with military supplies. If we don't give either side ammunition and replacement parts, it is obvious no big war could develop. By cutting off aid for a time Congress made a strong protest about the fighting between these two countries, but the point has been made and the sides are negotiating, so there is little danger of any big war.

The military power struggle, or the balance of terror between the forces of freedom and those of the Communist Block is bad enough with all the friends we can find. It is the height of folly to think we can face the enemy along—or perhaps Congress thinks differently. Turkey is one of the most important friends we have because of geography. The narrow Sea of Bosporus makes it possible to close traffic any time. The second important reason to stay friendly with Turkey is their attitude. They are willing to fight for their freedom, but after our miserable performance in Vietnam, they naturally wonder what we would do if similarly threatened.

The mystery, then, is why would our Congress threaten a friendly nation when so much is at stake? Why would there even by any question in the mind of Congress as to what action to take? These are good questions and I don't believe the fight with Greece is enough reason to lose an ally like Turkey.

In my opinion this is a matter of basic understanding of the U.S. as a leader in the global struggle between the forces of Communist domination and those who believe in individual freedom. We are right back to the basic philosophy of life—do we want our Christian culture to be wiped off the face of the earth and make it go underground as it must behind the Iron Curtain? Despite its anti-Christian attitudes, Turkey is still willing to be our friend. I believe we should support them.

4-H'ers Learn Petroleum Gives Nation "Go" Power

CHICAGO—"Fossil" fuels are definitely not a dead subject for nearly 200,000 young people from 9 to 19 in the national 4-H petroleum power program.

These 4-H'ers take a lively interest in the gasoline and diesel oils that fuel the nation's power machinery—from farm tractors to lawn, garden and recreational equipment.

Amoco offers awards

Participating in a tractor or small engines project is fun, educational, and may bring recognition for top achievement. For 31 years, 4-H program members have been competing for awards donated by Amoco Foundation, Inc. and arranged by the National 4-H Service Committee.

This year Amoco will award $800 college scholarships to six national winners, to be honored at the 54th National 4-H Congress, Nov. 30-Dec. 4, in Chicago. One winner from each state receives an expense-paid trip to National 4-H Congress, and up to four winners per county get medals of honor.

Regional contests

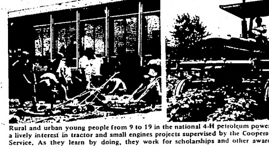
In addition, the foundation annually sponsors the 4-H eastern and western regional tractor operators' contests and small engine demonstrations. The 1975 regionals are slated for Omaha, Neb., Sept. 18-20, and Richmond, Va., Sept. 22-24.

4-H'ers enrolled in tractor projects become skilled in the safe, efficient operation and maintenance of farm tractors and machinery. They learn that proper care can almost double the interval between tractor overhauls and can reduce costly downtime. Practical activities include adjusting carburetors; lubricating the engine, transmission and wheel bearings; and storing, handling and conserving fuel.

Learn-by-doing projects

In small engines projects, both rural and urban 4-H'ers get a chance to work with lawn mowers, motorbikes, snowmobiles and outboard motors. Learning to take apart small engines and put them together again is basic to an understanding of how all engines—both simple and complex—operate.

The national 4-H petroleum power program is conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service. Additional information is available from county extension agents.



Rural and urban young people from 9 to 19 in the national 4-H petroleum power program take a lively interest in tractor and small engines projects supervised by the Cooperative Extension Service. As they learn by doing, they work for scholarships and other awards donated by Amoco Foundation, Inc.

Thought For The Day

It seems at times that many of us engage in a game of looking for differences in others. We look at the color of their skin and say they are different. We note that they attend a different church than we do and then say that we have the only true way to God's love and mercy. We see that there are political differences between people and believe that anyone who disagrees with us is a threat to the order and peace of the nation.

But should we not at times stop ourselves from falling into this trap and remember the sameness that unites us as God's children. Christians most especially should recall that there is much that unites all men. We sometimes forget that all men suffer; all men weep with sorrow or joy; all men laugh; that all races have talented people; and all men die.

In the 17th chapter of the Gospel of John, Jesus prays the following; "And now I am no more in the world, but they are in the world, and I am coming to Thee. Holy Father, keep them in Thy name, which Thou hast given Me, that they may be one, even as We are One."

In light of this prayer of our Lord, should we not be looking for that which unites us in Christ, rather than creating walls which separate us from our brothers?

Aquacade Again

Thief River Falls Jaycees have again marshalled their forces to present the annual Aquacade summer fun festival. A break in tradition will be provided by the staging of the event during the Fourth of July holiday, offering those residents who choose to spend the three-day holiday at home a number of entertainment activities.

Attendance at Aquacade events should be boosted by the Cat Country CB Jamboree, a gathering of citizens band radio operators which will be headquartered at the county fairgrounds. Local CB enthusiasts are planning for many hundreds of visitors at the event and even partial realization of their expectations will mean quite an influx of guests in the community.

People power is required to accomplish all of the work necessary to make arrangements and carry out the activities planned for these community events. Thief River Falls has more than its share of talented and willing workers who make things happen and assure that the accomplished ends are desired.

Events such as the Aquacade, the recent Artrain celebration, the CB jamboree, Northwest Dairy day, the county fair and others don't just happen. A lot of time and effort and expertise goes into each of them. With such willing effort from so many people, it's no wonder Thief River Falls is the hub of activity for a wide area.

If you are going to be in the area this weekend, plan to take in some of the Aquacade events. They are being arranged for your participation and pleasure.

Fourth Is Great Date

On July 3, 1776, John Adams stated: "I am well aware of the toil and blood and treasure it will cost us to maintain this Declaration (of Independence). Yet through all the gloom I see the rays of ravishing light and glory. This is our day of deliverance. With solemn acts of devotion we ought to commemorate it. With pomp and show, games, sports, guns, bonfires and illuminations from one end of the continent to the other, from this time forth forevermore."

Our good friend Ken Hickman of the Grand Rapids Herald-Review writes about the Fourth of July as follows:

One hundred and 99 years ago on July 4, 1776, the Continental congress adopted the resolution of independence without a dissenting vote.

Thirteen colonies of America proclaimed themselves united, free, independent, ready to begin the great experiment of freedom under law. Almost every year we have reason to marvel at the farsighted planning of the founding fathers and the marvelous constitution they prepared for us.

"Be Americans," President George Washington said. "Let there be no sectionalism, no North, South, East or West. You are all dependent one on another and should be one in union. In one word, be a nation: be Americans, and be true to yourselves."

There is good reason for celebrating the Fourth of July.

The United States has been sorely tested during its 199 years. After winning its war of independence, it has withstood the challenge of foreign powers in two destructive world Wars. It has been nearly torn apart by a Civil war and by the frustrating and agonizing conflict in South Vietnam.

Every generation has been confronted with challenge and crisis, and each has somehow found the strength to live up to its responsibility. Some of the problems of 100 years ago are still with us. But we have the ability to plan for the future and to use the spirit and determination of the founding fathers to solve the complex problems ahead.

A few claim to be ashamed of this great land. They say they have no pride in our flag or in our traditions. Anyone who studies the record of the United States, however, will find far more reason for pride than shame. We have made mistakes and will make more in the years ahead. But the over-all record of the United States is one of sharing, of contributing generously to the less fortunate, of championing the causes of justice and freedom.

President Abraham Lincoln on July 4, 1858, said that "we hold this annual celebration (Fourth of July) to remind ourselves of all the good done in the process of time, of how it was done and who did it and how we are historically connected with it. And we go from these meetings in better humor with ourselves—we feel more attached the one to the other and more firmly bound to the country we inhabit."

Let's honor America and work to make it better. As poet Walt Whitman wrote, "America is only you and me . . ."

Veto Proof?

Following editorial is from the Morris Tribune:

Democrat Mayor Coleman Young of Detroit praised the Ford administration last week for its efforts to alleviate his city's financial crisis. Testifying before a session of the Joint Economic Committee of Congress, Young also attacked the Democratic Congress for inaction. According to Senator Hubert Humphrey, Young's "scolding of this Congress is justified."

Long before last year's congressional elections, organized labor announced its goal of electing a "veto-proof" congress. George Meany and his big labor cohorts assumed that massive financial support of Democrat candidates throughout the nation would result in a labor-oriented assembly capable of overriding any presidential veto. As it turned out, labor provided the campaign funds, and a heavily Democratic Congress was elected, but many Democrats have strayed from the fold, voting to sustain presidential vetoes.

President Ford has vetoed six bills this year, and Congressional leaders have failed to muster support for a vote to override in each case. Throughout his administration, Ford has demonstrated his determination to keep the federal deficit within reasonable limits. It would appear that many Democrat congressmen share Ford's views on the national debt since their votes to uphold presidential vetoes have eliminated spending programs favored by party leaders.

Ford's most recent action was vetoing a housing subsidy bill which would have added $1 billion to the national debt. Instead, Ford released $2 billion in mortgage purchasing authority for the Governmental National Mortgage Association which subsidizes interest rates in home-buying. The net cost of this action will be only $60 million. The federal budget must be held down if we are to expect steady economic recovery, without a new round of inflation and high interest rates.

While we are pleased with the fact that Congress has failed to add to the national debt, congressional inaction also has its negative aspects. The much-touted congressional energy program, for example, did not require a presidential veto. Its important features were eliminated before it ever passed the house. In this regard, the New York Times characterized congressional inaction as "irresponsibility that greatly increases this country's vulnerability to economic coercion by the oil cartel."

The original energy bill, as conceived in the House Ways and Means Committee, had its shortcomings. But while the bill would have done little to stimulate production, it did offer a plan to conserve fuel. Again, rank and file Democrats opposed the party leadership and as a result there is no strong congressional energy program and we face the possibility of another severe shortage.

Borrowed Nonsense

The wife returned from the department store laden with packages. "Goodness," yelled her miserly husband, "considering what all that must have cost you, what do you think happened to our nest egg?"

"I'll tell you what happened to our nest egg," retorted the wife, "This old hen got tired of sitting on it."

Jimmy had trouble pronouncing the letter "R" so his teacher gave him this sentence to practice at home: "Robert gave Richard a rap in the ribs for roasting the rabbit so rare." A few days later the teacher asked him to say the sentence to her. Said Jimmy: "Bob gave Dick a poke in the side for not cooking the bunny enough."

MINNESOTA REPORT

WALTER F. MONDALE

Federal crop insurance on a comprehensive, nationwide basis is, in my judgment, one of the most important elements of a viable, national food strategy. But our current Federal Crop Insurance Program can and should be improved and expanded to include all major crops in all U.S. counties. Only then can we really meet the problems of today's farmer.

I have recently introduced a bill to expand the crop insurance program provided for under the Federal Crop Insurance Act. It would lift the current ceiling on the administrative costs of the program, provide for federal sharing of the cost of premiums and extend coverage to all major agricultural commodities in all counties.

The Federal Crop Insurance Corporation was created in 1938 to offer protection to farmers from losses caused by natural hazards such as insect and wildlife damage, plant diseases, fire and disastrous weather. Coverage now includes 26 crops. However, not all crops are insured in all locations.

Escalating production costs, high interest rates and a shortage of credit in many rural areas have magnified the need for expanded all-risk crop insurance. The farmer is facing enormous risks as a result of market forces alone. How can he expect to survive if his crops are ruined by disease or disastrous weather?

Although the need for crop insurance has increased, participation in the federal program has come to a virtual standstill. Minnesota has a relatively high rate of participation, yet only 60 of our 87 counties are fully eligible for Federal Crop Insurance on specified crops. Less than half the counties in the United States are able to participate and no new counties are projected for inclusion in the program in 1976.

The insurance program has been slow to expand partly as a result of an unreasonably low ceiling for administrative costs. Administrative expenses above the $12 million limit are now coming out of premiums paid by farmers. My bill would strike that $12 million limit.

The bill would also direct the Corporation to pay 50 per cent of the premium cost. Federal sharing of the premium would not eliminate the requirement that farmers who generally obtain payment in the form of indemnities from the Corporation more often than others must pay more to obtain insurance. However, it would reduce the burden on individual operators that can be prohibitive for a family farmer who lives in a high risk area.

The federal program can provide the necessary insurance for modern day farmers, but we must bring the program up to date by expanding and enlarging it. I hope the Senate Agricultural Committee agrees.

notes from the governor

Wendell R. Anderson

Last week the Minnesota Association of Commerce and Industry (MACI) conducted its sixth annual tour of Minnesota Progress in outstate Minnesota.

Each of the past six years, MACI has sponsored the tour, to bring Twin Cities business executives to selected outstate cities and demonstrate their investment potential as sites for business expansion and development.

They also get an opportunity to see the quality of our way of life in outstate Minnesota—away from the crowded, congested, polluted cities. Greater investment of our outstanding Minnesota companies in outstate Minnesota offers advantages to all of our people—and a majority of them tell the pollsters they would rather live outstate.

For the 30 Twin Cities executives who made the two-day tour, it was an eye-opening experience. Such outstate communities as Moorhead, Fergus Falls, Sauk Centre, Wadena, Staples, and Monticello, all of which we visited, are lively, growing, and eager to seek sound business and industrial expansion.

In Staples, for example, just a few years ago the city's economy was based on a single industry. When that declined, many people thought the town would have difficulty surviving.

But the people of Staples wouldn't accept economic disaster. They organized their community, formed a development corporation, and set about building the economy of the city. The results are dramatic, and the people of Staples are proud of what they have accomplished.

Local officials enthusiastically told us the story of Staples recovery.

Today their economy is diversified, and their area Vocational-Technical Institute provides skilled workers for businesses that desire to expand or begin in Staples. Staples accomplishment is a model for every Minnesota outstate community.

It's happening in many areas of outstate Minnesota, where our rural communities have entered a phase of development that is unparalleled in the history of the state. Even our population figures show an end to the Twin Cities migration and a stabilization of the population in most outstate areas.

Minnesota business is a vital element in that new growth. That's what the MACI tour is all about.

Every year that I've taken the tour, the enthusiasm of local officials, community leaders, and metropolitan business executives has grown.

It's clear that outstate Minnesota communities are not waiting for the future to come to them. They are working to build their own futures.

Remind Students To Submit Loan Application Soon

Minnesota residents who plan to attend a post-secondary education institution next fall and wish to apply for a state student loan should submit their applications as soon as possible, said Richard C. Hawk, executive director of the higher education coordinating commission.

Hawk said it is important that students needing assistance for fall apply now since it takes eight to 12 weeks for the U.S. office of education to process the federally insured loans.

Under the program, one of several financial aid programs administered by the commission and available to state residents, a student may obtain a federally insured loan of up to $2,500 per year directly from the state. Any Minnesota resident who is registered or accepted for enrollment at one of more than 7,000 eligible institutions either in Minnesota or out of state may apply.

Application forms are available at financial aid offices at post-secondary institutions, and a student should contact the financial aid officer at the institution he or she attends or will attend. Additional information on the loan program and other financial aid programs may be obtained from the higher education coordinating commission, division of financial aid, suite 901, Capitol Square building, 550 Cedar street, St. Paul, Minnesota 55101 (Tel: 612-296-5715). Students may apply at any time during the year.

In Minnesota, eligible institutions include all state colleges, all area vocational technical institutes, all community colleges, the University of Minnesota, private colleges and private vocational schools.

Students may borrow up to $2,500 per academic year to be repaid over an extended period after the student leaves school. The interest is 7 per cent simple interest. Students must pay this interest every three months while in school. However, students from families with adjusted gross annual income below $15,000 qualify for a federal interest subsidy and the federal government pays the interest while the student is in school.

The program, conducted at no cost to the state, has been in operation since the sale of $29.4 million in revenue bonds in February 1974. More than 15,000 students are receiving loans from revenue provided from the initial bond sale. Extension of the bonding authorization from $30 to $90 million by the 1975 legislature will enable the commission to provide loans to approximately 40,000 more students in the next two years, Hawk said.

Basic natural resources such as gas, oil and timber have for generations provided energy to light and heat cities and homes across the country. These raw materials also have been used to produce flexible packaging materials that have added safety, protection and convenience of goods bought in stores and supermarkets today.

Now municipalities, environmentalists and industry have found methods of recapturing the energy potential from these packaging materials. These packages that provide a service to the consumer also could, in the future, serve as an energy source. This would make dual use of the natural resources.

All over America, cities and communities are realizing the energy potential from taking such discarded flexible packaging items for use in resource recovery. They are establishing systematic solid waste recovery programs that take the new resource, burn it and convert it into electricity.

Annually 2 billion pounds of flexible packaging material is produced. If turned into energy by resource recovery methods, 840 million gallons of imported oil could be saved annually, and over 3.5 billion kilowatts would be created.

A Simple Operation!
Simplicity describes the design as well as the operation of this drying system. Fewer moving parts reduces 'downtime' and eliminates a lot of unnecessary worry. Controls are placed for easy use and identification. There is no need to stand by the controls adjusting and readjusting. Depending on field drying conditions, periodic moisture tests and compensating adjustments are all the attention that's required.
For reliability and simplicity in a one pass continuous flow dryer, it's the Tox-O-Wik II 960.

"Be someone special in the Navy."
Bill Muncey—Champion Hydroplane Racer
"Out there on the unlimited hydroplane circuit, I go all out to win. In a way, driving that hydroplane is a lot like life. You've got to get out and make your own opportunities to win the race. To be someone special. That's the big reason I'm so involved with the Navy. I honestly feel it's one of the best places where young people can get the kind of educational and training opportunities so important to their success. Add that to the good pay and benefits you can earn . . . and you really come up with a Gold Cup. Being someone special isn't just a lot of words. Take my word for it. It's getting into the race with as much going for you as you possibly can. That's what the Navy is all about. Ask your local recruiter. He can launch you on your way . . . to being someone special."

State Photolog Highway Survey Near Completion

By July, each mile of Minnesota's 12,200 mile trunk highway system will be filmed in color in a ground-level photographic survey. Without leaving the office, engineers and technicians will be able to investigate any stretch of highway in the state by merely pushing a button.

Last fall, 11,775 miles of the trunk highway system had been "inventoried" in the film survey. To date, about 100 miles remain to be photologged. Since photos of highwaqs are taken in both directions, 24,400 miles will be filmed and catalogued in the state's highway department film libaary.

A permanent pictorial inventory, the photolog provides instantaneous photographic references for inspection of highways and their roadside features.

A relatively easy and inexpensive method, photologging has speeded up highway information gathering. Photolog pictures are readily available for road condition studies, sign inventories, right-of-way development surveys and traffic control device evaluation. They also serve as an accurate record for estimating damages resulting from accidents and natural disasters.

With implementation of the system, field trips have been considerably reduced. "Over a three-month period the central office of traffic engineering along, not including district offices, saves about 10,000 vehicle miles and 240 workhours by utilizing the photolog system," according to traffic and surveillance engineer Richard Bautch.

Photologging viewers supplied to department offices throughout the state enable district and central office personnel to simultaneously investigate the same highway location while conferring by telephone.

Photolog pictures are taken only on clear summer days. A motor van equipped with a 35mm camera and an electronic distance measuring instrument travels the highways. At one-hundredth mile (52.8-foot) intervals, the automatic camera takes a color transparency. After the film is developed and edited, it is assembled into reels each covering 16 highway miles.

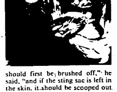
On a TV-like scope, individual pictures can be viewed, or shown in sequence at varying speeds.

With photologging of the trunk highway system nearly completed, the state will make equipment available for filming of county and municipal roads.

The office of traffic engineering implemented the photologging system in 1973, under provision of the federal highway safety act.

The Sting

Caution and Common Sense Urged for Sting-Allergic Persons



If you're stung by an insect while you walk in the woods or picnic this summer, chances are that the sting won't cause more than a brief, mildly painful disruption. But for a significant number of hypersensitive people, a sting from a wasp, yellow jacket, hornet, honeybee, or bumblebee can be more than annoying — if left untreated, it can be fatal.

These individuals suffer from "allergy to hymenoptera stings," — an allergy that produces a reaction that kills more people annually than snake bites. But with the aid of hyposensitizing injections, and a little caution, the allergic reactions of these people can be far less severe, according to a twelve-year study conducted by Dr. Solomon E. Barr, an allergist and assistant clinical professor of medicine at The George Washington University in Washington, D.C.

From 1960 to 1972, Dr. Barr reviewed the records of 249 patients allergic to insect stings in his private practice. The patients were male and female, preteens through the elderly. After attempting to identify the offending insect, Dr. Barr gave each patient the first in a series of hyposensitizing injections. In most cases, the injection consisted of a mixture of diluted glycerin and the crushed bodies of the four most common stinging insects -- the honeybee, wasp, hornet and yellow jacket. Most of the 249 patients in the study received injections on a regular basis. All but five reported distinctively less severe reactions when stung again, and in no case did any patient become worse.

Dr. Barr also gave the patients explicit instructions for prompt emergency treatment. "The insect should first be brushed off," he said, "and if the sting sac is left in the skin, it should be scooped out with a fingernail. Be careful not to squeeze the sac, for this could release more venom." Patients were also urged to carry emergency kits that contain preloaded syringes of epinephrine — an adrenaline derivative that if injected immediately will offset an allergic reaction.

If you experience what seems to be an allergic reaction to an insect sting (unusual itching, swelling, runny nose, or tightness in the chest), Dr. Barr recommends that you see a physician.

Finally, Dr. Barr advises that sting-allergic individuals should take steps to prevent future stings. Insect nests around the house should be removed, carefully. He also recommends certain specific outdoor preventative measures. "Allergic individuals should always wear shoes and socks outdoors," Dr. Barr notes. "Another rule is to avoid seeming like a flower to the insect. Avoid floral prints, bright colors, perfumes, or scented hair oils. Lighter colored clothing with a hard surface is less attractive to these insects. Insect repellants can be effective if all exposed areas of the body are covered. Finally, always practice the 'rattlesnake technique:' never touch, sit, or step on anything without looking first."

Former Inmate, Warden Discuss Prison System

Fifteen years ago Dick Mitchell participated in a sitdown strike at Stillwater state prision with 106 other inmates. Monday night, while authorities were quelling a serious disturbance at the prison, Mitchell talked about his prison experiences at a criminal justice forum at Newman center, near Minneapolis campus of the University of Minnesota.

Mitchell entered Stillwater in 1959 with a 16-to-75-year sentence for third-degree murder. It was to be his home for the next nine years.

"I figured that was where I was going to live and die," he said.

Admitting he had always disliked authority, Mitchell said he found the regimented society of prison intolerable. After taking part in the sitdown strike protesting prison conditions, Mitchell spent the next two-and-a-half years in isolation.

Distrubances in isolation resulted in the use of tear gas. After a while, Mitchell said, he didn't even mind that: "I discovered it cleared up my sinuses for a few days afterwards."

In 1965 Minnesota's criminal code was revised, and long sentences such as Mitchell had been given were eliminated. "There was one inmate at Stillwater who at the age of 30 had been sentenced to 210 years in prison," Mitchell said. Under the revised code, an inmate sentenced to life in prison is eligible for parole after serving 17¼ years.

prison was "like being born again." He said his reentry into society was helped through a new careers program for the unemployed and underemployed. Mitchell later became involved with a program encouraging industry to hire ex-offenders. He is currently a director of Branch 2, a drop-in center, and active with prison reform groups.

Mitchell said he was not rehabilitated by the corrections systems. "I did it myself," he said.

Mitchell urged the abolishment of fortress-like prisons. He said only five to 10 per cent of the people in prison are dangerous to society and themselves. He favors community correction programs that would enable offenders to contribute to their families and make restitution to their victims.

Andrew Rutherford also spent time in a prison, but on the other side of the bars. Currently a visiting assistant professor in the department of criminal justice studies at the University of Minnesota, Rutherford was a deputy warden in the British prison system from 1962 to 1973.

Rutherford said society has come a long way from the Quaker philosophy that led to the construction of the first penitentiaries, where offenders were to do penance for breaking the law.

But improvements in the corrections system, according to Rutherford, must overcome the vested interests of certain groups. These include the people who work at the prisons and social workers, said Rutherford.

He charged that as a result of efforts of social workers, many youngsters are sent to reform schools or detention centers for things that would not be imprisoned for if they were adults.

Rutherford said more states should follow the example of Massachusetts, which in 1972 closed all training schools, claiming that they damaged people and were crime-producing.

The forum was sponsored by the University of Minnesota ecumenical action team of the joint religious legislative coalition. Panel moderator was Thomas Lovell, assistant director of Hennepin county court service.

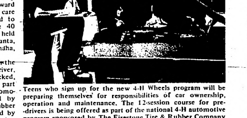
4-H Pushes Nationwide Auto Program For Teens



Teens who sign up for the new 4-H Wheels program will be preparing themselves for responsibilities of car ownership, operation and maintenance. The 12-session course for pre-drivers is being offered as part of the national 4-H automotive program sponsored by The Firestone Tire & Rubber Company and conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service.

CHICAGO—In four workshops the Cooperative Extension Service has introduced a new nationwide automotive program for teens.

Labeled 4-H Wheels, the humanistic effort to develop desirable attitudes toward automotive safety and care was thoroughly outlined to representatives of some 40 states. Meetings were held May 27-June 4 in Atlanta, Ga.; Boston, Mass.; Omaha, Neb.; and Reno, Nev.

Especially designed for the pre-driver and the new driver, Wheels is an action packed, 12-session course that's part of the national 4-H automotive program sponsored by The Firestone Tire & Rubber Company and conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service.

Course is free

All teens are encouraged to enroll in 4-H Wheels when it is offered in their local community. And they can sign up for the course without charge through their local county extension office.

Color slides, scripts and tape cassette, plus self-testing activity sheets, will introduce pre-drivers to topics like these:

- The car's in your hands—your responsibilities as a driver
- Where the power comes from—the engine and how it works
- Where the rubber meets the road—tires
- Car buymanship—what to look for in a car
- Accidents—their cause and cure

Wheels members meet after school or on weekends where the automotive action is: in the auto showroom, used car lot, service garage, insurance office, tire center or police station. Their leaders are community volunteers who utilize local experts in the practical, technical and safety aspects of owning and operating a car.

4-H Wheels kit

Audiovisuals and other curriculum materials for the course in kit form were developed by a national 4-H automotive program development committee chaired by William Garmon of the North Carolina 4-H staff, with the assistance of Firestone and the National 4-H Service Committee.

In addition to the kit, other educational and promotional materials are available to local community leaders, including an organizational guide and leaflet for prospective members. A 4-H Wheels final event—is outlined in another booklet. And certificates of participation are offered.

Firestone provides incentives to 4-H members who excel in this and other automotive projects. The company awards $1,000 college scholarships to eight national winners, an expense-paid trip to National 4-H Congress to one winner in each state, and up to four medals of honor per county.

Awards are arranged and announced by the National 4-H Service Committee. This year's national winners will be honored at the 54th National 4-H Congress, Nov. 30-Dec. 4, in Chicago.

Firestone also offers two plaques and 10 framed certificates to counties and/or clubs in each state conducting the most outstanding 4-H automotive programs.

The telephone makes much of our life as consumers easier and more convenient. By using the phone, we can get information about merchandise, comparison shop for prices and order merchandise without having to drive or walk all about town. Likewise, the telephone is used by sales people as a convenient and easy way to contact us and, in many instances, to get into our homes. Many of us have bought goods or services—magazines, kitchenware, children's photos, insurance—as a result of what began as a phone call from a salesperson.

Sometimes those who make their sales introduction by phones are straight-forward enough in their approach to let us know right off that they are selling something. We then are able to decide whether we need the items and whether we wish the salesperson to come to our home to give us more information about it.

However, many telephone salespeople are not so direct; many use unscrupulous sales tactics calculated to trick us into making a purchase immediately or into listening to a sales pitch in our home.

Two favorites of phone salespeople are the "free gift" and the "you've won a contest" tactics. These are used to sell everything from magazines to baby equipment, from encyclopedias to pots and pans.

Here's how they work: The consumer is told by a phone caller that he has been selected to receive a free gift or that he will win a prize if he can answer a quiz question. The question is usually not very difficult.

To avoid hazards of over-the-phone sales pitches follow these guidelines:

(1) Never agree either to buy a product or to have a salesperson come to your home during the first call. Tell the salesperson you will call him back. This will give you a chance to consider his offer.

(2) If you are told by phone that you have won a prize in a contest:

—Ask whether you will be obligated to listen to a sales pitch for a product or service. Oftentimes, to accept a "prize" is to leave yourself open to an intense, high-pressure sales pitch.

—Ask whether you have to buy something in order to get the "prize."

(3) If a phone caller offers you free merchandise:

—Find out the conditions for getting the free gift. The gift usually is "free" only if you buy something, and often you will be overcharged for the item you are required to buy.

—Tell the caller you wish to shop around to determine how the price you must pay in order to get the gift compares with the price of the item without such a gift.

Fraudulent charitable solicitation is another unscrupulous tactic used to make sales over the phone. Several recent incidents involved the sale by phone of products supposedly made by the handicapped. The seller's pitch was calculated, to elicit the consumer's sense of sympathy and charity.

Aiding the handicapped, of course, is a wonderful activity. However, the companies involved did not help the handicapped in any way. In fact, they may have harmed legitimate efforts to help the handicapped. The products were not made by the handicapped, nor were any handicapped employed by the firms. Moreover, the price charged for the products was several times higher than comparable products sold in stores.

Consumers can avoid being duped by this kind of fraudulent telephone solicitation. The following are some ways:

(1) Do not agree either to buy a product or, to make an outright contribution on the basis of a phone call.

(2) Ask to be sent information about the charitable organization or the company. Ask that this information include an explanation of how it aids the handicapped, how many handicapped they employ, and how much money goes to the handicapped.

(3) If the company is selling a product, compare the price it asks for the product with the price for a comparable product sold in a store. If you discover that the charity is authentic, you might not mind overpaying for a product; however, you should at least be aware of how much you are overpaying.

Seemingly harmless telephone calls can lead to serious consumer problems. Always take time to consider what you are doing before making any kind of commitment over the phone.

If you have any problems involving telephone solicitations, please contact the Attorney General's office, Consumer Division, 102 State Capitol Building, St. Paul, Minnesota. 55155.

Are you a 20th century Ben Franklin? Do you have an idea or invention in mind that you hope to transform into a profitable investment? Many Minnesotans have said yes to these questions and subsequently lost hundreds of dollars in fees which they paid to "Invention Marketing" or "Idea Promotion" companies.

In the past few years national invention marketing companies such as DEVCO of Salt Lake City, and INVENCO of Dallas have gone bankrupt. Locally, the Minnesota Attorney General's Office obtained a court order in November, 1973 against Imperial Inventors International (since renamed Midwest Innovations) which requires it to substantiate or prove its claim that an inventor's idea has market potential. The company has since stopped doing business in Minnesota. These examples lend authority to a Federal Trade Commission Report that invention marketing companies have a poor performance record.

If you think you need a patent and are unfamiliar with the procedures and costs involved, ask the Better Business Bureau for its "Facts for Inventors" and the United States Patent Office for "General Information Concerning Patents." Keep in mind that one year after your invention is disclosed or your idea put in public circulation, you cannot obtain a patent. However, it is not always obvious when an invention or idea has been publicly disclosed. If you still are interested in patent work, consult a patent attorney. If you do not know one, the Minnesota Bar Referral Service will make cost-free referrals.

Remember too, that you may be able to accomplish the marketing of your idea by yourself. A large library will have business directories which you can consult for potential manufacturers. Also consider the Minnesota Inventor's Congress (Box 71, Redwood Falls, Minnesota 56283) which meets annually in June and provides low cost display areas.

Consumers considering the services of an invention marketing company should ask the company: (1) What percentage of ideas or inventions submitted to the company are promoted; (2) What percentage of the ideas or inventions promoted are profitably marketed; (3) Specifically, what marketing and-or patent work will the company do; (4) What companies or individuals will do this work; and (5) What will be the total cost of these services?

Ask specific questions of invention marketing companies. Marketing by "an Affiliate" or Patent work "if necessary" tell you nothing. Ask the company for the names of inventors it has helped earn a profit. Check with the Better Business Bureau and your local consumer protection agency to find out whether any complaints have been filed against the company and if so, whether those complaints were quickly remedied.

If the company is new ask whether it has succeeded a similar organization or whether its employees used to work for a similar business. If so, check the record of the previous company. Beware of assurances that large royalties are guaranteed or that the company "wouldn't think of promoting your product unless it has a very good chance of marketability."

Inventors considering the services of an invention marketing company which offers feasibility studies, patent work and marketing programs should carefully check the company's performance record. The odds against a profitable relationship are great. If you feel that an invention marketing company is misrepresenting its services or defrauding the public, contact the Attorney General's consumer protection division, 102 State Capitol Building, St. Paul, Minnesota 55155.

Fresh California Plums Go Oriental

A Japanese setting is a culinary natural for the plum; for while it is a native of China, the plum was domesticated in Japan. Today, California plum orchards produce more than 90 percent of the nation's plum supply.

This year the plum crop will be the second largest ever. We'll have lots of luscious fresh plums to enjoy in fragrant pies, cakes, sauces, salads, jams and jellies and the most popular way of all: on-the-spot for out-of-hand snacking at its best!

Look in your store's produce section for such colorful plums as Santa Rosa, Casselman, Queen Ann, Laroda and Kelsey. They're all marvelous in Tempura Plums—a refreshingly unique dessert idea to serve as a do-it-yourself party or family special. It's a triple treat: easy to prepare, a delight to the eye, and delicious to eat.

TEMPURA PLUMS

3 eggs, separated
1 cup milk
1⅓ cups flour
½ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons melted butter
12 fresh California plums, pitted and quartered
Oil for frying
Powdered sugar

In mixing bowl, beat egg yolks with milk; beat in flour, salt and butter. In separate bowl, beat egg whites until stiff; fold into batter. Dip plums into batter; deep fry in hot oil (375 degrees) 1 or 2 minutes or until golden brown. Drain on absorbent paper. Roll in powdered sugar; serve warm.

Earl, Ebba and Caroline Sihlberg accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Hjalmer Nelson of Greenbush to South St. Paul to visit at the Boyd Schilbergs and the Roy Erickson home at Edina for a 10 day visit. Unfortunately, Mr. Nelson became ill and was taken to a South St. Paul hospital where he spent a week undergoing tests. Luckily nothing serious, however, his daughter Shirley Erickson drove the car on the return trip home returning to her home on Tuesday by plane.

While guests at the Boyd Schilbergs, Earl and Ebba accompanied their son and family to visit Conrad Wigen at the Golden Oaks home and with Mrs. Conrad Wigen at the High Rise apartments. Mrs. Wigen who had been visiting here returned to the Cities with the Nelsons.

Caroline Sihlberg spent part of her visit at the home of her grandson Boyd and the rest of the time with her granddaughter and family, the Roy Ericksons of Edina.

Supper guests at the Andrew Rud home on Friday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Duane Ellingson and family of Aurora.

Strandquist Senior Citizens

As the Senior Citizens were leaving the center after their weekly meeting, June 19, they heard the sad news that William Wikstrom had passed away. We extend sincere sympathy to Sarah and the family.

Twenty-four were present at our meeting Thursday. We were all happy to have Florence Stennes back. She has improved greatly since her stroke in January and is back in her home here.

The women's project for the day was stuffing and sewing up ends on bed pillows. The men enjoyed a few games of whist.

Amanda brought a lovely bouquet of yellow roses that graced our lunch table.

Our visitors were Clara Kasprowicz, Mr. and Mrs. Gabe Kasprowicz and Carmyn, Bonita Kozmierczak, Jeffery and Juanita, June Hohn and Louise Brekke who failed to register, so she was fined 10 cents.

Mrs. Gorden Lefrooth and Mrs. Laurel Kline were Thursday's hostesses.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Rud visited at Gust Johnsons Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Wesley Rud, Mabel Stromberg and Alfred Nelson visited at Andrew Ruds Wednesday afternoon.

Sunday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Thun and Debby visited with Dawn, Lori and Barbara in Grand Forks and also had supper at the Cape Codder where the girls are employed. Debby left for Bismarck to take the R.N. state board exams and Mr. and Mrs. Thun visited Mrs. Thun's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Sorteberg in Grand Forks in the evening.

Last Monday Mrs. Clarence Borsvold and Mrs. Ruth Harper visited with Inga Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kleinvachter visited at the Mrs. Elphie Adlis home Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Sandberg of Holt and Mr. and Mrs. Gorden Larson visited at the Donella Larson home Sunday afternoon and in the evening Mr. and Mrs. John Ness of Newfolden visited there.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Borsvold and grandson Seth visited at the Clarence Carlson home in Warren Sunday evening. Seth was an overnight guest at his grandparents home.

Thursday overnight guests at Donella Larsons home were the Vernon Larson family of Grand Forks.

Mrs. Frances Meland of Middle River and Sister Casimir O.S.B. of Crookston visited last Monday afternoon at the Julius Kleinvachter home. Mrs. Stanley Stoneyk visited there on Wednesday.

Julius Kleinvachter went by plane from Grand Forks Wednesday morning to Louisville, Ky. to attend a 4th marine division reunion June 25 to 28. This is the year most of the service buddies of the division would be together after 25 years.

Fern Kronz visited with Mrs. Douglas Thun Thursday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Thun and Debby visited the George Monroes at Radium Thursday evening.

Visitors during the past week at the Hermon Nelson home were Mrs. Verner Fredricks and Jolene of Crookston, Mrs. Tony Salentine and Erick of Euclid, Lila Grandstrand, Mr. and Mrs. Gayhord Nelson, Carol and Myron, Merlyn Nelson, David and Dion.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Carlson and family and Oscar Carlson visited on Thursday at the Andrew Ruds.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Rud visited on Sunday at the Billy Olson home at Lake Bronson.

Strandquist Senior Citizens

Polly, Mildred and Irene made it to the center on Thursday, June 26, just before the rains came down and did it rain. We thought for awhile we would be the only ones there. But before the day ended, 14 had registered.

Before long we heard music, if you could call that music, some disgusting drip, drip, drip, which kept on all afternoon. Polly and Mildred got busy moving things that might get soaked and wishing some of the Legionaires could have been there to see and hear and then decide to fix the roof before the building goes to ruin.

Irene finished sewing up ends on some bed pillows and later Polly priced some very good rummage that her daughter Sharon Wayne donated to the center, while Mildred put it on display where you can look it over. July 10 will be our next meeting since we will have no meeting at the center July 3. We also have some new items that would make lovely gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Brekke were lunch guests and Gust Johnson took over lunch to Florence.

We sent a get well cart to Pearl Holmstrom at the Karlstad hospital and a birthday card to John P. Gratzek who celebrated his 84th birthday recently.

Thank you Sharon for that good rummage you gave our center and if we have failed to acknowledge others who have given us rummage or other items we say thank you to you too.

Ella and Mildred also almost finished tying the blue quilt after lunch Thursday. Irene Larson was hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Kleinwachter and family of Milton, Fla., and Mrs. Arthur Kleinvachter were dinner guests at the Stanley Donarski home near Thief River Falls last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Kleinvachter and family accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Laures Kleinvachter to Grand Forks on Friday where Wallace's boarded a plane to return to their home at Milton, Fla. after enjoying a two week visit with folks here.

Mrs. Lawrence Gunderson and Mrs. Martha Olson of Warren and Mrs. Harvey Hoberg of Newfolden visited at the Oscar Johnson home after attending the William Wikstrom funeral at Bethesda church Tuesday afternoon.

Mabel Borsvold and Ruth Harper were luncheon guests at the Oscar Johnson home Friday afternoon.

Tony Kasprowicz was the winner of $5 at the Saturday night drawing. Next Saturday $5 and $10 will be given away.

Mr. and Mrs. John Roseland, Rhonda, Rolland and Rochelle of Newfolden, Mrs. Annie Gabrielson of Grand View, Man., Can., and Carl Wikstrom of Minneapolis were early Monday morning visitors at Oscar Johnsons.

Mr. and Mrs. Norris Aune of Circle Pines, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Larson and Kari and Mrs. Clara Aune of Newfolden visited a week ago Sunday afternoon at the Gotfrid Berggren home. Ruth Anderson visited there that Sunday evening.

Crop Loss From Flooding Is Set At $45 Million In The Times Area

Twenty million dollars in losses to farm crops alone in Pennington county have resulted from flooding caused by heavy rains which struck the area last week, according to a report filed by the county USDA emergency board with the Pennington county board of commissioners. The Marshall county emergency board has placed losses in that county at $24,947,400 to crop investment and income potential.

The report prepared by the emergency board estimates a loss of $5 million invested by farmers in their crops and an additional $15 million in lost income. Estimate was made as of July 3 after the board surveyed the affected area by automobile and airplane and discussed the disaster with county civil defense director and a number of affected farmers.

Comprising the emergency board are Loren Luschen, county supervisor for the Farmers Home administration; Wallace Sparby, executive director of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee; and Terry Courneya, county extension agent.

The report shows an estimated 174,090 acres of crop and hayland affected with approximately 850 farmers involved in the loss. Damage was estimated at 65 per cent to the major crops of wheat, flax, oats, barley and corn with 80 to 100 per cent loss of the first crop of hay in both quantity and quality.

In addition to the crop damage, the disaster committee estimated that 30 farm homes and 100 farm service buildings were also damaged, as well as 30 to 40 pieces of machinery. A loss of $100,000 was estimated on feed, grain and other stored farm supplies and soil erosion and siltation was expected to affect 30 per cent of the county's cropland. Topsoil washed away also creates the problem of siltation in drainage channels.

Damage was most severe in the north and eastern part of the county where from eight to 10 inches of rain fell last Tuesday. Carrying capacity of all drainage systems in the area was over-taxed and water spread out over fields and farmsteads: As water flowed westward it met resistance of the flood-choked channels and turned the countryside into a meandering lake.

Along the ditch 18 system—which includes ditches 30, 18 and 13 extending east from the Thief river through much of Pennington county and into east Marshall county—flooding was extensive. As of this morning the water in the ditch had receded about seven inches from its crest but many fields were still inundated.

Along the ditch 20 system four miles further north, water was still rising last night as water from areas to the east continued to pour westward. Water levels east of highway 219, which extends northward through Goodridge to meet highway 89 west of Grygla, are reportedly much higher than west of the highway, indicating that flood waters will continue for some time to come. Any additional rain would severly compound the problem.

Several unsurfaced roads have been washed out by the flood waters and shoulders of surfaced roads have been severly damaged in some areas. Loss to buildings and contents has not been estimated at this time, according to Ellsworth Jorgenson, county civil defense director, who also said it is too early to determine damage to roads and other public facilities.

Marshall Statistics

Computations made by the emergency committee in Marshall county placed the loss to crops (investment and income) at $24,947,400 without any estimate made of damage to buildings, machinery or livestock, according to Rodney Soderstrom, executive director of the county ASCS committee. Soderstrom said he believed the estimate to be conservative, since it is based on normal crop yields, moderate price estimates and an unknown amount of damage anticipated in the western part of the county where Red river flooding is yet to occur.

Joining Soderstrom on the committee were Greg Nelson, FmHA county supervisor; Charles Peterson, extension agent; Dennis Pate, SCS district conservationist; and Amos Larson, federal crop insurance agent.

The committee's estimates place crop loss to wheat

SPREADING OUT across country, water from heavy rains last week flooded farm yards and fields east, north and west of Thief River Falls. This aerial view shows the Richard Nelson farm in the Mavie area east of Thief River Falls where much of the yard was covered with knee-deep water. This view is taken toward the southwest with the Dearle Henry and Kenneth Sanders farms in the background. Note the cattle marooned on high ground along the ditch in the bottom of the photo.

CITY OF GOODRIDGE was among area communities affected by flooding last week when 10 inches of rain fell in less than a 24-hour period and normal drainage channels couldn't begin to handle the water. This view faces north with highway 219 shown in the upper left corner of the photo. The Goodridge high school athletic field is completely under water in the upper left part of the photo.

Brenda Laidley Is New Miss TRF

Brenda Laidley became the first contestant from the city in four years to win the Miss Thief River Falls title Saturday night at the Lincoln high school auditorium. She was awarded the honor during the pageant, an annual highlight of Jaycee Aquacade festivities.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Laidley, Brenda, a 1975 graduate of Lincoln high school, was selected from a field of eight contestants. First runner-up was Kristi Anderson of Karlstad, second runner-up Kimberly McDaniels of Roseau and third runner-up Laura Dodds of Red Lake Falls. Other contestants were Julie Flynn of Thief River Falls, Nancy Gronlund of Verndale, Marya Hallstrom of Red Lake Falls and Margaret Wayne of Newfolden.

In addition to the honor of representing Thief River Falls at the Miss Minnesota pageant in Austin next spring, Brenda will receive a $100 scholarship from Kiewel products, a total of $200 in gift certificates from city business establishments and $900 in travel and expense allowance from the Jaycees. First runner-up will receive a $75 scholarship from the Jaycees, second runner-up a $50 scholarship from Kiewel products and third runner-up a $25 gift certificate from Elaine's.

Kim McDaniels will receive a $25 scholarship from Kiewel products for winning the Miss Congeniality honor. Swimsuit competition was won by Brenda Laidley, evening gown by Kristi Anderson and talent by Laura Dodds.

Judges for the event, an officially sanctioned Miss America contest, were: Judy Smith, Grand Forks; Lynnette Mullins, Crookston; Liz Nichols, Bemidji; Allen Fillippi, Angus and Lloyd Lee, Crookston.

Art Heinze served as master of ceremonies, Chris Twomey was pageant coordinator, Darla Twomey and Smitty Luschen were Mrs. Jaycee co-chairmen and staging was by Everett Marshall. They were credited with supervising the pageant in a very smooth and orderly fashion. However, for the first time in years the event was not sold out. This was attributed to time conflicts among city residents caused by the Fourth of July weekend.

These conflicts also limited attendance at other aquacade festivities, but these too were conducted without difficulties.

Thursday night the annual water fights were won by "Swat", a Thief River Falls team. Members of the group were Paul Wurst, Mike Wiebolt, Mark Stenberg, Bob Williams and Bruce Williams. Second place was won by the "Super crew", Erling Thompson, Ken Smith, Bryce Ernst and LeRoy Williamson. In a highlighted match, the Miss Thief River Falls contestants defeated a Jaycee crew. A total of seven teams participated.

An Aquacade singles tennis tournament was held Saturday and Sunday. The pro division was won by Brent Riechert, Crookston, who defeated Keith Breiland, TRF, 6-4 and 6-1. Dave Horken of the city defeated Keni Prasad, TRF in a tightly contested match 6-3, 2-6 and 6-4. Junior division was won by Bill Jury, TRF, 6-4, 6-1 over Andy Odegard of Roseau. The Aquacade doubles tourney will be held Saturday and Sunday. Entries should contact Keith Breiland, 681-4661 or Keni Prasad, 681-1147, ext. 212.

The Northland Summer theatre production of "The Ugly

Need Males For Next Summer Theatre Musical

Northland summer theatre is now going into production for this summer's season "Little Mary Sunshine". Director Michael Tillman indicated that a few more men and boys could be used in the production. Interested men and boys should leave a message for Mr. Tillman by calling the college office, 681-2181. The play (a musical) is scheduled to be performed on July 28 through August 1.

POSSIBLE TORNADO at approximately 9 p.m. Friday demolished the 200 foot addition to Forsbergs Inc., located on Pennington avenue. The addition, scheduled to be completed August 15, was entering the latter stages of construction when the sudden disaster struck. A neighbor reported that debris from the building was blown 100 feet in the air by the force of the wind, which came totally without warning. The area was uninhabited at the time. The loss is estimated at $200,000.

Board Requests Disaster Listing

Formal requests for emergency designation and assistance were made by the Pennington county board of commissioners meeting in special session for that purpose Thursday evening, according to C. W. Rodekuhr, county auditor.

In a letter to Gov. Wendell Anderson, Rodekuhr notes that the county USDA emergency board has filed its report anticipating a Presidential declaration because of the apparent damage to public highways and bridges, but the time is such that accurate estimates of such damage cannot be made at this time.

"The problem is of such magnitude that a survey will have to be made after the water had receded," the auditor states. "We had a bridge washout today and more may still go because of the huge volume of water that has accumulated." He added that the governor's office is being alerted to the situation with more definitive reports to be made later.

A resolution requesting agricultural disaster designation by the U.S. secretary of agriculture was adopted by the board and states the following:

WHEREAS, the County of Pennington, Minnesota has sustained catastrophic losses as a result of an unprecedented rainfall on June 30, 1975, and

WHEREAS, an estimated 850 farmers in this County have been affected with losses sustained by 65 per cent of the major crops consisting of wheat, flax, oats, barley and corn and 80 to 100 per cent of the hay crop with the total acres involved totaling some 174,090 acres.

WHEREAS, the Pennington County USDA Emergency Board has filed their report and recommendation that the County of Pennington, Minnesota should be designated as a Disaster Area to assure the availability of emergency loans to the farmers for seed, feed, fertilizer and other operating expenses.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Board of County Commissioners for and on behalf of the citizens of Pennington County, request that Governor Wendell R. Anderson petition the Secretary of Agriculture for Federal Agricultural Disaster designation.

4-H Horse Show Rescheduled

Tri-county youth horse show scheduled for July 4 has been postponed until July 13 at 10 a.m. at the Pennington county fairgrounds. Entries must be in by 9 a.m. on that date.

Board Requests Mediation, Set Meeting Dates

School board of District 564 will hold a meeting with the architect regarding the AVTI addition at 7 a.m. Thursday.

Negotiation meetings with teachers will be held at 6 a.m. on Tuesday and Friday of this week.

All meetings are to be held in the board room in the school district service center.

The board negotiations for teachers, teamsters and administrators will have to notify the state mediation bureau of official position on all items not settled on Friday, July 11. It is a request for mediation but both parties may continue to negotiate if they agree.

Oakland Park Home Activities Are Reported

Five residents at Oakland Park Nursing home were hosts at private Sunday dinners during the month of June. Throughout the year, the residents take turns in hosting dinners for members of their family or special friends.

Hosting the first dinner in June was Ingval Lund. His guests were his sisters and brother-in-law, Larua Lund and Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Benson. On June 8, Elmer Olson was the host and his guests were Alma Anderson and Alice Skoglund. Mr. and Mrs. Orville Johnson were the guests on June 15 with Mrs. Anna Homme as the hostess. The following Sunday, Emma Syversrude, Elizabeth Bair and Mrs. G. Gunderson were Mrs. Berget Anderson's guests; and on June 29, two of Alvin Bommerud's relatives were his dinner guests.

The regular birthday party was held June 17 with members of the local WCTU hosting the event. They gave a program and served home-made muffins for lunch. Mrs. Tarkel Ose was in charge of the program. A complete account of the program was printed in an earlier edition of the Times.

Residents with birthdays during the month of June were special guests. They were Mrs. Laura Wayne, Dick Nyberg and Pete Feragen.

Also during the month, members of the Anna circle of Trinity Lutheran church visited at Oakland park. In place of giving a program, they served lunch, featuring open-face sandwiches and doughnuts, and visited individually with the residents.

Church Groups Give Programs At Valley Home

Five church groups visited at Valley Home during the month of June, distributed birthday cards, visited with the residents, presented programs and served lunch.

On June 2, members of the Catholic Daughters visited the home and distributed birthday cards to all the residents that had their birthdays during the month. On the same day, the Golden Age group of Trinity Lutheran church were at the home and served lunch to all the residents. Rev. Harold Peterson gave the devotions and the choir sang several selections, including some Norwegian hymns.

Adding variety was the program presented on June 5 by the children from the Evangelical Covenant church Bible school. Rick Lindsey was in charge of the program. The women's group of Our Saviors Lutheran church of Grygla called at the home on June 12, presented a program and served bars and ice cream to the residents. Rev. Leland Uden was in charge of the devotional meditation.

A musical program was presented June 18 by members of the Bible Hour choir of Our Saviors Lutheran church of Thief River Falls. The choir was directed by Miss Judith Wold.

The activities of the month concluded with the regular birthday party on June 20. The event featured games and a birthday lunch. Honor guests were Betsy Hjelle, Albin Peterson, Leo Schiefert and Joe Tischart.

Wedding Reception Is Scheduled For Mayo Recks

Diane McVey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Errol McVey of Minneapolis and Mayo Reck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Myron (Dick) Reck of rural Red Lake Falls were united in marriage on July 5 in Minneapolis.

A wedding reception will be held in honor of the couple from 2 to 5 p.m. on July 13 at the Brooks-Plummer Presbyterian church in Plummer. All friends and relatives are welcome to attend.

Bonnie Jean Bjornrud And Steven C. Hanson Wed

Miss Bonnie Jean Bjornrud and Steven Charles Hanson became one in Christ as they exchanged marriage vows on Saturday, May 17, at 7 p.m., at the Evangelical Free church in Newfolden.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Bjornrud of Newfolden. Mr. and Mrs. Victor Hanson of Fosston are the parents of the groom.

Rev. Marlin Bjornrud, brother of the bride, officiated at the double ring ceremony. At the organ was Mrs. Jolene Anderson, the groom's cousin, who played the traditional "Bridal Chorus" for the processional. During the ceremony, Teddie Blinsmon, a friend of the couple, played guitar accompaniment as Miss Debbie Trontvet, also a friend of the couple, sang, "Wedding Song," and "One With You." He also accompanied the groom as he sang, "Let Us Climb the Hill Together." The bride joined the groom in the singing of "Love of a Lifetime."

Serving as acolytes were the groom's twin sisters; Cathie and Carol Hanson. Peggy and Debbie Hanson, cousins of the bride, were at the door distributing the wedding programs and penny keepsakes.

For the ceremony, the chancel was graced with candelabra and large baskets of white gladioli, large yellow daisies and lavender mums.

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. She was attired in a floor-length gown of bridal satin with an overlay of Venetian lace. The gown was fashioned with a fitted bodice, with a lace ruffled V-neckline and long, puffy sleeves of unlined lace gently gathered at the wrists. Flowing down from the waist was a full skirt that extended into a chapel-length train. To complement her gown, she wore a triple tiered, chapel-length veil of bridal illusion held by a lace headpiece. She carried a cascade of yellow roses, white carnations and babies' breath, accented with green foliage and yellow ribbon streamers.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was her sister, Linda Bjornrud of Newfolden. Other attendants were Janet Bjornrud of Newfolden, another sister of the bride, and Karla Eveland of Deerfield, Ill., a friend of the bride. They wore identical floor-length gowns of bright yellow crepe featuring clusters of pink, blue and white flowers. The gowns were styled with long, puffy sleeves, and skirts with a wide bottom ruffle. Attached in front at the V-neckline was a sash of self material that crossed in front and tied in back, forming a fitted bodice. In their hair, they wore a small spray of yellow flowers with pink ribbon streamers. Each attendant carried a bouquet of yellow daisies, pink and blue mums, babies' breath and greens with hot pink ribbon streamers.

Serving as flower girl was Donna Jacobson, a cousin of the bride. Her gown was fashioned in the same style and of the same fabric as those worn by the bride's attendants. She carried a small white basket of the same flowers as those in the other bouquets.

The bride's personal attendant was her sister-in-law, Mrs. Jeannine Bjornrud.

Attending the groom were his brothers, Joel Hanson of Fosston as best man, Morris Hanson of Tempe, Ariz., and Tim Hanson of Fosston, as groomsmen. Ushers were Dale Anderson of Fosston, cousin of the groom, and Drew Blankman of International Falls, friend of the groom. All the men of the wedding party wore brown Windsor tuxedos with brown flaired trousers, yellow ruffled shirts with brown trim, brown velvet bow ties and yellow boutonnieres.

Wearing similar attire was the ring bearer, David Jacobson, a cousin of the bride.

The mother of the bride wore a floor-length gown of polyester knit in a bright pink and white floral pattern. The gown was styled in empire fashion with tucks at the shoulder, a stand-up collar with a self ruffle trim, and long, puffy sleeves. Covered buttons trimmed the front of the gown. The mother of the groom was attired in a soft pink polyester double-knit floor-length gown with pink buttons down the front. Rippled polyester lace formed the raised bodice and long sleeves.

Corsages of roses and white carnations were worn by both mothers.

Honor guests at the wedding were Mrs. Tena Hanson, Ole Bjornrud, grandparents of the bride, and Mrs. Lydia Anderson, grandmother of the groom.

A reception in the church parlors for approximately 230 relatives and friends followed the ceremony. Serving as host and hostess were Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hanson, uncle and aunt of the bride. At the guest book was Miss Susan Hanson, sister of the groom. Mrs. Sally Hanson, sister-in-law of the groom, and Miss Renae Trontvet, friend of the couple, served the punch. At the gift table were Randy Hanson and Miss Karen Smith, cousins of the bride.

Centering the serving table was a round, three-tiered wedding cake decorated with yellow roses and topped with a large, yellow satin wedding bell. Suspended over the bell were three smaller bells, accented with netting and lilies of the valley. Fresh flowers also decorated the cake, which was cut and served by Mrs. Christine Hanson, the groom's aunt who made it, and Mrs. Lily Hanson, aunt of the bride. Pouring were Mrs. Clara Jacobson and Mrs. Dorothy Hanson, aunts of the bride. Waitresses were Wanda Jacobson, Laurie Hanson, Rozanne Swanson, cousins of the bride, and Marjnell Hogberg, friend of the couple.

Relatives and friends attending the wedding were from Winnipeg, Manitoba, Canada; Sioux Falls, S.D.; McHenry and Fargo, N.D.; Delevan, Wis.; Moorhead, Minneapolis, Effie, Babbitt, International Falls, Bemidji, Mt. Iron, Fosston, and the communities surrounding Newfolden.

For traveling on the wedding trip, the bride wore a long-sleeved, street-length dress of white with dainty clusters of blue, pink and yellow flowers. The dress, tied in back with a self sash, was accented by white collar and cuffs.

Doreen Mosher Bridal Shower Set For Friday

Miss Doreen Mosher of this city, fiance of Bruce Larson of Viking, will be honored at a bridal shower on Friday at 7:30 p.m. at Noper's Fireside room.

No invitations are being sent. All friends and relatives are welcome to attend.

Claire J. Storhaug Weds Alexander Garcia At Zion

Miss Claire Janelle Storhaug, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Storhaug of this city, became the bride of Alexander Garcia of Richmond, N.Y., on Friday, June 20, at 2 p.m., at a private ceremony at Zion Lutheran church.

Rev. Alexander Stoffel officiated at the double ring ceremony witnessed by only the attendants and the bride's parents.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a floor-length gown of white featuring clusters of small flowers in purple and aqua. Her gown was styled with a scoop neckline, long sleeves and a full skirt. She carried a bouquet of yellow sweetheart roses with yellow and white daisies, accented with babies' breath.

The bride's only attendant was her sister, Kelly Storhaug of this city. Her light blue floor-length gown, also featured a scoop neckline and a full skirt. She carried a bouquet of yellow and white daisies and babies' breath.

Attending the groom as best man was Lowell Johnson of this city, a cousin of the bride. The groom's boutonniere was a yellow sweetheart rose taken from his bride's bouquet. His attendant's boutonniere was a yellow carnation.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Storhaug selected a pink floor-length gown complemented by a corsage of white daisies and babies' breath.

The parents of the bride hosted a reception at Noper's Fireside room for approximately 75 relatives and friends. Karen Johnson registered the guests.

Highlighting the serving table was a three-tiered wedding cake decorated with white roses, assorted pastel flowers, and sprays of lilies of the valley. Topping the cake was a triple wedding ball ornament, graced with lilies of the valley. Mrs. Elmo Lusignan and Mrs. Kenneth Peterson cut and served the cake.

Serving the reception were Mrs. June Flattum and Mrs. Joyce Iverson. Out-of-town relatives and friends attending were from San Dimas, Calif., Glyndon, Chaska and Litchfield.

Following a wedding trip to New York City, the couple is at home at Millington, Tenn., where both are stationed with the U.S. Navy at the Memphis Naval hospital. The bride is a graduate of Lincoln high school and the groom is a graduate of the high school at Richmond, N.Y.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

by Ellen M. Spray

It was an evening wedding. Both sides of the church were filled with relatives and friends. Above the altar was a banner, "And forsaking all others, keep thee only unto him-her." The bride, heavily veiled, wore the traditional white wedding gown, the only traditional part of the wedding.

Behind, me someone gasped as the soloist began singing, "Fairy tales can come true, it can happen to you, if you're young at heart." The pastor's sermonette was also unusual. He asked the bride and groom to face their respective in-laws while he stressed the fact that marriage vows didn't automatically change their loved one's parents into unreasonable characters who are determined to destroy their happiness. He also asked the parents to accept and love their son's and daughter's choice, even though they would make mistakes and cause disappointments, just like their own children. He then presented each with a set of four large golden keys, marked with love, respect, forgiveness and forgetfullness, telling the parents and bridal couple, that to keep the marriage stable, and the keys bright and shiny, the keys must be kept in constant use.

The pastor concluded the sermon by reading three articles. The first was a small piece of paper, which he unfolded and read, "Woman was created from the rib of man. She was not made from his head to top him, nor from his feet to be trampled upon; but out of his side to be equal to him, under his arm to be protected, and near his heart, to be loved." (As he folded the article and give it to the groom to keep in his billfold, I checked my purse. There was the same article, copies from one given to a young man by his fiancee.)

The next article read by the pastor was a letter, written by the bride, saying "I am a woman, about to become your bride. I need your help. I was created to give to the world gentleness, understanding, serenity, beauty and love. I am finding it increasingly difficult to fulfill my purpose. Many people, in advertising, motion pictures, television and radio have ignored my inner qualities and have repeatedly used me only as a symbol of sex. This humiliates me. It destroys my dignity. It prevents me from being what you want me to be, an example of beauty, inspriation and love; love for you, who is about to become my husband; love for the children that we may have, and love for my God and my country. I need your help to restore me to my true position, to allow me to fulfill the purpose for which I was created. I know you will find a way."

The last article was a prayer which he asked the couple to paste on their mirror in the bathroom. He asked the parents to join the couple in praying, "Keep us, Oh God, from pettiness; Let us be done with fault finding and leave off self-seeking. May we put away all pretense and meet each other face to face, without self-pity and without prejudice. May we never be hasty in judgement and always generous. Let us take time for all things; make us to grow calm, serene and gentle. Teach us to put into action our better impulses, straightforward and unafraid. Grant that we may realize it is the little things that create differences. That in the big things of life, we are at one. And may we strive to touch and to know the great common human heart of us all; and Oh Lord God, let us forget not to be kind."

As the soloist sang, "Fairy tales can come true, it can happen to you," the maid of honor raised the bride's veil, revealing the face of a stranger. Looking around the church, I didn't see a familiar face. As I rose to leave the church, the bells began ringing, louder and louder until at last the ringing of the alarm clock brought me back to reality. Over the radio came the words, "It can happen to you, if you're young at heart."

As I lay there looking at the sunlight streaming into our bedroom window, it was easy to analyze the dream. On the dining room table was an invitation to a wedding of a classmate's daughter, in my purse was the copy of the words the pastor had given the groom. The letter read had at one time appeared on the back of a church newsletter, and the prayer is the collect used by several organizations, including the Thief River Falls Business and Professional Women's club.

That dream wedding would have been perfect, if the soloist would have sung, "O Perfect Love," ending with "Grant them the joy which brightens earthly sorrow, grant them the peace which calms all earthly strife, and to life's day, the glorious unknown morrow, that dawns upon eternal love and life."

Today's recipe, from the Heart association cook book, proves that foods low in calories, can be tasty.

Refrigerator Pineapple Cheese cake

¾ cups graham cracker crumbs
2 tablespoons margarine, melted
1 tablespoon oil
one 3 oz. package pineapple flavored gelatin
1 cup boiling water
1½ pounds low-fat cottage cheese
¼ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
one 8 oz. can crushed pineapple in juice, undrained
1 tablespoon water
2 teaspoons cornstarch

Method: Combine cracker crumbs, margarine and oil. Press in bottom of an 8 inch spring form pan. Chill. Dissolve gelatin in boiling water and cool to lukewarm. It blender, throughly mix cheese, sugar and salt. Slowly add gelatin and blend well. Pour mixture into chilled crust and refrigerate until firm. In a saucepan, bring pineapple and juice, water and cornstarch to a boil, stirring constantly. Cool 15 minutes and spread over top of cheese cake. Chill at least one hour. Makes eight servings.

State Summary Says Rains Are Mixed Blessing

Rain has been a mixed blessing in Minnesota, according to a June 16 release of the state and federal crop and livestock reporting service:

"Recent rains have improved crop prospects in west central and southwestern Minnesota, but continued surplus moisture in a few south central and southeastern localities is hindering crop development and has caused some drown out. Farmers and county extension directors indicate spring grains and row crops are in fair to good condition, but warmer weather is needed to hasten crop development. Weed control of corn and soybeans has become difficult in southern areas where cultivation has been delayed by wet soils," the service reports.

"A good alfalfa hay crop is in prospect, but wet weather has delayed cutting or caused damage and spoilage of hay during the curing process. Thirty one per cent of the first crop has been put up, compared with average progress of 40 per cent. Pastures are furnishing abundant feed for grazing livestock.

"Unextended height of field corn is eight inches or the same as average for this date. First cultivation of corn acreage is 53 per cent completed compared with the average progress of nearly three-fifths.

"Soybeans have nearly all emerged and average height is four inches. This growth progress is ahead of the five-year average of three inches on this date.

"Small grain growth has been rapid—condition is reported good except in some west central counties where condition ranges from fair to good.

"Winter wheat and rye are in the jointing and heading stages. Potatoes in the Red River valley are emerging and are in good condition. The southern Minnesota crop (Hollandale area) is being hampered by surplus soil moisture. The irrigated summer crop in the Anoka, Big Lake, St. Cloud and nearby areas is showing rapid growth."

Apply By Aug. 1 For Veteran's Life Insurance

Veterans administration urges veterans discharged from service between April 3, 1970 and August 1, 1974, to apply by midnight August 1 if they want low-cost veterans group life insurance (VGLI).

Approximately 2.7 million former servicemen separated from military service during that period became eligible for VGLI under the veterans insurance act of 1974 (May 24), Alan L. Rice, director, VA center, Fargo, said.

The insurance is designed to assist veterans through readjustment periods, may be carried for five years only, and is available in increments on $5,000 up to a maximum $20,000.

Premiums for maximum coverage are $3.40 monthly for veterans aged 34 and under, and $6.80 for those 35 and over. To be eligible, the veteran must be in good health, except for service-connected disabilities.

Rice said that veterans who convert their Servicemen's Group Life Insurance to VGLI within 120 days of leaving service need no health information. But those who wait beyond the 120-day period must apply within one year from the end of the 120-day period and must be in good health except for service-connected disabilities.

Application forms for VGLI are available from VA offices, veterans service organizations, and Veterans County Service Officers. AMONG COMMUNITIES hit by the flooding which struck the area following heavy rains last week was Radium in south central Marshall county. Some of the water from this area continued westward along the Snake river drainage pattern to cause flooding in Warren.

POTENTIAL BUMPER CROP was turned into a disastrous loss when heavy rains caused extensive flooding in the Times area last week. Farmers commented that their crops looked much better than in 1973 when the area had its best harvest in history. The potential for an excellent harvest increased the disappointment in the crop loss.

Minnesota State Fair Scheduled

An even dozen days of unique entertainment begin Thursday, Aug. 21, when the expanded Minnesota state fair opens for the 114th time. Good weather and a long list of attractions are expected to encourage more than 1.5 million persons to "let themselves go" to the 12-day fair before it closes on Labor Day evening, Sept. 1.

At the exposition's newly-named Coliseum (formerly Hippodrome), an impressive schedule of horse show competition will feature the "musical ride" of the Royal Canadian mounted police. The 32 meticulously drilled mounties will appear at English horse shows nightly at 6:30 p.m., Aug. 21 through Aug. 26, and matinees Aug. 22, 23 and 24 at 12:30 p.m. They will also be a part of the western shows, Aug. 29 through Aug. 31 at 6:30 p.m., plus afternoon shows at 12:30 p.m., Aug. 29, 31 and Sept. 1. When not performing, the mounties will headquarter at the horse barn where fairgoers will be able to watch the troop prepare for its show schedule.

Skilled rodeo kings and queens will be the Coliseum stars on Aug. 27 (7 p.m.) and Aug. 28 (1 p.m. and 7 p.m.). National points and cash prizes will be awarded winners in traditional rodeo events. Reserved seat tickets for all Coliseum events are $3.50, $2.50 and $2; general admission is $1.50. The mounties will not appear as part of the three rodeos.

In addition to equestrian performance events, some 20 breeds of horses will be judged at halter during the fair. Other livestock competition includes, cattle, swine and sheep in both open and junior (FFA and 4-H) classes, as well as chickens, pigeons, turkeys, waterfowl and rabbits. Expert judges will determine the winners of a total of $350,000 in premiums offered by the fair. Judging sessions take place each day of the exposition in the livestock barns, Coliseum and judging arena. In addition to farm animals, winning displays of crops, seeds, bee culture, creative activities, crop art, butter, cheese, schoolwork, Christmas trees, 4-H projects, flowers, fruit, vegetables and potatoes will be found in the fair's competitive exhibition buildings.

High quality night Grandstand shows, featuring big name entertainment once again will be one of the fair's most spectacular lures. With an eye toward providing an even stronger program than last year's record-shattering lineup, exposition officials have announced a schedule which includes a different show each of the first 11 nights of the fair. Among the performers will be many of the country's brightest pop, rock, comedy, country-western and television stars.

Grandstand entertainers include: Roy Rogers and Dale Evans with "Dusty" Rogers, the Sons of the Pioneers, Goetchi Brothers, plus Chase and Park, Aug. 21; The Osmonds with special attraction, Munch!, Aug. 22; Paul Anka, Aug. 23; Ray Stevens, Lynn Anderson and Jacky Ward with Blackwood Country, Aug. 24; Ann Murray and B. J. Thomas, Aug. 25; Dolly Parton, Bobby Bare, Johnny Rodriguez, Pee Wee King, Ralph Emery, Redd Stewart and the Collins Sisters, Aug. 26; Olivia Newton-John and George Kirby, Aug. 27; the Lawrence Welk show, Aug. 28; rock groups America and Captain, Aug. 29; Jack Albertson and Freddie Prinze (star of television's "Chico and the Man"), Aug. 30; Bobby Vinton and Marilyn Sellars, Aug. 31.

All night shows will be presented in the Grandstand at 6:30 p.m. and again at 9 p.m., except on Aug. 26 when there will be a single 8 p.m. performance. Reserved seat tickets at $5, $4 and $3 are now on sale through the Minnesota State fair, St. Paul. General admission tickets, priced at $2, will be available at the fairgrounds the day of each show.

Automobile racing will be another prominent state fair spectacle. National association for stock car auto racing (NASCAR) events are scheduled Friday through Sunday, Aug. 22, 23 and 24, and three types of United States auto club (USAC) races are on the program for Saturday through Labor Day, Aug. 30, 31 and Sept. 1. NASCAR late-model sportsman stock car drivers will compete for a total purse of $35,000 during 20- and 50-lap races on Friday; twin 74-lappers, Saturday; and the grueling, 400-lap Minnesota classic on Sunday. USAC chauffers will close the fair's speedway show with two 40-lap sprint car contests, Saturday; a 200-lap front engine (dirt) championship car race, Sunday; and a 150-lap stock car test on Labor Day. A total of $57,500 has been guaranteed the participants in this novel weekend of USAC competition.

Along with auto races, a Joie Chitwood thrill show, two demolition derbies, and motorcycle competition round out the 1975 state fair motor sports calendar. The Chitwood thrillcade, billed as the "greatest show on wheels," is a Chevrolet-sponsored event and will include 21 exciting acts such as ramp-to-ramp leaps, slides, roll-overs and two-wheel balancing. The first demolition derby will be Aug. 26, and the second Aug. 29. Both will feature 100 drivers attempting to batter each other's cars to a standstill for their own satisfaction as well as $5,000 in prizes, including $650 for the driver of the last car moving each afternoon. Motorcycle action in four classes will be contested Aug. 27. Riders of 125 cubic centimeter (cc.), 250 cc., 360 cc., and 750 cc. bikes will battle on the fair's half-mile, paved track for $2,000 in cash plus trophies.

Starting time for all track events in 1 p.m. Ticket prices on Aug. 22, 23, 26, 27, 29, 30 and Sept. 1 are $3 for reserved seats, $2 for adult general admission and $1 for youth under 16 general admission. On Aug. 24 and 31, prices are $4, $3, and $1.50. Joie Chitwood thrill show tickets (Aug. 25) are available only through Twin Cities-area Chevrolet dealers.

The fair's outside gate admission this year will be $2 for adults, $50 cents for persons five through 15 years of age, and free for children under five. Automobile parking fee is $2, with total capacity of exposition parking lots estimated at over 16,000 vehicles.

Once on the grounds, there is no additional charge for many of the attractions at the fair. One of the centers for free entertainment is the popular Bandshell in Administration park. Featured acts this year and performance dates are: Trilly Cole, Life, Betty Rydell, Mom's Apple Pie, Inc., and Brian Collins, Aug. 21 through Aug. 26; Don Cavitt's sounds of the 30's and 40's, Aug. 21 through Sept. 1; Karen Stanton, Brush Arbor, Jimmy Nelson, and Jubilee, Aug. 27 through Sept. 1; Kids from Wisconsin, Aug. 27; Serendipity singers, Aug. 28 through Sept. 1; and Minnesota over-60 band, Aug. 28.

Nightly during the exposition, the third annual state fair talent contest will be conducted at the Bandshell. Semi-finalists will compete each of the first 11 nights, and on Labor Day, the fair's twelfth and final day, 11 finalists will vie for the $1,000 grand prize. Nightly winners will receive $100, and overall second and third place will be awarded $300 and $200 respectively.

Fairgoers will again have the opportunity to see, hear and take part in live radio and television broadcasts at various locations on the grounds. They will also be able to gain awareness of diverse social and political views through exposure to the many organizations who traditionally have found the fairgrounds an excellent platform from which to propagate their messages.

Additional free attractions include the Holter wild animal show (east of the Coliseum), Minnesota purebred dog breeders association exhibit and demonstrations (west of the grandstand), FFA barnyard (east of the natural resources building), and a new show, the musical theater wagon (in natural resources park).

Major exhibit complexes this year include the Mexican village with its south-of-the-border crafts, food and entertainment; natural resources area with its movies, wildlife, wetlands and forest ranger tower; Machinery hill with 300 manufacturer and dealer displays sprawling over 80 acres; and the new Heritage square (situated where Young American was last year) with its 1800's theme and turn-of-the-century exhibits and entertainment. Additional items, products and displays will be found in the state exhibits building, grandstand, east room, Coliseum concourse, dairy and animal products building, merchandise mart, agriculture-horticulture building, modern living building, food building, creative activities annex, education building and machinery hall. All commercial display areas, as well as barns and competitive exhibit halls, will open at 9 a.m. daily. Outside gates open at 6 a.m.

Royal American shows will fill the Midway with rides, shows and fun houses. Off the carnival grounds, there will be the tot-sized rides of kiddieland as well as the giant slide, olde mill, sky ride, space needle, tram rides and merry-go-round.

All 12 days of the fair have been given special titles with appropriate events planned for each day. Designations and dates are: senior citizens, Canada and heritage, Aug. 21; children and Mexico, Aug. 22; Media and Twin Cities, Aug. 23; veterans and Duluth, Aug. 24; education and South Dakota, Aug. 25; women, North Dakota and mayors, Aug. 26; farm equipment and Wisconsin, Aug. 27; senior citizens, St. Cloud and band, Aug. 28; children, Iowa and bicycle, Aug. 29; 4-H, FFA, rural Minnesota and legislators, Aug. 30; natural resources and Rochester, Aug. 31; Bicentennial, Sept. 1.

On the two senior citizens days, all persons 65 years of age and over will be admitted to the grounds without charge until 6 p.m., and on both children days, boys and girls under 16 years will be given free admission until 6 p.m. On bicycle day, adults bicycling to the fair before 6 p.m. will be given a 50 cents discount off the regular gate fee, and a special bicycle parking lot will be provided near the Como and Snelling gate.

Big Change In Design Of Small Change Noted

"I know big decisions, like whether or not to walk the dog in the rain, rest on the flip of a coin, and I want to warn the nation's big decision makers about the coming big change in their small change," states Mary Brooks, director of the U.S. Mint.

In all, the Mint is changing the designs on the backs of three coins in honor of the Bicentennial. Along with Washington on the quarter, faces of Kennedy and Eisenhower, with the new twin date, still head the half dollar and dollar. Again, it's the backs that carry the new Bicentennial designs. Independence Hall won its place on the back of the half dollar. And the moon and Liberty Bell was chosen for the dollar reverse.

By July 7, neighborhood banks should begin receiving the first of the circulating Bicentennial coins to be released—the Kennedy-Independence Hall half dollar. Before the end of the year, the federal reserve system will have had the time to supply, the nation's commercial banks with the newly redesigned quarter and dollar.

"To me, these coins—like all our coins—are symbols of our nation's 200 years of freedon," Mrs. Brooks says. "They are small links with our historical and cultural heritage that will touch the hands of every man, woman and child in America."

The winning design on the back of the quarter is the work of Jack L. Ahr of Arlington Heights, Ill. Seth G. Huntington of Minneapolis, Minn., executed the reverse on the half dollar. And Dennis R. Williams, a sculpture student at the Columbus College of Art and Design, Columbus, Ohio, designed the dollar reverse.

Special 40 per cent silver specimens of the Bicentennial coins are also available. For details, write to the Bureau of the Mint, 55 Mint Street, San Francisco, California 94175.

Legion Auxiliary Business Meet To Be July 10

Fifty sixth annual department convention of the American Legion auxiliary will be held July 10-12 at Moorhead, Minnesota, with Mrs. George Nephew, Duluth, department president, presiding.

Strictly a business session, the assembly will hear the convention reports, carry on business at hand, and hold their annual election of officers.

The annual music contest, highly competitive, will be held July 10, in mid-afternoon. At that time singing groups will compete for awards in both junior and senior contests. Winners will represent Minnesota at the national music contest to be held in Minneapolis when the national convention convenes next August.

That same evening, July 10, the national president of the American Legion auxiliary, Mrs. Maurice Kubby of El Paso, Texas, will be honored at a reception, along with other distinguished guests.

Mrs. Kubby, a woman who has received many tributes and honors from her city as well as from Juarez, Mexico for her work with the communities, will speak to the convention on Friday morning, July 11.

Others invited to participate in the convention are the mayor of Moorhead; Miss Gloria Pershing, the department junior auxiliary president of Faldin unit, Minneapolis, and the newly elected girls state governor, Kathy Leman of Owatonna.

U.S department of agriculture is continuing it's campaign to deceive farmers and the public into believing that a "boom or bust" agriculture is the best economic policy for our nation, contends Cy Carpenter, president of Minnesota farmers union.

"Under-secretary of agriculture J. Phil Campbell, number two man in the USDA, has in recent addresses before agricultural groups been tossing around numbers, telling farmers how good they have it," Carpenter said. "Meanwhile, he is glossing over the hard facts of losses that individual farmers in some commodity fields are suffering."

Campbell said net farm income this year is expected to be about $20 billion, third highest in history. That compares with net profits of $27.2 billion in 1974 and $32.2 billion in 1973. Campbell claims that if net profits drop to the $20 billion figure in 1975, that still is above the $17.5 billion recorded in 1972, the last year of farm program subsidies.

"With the rate of inflation and cost-of-living running rampant since 1972," Carpenter retaliates, "We know, and Campbell ought to know, that comparing figures is futile. We've got to talk in terms of parity and farm buying power."

Carpenter continued, "Campbell seems to be living in Biblical times when he states farmers can expect profitable operations in approximately seven of ten years, and that they can prepare for unprofitable years through prudent management during profitable years. If American farmers are expected to operate on the basis of feast and famine, they aren't going to be efficient producers of the food the nation and world so desperately need."

Carpenter concluded that speaking in generalities about farmers across the country means little or nothing to individual farmers in one state or another. "By manipulating figures to his advantage, Campbell is not representing the true picture of the failure of his administration's "boom or bust" free market philosophy, "Carpenter concluded.

U Summer Arts Workshops To Begin July 21

Fifth series of University of Minnesota summer arts workshops is scheduled to begin at Quadna mountain lodge in Hill City, Minn., during the week of July 21.

Classical guitar, color and design and fiber design workshops will meet July 21 to 25, and a workshop in studio sculpture will meet July 25 to Aug. 1, as part of the University's seventh annual summer arts study center.

All of the summer workshops are open to anyone, without prerequisite, and most are available for University credit.

The classical guitar course will be taught by Jeffrey Van of the University's music department. Beginners will receive an introduction to the classical guitar and will concentrate on gaining a working knowledge of basic techniques. Intermediate and advanced players will participate in a performance seminar. Admission to the performance seminar will be by in-person or taped audition. Fee for the three-credit course in $65.

The workshop in color and design will be taught by Richard Abell, associate professor in the University's department of design. The course will deal with personal color perception and expression as developed through directed assignments in the student's preferred medium, focusing on material awareness of color notation systems, color proportion and instinctive vs. intellectual use of color. The course is limited to 12 students in paper media and 12 in fabrics. Total tuition and lab fees for the three-credit course are $90.

The workshop in fiber design, conducted by Charlene Burningham of the University's department of design, will explore sculptural forms, fiber manipulation and assemblage using crochet, wrappings, coiling, twining, plaiting, macrame and embroidery. Enrollment is limited to 25, and total tuition and lab fees for the three-credit course are $90.

The studio sculpture course, taught by Katherine Nash of the University's studio arts department, will focus on development of visual sensitivity and perception in the study of sculptural form. Students will aproach problems of form and content through construction in metal and will also work in plaster, soft stone, wood or some other medium of their choice. Classes will involve individual criticism, group discussion and slide presentation. Total tuition and lab fees for the four-credit course are $96.

For further information and to register for many of the workshops, contact Summer Arts Study Center, University of Minnesota, 1128 LaSalle Ave., Minneapolis, Minn. 55403, or call (612) 373-1925.

Ida Anderson Services Held At Karlstad

Mrs. Ida Anderson, 83, formerly of Strathcona and Karlstad, died Monday evening, June 30, at Willamette Falls hospital in Oregon City, Ore. She was the sister of Mrs. Agnes Staie of this city.

Funeral services for Mrs. Ida Anderson were held Saturday at the Gospel tabernacle at Karlstad with Rev. Kenneth Brown officiating. Mrs. Karen Dahlke was the organist and soloist. Interment was in the Karlstad cemetery with the Collins Funeral home of Karlstad in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers were Gayle Olson, Steven Anderson, Hal Anderson, James Pederson, Lee Hamness, Andrew Hamness, Jr., Ronald Anderson and Daniel Anderson.

Mrs. Anderson, the former Ida Stahlberg, was born July 7, 1891 at Alexandria to Carl and Marie Stahlberg. As a child, she moved to Roseau county with her parents who settled in Lind township. There she attended school and grew to womanhood. On Feb. 15, 1909, she was married at Roseau to Peter E. Anderson. The couple made their home on a farm in Deer township, Roseau county, near Strathcona until 1928, when they moved to the Karlstad community, settling in Deerwood township, Kittson county. In 1955, they moved to Coon Rapids, where they were residing at the time of Anderson's death in July of 1960. Mrs. Anderson continued to make her home at Coon Rapids and at Anoka until 1967, then she moved to Santa Cruz, Calif. She later moved to West Linn, Ore., to make her home with her youngest daughter, Lorraine, and her family.

Surviving are a son, Lloyd G. Anderson of Strathcona, five daughters: Mrs. Andrew (Sally) Hamness, Mrs. Hazel Olson, both of Strathcona; Mrs. Olof (Ellen) Olson of Halma, Mrs. Arnold (Irene) Richardson of Minneapolis and Mrs. Jack (Lorraine) Jones of West Linn, Ore.; 19 grandchildren, 19 great-grandchildren, four brothers: Albert Stahlberg of Mount Vernon, Wash., John of Sandstone, Ted of International Falls and Philip of Seattle, Wash., and a sister: Mrs. Agnes Staie of Thief River Falls.

Three brothers and two sisters preceded her in death.

Kirwin Kensela, Once Of TRF, Dies June 27

Kirwin K. Kinsela, 57, of 124 North 22nd Avenue East, Duluth, brother of Mrs. Lester Ringstrand of this city, died unexpectedly Friday, June 27, at a St. Paul hospital.

Funeral services for Kirwin Kinsela were held Tuesday at Duluth. Interment was in that city.

Kirwin K. Kinsela was born in Thief River Falls and for the past 35 years had resided in Duluth where he was employed as a locomotive engineer for Burlington Northern, Inc.

He was a member of Trinity Masonic lodge and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

He is survived by his wife, Alison; one son, David Kinsela of Burnsville, three daughters: Mrs. Andrew (Mary) Fankell of Lorain, Ohio, Mrs. Peter (Diane) Skeffington of Lake Elmo and Miss Elizabeth (Kris) Kinsela of Duluth; six grandchildren, a brother; Robert Beidler of Hibbing; and a sister, Mrs. Lester (Millie) Ringstrand of Thief River Falls.

He was preceded in death by his parents, and two brothers: LeRoy and Harry Beidler.

Clayton Walker, Services Set At Red Lake Falls

Clayton Walker, 75, of Red Lake Falls, who once operated a dairy delivery service, died Saturday at the Bethesda Nursing home at Crookston.

Funeral services for Clayton Walker will be held Wednesday at 11 a.m., at the First Presbyterian church in Red Lake Falls. Rev. Ronald Geisman will officiate. Interment will be in the Oak Grove cemetery at Red Lake Falls.

The body will repose at the Petterson Funeral Home, Red Lake Falls, after 3 p.m., Tuesday, and at the church for one hour prior to the time of services.

Issue Grant For Heritage Center Construction

Rep. Mark Andrew, R-N.D., announced recently that the Red River Valley historical society has received a $17,000 grant from the national endowment for the arts to help finance preliminary planning for a series of heritage interpretive centers in North Dakota and Minnesota Red River country counties.

This network of interpretive centers, the major RRVHS international centennial and Bicentennial project, includes the Red River interpretive center in Fargo-Moorhead, which will be a part of the FM heritage and cultural center. The FM center will span the Red River between Fargo and Moorhead and will include the anchor of headquarters center for the entire network.

Project coordinator for the interpretive centers program, Don Myrold of Fargo-Moorhead states that each county interpretive center will explore in great depth a particular part or theme in the history of the Red River region. In addition these centers will house, in many cases, new county museums, community centers, or librarys, etc.

Phase 1 of the Red River interpretive centers project, a master plan for the entire multi-state, international network was completed in June 1974. Phase 11, which will focus on developing a master plan for each individual center, developing feasibility studies, preliminary architectural concepts, initiating construction fund raising, etc., will now immediately get underway in a number of Red River counties.

It is planned that phase 111, the construction phase, will get underway on a number of the centers in 1976, as a tribute to the nation's Bicentennial, Myrold said.

Professional consultants for the county centers are architectural resources, inc., Hibbing and Duluth, and Foss, Engelstad and Foss, Fargo-Moorhead.

Bicentennial Script Is Fur Trading Days

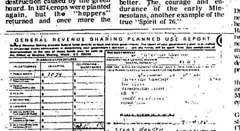
Today we all are familiar with the coin of the realm or our system of monetary exchange. We have dollars, quarters, dimes and so forth. It's quite uncomplicated, but it wasn't always that way in Minnesota. In the early days before statehood there was a different system, and to a degree, it worked well. Back in the days of the fur trade in Minnesota, the skin of the beaver was used as money. For example, the skin of a beaver was equal to the skin of a bear and three martens. The price of a keg of rum was 30 beaver and you could buy a bushel of corn for 10 beaver skins. The Minnesota historical society records that an early trader in the Lake Superior area paid 10,000 beaver for four canoes filled with various goods. Another man, it is reported, hired his help for 160 beaver a season. To make a better comparison, however, a beaver skin was generally recognized to be worth about two dollars in gold. Today when we shop, we look for price tags on items we'd like to own, but price tags were not always displayed in the fur trading days. There was a different system of values. For example, if your land was being overrun by wolves and you decided you needed a rifle to protect yourself, you simply went to the general store, picked out a rifle, and paid a pile of beaver skins as high as the gun was long.

That's the way it was in Minnesota during the fur trading days.

Early Residents Endured Locusts And Depression

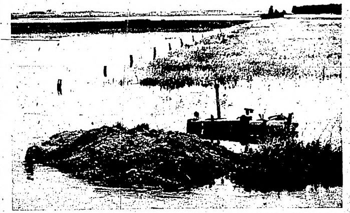
Minnesotans come from a rugged stock, from ancestors that survived nearly unbearable hardships. Let's go back just over a hundred years to 1873, one of the worst years in the history of our state. It was a year of financial depression, a year that saw an extremely severe winter, and a year marked by the invasion of millions of grasshoppers that destroyed nearly everything in their path. That winter alone left over seventy pioneers dead, but the summer brought the "hoppers" and hundreds of families were destitute due to the crop destruction caused by the green hoard. In 1874 crops were planted again, but the "hoppers" returned and once more the agricultural economy was ruined. Two years of bad fortune was not enough, however, for the scene was repeated in 1875, 1876, and 1877. The Minnesota legislature reacted as best it could, voting aid to those who had suffered, but it was not enough. People helped each other. Even though those living in areas where crops were still harvested gave of their clothing, food, and money to the less fortunate, but the poverty and "hoppers" prevailed. Finally as a last act in 1877, Governor John S. Pillsbury issued a proclamation setting aside a day for fasting and prayer.

For some reason, the pests disappeared and things got better. The courage and endurance of the early Minnesotans, another example of the true "Spirit of 76."



GENERAL REVENUE SHARING PLANNED USE REPORT

MAKING THE BEST of a bad situation, six-year-old Kay Lynn Kainz turns the slide on her farmyard swing set into a cooling shower. Kay Lynn and her four-year-old brother Jared, children of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Kainz of the Mavie community, thought the new swimming pool in their yard was a great idea.



THIS CRAWLER TRACTOR, owned by Duane Overby, wasn't crawling anywhere Wednesday afternoon when this Times photo was taken along Ditch 18 northeast of Thief River Falls. Flood waters swirled out of the ditch in the foreground and spread southward across thousands of acres of farmland.

SURROUNDED BY WATER, this farm was typical of a number of farmsteads in the Times area last week when heavy rains caused swollen ditches to overflow and back water into fields and farm yards.

University To Establish State Epilepsy Plan

University of Minnesota, in conjuction with the Mayo clinic, has received a contract to establish a comprehensive epilepsy program (CEP) for the state.

The University's program, one of three in the country to be funded beginning in July by the national institute of neurological and communicative disorders and stroke, will receive $878,000 for the first year of operation.

According to program director Dr. Robert Gumnit, professor of neurology at the University and head of neurology at St. Paul Ramsey hospital, the CEP has a two-fold purpose: researching new methods of medical treatment, and implementing better ways for persons with epilepsy to deal with social or educational problems.

Initially, the CEP will focus on the seven-county metropolitan area, 14 counties in central Minnesota and 10 southeastern counties around Rochester.

Under the direction of Dr. Gumnit and Dr. Norman Goldstein, coordinator for the Mayo Clinic research projects, the CEP will be conducting coordinated clinical research on epilepsy and will transmit the findings to the state's physicians.

CEP research projects will concentrate on improved diagnosis, genetics and epidemiology and improved treatment.

"Because there is no satisfactory way to help epileptics who have not become seizure-free under available treatment methods, a model Diagnostic, Treatment and Rehabilitation program is being developed at University hospitals," Dr. Gumnit said.

The CEP will also initiate an education campaign for patients, professionals and the public and act as a catalyst in the development of comprehensive services and resources for persons with epilepsy.

Piano Institute Workshop Held Aug. 3-8 At BSC

Donald and Bea Isaak, a husband-wife pianist team, will be the instructors for the 1975 piano institute held in conjunction with the Bemidji state college summer music camp.

The piano institute, which will be offered August 3-8, is for piano teachers and students of intermediate or advanced technique. Included in the program will be class and private lessons by the Isaaks.

Donald Isaak is on the piano faculty of Northwestern university in Evanston, Ill. Bea Isaak is a native of Minnesota and a graduate of St. Catherines in St. Paul.

Both have had extensive experience in conducting piano workshops, and have been affiliated with MTNA and national guild of piano teachers since 1963.

The Isaaks are well known for their joint recitals of solo and four-hand keyboard literature, and will appear in concert on August 4 while at the institute.

The format for the institute includes daily instruction in the history, repertoire and techniques covering all periods of music history, and pedagagy and repertoire for beginning and intermediate students.

An additional two day workshop, August 4-5, will be offered for teachers and college students featuring instruction in various levels of ability and exposure to new literature.

College students and adults may also receive two undergraduate or graduate credits for participating in the institute, and enrollment for course credit will take place on the first day of classes.

More information on the workshop, institute and college course may be obtained by contacting Dr. Theodore Thorson, Music Camp Director, Bemidji, MN 56601, 218-755-2916.

Journeyman And Plumber Exams For License Set

Examinations for state journeyman and master plumber licenses will be conducted by the Minnesota state board of health on Monday, September 22 and Tuesday, September 23, respectively. Both exams are scheduled for 8:30 a.m. at the agricultural engineering building at University of Minnesota St. Paul campus, St. Paul.

Examinations will be based on the Minnesota plumbing code. Applications may be obtained by telephoning (612) 296-5328 or by writing the Plumbing Unit, 717 Delaware street S.E., Minneapolis, Minnesota 55440. Applications must be returned to the plumbing unit before August 15 to qualify for the September examination. The next scheduled examination will be given in March, 1976.

About 450 college and university planners from throughout the country are expected to attend the conference, which will include concurrent sessions on the governance and academic aspects of planning, financial management and physical facilities.

Topics to be discussed include "What Do Students Really Want?" "Future Funding—Public and Private," "Energy and Its Influence on Facilities Planning and Operations," "Design of the Learning Environment," "What Do Governing Boards Really Want?" and "Equitable Physical Education Facilities for Women."

Show Chemical Dependence Film At Crookston

St. John's hospital in conjunction with Glenmore foundation of Crookston will be presenting a program dealing with techniques of intervention and chemical dependency.

Glenmore, which was incorporated in 1973, is a private foundation, which operates the Glenmore treatment center at Crookston for the treatment of persons who are chemically dependent. It also operates a diagnostic center and intervention center.

The program will consist of two parts, one fifty eight minute film followed by a question and answer period. The second film will be twenty eight minutes in length dealing with intervention followed by a question and answer period. The program, is scheduled for July 15, at the hospital cafeteria commencing at 1:30 p.m. Special interest groups are being invited, but others who are interested in such a program are cordially invited to attend. There is no charge for registration.

Anyone interested in seeking further information about his or her chemical dependency problem or the chemical dependency problem of someone else, about whom they are concerned, is encouraged to call Glenmore for further consultation. Its intervention center can be reached by calling 218-281-3123.

Heart Funds Top Million Dollars For Third Year

Minnesota heart association's annual heart fund campaign topped the $1,000,000 mark for the third consecutive year according to Lyle Schumacher, Winona, 1975 state heart fund chairman and leader of the 60,000 volunteer fund raisers throughout the state.

Funds totalling $1,110,000 were reported as of June 30, the end of the fiscal year for the Minnesota heart association.

"Last year was also a landmark year in our battle against heart disease," Schumacher said. "For the first time since the end of World War II, there was a decline in the death rate due to cardiovascular diseases."

"In 1976, an estimated 1,060,900 will die from heart disease as compared to 1,062,160 in 1973, according to the American heart association's predictions," Schumacher said.

"I believe this decline is due to the dedication of thousands of heart volunteers who conduct public education, community service, professional education and research programs throughout the year," he said.

Funds raised will enable the Minnesota heart association to continue its programs such as cardiopulmonary resuscitation emergency cardiac care training, high blood pressure screenings, coronary care and other continuing professional educational seminars.

Thought For The Day

The word freedom may mean different things to different people. For some people freedom means the right to do what they please when they please. They may feel they can misuse their bodies, for example, through lack of proper diet and even through deliberate use or misuse of drugs, alcohol, etc.

There are those who violate the laws of the land and in the process violate the rights of their fellow citizens. They do this under the guise of freedom.

Freedom is truly wonderful but freedom does carry with it not only privileges but also responsibilities to our country, to our church, to our fellow men and to ourselves and especially to God.

The Scriptures tell us that we are truly free only when we follow the Lord Jesus Christ and do His will. Jesus once said to His disciples "You are truly my disciples if you live as I tell you to, and you will know the truth and the truth will set you free."

Evening War Whoop

Kids and their moms share a number of resemblances the country over, as evidenced by the following editorial from the Boston Globe:

As the shades of night are falling, these long summer evenings, the neighborhood quiet is shattered by the cries of mothers: "Freddeee!" they scream, and "Aaalisss!"

It is time for the young to come home from wherever they are and whatever they're up to.

In some cases the recall signal is a tinkling bell or a whistle, but as a rule it's a tinkling bell or a whistle, but as a rule it's a screech which can be heard at a quarter of a mile. Sometimes it can be heard farther than that, and once in a while an answering cry, "Coming!" is audible.

More often the child returns quietly, appearing at about the moment when Mother is about to send for bloodhounds.

These maternal shrieks rend the air for only a few moments a day, "between the dark and the daylight," as Longfellow put it, and they mark the modern children's hour. They signify that it's bedtime for the young, so that their parents may watch the television reruns in peace for what's left of the evening.

Like other phases of child rearing, this noisy ritual becomes unnecessary after a few years. When the kid is old enough to get a driver's license, he goes so far after dark that only an "all-points" bulletin can locate him.

Creating A Monster

Following editorial is from the Pope Country Tribune:

Like Dr. Frankenstein of fiction fame, did the congress of the United States create a monster when it established the United States Postal Service as a quasi-governmental agency?

The intent of congress at the time was that it should be operated as a business, and should pay its own way eventually. Congress' motives were excellent, and we're sure the majority of Americans agreed with the rationale.

Since the congressional action, the costs of doing business with the U.S. Postal service have risen higher percentage wise than any other service or commodity we know of.

And Postmaster General Benjamin Bailer said last week that the service was seriously considering another hike in the first class rate from 10 cents to 12 cents.

Now the General Accounting Office has come out with the recommendation that 12,192 third and fourth class post offices in the United States, servicing more than two million families, could be closed without reducing the quality of mail service. Keeping these small offices open is costing the Postal Service $160 million a year.

The tremendous increase in postage rates has already forced many of our leading periodicals and magazines out of business, and more will likely succumb in the future if the rates continue to climb.

Benjamin Franklin founded the Postal Service nearly 200 years ago, and at that time he and the early government leaders intended it as a service to the people, not as a financially self-sufficent governmental operation.

It seems strange that a government which can spend billions of dollars for foreign aid, subsidizing aircraft factories, shipping, railroads, ad infinitum, can't afford low priced postal service to more than 200 million American citizens.

The big reason, according to Bailer, that the Postal Service has not closed the small offices before this is because they're concerned over what the congressional reaction will be.

It's also amusing to read the phrase "without reducing the quality of mail service" in connection with the closing of the small offices.

Postal Services cutbacks and "improvements" in the past few years have all resulted in worse service, not better. Most Americans would be satisfied to have just kep the status quo of a few years back. Instead the rates have soared like a runaway rocket, while the service has deteriorated.

A few years ago, the Tribune favored making the Postal Service a quasigovernmental agency that paid its own way. We're not afraid now to confess our error.

Congress should take a good, hard look at the Postal Service performance during the past few years. And, much as we dislike saying it, perhaps the Postal Service should revert back to its former status, where it provided a reasonably low-cost service to the American people.

Sick Of Guver'mint

Following editorial is from the San Francisco Examiner and Chronicle and written by Guy Wright:

Plumas County wants to cut out welfare. Hiss, boo, shame on you.

Well, it is a shame. It's like kicking a man when he's down.

But maybe we should ask why the people of Plumas County are in a mood to kick somebody. Judging from the mail, overwhelmingly favorable, that has poured into the courthouse at Quincy, the rebellion hatched there is symptomatic of an attitude that extends far beyond the Plumas County line.

Maybe the smart thing is to try to figure out just what that attitude is.

In part it's all the emotions that we compress into the phrase "welfare chiselers," an honest resentment of being played for suckers and a less honest desire to dodge the collection plate.

This is the least admirable ingredient in the kick-somebody attitude and, I suspect, not the main one.

For that let's switch to Sacramento and listen to the state bureaucrats scream that Plumas County damn well won't be allowed to cut out welfare.

Why not? Because that would disqualify the whole state from getting its welfare money from Washington.

There we are getting close to what is really bugging the people of Plumas County. They are sick and tired of having Washington and its errand boy, Sacramento, run their lives for them.

It used to be you could go for months without crossing paths with the guver'mint. For the first 12 years of my life my only contact with the US was when I bought a stamp at the post office. Looking back, those were the best 12 years.

Nowadays when you get up in the morning there is this yo-yo from HEW or HUD or UMPT or UGH looking over your shoulder, telling you which shoe to tie first.

And if you tie the wrong one, he cuts off your federal handout.

Ah, that's the big whip. If your state doesn't adopt a 55 m.p.h. speed limit, it loses its federal highway funds. If your school has too many blue-eyed kids, it loses its federal education grant. And if anyone anywhere dares to say welfare is a fraud, wham-bang, there's no welfare money for anybody.

That should keep you in line.

Pretty soon you resent doing even those things you know are good for you because Washington, that big nagging mother, says you must.

Even Gov. Brown feels the urge to rebel. At the same time he was telling Plumas County it couldn't cut out welfare, he was threatening to tell Washington to take its Safe Streets money and stick it.

Americans worry about a dictatorship of the right or left, neither of which is likely to happen. What we are courting is a dictatorship of the do-gooders.

Already we are surrounded by federal fanatics who believe they have a Congress-given right to tell us how to live our lives and spend our money because, they can clearly see, they know what is best for us.

People with that kind of glint in their eyes are usually a little crazy, and in fact a case can be made that the government has gone mad, that the inmates are running the asylum.

Two trifling examples from the week just past:

The Supreme Court & Nut Hatchery agreed that a drive-in movie operator has a perfect right to flash nude bedroom scenes on his big screen in plain view of passing motorists, including those entering a church parking lot.

Let them look the other way, said the dirty old men in the black robes, which distinguish them from the men in the white coats.

Borrowed Nonsense

Heredity is something you believe in when your child's report card is straight A.

"Everybody all set back there?" asked the bus driver, trying to see the rear door.

"Wait'll I get my clothes off," cried out a young lady.

Necks craned in her direction as she stepped off the bus with two packages of laundry.

The American Conscience

by Dr. RUDY SKOGERBOE

July 4, 1975, Independence Day: What a great treasure we have in this day when we can again celebrate that all men are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights. Also that if we work at it, we still can have a government that derives its just powers from the consent of the governed. Richard Henry Lee on June 7, 1776, introduced resolutions to the Virginia Legislature to declare the Colonies independent, to negotiate foreign alliances, and to form a Confederation of the new States. Written by Thomas Jefferson, with some minor changes made by John Adams and Benjamin Franklin, the final Declaration of Independence was finished July 2, 1776 and ratified by most of the colonies on July 4. As the news of this action spread throughout the Colonies, there was wild acceptance with ringing of church balls, bonfires, street demonstrations and a few extra spectacles of hilarity. The people had been oppressed long enough and they were ready to risk their futures with the leaders who had signed this famous document. For the signers, it meant real immediate danger and many of them lost their homes, their fortunes and even their lives. They were willing to risk even death for an idea—Individual Freedom.

Today the dreams are the same, but the stage is the world, and whether we like it or not, we are involved. The greatness of our nation and of our spiritual culture hangs in the balance. This is not a result of poverty, misfortune or weakness, but rather the growth of a new spriit or attitude. New voices speak of different ideas. Our strength and national purpose is being diluted by a spirit of defeat. The examples of Korea and Vietnam are stark reminders of the price we must pay when we are divided in spirit and national purpose. Cuba sits on our doorstep as a symbol of the global forces of darkness and oppression, and instead of doing our duty toward the cause of freedom we are even now turning around. The spirit of defeat was sent to Cuba in the form of a Senator who is one of the spokesmen of this new concept of America. Today it is not popular to be patriotic because we are told this is dangerous. We must now look to some other power than our own for work security. We are told by our leaders that we should give more power to a United Nations that persists in their hate America course. We are told by our Congress and our leaders that no American interests should come in the way of our new "friendship" with Red China and Russia. We continue to ignore the millions of slaves these two countries continue to exploit and treat them as legitimate world leaders. We respect our treaties with them although history proves over and over again that their word is worthless. This new attitude is like a disease and it has already spread through our churches, our press, our schools and our Congress.

In my opinion, there is another attitude to which we can return. It requires faith in ourselves, in our God, and in what we believe. We are still by far the most powerful nation in the world, our technology is more developed than that of any enemy, but the problem is out own fear. There is another force we still have and that is what it should be—if that is what we want.

Protecting your dollar!

By
Warren Spannaus
Attorney General
State of Minnesota.

Many of us dream on occasion of a long-last relative conveniently leaving us an inheritance to help us along. That dream may seem to materialize when a "missing heirs" solicitation arrives in the mail. You are especially likely to be contacted if you have a common last name. "Missing heirs" solicitations usually offer, for a fee, information about an estate to which there are no known heirs; the solicitation expresses the hope of finding some person who has a claim to the estate. Be wary of these "windfalls."

Since the notices are sent out on the basis that two parties have the same last name, rather than on the basis of an examination of ancestry to determine whether there is a relationship, the chances are extrememly remote that there would be any connection between the deceased and the citizen in most cases.

Several out-of-state companies have been mass mailing such notices to Minnesota residents. Although the mailings normally do state that the only reason for consumers receiving the letters is a similarity in last names, many citizens view the notice as a special notification to them personally.

Apparently, the companies just check court records to find unclaimed estates. When they find an estate, they mass mail notices to consumers with similar last names.

The company will usually indicate that there are no known heirs and the estate will be turned over to the state if not claimed. The companies then offer to send copies of the death certificate, an appraisal of the property and other legal documents for a fee. This is their only service. There is a problem, however, in that once the documents are received, they may not contain any information to assist the consumer in deciding if he is any relation to the deceased.

The California Attorney General, who has one of these companies located in his state, warns that in most cases the stated gross amount of the estate is exclusive of other costs and debts which may have depleted the estate. Also, the estate may already have been claimed, or other heirs found, or the estate may already have been turned over to the state.

So read the notice carefully, noting exactly why you have been contacted, what the company is offering to provide you and for what fee.

Although these companies usually are careful not to misrepresent the facts, some citizens may be misled by the formality of the notice.

If you believe that you have some claim in an estate, contact your attorney about the matter.

If you are having problems with a "missing heirs" company, you may contact the Attorney General's office, Consumer Division, 102 State Capitol Building, St. Paul, Minnesota 55155.

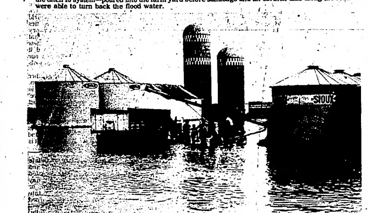
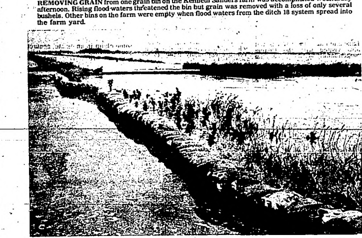
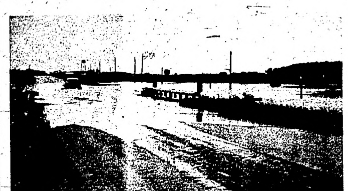
DEARLE HENRY FARM in the Mavie area was among those struck by flooding following last week's torrential rains in the area. Water which flowed across the county road from ditch 13—part of the ditch 18 system—poured into the farm yard before sandbags and an earthen dike along the road were able to turn back the flood water.



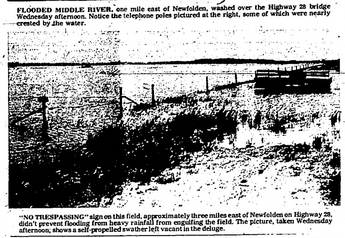
REMOVING GRAIN from one grain bin on the Kenneth Sanders farm was accomplished Wednesday afternoon. Rising flood waters threatened the bin but grain was removed with a loss of only several bushels. Other bins on the farm were empty when flood waters from the ditch 18 system spread into the farm yard.



SANDBAG DIKE was placed on the road along ditch 13—the east end of the ditch 18 system—in an attempt to hold back flood water from the ditch last Wednesday. This photo was taken about half a mile east of the Dearle Henry farm in the Mavie area. Water running across the road flooded the Henry farm yard before the flow could be stopped with the sandbags and an earthen dike pushed up from the edge of the road itself. Henry told the Times this morning that the water had receded about seven inches from its crest last week but that the sandbags were still holding back four to five inches of water along the ditch.



FLOODED MIDDLE RIVER, one mile east of Newfolden, washed over the Highway 28 bridge Wednesday afternoon. Notice the telephone poles pictured at the right, some of which were nearly crested by the water.



"NO TRESPASSING" sign on this field, approximately three miles east of Newfolden on Highway 28, didn't prevent flooding from heavy rainfall from engulfing the field. The picture, taken Wednesday afternoon, shows a self-propelled swather left vacant in the deluge.

1975-76-77 LHS Grid Schedules Completed

Thief River Falls will be faced with an open date during the 1975 football season, but Lincoln high school head football coach Jim Sims and athletic director Russ Smith have already completed the 1976 and 1977 Prowler football schedules.

The upcoming 1975 Thief River Falls football schedule will find the Prowlers playing at Grand Forks Red River, hosting Detroit Lakes, traveling to St. Cloud Apollo, hosting Breckenridge, hosting Bemidji, driving to Fergus Falls, visiting East Grand Forks and hosting Crookston.

Thief River Falls has been unable to find an opponent for the season's fifth week, a September 26 date that falls between the Breckenridge and Bemidji contests.

However, Sims announced Thursday that the 1976 and 1977 Lincoln football schedules have been completed with full nine-game slates on tap for the Prowlers both years.

In 1976 Thief River Falls will host Grand Forks Red River, travel to Detroit Lakes, travel to Staples, host Moorhead, host Eveleth, travel to Bemidji, host Fergus Falls, host East Grand Forks and travel to Crookston.

The 1977 schedule will be identical to the 1976 slate, except for the playing sites which will be reversed with Thief River Falls playing at home against Detroit Lakes, Staples, Bemidji and Crookston while traveling to Grand Forks Red River, Moorhead, Eveleth, Fergus Falls and East Grand Forks.

The addition of Moorhead and Eveleth to the Thief River Falls schedule beginning in 1976 will make the Lincoln schedule one of the finest ever assembled at the school.

Staples will replace St. Cloud Apollo on the Thief River Falls schedule, Moorhead will replace Breckenridge and Eveleth will fill in the open date left open when St. Cloud Cathedral dropped from the Prowler schedule after the 1974 season.

St. Cloud Apollo will be sorely missed from the Thief River Falls schedule, but the Eagles' departure was anticipated. The only surprising fact about the absence of Apollo from the Prowler schedule is that it took as long as it did—four years. Despite the vast size difference in enrollment figures and the travel distance, Thief River Falls and St. Cloud Apollo managed to build up a highly competitive, intense rivalry. While not Apollo's caliber to be sure, Staples should nonetheless provide strong competition for the Prowlers.

The addition of Moorhead and Eveleth to the Thief River Falls schedule should be considered a real coup. Breckenridge has withdrawn from the Northwest Conference, and the Cowboys' departure from the Prowler schedule was naturally expected. The addition of Moorhead, however, more than makes up for the loss of Breckenridge.

Moorhead and Eveleth are proven state football powers. The others—Red River, Bemidji, Detroit Lakes, Fergus Falls, East Grand Forks, Crookston and Staples—all have a history of strong football programs.

The schedules are extremely attractive for spectators. Sims has his work cut out, however, to produce football teams capable of playing with the likes of Moorhead, Eveleth and the others. With some community backing, we're sure he'll be able to accomplish just that.

Legion Faces Rugged Week

Coach Rocky Wilson's Thief River Falls American Legion baseball team faces a demanding week's schedule starting tonight (Monday) and ending Saturday that may make or break his team's 1975 season.

Carrying a surprising strong 8-4 record, Thief River Falls must play seven games in six games this week, starting with a 6 p.m. doubleheader at Crookston tonight. Thief River Falls will host East Grand Forks Tuesday at 7, entertain Newfolden Thursday at 8, travel to Argyle for a 6:30 game Friday and host Bemidji in a doubleheader Saturday beginning at 1 p.m.

The East Grand Forks, Newfolden and Argyle games are Northwest League games that have a direct influence on post-season tournament seedings. Crookston is involved in the same sub district tournament, but is not a Northwest League member and will be seeded last at tournament time.

Tuesday night's home encounter with East Grand Forks could prove to be a real fan-pleasing game on the fairgrounds diamond.

East Grand Forks boasts the best individual talent in the area and will undoubtedly take a number one seed into this year's tournament play.

Harmon Killebrew hit two home runs in one game 35 different times during his Minnesota Twins career.

AN ALL-OUT chase took place between second and third base during Wednesday's Warehouse Foods-Grain Belt Commercial Division slow pitch softball game. Grain Belt base runner Butch Newton found himself caught in a run-down between Warehouse Foods second baseman Gary Hamness and third baseman Larry Kaiser, but almost miraculously got out of the jam when Hamness had the ball kicked out of his grasp after a diving attempt to tag the runner. Grain Belt won the game 5-3 to remain atop the Commercial Division standings.

Arctic Cat Blanks VFW 6-0 To Tighten Fast Pitch Standings

Arctic Cat blanked VFW 6-0 Thursday to tighten the East Division pennant race in the Thief River Falls fast pitch softball league.

The Legion handled Melvies 15-3 in Thursday's doubleheader nightcap. VFW defeated Pepsi-Cola 7-5 in a Wednesday night make-up game.

Arctic Cat's win over the VFW shaved the Vets' East Division lead to just one game over Arctic Cat while also pulling Nelson State Farm Insurance and the Legion back into title contention.

Arctic Cat 6

Arctic Cat avenged two earlier setbacks at the hands of VFW with a relatively easy 6-0 Thursday night win.

Arctic Cat scored the game's first run in the third when Lonnie Babcock was hit by a pitch, moved to second on Darrell Stromlund's base hit, advanced to third on a sacrifice bunt by Nick Neibauer and scored on Mike Neibauer's single to centerfield.

Arctic Cat made it 2-0 in the fourth when Tom Neibauer singled to right and moved to second when the outfielder had trouble picking up the ball. He later scored on a single by Gordie Peterson.

Mike Neibauer's two-run home run in the fifth upped the margin to 4-0 and Bruce Johnson's lead-off homer in the sixth made it 5-0. A single by Jeff Vacura, followed by a passed ball and an error plated the final run in the sixth.

Tom Neibauer was the game's winning pitcher, limiting VFW to just four base hits.

Melvies 3

Legion scored at will throughout the ball game to hand Melvies its 12th straight loss, a 15-2 decision.

An error scored the first Legion run in the opening frame. Two Legion runs scored in the second on an RBI double by Mike Drury and another error.

The Legion continued to produce runs, adding six in the third, two in the fifth and four in the sixth.

Melvies scored all three runs in the third on a error, a walk, a base hit by Clark Carpenter, a sacrifice fly and a passed ball.

Rob Almquist and Pete Sullivan shared the pitching duties for the Legion who are without the services of regular hurler Mike Drury who suffered a shoulder injury while pitching in a recent tournament at Sprague, Manitoba. Almquist was the starter and winner.

VFW 7
Pepsi-Cola 5

VFW jumped out to an early 5-0 lead, but had to turn back a determined Pepsi-Cola rally to earn a 7-5 Wednesday night make-up game win.

A two-run double by Howard Dalager scored Pepsi's first runs of the game in the fourth inning. Moments later Vern Lindquist slammed an Al Erickson pitch over the leftfield fence for a two-run home run, narrowing the margin to just 5-4.

VFW padded its lead to 6-4 in the bottom of the fourth, though, on a walk, two Pepsi errors and Bob Lundbohm's sacrifice fly. The two division leaders traded runs in the fifth and sixth inning for the final 7-5 margin.

TRF Rally Topples Roseau By 5-3 In Legion Baseball

Thief River Falls overcame an early 3-0 first-inning deficit to beat Roseau 5-3 Sunday night in American Legion baseball action on the fairgrounds diamond.

The win pushed coach Rocky Wilson's ball club's record to an impressive 8-4 level heading into a pair of tough early week assignments against the area's top two ball clubs—Crookston and East Grand Forks. Thief River Falls will play a 6 p.m. doubleheader at Crookston tonight (Monday) before hosting East Grand Forks in a single 7 p.m. encounter Tuesday.

The busy Thief River Falls schedule will continue with an 8 p.m. home game against Newfolden Thursday, a 6:30 p.m. contest at Argyle Friday and a 1 p.m. Saturday doubleheader against Bemidji on the fairgrounds diamond.

Roseau put four of its first five batters on base and scored three runs with just one out being recorded to jump out to an early lead in Sunday's rain-caused make-up game. A lead-off single by Mark Haugen, a one-out double by Dave Grafstrom, a single by Doug Ammerman and an error all figured into the Roseau outburst. Steve Vatnsdal followed Ammerman on base with a walk before Thief River Falls lefthander Chris Biegner retired the next two batters to get out of the inning.

Thief River Falls came right back with a run in the bottom of the first on a lead-off walk issued to Jeff Lindquist, a stolen base and a one-out double by Duane Gonsorowski.

The hosts scored another single run in the second when John Gunderson stroked a two-out single and scored on a double by Murray Melander for a 3-2 game.

Thief River Falls won the contest with a three-run uprising against Ammerman in the third inning. Four straight two-out singles by Terry Sullivan, Mitch Dicken, Brian Peterson and Gunderson, who enjoyed a perfect three for three day at the plate, knocked Ammerman off the mound.

Biegner gave up three runs and two base hits in the first inning, but surrendered only a pair of harmless singles over the final six innings to pick up the win. He struck out nine batters.

New Watercraft Laws To Affect Non-Residents

Non-residents are no longer exempt from Minnesota laws requiring boat operator permits for those 13-17 years of age, the department of natural resources reported recently.

The law applies to persons in that age group who intend to operate a boat of more than 24 horsepower without being accompanied by someone at least 18 years old.

Until the law was amended by the recent legislature, non-residents were exempted from the permit requirement for a period of 30 days.

As amended, the law requires youthful non-residents to obtain the permit unless they have an operators permit from another state.

There is no charge for the permit and the information and test material needed to qualify are available from the DNR, 350 Centennial building, St. Paul 55155. Other sources include county sheriffs offices, DNR regional headquarters.

Slow Pitch Softball

Division Leaders Earn Close Wins

Major Division leader Arctic Raiders and Commercial Division front runner Grain Belt posted wins Wednesday in an abbreviated Thief River Falls men's slow pitch softball schedule.

The Arctic Raiders recovered from a Tuesday night upset loss at the hands of Hartz to beat Arctic Power 8-4 while Grain Belt turned back Warehouse Foods 5-3 in a pair of well-played make-up game encounters.

The wins strengthened both club's first place holds in their respective divisions.

Grain Belt 5, Warehouse 3

Grain Belt scored three runs in the top of the seventh inning to beat Warehouse Foods in a come-from-behind effort.

Warehouse Foods took a 3-2 lead into the seventh, but an RBI single by Gordy Delap tied the contest and Bill Weigelt drew a bases loaded walk off losing pitcher Greg Evenson for the actual game-winning run.

Weigelt was the game's winning pitcher, limiting Warehouse Foods to just six base hits. Butch Newton and Bob Gustafson had a pair of hits in the nine-hit Grain Belt offense.

Raiders 8, Power 4

Arctic Raiders enjoyed a pair of three-run innings to defeat Arctic Power 8-4.

Three Raider runs crossed the plate in the fourth inning and three more runs scored in the sixth. Power pulled to within striking range with a three-run seventh.

Brian Nelson won the game for the Raiders, checking Power on just seven base hits. Dennis Bendickson took the loss, surrendering 11 hits. The errors were even at four apiece.

TRF, Peterson Blank Hallock

Thief River Falls exploded for seven runs in the sixth inning Thursday to bury Hallock 9-0 in American Legion baseball action on the fairgrounds diamond.

RBI singles by Chris Biegner in the first inning and by Jeff Lindquist in the fifth provided Thief River Falls with a slim 2-0 lead heading into the sixth.

Thief River Falls marched 11 batters to the plate in the sixth to make the game a rout, pounding out six base hits to go along with a walk, two hit-batsmen, two wild pitches and a pair of stolen bases. Biegner hit a two-run single to highlight the inning, with Terry Sullivan driving in two more runs with a single. Brian Peterson knocked in another run with a single.

Peterson finished the game with a five-hit shutout effort on the mound for Thief River Falls.

Advanced Human Relations Class Offered At BSC

Advanced human relations, a program designed to serve as a continuation and extension of basic human relations courses, will be held at Bemidji state college's Bald Eagle center August 17-22.

The advanced program, which was initiated following requests for such a course by participants of the basic human relations program, is designed for students who have had prior training in human relations, preferably those who have completed their requirements for certification by the state department of education.

The objectives of the advanced course are to provide training in areas where measurement is difficult, such as self esteem, defenses, responses and value clarification.

The content of the program will include theoretical understanding of human behavior, activities and stimulation of various human relations situations, and studies of devices for measuring human behavior.

A major portion of the instruction will deal with communication styles and development of expertise in the varied and sometimes difficult area of human communication.

Emphasis will also be placed on development of techniques for planning and implementing human relations training with groups of people, and participants will be asked to design instruments and techniques of evaluation.

An important goal of the human relations program is the development of a sense of community through sharing experiences involving the use of the natural environment of the Bald Eagle center.

The Bald Eagle center, located in the heart of the Chippewa national forest, is an outdoor learning facility operated by Bemidji state college near Cass Lake.

The live-in situation at the center will provide opportunities to experience a variety of human behavorial problems related to the while area of human relationships between human beings.

Students may receive either four graduate or undergraduate credits for participation in the course. Tuition is $41 for graduate, and $32 for undergraduate credits, while the cost of five days of meals and housing at the center in $60.

Pre-registration for the course is open until July 30, although applications will be processed on a first come, first served basis. Registration materials, or requests for more information on the program, should be sent to Dr. Michael Field, office of area services, Bemidji state college, Bemidji, MN 56601, 218-755-2068.

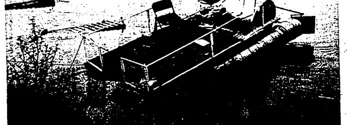
Era, a new hard red spring semi-dwarf wheat variety developed by the University of Minnesota agricultural experiment station, was grown on 900,000 acres in 1973 and 1.6 million acres in 1974. It yielded about five bushels per acre more than standard varieties. Result: 270 million more loaves of bread were produced because of this greater production in 1973; 460 million more loaves in 1974.



RISING RIVER caused this pontoon boat on the Thief River near the Eighth street bridge to stretch its mooring rope and tilt crazily in the current. Other docks in the area were under water or nearly so as flood water from heavy rainfall north and east of Thief River Falls poured downstream.

LEGAL NOTICE

July 7, 9, 1975

NOTICE OF SPECIAL CITY ELECTION

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the City of Thief River Falls, in the County of Pennington, shall hold an election on July 17, 1975 for the purpose of voting on the following question:

Shall the City of Thief River Falls be authorized to borrow money by issuing its general obligation revenue bonds (in addition to the $2,000,000 general obligation revenue bonds authorized by the electors on April 15, 1975,) in the amount of $800,000 to provide funds for the construction and equipment of an addition to Northwestern Hospital, for use as a hospital and related medical facility, to be leased to Northwestern Hospital of Thief River Falls, a Minnesota non-profit Corporation?

The following polling places have been designated:

FIRST WARD: Northrop School, 914 LaBree Avenue North.
SECOND WARD: Masonic Hall, 219 West Fifth Street.
THIRD WARD: Auditorium and Municipal Building; 119-123 Main Avenue North.
FOURTH WARD: Knox School, 701 East Hughes Street.
FIFTH WARD: Ben Franklin School, 300 Spruce Avenue North.

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that the polls will be open from 8:00 o'clock a.m. to 8:00 o'clock p.m. on said day.

Witness my hand and seal of the City of Thief River Falls, Minnesota this 27th day of June, 1975.

Gerald A. Wigness,
City Clerk-Treasurer
(Seal)

June 16, 23, 30, July 7, 14, 21, 1975

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORCLOSURE SALE

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That default has occurred in the conditions of that certain mortgage, dated the 21st day of June, 1973, executed by Floyd C. Hageman, Jr. and Pauline C. Hageman, husband and wife, as mortgagors to First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Thief River Falls, as mortgagee, filed for record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Pennington, and State of Minnesota, on the 21st day of June, 1973, at 5:00 o'clock P.M., and recorded in Book 123 of Records, page 276, the original principal amount secured by said mortgage being $19,300.00; that no action or proceeding has been instituted at law to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof, that there is due and claimed to be due upon said mortgage, including interest to date hereof, the sum of Nineteen Thousand Seven Hundred Thirty Seven and 7-100 DOLLARS, ($19,737.07), and that pursuant to the power of sale therein contained, said mortgage will be foreclosed and the tract of land lying and being in the County of Pennington, State of Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit:

The South One Hundred Twenty-Eight feet (S 128') of Lot Fifteen (15), less the West One Hundred Sixty feet (W 160') thereof, in the Townsite of Fairfield, now a part of the City of Thief River Falls, according to the recorded plat thereof, will be sold by the sheriff of said county at public auction on the 30th day of July, 1975, at 10:00 o'clock A.M., at the front door of the Courthouse in the City of Thief River Falls in said county and state, to pay the debt then secured by said mortgage and taxes, if any, on said premises and the costs and disbursements allowed by law. The time allowed by law for redemption by the mortgagors, their personal representatives or assigns is 6 months from date of said sale.

Dated June 12, 1975.

Annual Meeting Scheduled By Cancer Society

Annual membership and board of directors meeting of the Pennington county unit of the American cancer society was held recently in Thief River Falls. Nine board members whose terms had expired were elected for three year terms.

These are: Ernest Swanson, Mrs. Ernest Swanson, William Vollan, Mrs. Charles Krause, Robert Michalicek, Sharon Erickson, Mrs. Arnt Aune, Mrs. Richard Kruse and Mrs. Leo Herber. Jerome Bray, N.D., Raymond Ptacek and Jerry Wedul were elected medical delegate, lay delegate and lay alternate respectively to represent the unit at the division's annual convention.

Officers for the coming year were elected. Raymond Ptacek will serve another term as president, Jerry Wedul, vice-president, Mrs. Kenneth Habedank, secretary and Mrs. Cy Glass, treasurer.

The board of directors were presented a review of accomplishments over the past year by various committees. For the crusade, of the $5,337 set as the unit's goal, $5,079 had been raised by June 2. For service, five patients had been provided with aid of various kinds including transportation, dressings, gift items and loan items.

The public education committee reported 20 programs in the public school systems of Thief River Falls and Goodridge. A special mother-daughter breast cancer program was inaugurated in the Thief River Falls system by school nurse Margaret, assisted by Linda Skaja and under the professional guidance of Dr. Jerome Bray and Dr. George B. Martin. This program provides instruction in breast cancer and how to protect ones self against the disease. A total of 18 programs of adult education were conducted in Thief River Falls, Goodridge and St. Hilaire, with 16 programs conducted for units in surrounding counties.

A report by Dave Jens, area representative serving 18 counties, described some of the operation of the society, its policies in regard to paid employees and salaries, the value of the volunteer in cancer work and a review of how funds raised are spent. Of the funds raised, 60 per cent are spent in the state and 40 per cent is donated to the national organization to support its research and allied programs. Jens reported that last year over one-half million dollars was allocated to research at the Mayo clinic and the University of Minnesota.

Children's Plays To Be Staged At U Theatre

Two plays for children—"Scandinavian Tales" and "The Dancing Donkey"—are currently being presented at the University of Minnesota in the University theatre's Peppermint Tent.

"Scandinavian Tales" is based on three popular folk legends from Norway, Denmark and Sweden. "The Dancing Donkey" is the tale of a friar and his donkey, written by Erik Vos. Both productions are directed by Elaine Kanas, a University graduate student from White Plains, N.Y.

Performances in the red-and-white-striped tent on the banks of the Mississippi River near the University's showboat are at 9:15 a.m., 10:45 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. Monday through Friday through July 25.

Tickets are $1.50 each, or $1 each for groups of 25 or more. For information on performance dates of each play and reservations, phone (612) 373-2337. Tickets are on sale at Rarig center on the West Bank of the Twin Cities campus and at Dayton's stores.

Meet On Alcohol At Goodridge

Art Holmes from Glenmore foundation at Crookston will speak and show a film entitled "For Those That Drink" Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the Goodridge school. The meeting on alcohol and drug abuse will be held free of charge and is open to the public. Coffee will be served following the meeting.

Give Free Blood Pressure Test At Warren Fair

Free blood pressure screening clinics will be held at the Warren fairgrounds during the county fair. Hours will be from 5 to 9 p.m. Thursday, July 17, and from 1 p.m. to 9 p.m. Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

The clinic will be located in a special camper trailer located east of the 4-H building. It is sponsored by the Marshall county public health nursing service assisted by the Warren women's club and the Warren Mawami club.

High blood pressure is one of the biggest causes of death in this country. The tragic thing is that when detected the blood pressure can be kept under control and you can live a normal life.

Don't take a chance—have your blood pressure checked regularly. See your physician immediately and regularly if it is elevated.

The test is painless, free, and takes only a few minutes. Take a couple minutes of your "fair" time to see how you are.

Offer Cause And Answers To Hike In Gas Prices

"President Ford's energy policies bore their first fruit when we learned recently that gasoline prices may increase another 10 cents per gallon by late July, with shortages developing this summer," states Senator Hubert H. Humphrey.

"This dramatic increase in consumer costs and oil industry profits will be the direct result of the Administration's $2 tariff increase and deliberate action by the giant oil refiners to create an artifical shortage of gasoline.

"The large oil companies have been systematically reducing gasoline production to the extent that we are now using only 83 per cent of the nation's refining capacity, despite an abundance of crude oil. This is seven per cent less than they were using last year when crude oil supplies were tight.

"In 1974, reduced gasoline demand—due to conservation efforts and higher gas prices—eliminated any incentive for oil companies to restrict production in order to raise prices and, thereby, their profits.

"This situation was changed when the $1 tariff was imposed by President Ford early in 1975. His tariff created a large volume of bookkeeping costs that could legally be passed on to motorists through price increases, increases which would significantly raise oil company profits.

Humphrey continues, "to take full advantage of this opportunity President Ford had given them to rake in additional profits, the oil companies have hit upon the one solution: reduce the supply of gasoline, let this tight market, along with the President's tariff raise prices and increase their profits.

"Their scheme is working. Gasoline production is down. Reserves fell 17 per cent in four months. Prices are beginning to soar and if the Ford Administration has its way, a 10 cent increase by late July may not be the limit.

"The American motorist and consumer could be no worse off if the leaders of OPEC were setting our domestic oil policy.

"We need tough, fair government action to deal with these policies of the oil industry. The simple truth is that few industries, even though they might like to increase their profits at will, are able to increase their prices in this manner because competition prevents it.

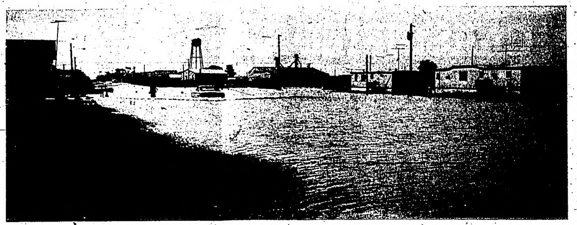
"What can we do?

Humphrey states that, "First, the Congress must continue price controls on old oil for at least another six months. Decontrol would raise oil, coal and uncontrolled intrastate gas prices as much as $20 billion immediately, severely disrupting our economic recovery.

"Second, the President should instruct the federal energy administration immediately to investigate the gasoline shortage and impose penalties on refiners who are cutting gasoline production below 1974 levels in order to drive up prices.

"Finally, the FEA must revise its gasoline allocation program to insure that independent gas dealers receive their full and traditional amount of gas from refineries.

"The lesson is clear. The Congress was right to reject the President's energy program in the beginning. Unfortunately, despite pleas from the Congress to the contrary, President Ford went ahead with his ill-advised tariff formula and its cost to the American people is becoming more apparent each day." Humphrey concludes.



MAIN STREET in Newfolden, a few yards east of Highway 59, was more appropriate for swimming and wading than driving Wednesday afternoon as the driver of the car above discovered. Most roads in the eastern part of the city were barely passable by car through the flood waters, and many basements were flooded.

AN EXAMPLE of flooding in the area east of Newfolden Wednesday was this farm field on Highway 28, less than ½ mile west of Highway 32. The access road to the farm pictured in the background was completely covered with water, as was most of the field.

THIS MOBILE HOME resembled a houseboat following the heavy rains which struck the area last week. Owned by Mr. and Mrs. Joe Philipp, the mobile home is located in the Mavie area northeast of Thief River Falls.

RESEMBLING A HERD of hippopotamuses in an African river, these cattle are clustered together in water on the Franklin Knoll farm northeast of Radium in Marshall county. Water from the Snake river drainage area caused flooding in that area.

Reveal State's Involvement In The Civil War

Few people ever think of Minnesota being involved in the American Civil War. Not only was the gopher state involved, but it was also the first to respond to President Lincoln's call for volunteer troops. Fifteen days after the Confederate armies fires on Fort Sumpter, Minnesota's immortal first regiment was mustered in. As the regiment moved eastward, it wass the source of inspiration to all along the way. The press of the day often noted that although Minnesota was a relatively new state with a small population, it was the first to recruit a regiment. Some 25,000 Minnesotans served during the war, and out of a population of under 200,000 there were one out of every seven citizens who volunteered.

Within three weeks of being mustered in, the First Minnesota was involved in the Battle of Bull Run. One hundred seventy four were killed, wounded, or taken prisoner by the south. From that time on the First Minnesota was involved in numerous battles including Gettysburg.

However, the men who marched to war from Minnesota paid a high price for their courage and patriotism. About 2,500 were killed with nearly double that many wounded. Hundreds more returned home to die from their wounds.

The Minnesota first regiment in the American Civil War over a hundred years ago, another example of the true "Spirit of 76."

Public Hearing Planned On City Shoreline Rules

Proposed regulations to control the use of shorelands within municipalities will be presented for discussion by the department of natural resources at a public hearing on Wednesday, July 16.

The hearing will begin at 12:30 p.m. and be held in the auditorium of the St. Paul technical vocational institute, 215 Marshall avenue.

Written statements or briefs may be submitted without appearing at the hearing by mailing them to the department of natural resources, municipal shorelands hearing officer, third floor Centennial building, St. Paul 55155. Statements may be submitted through August 5.

A copy of the proposed regulations can be obtained from the same source.

The regulations will affect sub division, home building, sewage disposal and other new developments bordering lakes and streams within municipalities. The department said about 750 lakes and an uncalculated number of miles of streams within 615 Minnesota cities will be affected under the regulations after they are finalized.

County Fairs Are Visited By State Official

Randy Merriman, the Minnesota state fair "Statesman" will be in Hallock, Thursday, July 10th. He will be visiting the Kittson county fair and its officials in behalf of the state fair which opens on August 21st.

As part of his official "Statesman" duties, Merriman will be presenting a certificate of appreciation to the Kittson county fair board for their all-out cooperation and participation in making the Minnesota state fair world famous as the "Great Minnesota Get-Together".

Randy, for many years a Twin Cities radio and television personality, will be available during his visit for local media interviews. Persons wishing to set up an interview with Randy should submit a time, place, and local name for contact. Merriman will return the call and make necessary arrangements on his arrival in Hallock.

Pioneer Mass Transit System, Spirit Of '76

Because the Red River on Minnesota's western border runs north, early settlers had little use for the waterway in transporting goods and people to the south. As a result of the need for a method of transportation, the Red River cart was developed. According to the Minnesota historical society these carts were made without metal and tied together with leather thongs. They were painted bright colors and fitted with a cover or canopy for protection from the elements. The Red River cart was generally pulled by one ox and many of them were driven by women.

In June of 1858, the greatest of all prairie convoys was formed. One hundred and forty carts gathered at Pembina in the north to bring people and animal pelts south to the Mississippi area near St. Paul. The progress of the Red River ox cart train was so slow that it took an entire summer season to make one round trip.

The prairie convoy's were a shortlived method of transportation and existed only because there was no direct connection by river between the north and south flowing waters. Within a few years of the giant 140 cart convoy, the steel rails connecting the Red River and the Mississippi had been laid and the ox was replaced by the locomotive.

Minnesotans pioneering in mass transit, another example of the true "Spirit of 76."

BREAK-IN TODAY at the Thief River Falls area vocational-technical institute resulted in the loss of about $1,039 in cash and extensive property damage. Entry was gained by breaking a rear window on the north side of the building. Entry to each locked room in the building was made by breaking glass in or next to the door and reaching it to turn the knob. Property damage estimate has not been made. Several items were also reported taken in addition to the cash. Several locked desks were pried open but vending machines in the building were not touched, according to the police department which is investigating the robbery.

Council Discusses Highway 59 Plans

Bob Wolf, Bemidji, district engineer for the state highway department, effectively squelched any ambitions by city officials for large scale improvements on Highway 59 south in the near future when he appeared at the regular Tuesday night meeting of the Thief River Falls city council in the city auditorium council chambers.

Wolf appeared, at the council's request, to discuss possible alternatives for improvements on 59 near the southern entrance to the city.

For several months the council had been considering a state and federal aid Highway project for a two inch bituminous overlay on 59 from the approximate area of First street to Gibson's. This project would include shoulder and ditch improvements.

However the low construction bid on the project, $142,000 by Olmscheid construction of the city, was higher than expected, and other alternatives were explored by local highway department personnel and city officials.

This interest led to a special council meeting Thursday noon, in which Mayor Bob Carlson introduced an alternative; reject bids on the bituminous surface and request funding for a complete regrading of Third street stretching to a quarter mile south of Kife's cafe. Included in the proposed million dollar project would be construction of storm sewers and curbs.

But last night Wolf recom-

Property Value Change Noted By County Assessor

If the assessor raised the value of the property of Pennington residents this year, that increase will be limited to 10 per cent over last year's valuation or to 25 per cent of the total increase, whichever figure is higher, E. Clarence Weckworth, Pennington county assessor, said today.

The new limitations enacted by the 1975 legislature supersede the five per cent limit on valuation increases that applied to residential, farm and recreational properties since 1973. The newly enacted limits apply to all types of property, including commercial and industrial.

Studies have shown that the five per cent limitation had resulted in a shift in the property tax burden from homes that were valued at less than full market value to homes that were properly assessed.

The new legislation requires an assessor to reappraise all property in his district at least once every four years. He must actually view each property in the four year span, but this is not required in order for him to raise the value of property.

Any newly constructed or improved property is to be initially valued at the same level as other properties in the assessment district.

If an assessor does not make an annual reappraisal of at least one-quarter of the properties for two consecutive years, the state revenue commissioner can appoint a special assessor and deputy to do the required reassessment of the properties.

Jobless Claims Total 1,115 On 4th, Says Stadum

Number of persons in active claim status (all programs) at the Thief River Falls area office of the Minnesota department of employment services for the week ending July 4 numbered 1,115 according to J. K. Stadum, area office manager. Stadum said this was 13 more than last week.

Initial claims filed included 32 claims for extended benefits; 24 federal supplemental benefits; and two for special unemployment assistance.

Total payments in Pennington, Marshall, Kittson, Red Lake and Roseau counties amounted to $54,180 this week, compared to $52,916 last week and $67,245 a year ago. Since January 1, a total of $3,315,492 had been paid compared to $3,508,417 for the same period a year ago.

TRFinettes Will Enter Class A Legion Contest

Rested from their annual tour which took them to central Minnesota, Wisconsin and Illinois, the TRFinettes drum and bugle corps of Thief River Falls will heave Friday for the Minnesota American Legion convention in Moorhead. They will compete in the class A division at 7 p.m. at Nemzek field on the Moorhead state college campus.

Champions of the Class B competition at the state Legion convention last year, the TRFinettes will compete in the class A division this year. Election to participate in Class A will match the local unit against some of the top competition in the state. It is expected a number of local people will follow the unit to Moorhead for the contest.

Conclusion of the annual trip took place last Sunday when the TRFinettes took forst place in competition at the Jaycee water carnival parade in Bemidji.

The trip started June 28 with the first stop at Little Falls where the girls participated in the annual summer festival. Although the event was not competitive, excellent rating were received, according to officers of the organization. They also noted that the annual trips are set up to be self-sustaining from an expense standpoint.

Two days were spent in Eau Claire, Wis., where they were housed in the "Y" and participated in a festival parade and open contest sponsored by the Sundowner drum and bugle corps.

Next three days were travel and practice days and members of the group had an opportunity to visit the Wisconsin state capitol at Madison and the campus of the University of Wisconsin at Madison.

On the Fourth of July they participated in parades at Highland Park, Deerfield and Northbrook, Ill., where there were drum and bugle corps from all over the United States.

Bond Election Ballots Ready; Meeting Set

Absentee ballots and applications are now available at the city clerk's office for the special election to be held on Thursday, July 17. The election will be to authorize the city to issue an additional $800,000 in bonds for financing of the medical office building addition to Northwestern hospital.

A public meeting on the special election issues will be held Monday at 8 p.m. in the city auditorium downstairs meeting room. Anyone with questions or comments on the project and desiring to be heard is encouraged to be in attendance.

Library Lists Summer Hours And Specialties

Hours for the summer at the Thief River Falls regional library are: Monday through Thursday, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., and Friday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

"While you are housecleaning, will you look for overdue materials such as: books, pamphlets, records and magazines? There will be no charge on the return of these materials," states Miss Bertha Hastad, acting librarian.

Membership in the Minnesota film circuit means that our Northwest Regional Library has a supply of 16mm films available for educational and entertainment use by clubs, organizations or interested individuals. A sampling of some current films available includes cartoons, how-to-do-its, travelogues and history. A new set will be here by July 20.

Storytime for little tots is held every Monday and Tuesday at 2 p.m. in the meeting room of the library.

The bookmobile will be at the county fair at Hallock on July 12. It will also tour the towns in Kittson county on Monday, July 14th.

It is book selling time again at your library. There is a wide choice of books, magazines and paperbacks. Come in and browse.

Local DFL Drive Totals $650

Pennington county DFL dollars for Democrats drive has raised a total of $650 thus far, according to local coordinators Fran Stromberg and John Steidl. The fund-raising campaign will continue in coordination with the national Democratic party promotion.

CONCERNED FARMERS and representatives of farm organizations and groups met at the city auditorium in Thief River Falls Monday in an attempt to gain assistance as a result of widespread flooding. Wallace Sparby, executive director of the Pennington county ASCS office, is shown speaking in the above photo. The meeting was called by the Minnesota Farmers Union and resulted in designation of people to meet in Thief River Falls today and formulate a program to be presented to Congress for emergency assistance.

Flooding Continues In Area As Water Flows West, South

Flood conditions continue throughout the Times area as aftermath of heavy rainfall and water-clogged drainage channels causes millions of dollars of damage to farm crops, livestock and other property. Areas not hit by the heavy rains themselves are now suffering as the collected run-off funnels into their area, seeking its lowest level. Inability of ditches, streams and rivers to carry the deluge results in water spreading out over adjacent lands.

A meeting was held early this afternoon in Thief River Falls—instigated by the Minnesota Farmers Union—to develop a united program request for emergency assistance to be presented to the U.S. Congress. Today's meeting was planned at a general meeting of concerned farmers and other interested persons Monday afternoon at the city auditorium here.

At the Monday session a nucleus of representation on the program development committee was determined and today's session was set. Chairing both meeting was Cy Carpenter, president of the Minnesota Farmers Union. Meeting today are representatives of farm groups, financial institutions, county extension service and several others. Plans are to present a program request to Congress within the next week or so.

While flood waters have receded in most areas, the rate of receding has been slow and crop damage has been total. Only in the Newfolden area, where sudden flooding last Wednesday struck some farmland and the east side of Newfolden itself, has the flooding virtually disappeared. Stan Holmaas, who operates a grocery business on Newfolden's east side, said that much of the water was gone the following day (Thursday). One family which was evacuated by boat is moving back into the house and clean-up is taking place on commercial and residential properties.

Other areas are not so fortunate, a Times spot check late Tuesday evening reveals. The Highlanding area in southeastern Pennington county was hit hard by flooding from the Red Lake river and water pouring into the area from the north. Grygla was flooded by the Mud river and lands south of Grygla were covered with water. Farmlands along Ditch 20 which empties into the Thief river north of Thief River Falls are inundated and water levels are approximately holding steady.

Reports of farmers selling livestock due to the flooded pastures and haylands have been received, but only one farmer contacted could confirm such a sale. Lewis Quam, whose farm is located six and one-half miles east of Goodridge and a mile north of highway 1, said he shipped 30 head of his 140-animal beef herd last Sunday. Flooding there included his pasture, hayland and 28 acres of oats and field peas planted for silage. He fenced part of a township road to give the rest of his cattle a relatively dry place to stay.

Paul Saurdiff, Grygla livestock trucker, said that there has been an increase in livestock shipping since the flood but that shipping had been accelerated all year. His appraisal is that livestock producers had held their animals off the market due to depressed prices a year ago and were beginning to move them now as the market strengthened. The flood probably caused some livestock producers with more than normal herd size to ship immediately rather than wait for price increases.

While that appraisal is likely accurate for the immediate circumstances, it also seems like that a large number of livestock will be marketed before winter. Most livestock farmers in the widespread flood area lost their first crop of hay—either uncut or in swaths or bales—and many will have no second cutting because water remained on fields long enough to kill the plants.

FARMERS UNION president for Minnesota, Cy Carpenter (center), reviews a list of suggestions with legislators following Monday's meeting on the area flooding problem. Sen. Richard Fitzsimons (left) and Rep. John Corbid were present at the meeting to make suggestions and assist in organizing a proposed program for emergency assistance. Suggestions being considered were presented by farm leaders and persons dealing with farm problems present at the meeting.

Ardys Olson In Teenage Pageant

Ardys Ann Olson, 17, daughter of Art Olson of Thief River Falls and Mrs. Gunvar Olson of Ortonville, has been selected to be a finalist in the 1975 Miss Minnesota Teen-Ager pageant to be held Friday through Sunday at Augsburg college in Minneapolis.

Contestants in the event—the official state final for the Miss National Teen-Ager pageant to be held in Atlanta, Ga., in August—will be judged on scholastic achievement-leadership, poise-personality and beauty. Each contestant will also prepare and recite a 100-word essay on the subject, "What's Right About America". There will be no swimsuit nor talent competition.

Ardys will be sponsored in the pageant by the Thief River Falls Rotary club.

A student in the Thief River Falls school system through her freshman year, Ardys has attended school at Ortonville for the past two years and will be a senior there this fall. She moved to Ortonville with her mother a year and a half ago. She has been spending this summer with her father in Thief River Falls and visiting with former friends and schoolmates here.

At the Ortonville school Ardys has been active in choir, Future Teachers of America organization and a member of the track team. Her activity outside of school includes membership in the First English Lutheran church Luther League at Ortonville.

Art is one of her main hobbies and she enjoys drawing, painting and doing sculpture. One of her works—a sculpture of a head—won a grand championship in the art division of the Pennington county fair in Thief River Falls several years ago. She enjoys raising indoor plants.

Her other hobbies include horseback riding (she has her own quarterhorse on a relative's farm near Thief River Falls), swimming and bicycle riding. Her most recent acquisition is a new 10-speed bicycle which she expects to be a real convenience on the hills around Ortonville.

The reigning Miss Minnesota Teen-Ager is Miss Lynn Latvala of Nashwauk. Ardys will be competing this weekend with contestants from all over the state of Minnesota.

STATE FINALIST in the Miss Minnesota Teen-Ager pageant to be held this weekend at Augsburg college in Minneapolis is Ardys Olson, 17, daughter of Art Olson of Thief River Falls and Gunvar Olson of Ortonville. The blue-eyed blonde is five feet six and one-half inches tall and is sponsored by the Thief River Falls Rotary club. Art is one of her hobbies and she is pictured above in Friendship Garden at the city's tourist park with her sketch pad and pencil.

Sandra Schmitke Weds Anthony P. Radniecki

Marriage vows were exchanged recently at the First Lutheran church in Bismarck, N.D., by Miss Sandra G. Schmitke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Schmitke of Bismarck, and Anthony P. Radniecki, son of Mr. and Mrs. Al Radniecki of Oklee.

Rev. Warren Johnson officiated at the double ring ceremony. The organist, a friend of the couple, played a selection of hymns as the guests were ushered in by Gregory Radniecki of Oklee, a cousin of the groom, and Neal Kluch of McDlusky, N.D., cousin of the bride. Miss Schimmelpfenning, the soloist, sang "If" and "Colour My World," during the ceremony, and "The Lord's Prayer," as the couple knelt at the altar.

For the seven o'clock ceremony, lighted candelabras and arrangements of greens, together with vases of white and blue mums, and babies' breath, graced the altar. Marking the pews along the center aisle were white ribbon bows and blue candles.

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. She was attired in a floor-length gown of beige muslin with a lace panel down the front. Gathered lace formed the ruffle around the yoke, stand-up collar and around the wrists of her long, tapered sleeves. In her hair, she wore a floral crown of white mums, accented with babies' breath and green foliage. She carried a colonial bouquet of blue and white mums, red roses and star flowers backed by green foliage.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Peggy Harrison of Gunnison, Colo. a friend. Bridesmatron was Mrs. Dwight Schmitke of Denver, Colo., the bride's sister-in-law. Their identical gowns of blue muslin were styled with triple tiered floor-length skirts, with each tier edged with lace. Their headpieces, like the bride's, were fashioned of white flowers and babies' breath. They carried bouquets of blue mums, babies' breath, and white ribbon streamers.

Best man was Tom Parenteau of Brooks, a friend of the groom. Groomsman was Dwight Schmitke of Denver, Colo., brother of the bride. All the men of the wedding party wore black tuxedos with light blue ruffled shirts and light blue boutonnieres.

The mother of the bride wore a long-sleeve, floor-length gown of a blue floral print. The groom's mother was attired in a powder blue, double knit, floor-length gown complemented by long lace sleeves. Both wore identical corsages of white mums and red roses.

Similar corsages were also worn by the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Jacob Docketer and Mrs. Bertha Schmitke, who were honor guests at the ceremony.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlors for approximately 200 relatives and friends. Serving as host and hostess were Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Schmitke, uncle and aunt of the bride. Linda Heisler presided at the guest book as Sue Sande and Sue Oster served the punch. Waitresses were Mary Kay Schmitke and Jeanna Dockter.

A wedding cake, featuring a series of round, tiered cakes, baked and decorated by the groom's aunt, Mrs. Albert Aaknes, centered the serving table. The cakes, topped by a miniature bride and groom, were decorated with blue roses and white wedding bells, and featured a connecting stairway with a miniature wedding party on the steps. The cake, a gift from Mr. and Mrs. Aaknes of Trail, was cut and served by Mrs. Florence Kluch of McClusky, N.D., aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Dean Radniecki of Aurora, sister-in-law of the groom. Pouring was Mrs. John Tanem of Goodridge, aunt of the bride.

Relatives and friends attending were from Oklee, Trail, Soudan, Aurora, Minneapolis, Goodridge, Red Lake Falls, Brooks and Inver Grove Heights, as well as from South Milwaukee, Wis., Bismarck, N.D., Denver, Colo., and the area around McClusky.

After the reception, a private dance was held at the Holiday Inn, Hall of Ports, Mandan Pierre room at Mandan, N.D.

A second wedding reception for the couple was held at Oklee at the St. Francis Xavier Catholic church with Mr. and Mrs. Al Radniecki hosting the event.

Serving as reception host and hostess were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lambert of Oklee. Mrs. Gregory Radniecki of Breckenridge was at the guest book and Mrs. Steven Radniecki and Mary Kay Radniecki of Oklee ladled the punch. All are cousins of the groom.

The wedding cake for the Oklee reception was also baked and decorated by Mrs. Albert Aakness, who together with Mrs. Marie Hruby of Oklee, cut and served it. Pouring were Mrs. John Tanem of Goodridge and Mrs. Virgil Radniecki of Oklee. All are aunts of the groom.

At the gift table were Mrs. Jack Radniecki, aunt of the groom, Mrs. Gary Hruby and Miss Rosetta Hruby, cousins of the groom. Waitresses were Genevieve Radniecki, Gail Radniecki, cousins of the groom, and Cheryl Hagen of Gully, a friend of the Radniecki family.

Attending the reception were approximately 225 relatives and friends. They were from Fargo, Grand Forks and Bismarck, N.D., Trail, Goodridge, Brooks, Plummer, Crookston, Gully, McIntosh, Red Lake Falls, Thief River Falls and Staples.

The reception was catered by Syonne's Catering service of Oklee.

The couple is now at home at McClusky, N.D. The bride is a graduate of the Bismarck high school. The groom, a graduate of Oklee high school, attended the University of Minnesota technical college at Crookston and is a crane operator, employed by Brown and Root on the McClusky canal. Photo, Bernard Weinreich, Bismarck, N.D.

Home fires are responsible for about half of all fire deaths. Most fatal home fires occur at night, when flames, smoke and toxic gases gain headway unnoticed while the family is asleep. That's why a night-time fire escape plan is a "must" for everyone.

Lutovsky And Moberg Vows Spoken At Grafton

Miss Paulette Ann Lutovsky became the bride of Kenneth W. Moberg at a two o'clock nuptial mass at St. John's Catholic church in Grafton, N.D., on Saturday, June 28. Rev. George Lommel officiated at the ceremony with Shawne Sass and Douglas Sevigny assisting as altar boys. Scripture readings were given by James Sass.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Marcell Lutovsky of Grafton and Mr. and Mrs. Tilford Rundhaug of Fairdale, N.D.

Susan Dusek was the organist. She accompanied the bride's brother, Bradley Lutovsky, and her uncle James Sass as they played the trumpet duet, "Ode To Joy." The organist also accompanied her sister, Jan Dusek as she sang "If," "The Wedding Song," "Colour My World," "One Hand, One Heart," and "The Lord's Prayer." As the bride and groom placed a long-stemmed rose at the altar of the Blessed Virgin Mary, the soloist sang, "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother."

Arrangements of white pompons and white mums, accented with greens, graced the altar for the double-ring ceremony. Adding to the chancel setting were baskets of ferns placed on the railings.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of dacron polyester organza with French Chantilly lace trim. Crystal pleating edged the lace yoke styled with a high ruffled neckline, trimmed the cuffs of her long, full sleeves, and formed the wide edging that encircled the hemline of her skirt and chapel-length train. A wide band of Chantilly lace trimmed the sleeves; and a satin ribbon accented the waistline. A lace Camelot headpiece held her double-tiered, finger-tip veil edged with lace. She carried a bouquet of orchids and stephanotis with camelia foliage. Entwined was her mother's white pearl rosary. Her pearl earrings were a gift from the groom.

Joyce Sass, aunt of the bride, served as personal attendant.

Shamrae Sass was the bride's maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Sandra Lutovsky, Becky Lutovsky, Shirley Flom, and Jude Carrico. They wore identical, floor-length gowns in pastel shades of yellow, green, blue, violet and pink respectively. The gowns were fashioned of taffeta with chiffon overskirts, high ruffled necklines and chiffon ruffled yokes. Their picture hats matched the colors of their gowns. Each attendant carried a white basked parasol fillded with white daisies, tinted pompons and babies' breath. They also wore pearl pendants, gifts from the bride.

Wearing a similar dress, only in white, was the bride's sister, Lisa Lutovsky, who served as junior bridesmaid. She was escorted by a cousin, Styles Sass.

The groom's brother, Richard Moberg, was best man. Groomsmen were Allan Moberg, Bradley Lutovsky, Jameson Flom and James Sass. All wore white Windsor tuxedos with ruffled shirts matching the gowns worn by the bride and her attendants.

Ushers were Valentine Sass and Duane Kratochvil, uncles of the bride. Kristy Lutovsky and Rosemary Paukert distributed the wedding programs.

The mother of the bride wore a long pink gown with chiffon butterfly sleeves. Crystals and rhinestones trimmed the neckline. The groom's mother wore a floral print street-length dress. Both mothers wore orchid corsages.

For the reception that followed in the parish center, the hosts and hostesses were Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Sevigny and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mohagen. Miss Terry Lutovsky was at the guest book as Lorraine Gierszewski and Kathryn von Ruden ladled the punch. The wedding cake was cut and served by Mrs. Ernest Stoltman and Mrs. Irene Paukert. Waitresses were Nancy, Joan, Dawn and Peggy Lutovsky, Kristi Kratochvil, Barb and Joan Mindeman, Eileen, Barb and Doreen Troftgruben and Lori Erickson.

The wedding dance was held at the VFW clubrooms with The Rogues providing the music.

After a wedding trip to the Black Hills of South Dakota. The couple will make their home at 1317 Elmwood Drive, Grafton. The groom is employed by Schumacher and Sons.

Charley Hagglunds Descendants Meet At Newfolden

Descendants of the late Charley and Bertha Hagglund of Holt staged their first family reunion on Sunday, July 6, at the Newfolden city park with about 70 family members and several close family friends present.

Of the six living children of the Hagglunds, four were in attendance. They were Ben Hagglund and Orlene Reed of this city, Mrs. Mabel Bratteli and Mrs. Ida Horien of Holt. Elmer Hagglund of Grande Prairie, Alta., Can. and Irving Hagglund of Hendersonville, N.C. were unable to be there. All the living children of Mrs. Ida Horien were in attendance. They were Howard and Jerome Horien, both of Seattle, Wash., Leon Horien of St. Paul, Minn., Mrs. Lawrence Hamms, International Falls, Donald Horien, Holt, Mrs. Donald Peterson, Middle River, Mrs. Cliff Dahle, Holt, Mrs. Jim Swan, Newfolden, and Robert Horien of this city.

The affair opened with a social hour and picture-taking, followed by a noon picnic dinner. A short program followed. Chairman of the event was Mrs. Lawrence Hamms of International Falls. Program committee consisted of Mrs. Jim Swan, Mrs. Donald Peterson and Flora Hagglund. Emcee was Leon Horien. He was followed by Mrs. Ben (Flora) Hagglund in a humorous address of welcome in Swedish dialect, a Hagglund family history written by Ben Hagglund and read by Mrs. Orlead Reed; and a Horien family history by Mrs. Donald Peterson. Vocal and instrumental selections by Mr. and Mrs. Bob Skoglund of Holt entertained the crowd, as did the children of the Mike Pooles of Anoka and the Donald Petersons, who presented a patriotic skit with the theme, "You're a Grand Old Flag." A favorite hymn and nostalgic family song favorite were audience participation numbers; and a closing touch, all joined hands and offered a brief prayer led by Leon Horien.

Relatives and friends from a distance, also sharing the day, were Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hamms of International Falls; Mr. and Mrs. Steven Hamms, also of International Falls; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stenberg and daughter of Fargo, N.D.; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Velasquez and sons, Minneapolis; Mr. and Mrs. Mike Poole and girls, Anoka; Mr. and Mrs. Bud Hallstrom, Moorhead; Mr. and Mrs. Curtiss Lindberg, Bloomington; Mrs. Lois Lillevold and daughter LuAnn, Grygla, and Oliver Backlund, Fairbanks, Alaska.

Those present from the area were Mrs. Mabel Bratteli and Mrs. Ida Horien, Donny Horien, and Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Dahle and family, all of Holt; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Swan and sons, Newfolden; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Peterson and family and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Peterson of Middle River; Mrs. Orlene Reed and daughter, Ruth; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Horien and sons and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Hagglund, all of Thief River Falls.

Others attending were Mr. and Mrs. Bob Skoglund and family; Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Horien and family, Mr. and Mrs. Emery Horien, Howard Langlie all of Holt, along with Marvin Sandburg, also of Holt and Boyd Wilson and children of Newfolden.

NEW PRESIDENT of the Thief River Falls Rotary club, Robert Poissant (left), presents an appreciation plaque to Bill Duckworth, retiring president, at the club meeting Monday noon at the American Legion club rooms. Albert Johnsons To Note Their 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Johnson of 303 South Maple, Thief River Falls, will be honored at an open house on Sunday in celebration of their 50th wedding anniversary.

The open house will be held at Redeemer Lutheran church from 2 to 5 p.m. A short program will be presented at 2:30.

Albert Johnson and the former Clara Jensen were married July 11, 1925 at the parsonage near Oklee with Rev. Ole Kolstoe officiating. They lived on a farm in the Oklee vicinity until 1962 when they retired and moved into this city.

Hosting the event will be the couple's children: Linda Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Roy (Ruth) Gilbert, and Mr. and Mrs. Arnold (Kathy) Carriere; and their six grandchildren.

All friends and relatives are cordially invited to attend.

Ex-Area Lady's Daughter Wins Air Patrol Trip

Diana Powell, Duluth, daughter of the former Donna Wik of St. Hilaire, was recently selected by the civil air patrol to attend a five day study session at an Air Force base, in Denver, Colorado. She will study space travel and techniques.

Diana, a high school sophomore and member of the Civil Air Patrol, competed with ten other young Minnesotans for one of the special activities sponsored by this group. She was required to take a written test about history and great military commanders. In addition, she was interviewed by a special selection board of wing and squadron dignitaries in Minneapolis. She was judged on her test performance, knowledge of chain of command and current events, and contributions to the Civil Air Patrol.

Her interest in the Civil Air Patrol was sparked by her father, a member of the Air National Guard. She has risen to master sergeant in two years. The Duluth squadron has 33 cadets, three of whom are girls.

Donna Powell, Diana's mother, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Vik of St. Hilaire and a 1956 graduate of Lincoln high school.

CRAFT DEMONSTRATION
Thurs., July 10th
1:00-3:00 P.M.
HOBBY CORNER
If you're one of the hundreds of people that have tried their hand at putting decals on plaster domes, this is for you. DECALON is a brand-new dry method of making the decals. If all you have ever tried to make your decals is a liquid transfer medium, you're missing out. Decalon enables you to make a decal that is not only super-thin and super-strong but it's super-quick. It only takes minutes instead of hours. Your Decalon decals can be used to decorate domes, eggs, rocks, textured surfaces, candles, canisters, furniture, even photos. Stop in and see this amazing product demonstrated Thursday afternoon from 1-3 p.m. July 10th, at CORNER DRUG.
One of the newest fun fashions is the painted shirt. And we have everything you'll need to decorate your own shirts, jackets, jeans or what-have-you. We have a new book called "Painted Put Ons" that shows how to put an eye-catching painting on the back of a shirt. It provides patterns from beautiful yellow roses, or red strawberries with white daisies . . . to zany dancing frogs or a banjo-playing alligator.
We also have designs that have the ease of iron-on that are large enough to cover the whole back of a shirt.
There will be a demonstration of this craft Thursday evening from 7-9 p.m. July 10th at the drugstore.

Arts And Crafts Fair Slated At Stephen Church

Athena club of Stephen is sponsoring an arts and crafts fair on Saturday and Sunday, July 26 and 27, which will also be appreciation days in Stephen. Area people of all ages are encouraged to enter in as many categories as possible. The show will be held in First Lutheran church in Stephen.

Theme of the show is "America the Beautiful—Creative and Talented". To compete for the $25 prize the entry must carry out the theme in approach, definition and all-around most successfully depict the theme. Purple ribbon winner will carry the title grand champion. There will also be winners in each category, with first place blue ribbons and second place red ribbons. Winners must leave their entries at the show until the show closes on Sunday. Judging will be done from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Saturday.

The display will be open to the public on Saturday from 1 to 9 p.m. and on Sunday from 10:30 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. Coffee and bars will be served throughout the fair with a free-will offering to help meet expenses. The church doors will be locked after fair hours to properly secure all entries.

Entries may be brought to the church on Friday evening, July 25, from 7 to 9 p.m., and on Saturday morning from 8 to 11 a.m. People may sell any items they enter, but it must be understood that the order of business in buying and selling an object must be transacted between the two parties. The Athena club will not transact any business, and this is not a money-making project for the club. The purpose of the arts and crafts fair is to further observance of the Bicentennial.

Categories for the fair are the following: handiwork (sewing, stitchery, needlecraft, macrame); original paintings (oils, acrylics, water-colors); collages (any medium—fabric, paper, etc.); original drawings, sketches and posters; flower arrangements; ceramics; photography; and heritage boxes. If you make something which you don't feel fits any of the above categories, the club has a motto to solve your problem: "If you can make it, we can find a category." Bring whatever you's like.

The Athena club committee for the arts and crafts fair are chairman Mrs. Calvin Benson, Mrs. Robert Lingen, Mrs. Earl Anderson, Mrs. Carter Hjelle, and Mrs. Earl Hvidsten, all of Stephen. Any of these people can be contacted for more detailed information. Also, the club is looking for more people to give demonstrations; if you are willing to give a demonstration, please notify the committee.

Gospel Truth Team

Ev. Free Church At Newfolden Plans Crusade

"No Disappointment in Jesus" will be the theme of a six-day crusade to be held July 13-18 at the Evangelical Free church of Newfolden.

The six evening services beginning at 8 p.m. will feature "The Gospel Truth" evangelistic team. This team of two couples, Marlin and Jeannine Bjornrud and Mike and LuAnn Sollom, has been presenting services throughout northern and central Minnesota since last August. Their presentation involves much singing, varying in style and including many of the team's own compositions.

During the week there will be other variety ranging from object lessons to comedy and magic to muppets. A message from the Bible will be presented each evening.

There will be special nights set aside for children, youth and family groups. Thursday night will be special request night.

Rev. Earl Eveland and congregation welcome everyone in the area to attend as many services as they can.

Norwegian Day At Rodnes Church

A Norwegian Day will be held at Rodnes Lutheran church on Sunday when Rev. Carl Field of East Grand Forks will conduct the 11 o'clock service. A dinner will follow.

The Norwegian Day will have special significance since 1975 is the 150th anniversary of the beginning of the mass immigration of Norwegians to the United States. Minnesota had the most immigrants, over 155,000. Nearly all of these Norwegians were Lutherans.

Rodnes church is south of highway 2 between Mentor and Erskine.

Flooding Over Times Area Is Still Extensive

years, is one of the livestock producers with real problems. He has most of his farm in hay—about 200 acres—and had cut 13 acres when the flood came. He has enough high pasture area to give his 100 head of grown stock and additional young stock a place to stay but will have no feed for winter.

Having moved here from Montana, he hopes to stay in the cattle business and urges anyone with cattle to do their utmost to keep them. Replacement in the future will be a costly and time-consuming task, he notes, and some farmers probably won't make the effort. He also commented on the problem of hordes of insects which are making life more miserable for his livestock.

Max Andresen moved to this area three years ago and has a dairy operation along Ditch 20. He lost 4,300 bales of hay still in the field from his first cutting of alfalfa this year. He estimates 90 per cent of his 525 acres of small grain is gone and concedes that the flood "could mean a sale in the fall", although he would prefer to stay in the dairy business. His dairy barn was new a year ago.

Andresen was compelled by the late season last year to summer fallow his farm rather than produce a crop. A number of his neighbors chose to plant a late crop, and some of those said the resulting harvest was so poor as to make the seeding questionable. With $80 to $100 per acre "in the ground" before another crop can be harvested, the outlook is dim.

Resiliency of farmers in this area is legendary, however, and at least one act called to our attention bears this out. Jerry Wayne, who farms with his father and brother south of Ditch 20, has been out water skiing on his wheat fields where the water is about three feet deep. He also said the water was neck deep on the Cullen property where Ditch 20 crosses highway 219, north of Goodridge.

Wayne said the crops along the first mile south of Ditch 20 are totally wiped out. He is selling some of his 60 brood sows because of the flooding, but presently only has access to his farm from the south. A neighbor turned his cattle into a flooded alfalfa field to graze the tops of the crop which is expected to be ruined anyway.

Much of Jim Philipp's land is surrounded by roads which serve as dikes, but water pouring over the roads have flooded his property. Grain which was seeded early is standing in water "right up to the heads", Philipp said. Water is running over the Ditch 20 grade in several places, Ditch 27 is up to the top and more water continues to come from east.

Justin Dahlen said that water which had been two and one-half feet deep on the streets of Goodridge was now gone, most of it leaving in the last day or so. Basement of the school was flooded as were many house basements.

Dahlen added that his sons Galen and David, who began farming this year on the former Lundgren farm south of Grygla, can expect to salvage only 150 of 1,000 crop acres and about 100 out of 700 acres of hay.

Verner Arveson, who farms long the Red Lake river near the River Valley bridge, said his area had received only 3.2 inches of rain in the Tuesday and Wednesday when areas to the north received 10 or more inches. Water from the north and east has swept south to the river and flooded the area with the highest levels ever seen in that area since the river channel was dredged in 1948-1951.

Arveson said the river spread at least three miles south of its banks and north for the two miles where it would re-enter the river channel near the Highlanding bridge.

An indication of the water volume is given by a measurement of flow made by the corps of army engineers. Arveson said the corps told him Tuesday that normal flow of the river under the Highlanding bridge is 1,000 cubic feet per second. On Tuesday morning the flow was measured at 3,290 cubic feet per second. He added that Julian Lendobeja had tried to come up the river by boat but couldn't get under the Highlanding bridge.

Area farmers have now adopted a wait-and-see attitude as far as damage to their property is concerned, but the outlook is not good. Dearle Henry, who notes that the level of Ditch 18 near his farm has dropped 11 inches from the crest, says that a lot of fields look worse now than when flooded. Grain is turning yellow and damage is feared to be much greater than earlier expected.

Final Northland Summer Play Is Musical Spoof

Final play of the 1975 Northland summer theatre is now in rehearsal and will be performed for area residents on the evenings of Monday through Friday, July 28-August 1st, at 8 p.m. in the Northland college theatre. "Little Mary Sunshine", a musical by Rick Besoyan, will be the season's closing production. It will feature a large cast, a Colorado woodland setting, and the nostalgic music reminiscent of early American musicals starring Jeannette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy.

While the entire cast will be listed in a future release, the major roles are being played by Kathy Wald of Thief River Falls, Rick Erickson of Viking, Myrnelle Brusegaard of Thief River Falls, Donna Kock of Thief River Falls and Charles Erickson of Roseau. The production is being directed by Michael Tillmann, the Northland company director.

Tickets will go on sale later in July at the rate of $1.75 for adults, $1.25 for students, and 75 cents for children under twelve. Special performance nights with special rates for senior citizens and students are being planned and will be announced next week.

Council Airs Plans For Hwy. 59 On Tuesday

mended that bids be accepted for the bituminous surfacing. He said even with the passage by the state legislature of the two cent per gallon gasoline tax, highway department crews would have the funds to undertake only about 40 per cent of the projects listed on the department's five year plan, and the funding picture for any new large scale project is dim.

He added that although a bituminous overlay was not a permanent surface (a maximum of ten years life before another re-surfacing would be necessary) it would provide smoother driving conditions over the short term. And funding for this project is available now.

The council voiced approval of Wolf's recommendation. Laying of the bituminous surface should begin soon after the official acceptance of bids by the highway department.

In other matters, the council set August 12 as the date for a public hearing for a possible city sewer and water extension on Greenwood street from Highway 59 to approximately 1100 feet east. The request for an extension was made by Kenneth Berg and an associate, who have obtained funding for construction of apartment buildings in that area.

Current estimates place cost of installing the extensions at $45,000, with $15,000 recovered through assessment to the Berg development. Recovery possibilities for the remainder of the $30,000 are uncertain at this time, and this caused Mayor Carlson to balk at the proposal. However some councilmen felt the extension was suitable because of the opportunity for economic development it provided. The hearing will provide a chance for other residents of the Greenwood area to be heard on the subject.

Mrs. Mary Blair Jaranson, 89, of Wadena and formerly of Thief River Falls, died June 20, at the Tri-County hospital at Wadena, following an illness of five weeks.

A Requiem Funeral Mass for Mrs. Mary Jaranson was held June 23 at St. Ann's Catholic church in Wadena with Rev. Aloysious Kraemer as celebrant. Interment was in St. Bernard's Catholic cemetery in Thief River Falls.

Mrs. Jaranson, the former Mary Blair, was born May 16, 1886 at Chippewa Falls, Wis., to Mr. and Mrs. Louis Blair.

Surviving are three sons: Ernest Jaranson of Wadena, Kenneth of Chicago, Ill., and Jerome of Circle Pines; nine grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren.

Jeffrey Walton Drowns Sunday At Hill City

Jeffrey Walton, 25, of Hill City, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Walton of Middle River, was the victim of a boating and water skiing accident Sunday evening at Hill Lake.

Funeral services for Jeffrey Walton will be held Thursday at 3 p.m., at the First Lutheran church in Middle River. Rev. Donald Fredine will officiate. Interment will be in the church cemetery.

The body is reposing at the Collins Funeral home at Middle River and will repose at the church for one hour prior to the time of services. A complete obituary will be in the Monday edition of the Times.

Meline Hanson, Once Of TRF, Dies At Roseau

Mrs. Meline Hanson, 87, of Roseau and formerly of Thief River Falls, died Monday at the Roseau area hospital. She had been in failing health for the past several years.

Funeral services for Mrs. Meline Hanson will be held Thursday at 2 p.m., at the Helgeson Funeral chapel at Roseau with Rev. Gustav Nordvall officiating. Interment will be in the Hope cemetery.

Honorary pallbearers will be Mel Johnston, Oscar Westling, Kjell Norwig, Elmer Skogen, Loren Miller and John Reinhart.

Active pallbearers will be Clarence Perry, Iver Westling, Clair Lovejoy, Barney Anderson, Severin Halvorson and Otto Messelt.

Mrs. Hanson, the former Meline Marie Olson, was born Sept. 6, 1887 at Nielsville to Mr. and Mrs. Martinius Olson. She was married at Hillsboro, N.D. on April 16, 1907 to Magnus Hanson. After their marriage, the couple farmed for a time in Wisconsin before moving to Canada where they homestaeaded for 11 years at Preeceville, Sask. They then returned to Wisconsin and farmed there for 18 years. In 1933 they moved to Goodridge, living there until 1963, when she came to Thief River Falls. Since 1973, she had resided at Roseau.

She is survived by one son, Melvin Hanson of Akron, Ohio; two daughters: Mrs. Wayne (Pearl) Mitchell of Chicago, Ill., and Mrs. Vernon (Alma) Johnston of Warroad; 12 grandchildren, 30 great-grandchildren, and two sisters: Mrs. Al Albert Johr of Thief River Falls and Mrs. Laura Hanson of Archerville, Sask., Canada.

She was preceded in death by her husband, one son, a grandson, one great-granddaughter, five sisters and two brothers.

Clayton Walker Services Held Today At RLF

Funeral services for Clayton Walker, 75 of Red Lake Falls who died Saturday at the Bethesda Nursing home at Crookston, were held today (Wednesday) at Red Lake Falls.

Services were held at 11 a.m., at the First Presbyterian church. Rev. Ronald Geisman officiated. Lori Dodds served as organist. Interment was in the Oak Grove cemetery with the Petterson Funeral home of Red Lake Falls in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers were J. A. Hughes, E. G. Robertson, Robert Dodds, Roger Arvidson, Howard Johnston, John Mead, Winton Gackstetter and Clifford Christenson.

Clayton Walker was born April 30, 1900 at Marshall to George and Nellie Orr Walker. In 1903, he moved with his parents to a farm in Gervais township, Red Lake county, where the fourth generations of Walkers are still farming.

He attended the Red Lake Falls school and also the Northwest school of Agriculture, at Crookston. On March 26, 1921, he was married at Clearbrook to Hope Jensen. They operated a dairy farm east of Red Lake Falls and a retail dairy delivery service until 1946, when they moved into the city of Red Lake Falls. There he was employed by the Red Lake Falls school system until retiring in 1966.

Mrs. Walker died in 1967 and on Sept. 14, 1968, Walker married Ila Miller at Crookston. She died in 1970.

Walker was a past master of the Masonic lodge at Red Lake Falls and had been a Mason for 46 years.

Surviving are two sons: Donald Walker of Red Lake Falls and Philip of Moorhead, a daughter, Mrs. Allen (Sharon) DuPont of Red Lake Falls, 12 grandchildren, seven great-grandchildren, and one nephew.

He was preceded in death by one sister, Mrs. Grace Jacobson, who resided in Minneapolis.

AVTI To Assist In Special Need

To provide orientation, counseling and guidance to all students with special needs, Miss Patricia Meglich has been named special needs coordinator for the Thief River Falls area vocational-technical institute. She has served as half-time counselor at the AVTI for the past three years, sharing her total time with Lincoln high school.

As special needs coordinator she will work with any student who has a problem in school because of learning ability, physical handicaps, finances, home environment, race or other problems. She will work with other staff members of the school and people in the community, including business and industrial representatives.

Her duties will include working closely with personnel from other agencies who may refer students to the school, such as the division of vocational rehabilitation, comprehensive employment and training program, Minnesota CEP, county social service department, veterans administration and others. She will work on entrance testing, placement of students in the training area best suited for them and provide consultative services with regard to the individual student's needs, problems and potential.

Richard Berry, associate director of the AVTI, said that the school's active recruitment program for students and the expansion proposed for a new addition and more departments will make Miss Meglich's position particularly valuable.

Miss Meglich has a bachelor of science degree from the University of Minnesota at Duluth and a master of science degree from Mankato state college. She served as a counselor security aide at the Minnesota state security hospital at St. Peter for a year prior to becoming a counselor in the Thief River Falls school district.

Her three years of counseling experience here have indicated to her the need for the special needs coordinator position which she has accepted. She is presently at work organizing and preparing materials for implementation of the program.

Savings Bond Sales Are Even With Last Year

Minnesota savings bond purchases have held up very well for the first five months of the year according to figures released by Cliffored C. Sommer, state volunteer savings bond chairman.

Total E bond purchases for the period were $47,069,951. For that same period, H bond sales rose to $1,390,000, up 10 per cent. Combined sales through May rose slightly to $48,459,951, compared with $48,162,686 in 1974, for a net gain of $297,265. E bond purchases for the month were $9,660,421; H bond purchases were $305,000, for a combined total of $9,965,421.

Series E bonds now pay 6 per cent when held to maturity of five years. They are automatically renewable for 10 year periods. Interest earned is completely exempt from Minnesota state income tax and federal income tax may be deferred until such time as the bond is cashed.

Nelson Leads County DHIA In May Production

Jerry Hamre, supervisor of the Pennington county dairy herd improvement association, placed the following herds at the top of the association for May: Gene Nelson—Milk 47.9 pounds, fat 1.89 pounds; Duane Vatsaas—milk 47.2, fat 1.70; Warren and Lowell Hamrick—milk 47.1, fat 1.73.

Herd averages are affected by the number of dry cows in the herd. The amount of milk or butterfat produced is averaged out over all the cows. This gives the farmer a record of the earning power of the herd for the month. There were 36 herds on test in May with a total of 1,516 cows in the Pennington association.

Six cows finished with over 600 pounds butterfat during the testing year in a 305-day or less lactation. Four of the cows belong to Duane Krohn. Their averages were: Milk 17,330 and fat 626; milk 15,010 and fat 625; milk 15,620 and fat 604; and milk 15,870 and fat 623. Two cows belong to Duane Vatsaas. Averages were: Milk 16,980 and fat 635 and milk 19,220 and fat 762.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

I hear with interest that the unemployment is down in Thief River or the report from the employment office is that applications for unemployment are down. I would like to know if that is because some of these people are lucky enough to get a job or is it because their unemployment has been taken away from them by some silly reason or other.

My son spent two years in the army, one of them in Korea which wasn't very enjoyable. He has been all over looking for work. He has been drawing unemployment. He has never received any notice of any kind of job openings from Thief River Falls, however he got an offer of a job from Crookston of a job with $2.34 an hour. He has no car or transportation and we didn't feel he could rent an apartment alone on those wages.

He received another notice from Crookston of a mechanic job for which he did not qualify and also he had no transportation as his brother had gotten work elsewhere. He could not go with his brother to get work as he was scheduled to go to the army reserve the 12th of July for two weeks. However, the employment office not only took away his unemployment but insists he was overpaid four payments for refusal to work.

I always had the understanding that you didn't have to take just any job that comes along unless you qualify for it or it would have to be enough to support you.

They talk about veterans benefits and service officers to help the veteran but I can assure you that is not so. Neither the service officer or the employment service gives a damn if the veteran gets unemployment or a job!

What I can't figure out is why some people draw unemployment for months and get one extension after another. Most of them are married women that have no intentions of taking a job, some have quit a job to have a baby and still they get more extensions but if a veteran doesn't take the first job available he looses his payments.

I have heard other young men who have had the same trouble. I had three boys who had their name in for jobs at the employment office in Thief River Falls. None of them received any information about a job from this office. Fortunately two of them have managed to get jobs on their own. It is quite hard for me to understand why some people are treated different than others by an office that is supposed to be for to help all the people.

Respectfully,
Mrs. Norman Newton
Grygla, Minn.

Robert Salmon Ends Overseas Navy Service

Navy machinist mate fireman apprentice Robert E. Salmon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan M. Salmon of Viking, recently completed an eight-month deployment aboard the nuclear-powered attack aircraft carrier USS Enterprise, homeported at Alameda, Calif.

He and his shipmates participated in various training exercises while deployed to the Pacific and Indian Oceans. They also took part in the evacuation of South Vietnamese refugees, and helped provide disaster relief assistance to the people of Mauritius, an island in the Indian Ocean which had been strock by a cyclone.

Salmon visited Mombasa, Kenya; Singapore and Manila.

A former student of Marshall county high school, Newfolden, he joined the Navy in November 1974

Effie Rodeo Set For July 26-27

As the last weekend in July approaches, the natives of the north country in the Bigfork Valley are gearing up for the annual North Star stampede at Effie. This will be the 20th annual and is Minnesota's largest open contest rodeo.

The rodeo will again feature the five standard events of rodeo—saddle bronc riding, bareback riding, calf roping, steer wrestling and bull riding. There will also be cowgirls barrel racing on the program.

Cowboys competing will pay a $20 entry fee for each event and a $700 purse will be added to the entry fees. Last year's payoff exceeded $2,000 and this year's is expected to set a new record as entries are already coming in from several states. Cowboys will also be competing for a sterling silver trophy buckle awarded the winner of each event by the businessmen of Effie.

Cowboys from twenty states and Canada have competed at Effie in past year.

The action will get underway on July 26 and 27 at 2 p.m. each day rain or shine. There is plenty of free camping and picnicking area on the ranch but campers are reminded to bring their own drinking water as there is no deep well on the North Star ranch.

Bus Pick-Ups For Girl Scout Day Camp Set

Accident Damage Totals $5,400 In City Mishaps

At 10:01 p.m., Helmer Melhouse, TRF, was traveling north on Main av. when he struck a camper pickup owned by Jerold Pollack of South Milwaukee, Wisc., which was parked facing north on the 1100 block of Main. Damages were estimated at $1,000 to the Melhouse vehicle and $1,700 to the camper pickup.

Rodney Sletten of Thief River Falls was backing out of driveway at approximately 3:15 a.m. Sunday when he struck a parked car facing north on State avenue owned by Sheryl Newman of the city, causing estimated damages of $200 to his car and $350 to the Newman vehicle.

At 2:14 p.m. Monday a car driven by Carl Scholin of the city was traveling east on Third st. when James W. Anderson of the city opened the door of his parked vehicle. The Scholin car struck the door and crumpled it. Damages were estimated at $300 to both cars.

In other incidents, Lavern Nabben of the city reported Tuesday, July 1 that his car was taken from the lot at the Covered Wagon and driven across the entrance into a ditch. The time of the report was 12:09 a.m.

It was discovered Wednesday, July 2 that Mark Twain school was entered during the night. Nothing was found missing but doors to the administrative office, principal's office and nurse quarters were pried and damaged. Glass was broken in the door to the front entrance. Total damage was $100.

Mark Lindahl of the city said Thursday that during the night his car was taken from the front of his residence. It was found Monday at 8:30 a.m. behind the Land O'Lakes garage.

Bradley Abrahamson of the city reported on Thursday that some clothing items were taken from him at the Red Carpet apts. swimming pool. Missing were blue jeans, tennis shoes, t-shirt, belt and billfold valued at $30.

Friday, Myrtle Olson of the city told police a rose bush had been taken from her yard and other plants were damaged. Her loss was valued at $8.

Mary Mandt of Oklee reported Monday her purse was taken from a pickup parked on the 300 block of Main av. north. Cash totaling $85 was lost plus the other contents of the purse.

Tuesday, a car reported stolen by Faron Olson July 1 was recovered in Hallock at 2:45 a.m.

The only noticeable damage at the time was a flat tire.

Six automobile accidents causing total estimated damage of $5,400 to vehicles were reported to the Thief River Falls police department within the last week.

At 7:30 p.m. Friday, Maynard D. Wedul of Thief River Falls, driving a motorcycle, and Gary Iverson of the city were travelling east on First street at Tindolph avenue when Wedul stopped to turn left and was struck from behind by Iverson. Damages were estimated at $300 to the motorcycle and $200 to the Iverson car.

In the first of three accidents Saturday, a collision occurred at the intersection of second street and Knight avenue at 1:20 p.m. Arne Halvorson of Detroit, Mich., was driving east on Second st. and Gregory Grimes of Goodridge was traveling south on Knight av. when their cars met. Grimes had stopped at a stop sign and proceeded across the intersection just prior to the accident. Estimated damages were $250 to the Halvorson car and $200 to the Grimes car.

Thomas Gall, TRF, was pulling out of the Eagles lot into Fourth st. and Davis av. at 7:07 p.m. when he met a vehicle driven by James Bass of the city, which was going north on Davis. Damage estimates were $100 to the Gall vehicle and $500 to the Bass car.

Sanitation Tips For Victims Of Floods Given

Minnesota public health officials today outlined several sanitation procedures that Red River Valley residents may use in the wake of recent floods in northwestern Minnesota and eastern North Dakota.

—Basements should be cleaned and disinfected as soon as possible after flood waters recede. (If the surrounding ground is porous and still saturated with water, however, the pumping out and cleaning operations should be delayed to avoid collapse of basement walls from outside pressure.) After silt and debris have been removed, basement walls and floors should be scrubbed with soap and water or, if desired, with a solution of two ounces of laundry bleach to a gallon of water.

—Foods that have been flooded should be destroyed. Commercially canned foods may be salvaged if the labels are removed and the cans are thoroughly washed. Cans should then be disinfected by wiping the entire surface with a solution of one ounce laundry bleach to two gallons of water. Home-canned foods should be handled in the same manner but, in addition, the food should be boiled for 10 minutes before using.

—All drinking water from wells that have been flooded should be boiled until the well and the entire distribution system have been flushed out, disinfected, tested and found to be safe. To disinfect, the well should be pumped until the water is clear, and then a solution of one quart laundry bleach to three gallons of water should be poured into the well. Next, the water should be pumped into tne piping system and allowed to remain there at least overnight. The system can then be pumped and flushed out until the taste and odor of chlorine are no longer apparent.

Forty-eight hours after the chlorinated water has been pumped out, the water may be sampled for bacteriological examination. (If a water softener is included in the water system, it should be disconnected during the disinfection procedure. When the softener is regenerated it should be disinfected by introducing a tablespoon of disinfectant into the regenerating solution before being put back in use.)

For information on the collection of water samples for bacteriological examination, consult your county agent or local municipal officials.

Child Abuse Program Set In September

A one-day program on "Current Concepts in Child Abuse" will be presented by the Sister Kenny institute, Friday, September 19. Speakers will include judge Lindsay Arthur, Hennepin county juvenile court; Martin Coyne, child protection, Hennepin county welfare; Shirley Pierce, Ramsey county mental health center and Margaret C. Silberberg, Ph. D. and Norman E. Silberberg, Ph. D., Sister Kenny institute.

The program will provide an overview of child abuse and present several models which are being used to combat child abuse. A consumer panel will provide views, particularly in terms of the problems of the minority and poor community. Jean Goins, Ph.D., family health, and Wilfred Gurneau, native American family and children's service, will be part of the consumer panel.

The program will be presented at the Northwestern hospital educational building, Chicago Avenue and 26th street in Minneapolis. Registration is $30 for the one-day program. The program is for professional and informed lay persons. For further information or registration, contact Ms. Betty Jenkins, Sister Kenny institute, 1800 Chicago Ave., Minneapolis, Minn. 55404. Phone (612) 871-7331.

SECOND PLACE float award of $50 in the Jaycee Aquacade parade Saturday went to this replica of an ancient Nordic ship by the Sons of Norway.

TO HELP stem the increasing number of traffic violations committed by bicyclists in the city, the Thief River Falls police department has begun a program in which two officers will patrol the streets on bicycles, Ken Froschheiser (second from right), chief of police, announced. Officers Ray Bangston (second from left), and Bill Gusa will at first issue warnings only, but later will begin writing tags. Froshheiser said the most common bike violations are running stop signs and riding on the wrong side of the street. Norris Thune (left) and Stanley Upham (right), of Thune-Upham & Associates, Inc., furnished the two 10-speed bikes.

June Proves To Be Soggy Prelude To Wetter July

Heavy rainfall in June provided area residents a soggy prelude to the torrential downfalls in the first week in July. The total precipitation of 4.61 inches in the Thief River Falls area was well above the five-year average of 2.69 and the 10-year average of 3.78.

However, this amount pales in comparison to some of the totals recorded in past years. In June, 1968, a drenching 8.8 inches of water fell. And in June, 1964 7.79 inches came down.

The most impressive aspect of this June's rainfall was its consistency. Precipitation was recorded on 24 of the month's 30 days. Humidity was high, and it seemed a single day couldn't go by without at lease a brief shower. The most rain in a single day was .75 inch on the fourth, and between the 19th and 23rd 1.90 inches fell.

Except for the rain, the June weather was close to normal. The average high of 72.30 was slightly cooler than the five and 10-year averages but the average low and mean temperature were with a degree or two of these norms. The warmest daily high was 85 on the 29th and the coolest daily low was 38, which was recorded on three dates.

SKI JUMPING was included among the many difficult stunts performed by members of the Prior Lake Water Ski Exhibition at LaFave park Sunday as part of Jaycee Aquacade festivities. In this stunt, two skiers went off the jump while a third maneuvered underneath them so he would be in the center of the formation when they landed. The high, choppy waters on the Red Lake River forced the skiers to wear more protective gear than usual and limited the audacity of some of the stunts.

BSC Writer's Conference Starts July 13

Six nationally acclaimed authors, representing expertise in five literary genre, begin a two week stay at Bemidji state college when the upper midwest writer's conference starts July 13.

The conference, in its seventh year at BSC, attracts noted authors to instruct courses in poetry, fiction, non-fiction, juvenile fiction and film writing.

William Armstrong, whose story "Sounder" became an award winning film, will teach juvenile fiction writing. Armstrong is a four-time literary award winner, and will be making his second appearance at the conference.

Marion Hargrove will groom prospective authors in film writing. The author of "See Here, Private Hargrove," which holds sixth place on the all-time best sellers list, Hargrove authored the motion pictures Cash McCall, Joe Butterly, the Boy's Night Out, Forty Pounds of Trouble, and the Music Man.

Dr. Michael True, a literary critic, essayist and lecturer, will conduct the non-fiction portion of the UNWC program. True is consultant in American literature to "Choice," a national periodical.

Aspiring authors in fiction will have Charles Mohler as their UMWC tutor. Mohler has just completed "The Easiest Room," a novel now in the hands of his publisher, while an earlier work, "The Hill," is being considered by a Hollywood producer as a possible film.

Teaming for the poetry courses will be John F. Nims and Robert Dana. Nims, an internationally famous poet, recently received the Brandeis university creative arts citation in poetry. He will teach advanced poetry.

Dana will teach beginning poetry to conference students. A poet and literary critic, Dana is author of five books and has been published in many national magazines and anthologies.

Elect Trail Man As Treasurer To Beef Board

Minnesota's beef research and promotion board has three new members and three new officers after annual producer balloting supervised by the Minnesota department of agriculture and board reorganization.

Dean Peterson of Truman, representing district 8, is the new vice chairman, succeeding Lauren Carlson of Chokio, district 4, who was defeated in the annual election by William Christensen of Battle Lake, a write-in candidate.

Ralph (Bud) Wishard of Trail, representing district 1, is the new treasurer, replacing Dr. Harvey Peterson of St. Hilaire in the same district, who was unseated by Roger Hulst of Salol.

Dr. Harlan Anderson, a Cokato veterinarian, district 5, is the new secretary, taking over the duties voluntarily relinquished by Tom Arends of Luverne, district 7, one of two incumbents who won the reelection to three-year terms on the 16-member board.

Wayne Weber of Frost, district 8, also won reelection, while Lloyd Rose of Sauk Rapids was a write-in winner in district 5.

Frank Schiefelbein of Kimball, district 5, and Christy Olsen of Blooming Prairie, district 9, were reelected members of the executive board.

Other holdover members of the Minnesota beef research and promotion board are Tom Evenson of Effie, districts 2-3, Dwaine Pattison of Elbow Lake, district 4, Maurice Grogan of Marine-on-the-St. Croix, district 6, Case Vos of Hadley, district 7, Gordon Gabrielson of Luverne, district 7, and Charles Kelly of Houston, district 9.

RE: Projected occupancy-lease of Medical Office Building.

We wish to acknowledge that on June 17, 1975 at a meeting held at Northwestern Hospital the administration of the hospital presented revised occupancy and lease costs figured from schedules dated June 16, 1975. These new proposed lease rates had been calculated by using the actual low bid proposals received at the construction bid opening on June 5, 1975, the actual experience of the hospital for operating costs as of April 30, 1975 and estimated real estate taxes based on $1.25 per square foot of net rentable space.

After considering the revised and projected lease costs and the formula used in developing these proposed lease costs, we wish to advise you that we are still in full support of the project to construct the complete medical office building as designed and presented for the bidding on June 5, 1975 and it is our intent to enter into formal lease contracts with the hospital.

We trust that the facility will be undertaken and contracts awarded as soon as possible.

Very truly yours,

TRF, EGF Battling for Northwest Title

Thief River Falls' impressive 6-4 American Legion baseball win over East Grand Forks Tuesday has put the two ball clubs in a virtual first place tie in the Northwest Legion baseball standings.

While not an awful lot of attention is focused on the Northwest League standings by the general public during the regular season, the final results are extremely important in that they are used as the basis for seeding in the area American Legion Sub District Four tournament.

Tuesday's loss was the first administered to the highly regarded East Grand Forks ball club in league play this summer after five straight wins. A win yesterday would have assured East Side of a first place finish. However, now East Grand Forks stands 5-1 and Thief River Falls has jumped to 4-1.

All other Northwest League ball clubs—Newfolden, Roseau, Warroad, Oslo, Argyle and Warren have at least two losses each.

East Grand Forks plays winless Warroad in its final Northwest League game this week. Thief River Falls must face Newfolden Thursday and Argyle Friday in its final Northwest games. Neither Newfolden of Argyle can be taken lightly, though.

Head coaches Rocky Wilson of Thief River Falls and Dave Hetland of East Grand Forks face a unique dilemma, however, and it might be that neither one of them want to finish first.

As was reported here earlier, Crookston's 1975 Legion baseball program got off to a late start and consequently Crookston did not become a Northwest League member this summer. Crookston will take part in the Sub District Four tournament, but only on an invitational basis that will seed Crookston last in the tournament pairings.

Any sports fans who knows anything, knows a first place team always plays a last place team in the first round of tournament play. Thus, whoever finishes first—Thief River Falls or East Grand Forks—will run into Crookston in the tournament's first round July 21.

"We're certainly not going to try to lose any ball games just to finish second," said Wilson. "We're going to play to win and let the cards fall in place."

A Thief River Falls-East Grand Forks first place tie would be broken by a coin flip. "I wouldn't mind losing that coin flip, though," quipped Wilson.

Thief River Falls played its best game of the year in beating East Grand Forks. Wilson's ball club also played well despite losing a doublehead to Crookston Monday 8-6 and 7-3.

We'll say again, that with some consistency Thief River Falls could be a very big factor in post-season tournament play.

Since Crookston is the ninth team in the eyes of tournament directors, coach Jim Simon's ball club must play the last place Northwest League team in a one-game playoff prior to the start of the Sub District Four tournament to determine the final tournament field.

Bemidji State Hires New Football Coach

Don Turner was named new head football coach at Bemidji State college this week, succeeding Larry Mortier who resigned to join the coaching staff at Western Illinois.

Ralph Anderson of Detroit Lakes commented on the plight of the floundering BSC football program by saying, "I think that all football fans familiar with the situation at Bemidji State college will agree that Don Turner faces one of the most formidable tasks of any college coach in the Northern Intercollegiate Conference."

Bemidji finished the 1974 season in a dismal 2-7 record and there apparently isn't much room of optimism this year following spring practice when a pick-up alumni team defeated the Bemidji State varsity.

Turner's appointment to the Bemidji post came after a number of other highly regarded area coaches had apparently shown little interest in the job, reported Anderson.

Included in the group of coaches who spurned Bemidji offers were Jim Gotta of Moorhead high school, Bruce Melin of St. Cloud Apollo high school and Dick Lawrence of Eveleth high school.

Incidently, Thief River Falls will be facing all three of those high school coaches on the gridiron either this fall or next year. St. Cloud Apollo is on the 1975 Prowler football schedule and Moorhead and Eveleth will both be on the Thief River Falls schedule in 1976 and 1977.

Lawrence, a Bemidji high school graduate and later a member of the University of Minnesota football squad, told sports columnist Cliff Morhan of the Bemidji Pioneer that the only way he would take the Bemidji State job was if he could get a five-year contract. Melin is a former Bemidji State athletic star.

TRF Scores 6-4 Upset Win Over EGF In Legion Play

Thief River Falls recorded its most impressive win of the 1975 American Legion baseball season Tuesday by upsetting highly regarded East Grand Forks 6-4 on the fairgrounds diamond.

The triumph over East Grand Forks lifted the Thief River Falls season record to 9-6. Coach Rocky Wilson's ball club will host Newfolden tomorrow (Thursday) at 8 p.m., travel to Argyle for a 6:30 p.m. game Friday and finish a busy week's schedule by playing Bemidji in a 1 p.m. doubleheader at Red Lake Falls Saturday.

East Grand Forks scored the game's first run Monday when Kevin Hollands walked, stole second and scored on a single by Randy Derreck in the first inning.

Thief River Falls took the lead in the second inning, however, as Duane Gonsorowski reached base on an error, went to second on a passed ball and scored on a double by Terry Sullivan. A two-out single by John Gunderson scored Sullivan with the go-ahead run.

The hosts added another run in the third when winning pitcher Brian Peterson walked and later scored on a base hit by Jeff Tunberg.

Thief River Falls protected its 3-1 lead with sharp defensive play throughout the middle innings before padding its lead with a three-run sixth inning. Lyle Johnson started the inning with a single, moving to second on a sacrifice bunt by Jeff Lindquist and scoring on a base hit by Brad Kosel. A single by Sullivan scored Kosel and an errant pick-off throw by losing pitcher Rick Beck supplied Thief River Falls with its final run.

East Grand Forks came back with three runs of its own in the top of the seventh when two errors on the same play—the only Thief River Falls errors of the ball game—allowed all three runs to score. Base hits by Tim Peach and Mark Rousseau preceded the play on which Hollands hit a ball to the centerfield fence. Peach, Rousseau and Hollands all scored when the Thief River Falls fielder's bobbled the ball.

Only two more regular season games remain on the Thief River Falls schedule after this week's assignments are completed. Thief River Falls will play at East Grand Forks Wed., July 16, and will host Moorhead in a doubleheader here Fri., July 18.

THIEF RIVER FALLS base runner Jeff Lindquist was caught in a run-down between second and third base and was eventually tagged out by East Grand Forks shortstop Tim Spitsberg at third in the first inning of Tuesday night's American Legion baseball game on the fairgrounds diamond. Thief River Falls surprised the highly regarded East Grand Forks ball club 6-4.

EAST GRAND FORKS base runner Bob Weber was tagged out by Thief River Falls third baseman Mitch Dicken as he tried to advance from second to third on a fielder's choice in the second inning of Tuesday night's American Legion baseball game on the fairgrounds diamond. An East Grand Forks base coach apparently agreed with the call on the play as he flipped his thumb in the air to signify an out. Dicken suffered a bruised thigh on the play and had to leave the game won by Thief River Falls 6-4.

Crookston Sweeps TRF 8-6, 7-3 In Legion Doubleheader

Thief River Falls lost both ends of a Monday night American Legion baseball doubleheader at Crookston, dropping the opener 8-6 and losing the nightcap 7-3.

Coach Rocky Wilson's ball club enjoyed early leads in both ball games, but bowed to Crookston rallies each time. The second game was a shortened five-inning affair.

Crookston 8
TRF 6

A five-run outburst in the fifth inning wiped out a 6-2 Thief River Falls lead and carried Crookston to an 8-6 first game victory.

Dan Rasmus stroked a two-run home run to start the Crookston come-back effort in the bottom of the fifth. A walk followed by two errors scored Greg Langehaug to slice the margin to 6-5 and prompted Wilson to replace starting pitcher Jeff Tunberg with Brian Peterson. However, Paul Bakken greeted Peterson with a two-run single for the tying and go-ahead runs.

Crookston tacked on an insurance tally in the sixth on an RBI double by Mike Whalen.

Thief River Falls scored first when Terry Sullivan socked a two-out, two-run first inning double that scored Brad Kosel and Jeff Lindquist who had reached base via a fielder's choice and a walk, respectively.

A single by Rasmus scored a Crookston run in the bottom of the first, but Thief River Falls plated three more runs in the second for a 5-1 lead. Duane Gonsorowski drove in one run with a double. A single by Sullivan scored another run and a Crookston error allowed a third run to score.

Crookston scored a run in the fourth, but Thief River Falls matched the marker in the fifth. A lead-off triple by Kerry Krueger and a fielder's choice play scored the Crookston fourth inning run. Mitch Dicken walked and scored on Peterson's double for the Thief River Falls fifth inning run that mde it a 6-2 ball game.

TRF 3

Thief River Falls scored three runs in the top of the first inning, but again was unable to maintain a lead as Crookston rallied for a 7-3 five-inning second game win.

Back-to-back two-out doubles by Sullivan and Dicken plated the three Thief River Falls first inning runs after an error and a walk had put two runners on base.

Crookston came right back with a pair of first inning runs in the bottom of the frame on a two-out, two-run home run by Greg Langehaug.

Crookston won the game with a four-run second inning. There were only two hits in the outburst, but one of them was a bases loaded double by Rasmus that scored three runs. A sacrifice fly by Dave Simon scored an earlier run in the frame. Four walks set up the Crookston runs.

Crookston finished the game's scoring with a single run in the third on a double by Bakken, an error and another sacrifice fly by Simon.

Solheim Furniture Moves Up In Softball Standings

A major change took place in the Thief River Falls slow pitch softball standings as a result of the league's early week activity that found Solheim Furniture moving into second place in the Major Divison standings ahead of Hamms-Pizza Hut.

Solheim Furniture edged Hartz 8-7 while Hamms-Pizza Hut fell to the first place Arctic Raiders 13-3 in five innings during Tuesday night's action. The runner-up spot in the Major Division is a highly sought position since the second place Major Division team will challenge the first place Commercial Division squad for a post-season state tournament berth in August. The first place Major Division finisher is assured of a state meet spot.

Arctic Power upset Northland Electronics 10-4 and Modern Woodman ripped Hydra-Mac 20-10 in Tuesday's other games while Monday's Commercial Division results found Grain Belt outlasting Popplers 17-16, the Jaycees beat Professional Building 7-1, Furuseth-Nelson Inc. tipped Kat Haus 8-7 and Warehouse Foods dumped Times-KTRF 16-3.

Week's Schedule

Fri., July 11—(1) North. Electronics vs. Modern Woodman; Warehouse Foods vs. Popplers. (2) Solheim Furniture vs. Arctic Raiders; Jaycees vs. Furuseth-Nelson. (3) Hydra-Mac vs. Arctic Power; Pizza Hut vs. Hartz. (4) Kat Haus vs. Professional Building; Times-KTRF vs. Grain Belt.

Raiders 13, Hamms-Pizza Hut 3

Arctic Raiders jumped out to a 7-0 third inning lead enroute to a one-sided 13-3 five-inning win over Hamms-Pizza Hut.

The Raiders finshed with a 16-9 base hit advantage as winning pitcher Brian Nelson helped his own cause with a perfect three for three batting performance and Jim Rogalla picked up three hits in four at-bats. Rogalla and Bill Dicken hit home runs off losing pitcher Roger Ness.

Solheim's 8, Hartz 7

Solheim Furniture batters hit three consecutive home runs in the sixth inning to edge Hartz 8-7.

Tom Williams, Wayne Smith and Del Offerdahl cleared the fences, one right after the other, in the Solheim Furniture sixth inning outburst off losing pitcher Jon Looker.

Hartz battled back with two runs in the seventh, but the rally fell short as John Drury picked up the win.

Power 10, N.E. 4

Arctic Power erased a 3-1 deficit with a seven-run fifth inning to upset Northland Electronics 10-4.

Power pieced together five base hits to go along with three Northland Electronics errors in its fifth inning uprising.

Bruce Johnson starred at the plate for the winners with a perfect four for four performance, collecting a triple, double and two singles while driving in three runs. Power posted a 14-10 base hit edge and Northland Electronics topped the error charts 6-4.

Dennis Bendickson was the game's winning pitcher. Wes Gjovik took the loss.

Woodman 20, Mydra-Mac 10

Modern Woodman handed Hydra-Mac its 13th straight loss in a come-from-behind 20-10 triumph.

Hydra-Mac enjoyed a 10-4 lead after 2½ innings, but Modern Woodman erupted for 12 runs in the bottom of the third to take the lead.

Grain Belt 17, Popplers 16

Bill Poole hit a two-out RBI single in the bottom of the seventh inning to complete Grain Belt's come-from-behind 17-16 win over Popplers.

Popplers recovered from an early 10-4 deficit to take a 16-14 lead in the top of the seventh before falling in its first place bid.

The game was an evenly balanced see-saw affair with Grain Belt posting a slim 21-20 base hit advantage while both teams committed four errors.

Brian Peterson was the game's hitting star as the Grain Belt performer went three for four, hit two home runs and produced seven RBI's. Poole enjoyed a four for five day at the plate while Dave Shetler and Ron Dargus picked up three hits apiece for Popplers. Dargus and Dan Brouse hit Popplers home runs.

Bill Weigelt outlasted Mike Stewart for the pitching decision.

Jaycees 7, Pro. Bldg. 1

Winning pitcher Dave Olin limited Professional Building to just six hits to carry the Jaycees to a 7-1 win.

Ron Leverington, Tim Engelstad, Tom Wang and Cornell Rygh all contributed two hits to the 12-hit Jaycee offense against losing pitcher Tom Nelson.

East Division Ball Clubs Tighten Fast Pitch Race

East Division teams swept their West Division counterparts in Thief River Falls fast pitch softball games played Monday and Tuesday.

Monday's results found Arctic Cat blanking Schmidts 10-0 while Nelson State Farm Insurance shutout Falls Diesel 15-0, Legion edged Pepsi-Cola 6-4 and VFW beat Melvies 11-1 Tuesday.

The four-game sweep once again tightened the East Division standings. VFW maintained its division lead, but the Vets have three losses credited against them while the other three ball clubs have just four losses each.

A pair of crucial East Division games will be played Friday when State Farm tackles VFW at 7:15 p.m. and the Legion squares off against Arctic Cat in the doubleheader nightcap.

East Division

	w	l	pct
VFW	10	3	.769
Arctic Cat	9	4	.692
State Farm	7	4	.636
Legion	7	4	.636

West Division

	w	l	pct
Pepsi-Cola	8	4	.666
Falls Diesel	4	8	.333
Schmidts	3	8	.272
Melvies	0	13	.000

Week's Schedule

Wed., July 9—Melvies vs Pepsi; Falls Diesel vs Schmidts.
Fri., July 11—State Farm vs VFW; Legion vs Arctic Cat.

Schmidts 0

Arctic Cat combined the two-hit pitching of Tom Neibauer with spotty Schmidts defensive play into a 10-0 six-inning win in Monday's doubleheader opener.

Arctic Cat scored the only run it really needed in the first inning when Ron Ostby walked, advanced to second on Bruce Johnson's single and scored when Neibauer helped himself with a base hit to leftfield.

Arctic Cat scored five times in the top of the second inning on just one base hit, capitalizing on five Schmidts errors in the frame. Arctic Cat then added single runs in the third, fourth, fifth and sixth innings to complete the rout.

Schmidts, meanwhile, couldn't solve Neibauer's pitching until the fourth inning when Marshall Vagle spoiled the no-hit bid with a two-out single to centerfield.

State Farm. 15
Falls Diesel 0

Nelson State Farm Insurance duplicated Arctic Cat's first game performance with a one-sided 15-0 shellacking of Falls Diesel in Monday's doubleheader nightcap.

State Farm scored five runs in the third inning to begin the rout as Mark DuChamp, Steve Phillion, Roger Cota and Paul Walker all singled, Tony Johnson walked, Mike Schmitz singled and Tim Engelstad produced a sacrifice fly.

The assault continued in the fourth when State Farm scored 10 times on five base hits and five Falls Diesel errors. The game ended in the fifth inning on the 10-run rule.

DuChamp and Johnson combined to one-hit Falls Diesel. Rex Rugland picked up the only Falls Diesel base hit of the game when he stroked a one-out triple in the bottom of the first.

Legion 6
Pepsi-Cola 4

Legion, still without the services of regular pitcher Mike Drury, won behind Pete Sullivan's hurling in Monday's first game. Sullivan scattered 12 Pepsi-Cola hits as his team won a 6-4 decision.

Pepsi jumped out to a 1-0 second inning lead on a lead-off home run by Vern Lindquist.

Three Pepsi errors and a single by Tom Bendickson scored two Legion runs in the bottom of second, with a sacrifice bunt by Bruce Johnson scoring a third inning Legion run for a 3-1 game.

Pepsi closed to within 3-2 in the fourth on back to back doubles by Dick Harren and Mark Haats.

Legion scored a single run in the fifth and padded its lead with two runs in the sixth. Pepsi rallied for a pair of runs in the seventh, but the rally was cut short when Don Foss lined out to third with the tying run as second base.

Melvies. 1

Winless Melvies turned in one of its best performances of the season, but still fell to East Division leader VFW 11-1.

Erv Melvie was hit by a pitch with the bases loaded in the first inning to give Melvies an early 1-0 lead.

Scott Kleven's RBI single in the bottom of the first tied the game, however, and VFW went ahead with two runs in the second on singles by Bob Lundbohm and Al Erickson and two Melvies errors.

VFW went ahead 4-1 in the fourth and fattened its margin in the fifth on a two-run home run by Wayne Smith and a three-run double by Gary Lavalley.

Smith hits hit second home run of the night in the sixth, a two-run shot, to end the game on the ten-run rule.

TRF Golf League Play Interrupted By Flood Waters

Thief River Falls Country Club golf league teams will enter a delayed fourth week of play with hotly contested races in all three divisions, it was reported by league publicist Bob Ekeren this week.

Although it will be approximately two weeks before the course is expected to be playable again because of the recent rain-caused flooding, three weeks of league activity has already taken place.

"Tom William's Blue Cross, Marv Carlson's Miracle Water and Milt Relereson's First Federal teams are all flexing their low handicap muscles with placement at the top of their division," writes Ekeren.

The division leaders will be pressed by second place Lee Plumbing, Professional Building and KTRF, however, with new USGA handicap rulings going into effect. The new rules will give the higher handicappers a break by recognizing 96 instead of 85 per cent of each golfer's recently scored rounds.

Ekeren also pointed out that "many league golfers were momentarily stunned with the realization that summer playing rules prevail after several decades of winter rule play." However, Jay Moum was apparently not affected by the change since the First Federal golfer fired a hot low gross 35. "The happiest golfer of the week had to be Charlie Ness," reported Ekeren. Ness, golfing for Elaine's, turned in a career low net 29.

Current standings in the three divisions are as follows:

Jones Division—Blue Cross 438, Lee Plumbing and Ekeren Drug 444, Hartz Wholesale 449, Lind 453, Arctic Enterprises 455 and First Northwestern Bank and Bridgeman's 461.

Vardon Division—Miracle Water 435, Professional Building 437, Northern State Bank 440, Elks 455, Larson Music 468, Northland Electronics 470, Sjoberg's 471 and Bjorkman's 472.

Ouimet Division—First Federal 437, KTRF 439, Earl's, Elaine's 468, Simplot Soil Builders 465, Corner Drug 471, Thief River Jobbing 473 and Wemberg's 474.

Lincoln Football Reminders Are Issued By Sims

Lincoln high school head football coach Jimm Sims issued a reminder this week that all boys in grades 9-12 who will be going out for football this fall should soon be receiving physical exmination blanks in the mail.

Boys are asked to call for a doctor's appointment as soon as possible. Parents are asked to read the physical blanks carefully and should sign the forms before the boys are checked. Once the physical exam has taken place, the completed forms should be left at the doctor's office for Sims to pick up himself.

Sims announced that all varsity equipment will be issued Mon., Aug. 11, and all junior varsity gear will be handed out Mon., Aug. 18.

Football practice will start Mon., Aug. 18, for varsity ball players. Thief River Falls will open its 1975 season by traveling to Grand Forks Red River Fri., Aug. 29.

The second annual Thief River Falls Pigskin Preview will be held Sat., Aug. 23.

Metric Signs Go Up At Twelve Highway Sites

To inform motorists about the metric system, destination signs indicating the distance to specific cities in both miles and kilometers have been erected by the highway department at 12 locations throughout the state, state highway commissioner Frank D. Marzitelli said.

Eight additional signs on Twin Cities area highways are of two kinds. The first reads "Think Metric—1 mile equals 1.6 kilometers." The other advises "Think Metric—55 mph equals 88 Km. per hr."

Signs are paid for with state funds.

LEGION SHORTSTOP Tom Bendickson dropped the ball, allowing Pepsi base runner Mark Drury to dive safety back into second base after being caught in a run-down between second and third during the seventh inning of Tuesday night's fast pitch softball game. The Legion outlasted a seventh inning Pepsi rally for a 6-4 win.

Far North Invitational

Fast Pitch Softball Meet Slated Sunday

Thief River Falls fast pitch softball league will host its 13th annual Far North invitational fast pitch softball tournament Sunday.

The 16-team affair is scheduled to get underway with first round games at 9 and 10:30 a.m. on the four Thief River Falls fairgrounds softball diamonds.

First round games in the 9 a.m. bracket will find Thief River Falls VFW playing Roseau Sand and Gravel, Thief River Falls Pepsi-Cola vs. Bemidji O.K. Tires, Thief River Falls Nelson State Farm Insurance vs. either Warroad Northland Tap or Winnipeg and Thief River Falls Legion vs. Fargo M and J Steakhouse.

First round games in the 10:30 a.m. bracket will have Thief River Falls Schmidts facing Fargo Gas Light Ford and Tractor, Thief River Falls Melvies vs. Callaway, Thief River Falls-Falls Diesel vs. Kordel's of Bemidji and Thief River Falls Arctic Cat vs. Smedsrud's of Fergus Falls.

Quarterfinal round games are planned for 12 noon and 1:30 p.m., with semifinals scheduled for about 3 p.m. Championship game time should be about 5 p.m.—depending upon the length of the earlier games.

The tournament was originally scheduled to be held Sun., June 22, but had to be rescheduled because of rain.

Elks Tournament Set Saturday & Sunday

Thief River Falls Elks lodge 1308 will sponsor its seventh annual Elks youth baseball invitational tournament Saturday and Sunday in Thief River Falls.

Eight teams of 13-15 year-old ball players will be taking part in the annual event. First round games are scheduled to be played Saturday, with semifinal and championship round games planned Sunday. Consolation semifinals will be played Saturday and the consolation championship game will be staged Sunday.

First round pairings Saturday will find the Thief River Falls Lions playing Crookston at 8:30 a.m., Bemidji Braves meet East Grand Forks at 10:45 a.m., Thief River Falls Elks face Red Lake Falls at 1 p.m. and the Bemidji Lions tackle Detroit Lakes at 3:15 p.m.

The Thief River Falls Lions-Crookston loser will meet the Bemidji Braves-East Grand Forks loser in a 5:30 p.m. consolation round game Saturday while the Thief River Falls Elks-Red Lake Falls loser plays the Bemidji Lions-Detroit Lakes loser in the 7:45 p.m. consolation game.

Sunday's championship round semifinals will pit the Thief River Falls Lions-Crookston winner against the Bemidji Braves-East Grand Forks winner at 12 noon while the Thief River Falls Elks-Red Lake Falls winner squares off against the Bemidji Lions-Detroit Lakes winner at 2:15 p.m.

The consolation championship game will be played at 4:30 p.m. Sunday, with the championship game planned for a 7 p.m. start Sunday.

Trail Ride Set By Saddle Club

Thief River Falls Saddle club second trail ride of the summer has been scheduled for Saturday.

Members are asked to bring a pack lunch and be at the Pennington county fairgrounds at 1 p.m. Out-standing dues must be paid before members may participate in the trail ride.

nine runs in the fifth inning to complete a 16-3 five-inning rout of Times-KTRF.

Terry Wiczek and Larry Kaiser both hit two-run home runs in the second inning to key a 12-hit Warehouse Foods offense that was further aided by 10 Times-KTRF errors.

Bob Goff was the game's winning pitcher, scattering nine hits. Paul Forsberg took the loss.

Furuseth's 8, Kat Haus 7

Furuseth-Nelson Inc. came up with three two-run innings to edge Kat Haus 8-7.

Rod Stalberger picked up three hits in four at-bats to pace the 14-hit Furuseth-Nelson offense. Kat Haus produced 11 hits, including a seventh inning home run by Howard Hawkinson that narrowed the final margin to one run.

Steve Nordhagen was credited with the pitching win. Russ Delorme was the loser.

First Half Spots Determined In Trap Standings

Final first half season post-season tournament berths were determined Monday in the Thief River Falls Trap League.

Thune-Upham won the league's first half season pennant outright back on Mon., June 30, with the Legion placing second. However, there was a three-way tie for the final two tournament berths offered to the first half season finishers between Johnson's Used Cars, Northern State Bank and the Viking Varmints.

League officials used Monday's regular round scores to determine the tournament berths. Johnson's Used Cars finished as the first half season's third place team on the basis of its 123 score recorded Monday in a 123-115 win over Arctic Cat. Northern State Bank placed fourth and gained the final first half tournament spot by scoring 114 in a 114-111 victory over Thune-Upham. Viking Varmints missed the tournament seeding by shooting only 113, despite beating the Times 113-108.

Thune-Upham, Legion, Johnson's Used Cars and Northern State Bank will join the top four finishers in the league's second half season standings in the post-season tournament. The second half season began Monday.

Card of Thanks

We want to thank everyone who helped us during the flood emergency at our home last week. We wish we could mention each one by name, but in the rush we could not be sure of identifying everyone. The kindness and concern of all will always be remembered.

Thank you and God bless you.

The Huglens

CALL FOR BIDS FOR NUMBER 2 FUEL OIL
Goodridge Public Schools
Goodridge, Minnesota

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the school board of Independent School District Number 561 of Pennington County and Marshall County will meet in the Agriculture classroom of the Goodridge Public School, Goodridge, Minnesota, on Monday, July 14, 1975 at 8:00 P.M. for the purpose of receiving bids on the furnishing of number 2 fuel oil in transport load lots of not less than 6,000 gallons to the oil tanks of the school located at Goodridge, Minnesota during the 1975-1976 heating season.

Transport must be able to use 75 ft. hose if necessary. Loads may be split between 7,000 and 8,000 gallon tanks at different locations.

Bids will show the cost per gallon, include all costs as delivered, and be firm for the heating season. Bids may show variation in price for loads varing from 6,000 to 7,000 gallons.

It is estimated that the school will require not more than 75,000 gallons during the season.

Each bid must be accompanied by a good faith certified or cashier's check for $50.00. The successful bidder must furnish a surity bond for $1,000 to insure faithful performance for his offer.

The school board reserves the right to reject any and all bids, and to waive any informality in any bid.

All bids should be addressed to the Superintendent of Schools of Independent School District Number 561 at Goodridge, Minnesota 56725.

Bonds maturing in 1986 and later years shall be subject to redemption and prepayment at the option of the City on August 1, 1985, and any interest payment date thereafter, in inverse order of serial numbers, at 102 per cent of par plus accrued interest.

Paying Agent

Any suitable bank in the United States designated by the successful bidder within 48 hours after award of sale, subject to approval by the Council. The City will pay the reasonable and customary paying agency charges.

Cusip Numbers

It is anticipated that CUSIP identification numbers will be printed on the bonds, but failure to print them or errors in printing shall not be cause for failure or refusal of the purchaser to accept delivery of and pay for the bonds in accordance with the purchase contract. All expenses related to printing the numbers and the CUSIP Service Bureau charge for assigning them are the responsibility of the purchaser.

Delivery

Within 40 days after award, subject to the unqualified approving legal opinion of Messrs. Dorsey, Marquart, Windhorst, West & Halladay of Minneapolis, Minnesota, and customary closing papers, including a statement of non-litigation. Bond printing and legal opinion will be paid by the issuer. The Bonds will be delivered without cost at St. Paul or Minneapolis, Minnesota, or Chicago, Illinois, or elsewhere at the expense of the purchaser. Payment must be made in Federal Funds, or equivalent immediately available funds, on day of delivery. Legal opinion will be printed on the Bonds.

Type of Bid

Each bid must be for all Bonds at a price of not less than $1,470,000 plus accrued interest to the date of delivery. Bids must be enclosed in an envelope marked "Bid for $1,495,000 Bonds," must be received by the undersigned prior to 2:30 o'clock P.M. on the date stated above, and may not thereafter be withdrawn. Each bid must be unconditional except as to legality, which may be conditioned upon the opinion of the above attorneys, and must be accompanied by a cashier's or certified check or bank draft in the amount of $29,900, payable to the City Treasurer, to be forfeited as liquidated damages in case the bid be accepted and the bidder shall fail to comply therewith. No bid may be altered or withdrawn after the time specified above for opening bids.

Rates

Bids must specify not more than ten rates of interest. All Bonds of the same maturity must bear a single rate from date of issue to maturity. No rate of any maturity may be lower than the highest rate carried by any of the preceding maturities. Additional coupons may not be used. All interest rates shall be expressed in multiples of 1-20 of 1 per cent and no rate nor the net effective rate may exceed 7 per cent per annum.

Award

Award will be made on the basis of lowest net interest cost (total interest on all Bonds from date of issue to stated maturities, less any premium or plus any discount). No oral bid will be considered and the Council reserves the right to reject any and all bids and to waive any informality in any bid.

Dated July 7, 1975.

Little Oak

Mrs. Arnold Haugen, Goodridge

Mr. and Mrs. Lavern Vraa and family of Milwaukee, Wis. are spending a few days visiting relatives in this area.

Callers and visitors at the Jorgen Oftelie home during the week were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Myers and Timmy, Mrs. Jack Kloth of Orlando, Fla., Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hawk and Michelle, Mrs. Gary B. Johnson and Robyn, Mr. and Mrs. Orrin Haugen, Debbie and Keith of Hibbing, Howard Hanson, Raymond Oftelie, Clara Bjerklie, Ricky, Renae and Janell, Rodney Bjerklie, Phyllis Flaagan and Bill Gervais of Minneapolis.

Callers at the Ernest Mostrom home Wednesday forenoon were Mr. and Mrs. Willie Good, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hanson, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Haugen and Mrs. Dave Mugaas of Thief River Falls.

Mrs. Jack Kloth spent a few days with her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Gary B. Johnson near Kratka.

Those who enjoyed a pot luck dinner and supper at the Gary B. Johnson home on July 4 were Mr. and Mrs. Bud Homme, Mishawn and Chad, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burstad and Bruce, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Haugen, Floyd Haugen and Steve and Mr. and Mrs. Gary Johnson, Robyn, Brad and Brian, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hawk and family and Mrs. Jack Kloth, Mr. and Mrs. Orrin Haugen, Keith and Debbie of Hibbing and Curtis Tieman joined them for lunch later in the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Willie Good visited with her mother, Mrs. Knuts Hanson on Tuesday.

Mrs. Jack Kloth of Orlando, Fla. spent the week visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Haugen and other relatives in this area. She left for her home on Monday. Jack spent a few days at the Mayo clinic. Ardith came to attend the golden anniversary for her parents held at the Nazareth church on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hawk and Mrs. Arnold Haugen called at the Clarence Hanson home on Tuesday.

Michael David, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. David Arveson was baptized at the morning services at the Nazareth church on Sunday, July 6. The sponsors were Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Howard. Rev. Behrens officiated the services.

Visitors at the Arnold Haugen home during the week were Mr. and Mrs. Bud Homme, Mishawn and Chad, Mrs. Gary B. Johnson, Robyn and Brian, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burstad and Bruce of Thief River Falls, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Mostrom, Floyd Haugen and Steven of Parkville, Mr. and Mrs. Orrin Haugen, Keith and Debbie of Hibbing.

Mr. and Mrs. Lavern Gangness and boys, Mr. and Mrs. Orrin Haugen and Debbie of Hibbing arrived here Thursday evening to visit at the Henry Sunsdahl home. They all returned home on Sunday. Keith accompanied his parents home. He had spent the week with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Haugen.

Due to the heavy rains farms around here are flooded and the water is running over the roads and driveways. It's really tough for the cattle as the pastures are all under water. We are all wishing for the water to run off quickly so things will get back in order again. Most of the fields are all ruined and also the hay meadows.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Mostrom of Minneapolis are spending a few days at their farm here. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mostrom of Minneapolis have visited in this community for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Haugen received anniversary greetings by long distance from Mrs. Lyle Fair and Mrs. Agnes Arneson of Simi Valley, Calif. Miss Elaine Kloth of Chicago, and Mr. and Mrs. Gary Riffle of Orlando, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bauer and daughters of Durand, Wis. were supper guests at the Henry Burrack home on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Burrack of Arlington, Ia. spent Wednesday with Henry Burrack.

Mrs. Roy Hawk and Mrs. Arnold Haugen were brief callers at the Rev. Behrens and Sidney Strand homes in Oklee Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Ragna Gunderson was also a caller at the Strande home.

Those who called at the Gilmer Oftelie home in Gully Tuesday evening to wish Mrs. Oftelie a happy birthday were Mr. and Mrs. Jorgen Oftelie, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Mostrom, Mrs. Albert Arveson and Mr. and Mrs. Jorgen Bjerklie all of Gonvick.

Lori Bjorgaard Given Lakehead Co. Scholarship

A Newfolden student, Lori Bjorgaard, is among 18 who this year have been awarded scholarships under the higher education awards plan of Lakehead Pipe Line company, Inc. The plan, established in 1965, provides scholarships for children of company employees who have displayed a high degree of scholastic ability.

Lori is the daughter of D. H. Bjorgaard, a mechanic at Lakehead's Viking pumping station. She plans to enter a secretarial program at the University of Minnesota technical college, Crookston.

A Clearbrook student, and others located in Wisconsin, Michigan and Indiana will receive the award for a maximum of four years providing they maintain a satisfactory scholastic record.

This year's recipients bring to 51 the number of company children being sponsored in courses of higher learning by Lakehead. Selection of the awardees is made by an independent committee of college faculty members.

The firm also sponsors a plan of assistance for students not connected with the company, which this year will provide $39,000 to seven mid-west colleges and five college foundations. Included are the University of North Dakota, University of Minnesota, Bemidji state college and the Minnesota private college fund.

UND Enrollment For Summer Up From Last Year

Final summer enrollment at the University of North Dakota is 2,857, an increase of 189, or 7.1 per cent, from last year's total, according to Milford Ulven, UND director of admissions and records.

Ulven said the total included an increase of 132 students enrolled in regular summer session which began June 16 and an increase of 57 students participating in two special UND programs that took place during the four-week interim period after the spring semester.

The special programs included "Study Abroad," in which 45 students earned credits while traveling in Europe under UND supervision, and the "Minimester," in which 106 students spent the month on campus enrolled in highly concentrated courses.

Dr. John Penn, UND summer sessions director, said the stability of the University's summer enrollment when compared to that of similar institutions nationwide "has been most encouraging." He noted enrollment during the regular on-campus session has not fluctuated by more than 122 students since 1970 from the six-year average of 2,683. This summer's regular enrollment is 2,706.

Penn also pointed out that efforts to refer UND's 1975-77 biennial budget apparently had little effect on summer school enrollment. Some officials had earlier expressed concern that uncertainty over UND's state funding might discourage students from enrolling.

Military Units Move To Camp This Saturday

Minnesota motorists planning travel within the state on Saturday, July 12, were requested today by the Minnesota state patrol to allow extra travel time for their journey as over 1,000 military vehicles will be travelling in convoys toward Camp Ripley near Little Falls.

Seventeen separate convoys varying in size from 30 to over 100 vehicles each will be using a variety of state roads throughout the day bringing men and equipment to the camp from communities in Minnesota as well as outstate units from Wisconsin and Iowa.

The convoys are timed to arrive at Ripley at intervals throughout the day, and thus traffic on TH 10 and trunk highways 25, 371 and 115 in Little Falls and the surrounding area will be experiencing heavier than normal traffic most of the day.

The interstate system, I35, 94, 494 and 694, will handle a good number of the vehicles approaching from Iowa and the southern part of the state, with I94 and TH 10 carrying the convoys out from the Twin Cities Metropolitan area to the north.

Many other state trunk highways and county roads will be used by various units during the day, but with only minor delays to be anticipated.

Military police will be stationed at key intersections and traffic control points on routes used by the convoys to insure that delays will be held at a minimum and that traffic continues to move smothly.

Oakland Park Board To Meet

Oakland Park nursing home executive board meeting will be held on Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the home.

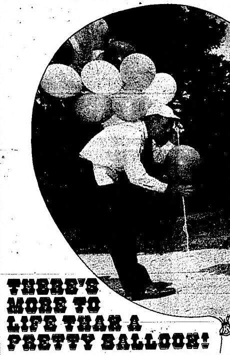
Safety Is YOUR Business



THERE'S MORE TO LIFE THAN A PRETTY BALLOON!

A bouncy red or yellow balloon is the symbol the world over of good fun and happy feelings.

There's rarely a festival, a fiesta, or a fair held anywhere without the familiar balloon vendor strolling through the crowd, selling happiness for a few pennies. Parents buy them for their kids and young men present them with a flourish to their girl friends.

Just why a balloon is so much fun isn't clear, but one thing is certain—the pleasure never lasts. The air leaks out, balloons unexpectedly pop, careless fingers send them soaring away forever.

But there is a far greater pleasure to be found that will last for an eternity. It is the happy pursuit of a Christian life and you can find out all about it this Sunday — in church.

Trees And Tree Shelter Belts Need Care Too

"Between cultivating field crops and haying operations, farmers should remember that trees and tree shelter belts need attention, too, and especially this year," Agriculture Commissioner Jon Wefald advised today.

"Tree conservation and tree shelter belts are very important for rural Minnesota and rural America, and their quality of life."

Pointing out that the most successful planting season for trees is past this year, Commissioner Wefald said that now is the time to plan replacement and new plantings for the early spring of 1976—normally before agricultural field operations can be started. He added that nurserymen recommend that the ground be prepared this fall for tree planting next spring.

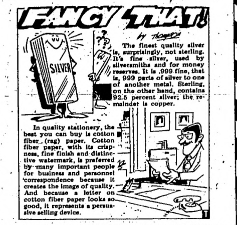
There are many reasons why farmers should emphasize tree plantings and tree shelter belts:

For example, an effective tree windbreak can reduce winter heating costs up to 30 per cent. The fact is farmstead windbreaks help energy conservation.

Trees and shrubs also serve as a major control for soil erosion when planted in effective windbreaks. The same windbreaks also help prevent building damage, provide shelter for livestock and help spread an even snow cover over the cropland—providing a retention of reserve moisture that is otherwise lost.

Farmstead windbreaks and tree shelter belts, moreover, provide valuable and vital habitat for desirable wildlife.'

"In short, more trees and more tree shelter belts are good for farmers and Minnesota. Trees save soil and water that help produce essential food; they help conserve our critically short and increasingly expensive energy resources; they provide habitat for desirable wildlife that can help control food crop pests. Trees help heat our homes in winter and trap more of the early spring sun energy; trees shade and help cool our homes in the hot summer months; trees protect our homes, livestock and sheltered crops from wind damage; trees enhance the value of any property; and threes continue to be an important natural resource for hundreds of consumer necessities—lumber, rosin, turpentine, pitch, paper, rayon, alcohol, nuts, fruits, medicinal product," Commissioner Wefald summarized.



The finest quality silver is, surprisingly, not sterling. It's fine silver, used by silversmiths and for money reserves. It is .999 fine, that is, 999 parts of silver to one of another metal. Sterling, on the other hand, contains 92.5 percent silver; the remainder is copper.

In quality stationery, the best you can buy is cotton fiber (rag) paper. Cotton fiber paper, with its crispness, fine finish and distinctive watermark, is preferred by many important people for business and personnel correspondence because it creates the image of quality. And because a letter on cotton fiber paper looks so good, it represents a persuasive selling device.

Home Sewing Work Available

Oklee Surplus, Inc., at Oklee, Minnesota has cut parts ready for sewing, on hand for more than 3,000 pairs of snomobile mitts. Mitt manufacturing consists of three stages: (a) sew outershell parts together and turn, (b) sew lining parts together (c) position lining into the outershell, serge and hem at top of cuff.

Home sewing operators are scheduled only for outershell or lining, with the third step done on factory machines. Home workers pay pick up cartons containing parts for 40 to 60 pairs, depending on the size. Rates applicable are: Sew outershell and turn—34 cents, sew lining—25 cents, thread furnished by the sewer. Experienced home workers report average earnings in the $2.25 to $3.00 bracket for their efforts.

All work is payable in trade for goods sold at the store. No cash is available because that opens up many regulations which would make home work all but impossible. Home sewers may select merchandise on hand and have it put on lay-away without any cost, pending delivery of their work.

Clerks are on duty Monday thru Friday, from 9:00 to 5:00 working on mitts, part time in the front of the store. They can show those who are interested, how to gain time by shortcuts that will get more work out in less time. Oklee Surplus, Inc., is also open from 9:00 to 5:00 Saturdays and 12:00 to 5:00 Sundays.

THE VOICE of BUSINESS

by Richard L. Lesher, President
U.S. Chamber of Commerce

Fed up with the armchair quarterbacking of other economists, Federal Reserve board chairman Arthur Burns dryly explained to a Senate committee: "I know a little about the past and I know next to nothing about the future—in contrast with some other members of my profession."

Indeed, many economists will admit to having been caught with their parameters down by the recent behavior of our economy. And therein lies one of the most telling objections to the recurrently fashionable concept of national economic planning: We just aren't good enough to avoid botching the job.

Nevertheless, emboldened by the underwhelming success of our 1971-74 wage-price controls, and our 1973-present fuel allocation farce, a diehard band of economic liberals in trying to drag us all one giant step backward into the future.

The vehicle for this bad trip is "The Balanced Growth and Economic Planning Act of 1975," a bill to create a federal Economic Planning board. The board would draw up a national economic master plan, with the object of attaining "full employment, price stability, balanced economic growth, an equitable distribution of income, the efficient utilization of both private and public resources, balanced regional and urban development, stable international relations" . . . etc., etc.

Could the board attain its ambitious goals? I don't think so. The reasons are many, but let me present three of the best:

First, central economic planning is incompatible with our political system. Economic planning is not "scientific," it is highly political. Questions of income distribution, or the tradeoffs between jobs and inflation, or between inflation and environmental protection, for example, are not susceptible to scientific solution. Science can clarify the choices, but each individual citizen will make those choices based on his own values. Identifiying the changing consensus of such values and altering public policy accordingly is the essense of democratic politics.

In other words, in a democracy, people must retain the right to change their minds. And it's a pretty safe bet that they will exercise that right. But a planning agency that cannot make its long-range plans stick would not represent any gain over our present methods of doing business.

It can be (and is) argued that such an agency would be only "advisory." However, we already have a multitude of economic policy advisory groups—and the fact that they seldom agree is one of the best reasons in the world for not elevating one above the others.

Second, central economic planning would inhibit economic progress. Many of science's greatest discoveries—such as penicillin and vulcanized rubber—were the result of fortuitous accidents, not a planned search. And so it is with the operation of the free market. The market constantly identifies and brings forth the means to serve needs that have not even been recognized at the national policy level.

The market also responds to what people really want, rather than to what they feel obligated to say they want. When official government policy ignores that important distinction, black markets develop—even in totalitarian states.

Third, when an individual company makes a mistake, the effects of that mistake are relatively limited. But when the national government makes a mistake, it is universal in scope. Therefore, it is entirely possible—even likely, I'd say—that a central economic planning agency would magnify the swings in the business cycle, rather than moderate them.

Congress would be well advised to wait to evaluate its own experience with the new-born Congressional budget office (creation of which was supported by the national chamber) before venturing into deeper economic control waters, in an overloaded boat.

Ironically, it was a co-sponsor of the planning act, Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.), who cautioned an economic policy conference held early this year about the fallibility of government. "Congress," he said, "can't even run the Senate restaurant."

Now that the Bicentennial celebration is underway, you may be wondering what your part in it may be.

In a sense, every American will participate. The people are the nation, so each person will actually be a sponsor, a participant and a guest. Almost everybody will want to participate in some way but there are so many things planned that it may be difficult to choose just what you'd like to do.

The problem is particularly difficult for businesses, which are being asked to contribute money, time and effort to all sorts of projects.

It's undoubtedly true that some businesses might commercialize on the Bicentennial spirit. That's unfortunate, but they will probably represent a small minority.

Most businesses want to contribute something worthwhile to their communities and the national Bicentennial spirit. A reflection of that willingness is typified in "A Bicentennial Declaration" being sponsored by the executives of a good many large companies as well as leaders of civic and other organizations.

It was sparked by John D. Rockefeller III, Chairman of the National Committee for the Bicentennial Era, and says in part:

"There is high inspiration to be found in the great ideals that created our country. The phrases that have been worn smooth by use have fresh and urgent meaning for us today—'government by consent of the governed,' 'the blessings of liberty,' 'all men are created equal,' 'a nation of laws.'

"The Bicentennial can and must become a time to celebrate those ideals, and to celebrate them in the profound sense of renewal and rededication . . .

"Our great experiment in democracy will surely erode unless the Bicentennial Era becomes a time when we once again assert the primacy of individual initiative in moving our country forward.

"Governmental units at all levels must play a vigorous part. But the primary responsibility lies with the people, not with government. Let each of us, acting alone and in groups, take our own initiatives."

State and local chambers of commerce, as well as trade and professional associations, are deeply involved in Bicentennial projects. Some—the California Chamber of Commerce, for example—have suggested criteria businesses might use in supporting Bicentennial projects.

Among other things the California Chamber recommends that business consider:

(1) Does the project have long-lasting qualities; (2) Will it be of interest or benefit to the greatest percentage of population, and (3) Are the goals of the project financially sound.

You can contrast those goals and criteria with those of an organization which calls itself the Peoples Bicentennial Commission. Some of the language about honoring our ideals is similar, but the message is quite different. For example the P.B.C. publication "Common Sense" carries this message:

"A new monarchy has grown up in America.

"Today's royalists—America's giant corporations—make King George look like a petty tyrant.

"Their massive power pervades every aspect of American life—from the aisles of the supermarket to the halls of Congress . . .

"It's time to challenge the stranglehold that the corporate monarchs exert over the life of our country."

P.B.C. says "We're planning a birthday party this country will not forget. A second American Revolution for our country's 200th Anniversary." The goal of that revolution is to destroy the corporations P.B.C. considers the "new monarchy."

Considering the standard of living our economic system has provided for all of us, it's difficult to understand how anyone, particularly businesses, could possibly support a philosophy like that.

Duilio Del Prete, Cybill Shepherd, Burt Reynolds and Madeline Kahn star in the musical comedy "At Long Last Love" starting Sunday, July 13 at the Galaxy Twin Theatre. Sixteen Cole Porter tunes are featured in the release.

Twenty-four carat—Goldie Hawn is co-starred in "Shampoo," a contemporary romantic comedy-drama in which Warren Beatty portrays a hedonistic bachelor and hairdresser. Playmate—Julie Christie co-stars with Warren Beatty, who portrays a swinging California hairdresser and she is one of his favored patrons in "Shampoo." Opening July 9 for two weeks at the Falls Twin Theatre downtown.

Set Cheerleader Institute At BSC July 27-31

Cheerleaders and advisors from high schools throughout Minnesota are invited to enroll in the eighth annual cheerleading institute July 27-31 held in conjunction with the Bemidji state college summer music camp.

Faculty from the international cheerleading foundation, Kansas City, Missouri, will provide instruction in this special portion of the music camp.

Four days of concentrated study in new trends, routines, pom pom instruction, popular cheers, and skit ideas will be presented by the faculty of the institute.

A daily schedule for participants includes cheerleading instruction, tumbling, calisthenics, pep rally planning, mass cheers, and small group work.

The cheerleading institute will be run from Sunday night through noon July 31, with cost for tuition, room and board set at $53. The advisor of any school sending five students can attend all the sessions at no cost, but will have to make their own room and board arrangements.

The Bemidji state college summer music camp, in its 28th year, will be held on the BSC campus in two one-week sessions beginning July 27 with instruction in choirs, bands, orchestras, piano, wind-ensemble, and other musical forms.

More information on the cheerleading portion of the camp, or on the camp itself, may be obtained by contacting Dr. Theodore Thorson, camp director, Bemidji state college, Bemidji, MN 56601, 218-755-2916. Registration prior to July 10 is encouraged to insure placement in the desired program.

Thought For The Day

It is becoming increasingly difficult, as the years pass by and the historical fact of the cross recedes further into the background, to bore through the pageantry, the festivities, and the other non-essentials, to find the kernel—the basic essence—of the Christian faith.

—Rev. Berton R. Hushagen
Trinity Lutheran Church

Water, Water Everywhere . . .

What a helpless and hopeless feeling must be experienced by a farmer who watches flood waters spread across his land, wiping out his investment in seed and cultivation and robbing him of the income which a potential bumper crop would have provided. Many are the area farmers who find themselves in that situation today.

In the limited time which we have available for on-the-spot news coverage, we viewed area flooding from the ground and the air last Wednesday afternoon and Thursday morning. To see rows of lush, green healthy grain disappear under muddy flood waters was truly a sickening sight.

There probably are few people in the area who have access to an automobile who have not viewed at least part of the flood area. And while a ground view may be impressive in some areas, it is difficult to comprehend the magnitude of the problem until viewing the scene from the air. We thank pilot Ed Anderson for the use of his airplane and flying skills to permit the aerial photo coverage which appeared in our Monday issue.

We flew northeast to the Goodridge area and then east to view the territory south of Grygla. After returning over the Mavie territory where the expanse of flooding was unbelievable, we flew on to the Radium area in south-central Marshall county. There the Snake river was swollen well out of its banks and a number of farmsteads looked isolated.

Water depth is impossible to estimate from the air, unless there is a flooded building or automobile to use as a basis for judgment. But in our very flat country here, water needn't be at all deep to cover fantastic numbers of acres. Furthermore, water depth need not be great to destroy crops, including hay.

We are sure the loss is more sharply felt this year because of the excellent appearance of crops in a wide area. Nearly every farmer we talked to commented that the crops looked even better than the bumper crop year of 1973. Now, for many farmers who could well have used a financial boost, there will be economic chaos.

Surely, the farmers' loss will be felt in the business communities of the area as well as on the farm, but to a lesser degree. Lenders will be compelled to extend credit for another year to recover what cannot be repaid this year. Farmers who continue to reside in the area must continue to provide for their families. The businessman does not know whether the dollar a farmer spends in his business place is earned or borrowed, although the farmer will not have as many of them to spend.

We attended a meeting Monday afternoon which was designed to formulate an organized program for presentation to Congress. Object was to provide Congress with a request which had unified support and which would help to solve some of the many problems which flooded farmers will have. The thought seemed to be that a sympathetic Congress, moved by the emotion of the moment, would be willing to soothe the hurt by pouring money on it.

The idea is likely well founded. Congress is much more likely to be generous in its attention to the problem while it exists or is still fresh in the minds of its members. We do hope, however, that the committee formed to make the request is reasonable in its expectations.

We would not minimize the hardship experienced by flooded farmers one bit, but we believe it must be recognized that risk of loss due to natural causes is one of the built-in hazards of the farming business. It is no greater loss to an individual farmer to be flooded out than to be hailed out or lose a crop to drought. Only the scope of the disaster is different.

Broadened use of existing programs should be made available to help in this crisis and those existing programs should be funded so that they can be operational. Hardship cases should be determined on an individual basis. Those people who believe they can capitalize on the hardship of their neighbors through a federal handout should put their hand back in their pocket.

Hitchhiker or Driver?

We recently came across an item on membership participation. While it probably doesn't apply to you, we suggest it does make a valid point:

"Are you a hitchhiker? With his thumb, a hitchhiker says, 'You furnish the gas, car, attend to the repairs, and upkeep, supply the insurance and I'll ride with you, but if you have an accident, I'll sue you for damages.'

"It sounds pretty one-sided, but one wonders how many hitchhikers there are in many organizations, and even churches. Many members seem to say, 'You go to the meetings, serve on boards and committees, do the paper work, study the issues, contact the legislators and take care of all the things that need doing and I'll just go along for the ride. If things don't suit my fancy, I'll complain, criticize and probably get out and hitchhike to another group.

Hitchhiker or driver?
Which kind of a member are you?

Bicentennial Look-Back

From time to time during the American Revolution Bicentennial observance we will be publishing items relative to interesting historical events. The following is one of those items:

On July 4 this nation will celebrate its 200th birthday. But one of the lessons that made this nation took place on June 17, 1775, at Bunker Hill. That's where the Americans lost the battle but learned that they might win the war.

Before the shooting began that morning the rebels looked down on Boston without any assurance that the cause they were fighting for would ever live through another day, let alone another 200 years. As they looked across the slope and a short stretch of Boston harbor itself, they could see a city entirely ruled by redcoats.

The Americans had been on the hilltop since midnight; digging trenches and earthwork defenses. When the British had occupied Boston, they strangely failed to take over two ideal artillery positions that overlooked the city. To the south was Dorchester Heights and to the north was Charlestown Heights. The ridges included a couple of summits named after local land owning families—Breed's Hill was 75 feet high and Bunker's Hill was 110 feet.

When the Americans first heard the British were going to fortify the heights they decided to beat them to it. First they planned to dig in atop Bunker's Hill, but then moved to Breed's Hill, lower, but 660 feet closer to British shipping and Boston targets.

Without uniforms, armed with fowling pieces from their farms and with captured muskets, and only a half pound of powder in their powder horns, the Yankee waited for the British response. It came about 2:30 p.m. as they saw the King's Regulars start up the hill—a fearsome line of bayonets as musket muzzles. The Americans were dug in, lying low, crouched behind barricades.

William Prescott, citizen turned colonel, was in command. It was at this point that he supposedly got off one of history's most memorable lines: Don't fire until you see the whites of their eyes!

In the 1st volley Yankee musket balls scythed into the regulars who waivered and fell back. In 15 minutes they had regrouped and were climbing back. Another volley followed and the British fell back again.

Reinforced, the British attacked a third time. This time they met only scattered firing. The Americans had run out of powder and were withdrawing to Bunker Hill and then beyond. Most were safely out of range as the British took the high ground.

The Battle cost the Americans 140 killed and 271 wounded. But in defeat they learned for the first time the British were not invincible. The Redcoaats losses were placed at 226 dead and 828 wounded.

Some of the Americans were there again a half century later, June 17, 1825, when the cornerstone was laid for today's Bunker Hill Monument. Daniel Webster, the orator, said he "hoped the country itself would become a vast and splendid monument, not of oppression and terror, but of wisdom, of peace and of liberty."

But a verbal monument of sorts to the battle and to the Americans' cause had come from their new commander in chief, George Washington, shortly after the Bunker Hill defeat.

Washington in being told of the defeat asked, "Did the militia fight?"

Told that they did he then predicted, "Then the liberties of the country are saved!"

Borrowed Nonsense

My wife had a nightmare and woke me with her screaming. When I asked why, she told me she had dreamed that she was at a husband auction and that one man had brought $100,000. Others had gone for 75,000, 50,000 and 25,000. "What were husbands like me bringing?", I asked. "That's what made me scream," she cried. "They had them tied in bunches and were selling them for 10 bucks."

Discretion is forgiving those enemies you can't lick.

Today, a year and a half after the Supplemental Security Income program replaced the old program of Aid to the Aged, Blind and Disabled, only four million of an estimated seven million eligible persons are included in the program. In our own state of Minnesota only 40,000 of an estimated 120,000 potential beneficiaries are enrolled, and many of those left out are disabled children whose parents are unaware of the program.

In order to assure a full-hearted effort to locate the impoverished elderly and disabled citizens who are eligible for SSI benefits, Representative Don Fraser of the Fifth District and I have introduced legislation that would require the Secretary of HEW to try harder to locate the estimated three million citizens who are eligible for benefits, but not receiving them.

The bill would require redoubled efforts by the Secretary of HEW, through the media and through contact with state and local government and private groups, to locate persons eligible for SSI.

In an attempt to improve SSI, Representative Fraser and I have also both introduced legislation that would require states to "pass through" federal cost-of-living increases in SSI to the beneficiaries of the program.

Federal payments for the aged, blind and disabled automatically increased eight per cent, or $11, on June 30. But, often states have chosen to withhold the benefits from eligible recipients, and in effect to retain all, or part of, the federal increase in state treasuries.

While we sympathize with the financial plight of many states, failure to pass through federal cost-of-living benefits will work tragic hardship on hundreds of thousands of impoverished elderly and disabled Americans. Inflation will further reduce their living standards, and many will lose medicaid benefits.

Our bill, by requiring the states to pass the federal cost-of-living increase through to SSI beneficiaries, would provide a measure of justice to the elderly and disabled poor, without requiring additional expenditures of state funds.

We hope Congress will stand behind us in this attempt to improve this very important program on which millions of citizens rely for minimum levels of income support.

notes from the governor

Wendell R. Anderson

For the third summer in a row, my office is sponsoring an American Legion Girls' State and a Boys' State intern, who work in State government for the summer.

Each year the American Legion selects the outstanding participant in each program. They spend the following summer as interns in the Governor's Office.

This year our interns are Andrea M. Wellman of Hampton and Douglas R. Peterson of Mankato. I have asked them to comment on their experiences with the program.

Andrea: "Learning at Girls' State is done through participation, and no girl is left out. By campaigning, voting and filling public office herself, each girl gets a better understanding of how the State works for the people and how important it is to have a good government.

"Yet Girls' State is more than a time to learn about government. It is also a time to meet people and make friends, to learn how to be close and share fun times with people you do not really know. Girls' State is a time to open up and meet yourself, to find out what you and this state you live in are all about."

Doug: "I found Boys' State to be extremely worthwhile—not because it is a program that tells you how government works, but because it allows you to take part in the political process and find out for yourself. And that process allowed me to view firsthand the inner workings of a complex decision-making network, reaching from local government through the federal level.

"Though my contact with the Boys' State program was limited to a few weeks, it will continue to influence my future and my outlook on life for years to come. Because in addition to offering a unique opportunity to examine the machinery of government, it allows thousands of outstanding young men to share their thoughts and feelings on everything from local polotics to life itself.

"If I learned anything from my contact with Boys' Staters and their program, it is that true success is achieved when we care enough about the welfare of others to become involved."

Later this summer, when Andrea and Doug finish their internships, I will ask them to comment again—on their experience in state government.

Harold Halvorson was bus driver for a group of Arctic distributors from various areas of the United States from Monday to Thursday the past week. They first toured the local plant and next the plant at Karlstad. From there they drove to Mylie's resort, Morson, Ont., Can. where they enjoyed fishing. They also spent a day at Lowell Swenson's cabin on an island in the area: Some from the group left for home by plane from International Falls. On account of a washout in the road on the Red Lake route it was necessary to go by way of Bemidji to return to Thief River Falls.

House guests at the Otto and Melvin Saugen home from Tuesday to Monday were their brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. William Ketel from Royal Oak, Mich. Saturday the Saugen brothers and their guests spent the afternoon and evening at the Charles and Wendell Sorenson home in Norden. Other guests there were Mr. and Mrs. Luke Maidment of Minneapolis. Fourth of July the Saugens and Ketels visited at the Martin and Ingval Saugen home at Newfolden.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Solem were Tuesday dinner guests at the Kenneth Brandt home at Roseau.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Gustafson, Stacy, Susan and Tony, and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ose, Tommy and Jennifer spent the weekend at a cabin resort in the Park Rapids area. Sunday they attended the water carnival in Bemidji. Leslie Ose is a member of the TR-Finettes that performed in Bemidji Sunday on their way home from a 10-day trip to Chicago.

Barbara Rondorf and two friends, Elaine Henjum and Debbie Lundsten all from Bemidji spent the weekend at the LaVerne Rondorf home.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Solem were Wednesday evening visitors at the Magnus Bakke home of Newfolden.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Larson, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Rausch, Mr. and Mrs. Terry Lubitz and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Halvorson spent from Thursday to Sunday at Mylie's resort, Morson, Ont., Can. They reported the weather was very warm and fishing not so good, but all had a good time.

Sunday afternoon visitors at the Lida Muzzy home were Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Meyer, and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Stroberg.

Word was received last week of the death Saturday, June 28, of Roger Anderson, husband to the former Joyce Rux a resident of our community several years ago. Besides his wife he is survived by two children between the ages of 9 and 12. Funeral services were held Wednesday, July 2. The Andersons live in Richfield, Minn.

Mrs. Margaret Pederson entertained for lunch Wednesday afternoon Thora Skomedal, Mrs. Addie Johnson, Mrs. Emma Pederson of Oklee, Mr. and Mrs. Ole Bergland and Penny Jorde.

Friday forenoon luncheon guests at the Alfred Solem home were Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Rustebakke of Scobey, Mont. The Rustebakkes lived years ago where the Robert Rausch family now reside.

STEINER . . .

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Malberg were Sunday evening supper guests at the home of Mrs. Stella Sands at Alvarado.

Forestry Aid Made Available To Landowners

Small landowners in 41 counties, comprising most of forested Minnesota, are eligible to apply for participation in the "forestry incentives program" and receive financial assistance to grow trees on their property, according to the department of natural resources.

The forestry incentives program (FIP), sponsored by the U.S. department of agriculture's agricultural stabilization and conservation services and the Minnesota department of natural resources, provides federal cost-sharing payments for tree planting, site preparation and timber stand improvement.

The program will provide federal payments or cost-shares to small landowners with not more than 500 acres of forest land. The expense to the owner is only about 25 per cent of the total cost involved.

Earl J. Adams, director of forestry for DNR, said that "assistance is based on the fact that small owners do not have the funds, or technical know-how, to make long-term tree farm investments." Adams pointed out that "forest practices, like tree planting, benefit the state and nation, but bring little return to the owner during his lifetime."

Landowners may sign up at the ASCS office in the county where their holdings are located, and applications will be reviewed by the ASCS county committee to determine eligibility.

DNR foresters will examine the property with the owner, design a plan for continuous management, prescribe forestry practices to carry out the plan, and provide follow-up assistance as needed, Adams said.

Small landowners in the following counties are eligible to apply for the forestry incentives program:

Aitkin, Becker, Beltrami, Blue Earth, Brown, Carlton, Cass, Clearwater, Cook, Crow Wing, Douglas, Faribault, Fillmore, Goodhue, Houston and Hubbard;

Also, Isanti, Itasca, Kanabec, Koochiching, Lake, Lake of the Woods, LeSueur, Mahnomen, Marshall, Mille Lacs, Morrison, Nicollet, Olmsted, Pope, East Ottertail, Pine, Rice, Roseau, Sibley, Stearnes, St. Louis, Todd, Wabasha, Wadena and Winona.

Lose Up To 10 lbs. In 10 Days

New Grapefruit Diet 'Pill' Gives Fast Weight Loss

PHOENIX (Special) — An amazing new improved version of the popular grapefruit diet has recently been developed featuring the use of a "grapefruit pill" that enables overweight people to easily and quickly become slim, trim and attractive "while eating almost as much as you want."

The new chewable (candy-like) grapefruit pill puts an end to the inconvenient mess, fuss and high cost of eating half a grapefruit at every meal. Happy testimonials from people all across the country claim "you save time and money while achieving more effective weight loss results with this new diet plan."

Lose up to a Pound a Day

Those who follow this simple diet plan report an average loss of up to a pound a day and even more without strenuous exercise or starvation.

Fortified with vitamin E and C, the new whole grapefruit extract pill and foods as prescribed by the diet will, through natural action, act to help your body release excess fat and body fluids, allowing you to keep your weight down and figure in firm control.

Eat All You Want

Best of all, you can still eat almost as much as you want of the "forbidden foods" like steak, lobster, chicken, fish, some sauces, gravies, bacon, eggs, and still lose weight.

Diet Now Available

To get a copy of this highly successful diet and grapefruit pills, send $5 for 10 day supply (or $8 for 20 day supply or $10 for 30 days supply) cash, check, or Money Order to: CITRUS FARMS LTD, Dept.D35, 4040 E. For an elegant garden party try the following recipe for delicious brandied peach punch and dainty chocolate cupcakes.

Brandied Peach Punch

2 16-oz. cans sliced peaches packed in natural juices or
2 12-oz. cans peach nectar
6 tablespoons Nestea
½ cup firmly packed brown sugar
4 12-oz. bottles ginger ale, chilled
1 cup brandy

In blender container, combine half peaches or peach nectar, Nestea and brown sugar; blend at high speed until smooth. Pour into 4-qt. punch bowl. Repeat with remaining half of ingredients except ginger ale and brandy. Gradually stir in ginger ale and brandy. Serve with ice and garnish punch cups with peach slices, if desired. Makes about 20 (4-oz.) servings.

Elegant Chocolate Spiced Cakes

1 6-oz. pkg. (1 cup) Nestlé Semi-Sweet Real Chocolate morsels
2 cups unsifted flour
2¼ teaspoons baking powder
1½ teaspoons allspice
1 teaspoon salt
2 3-oz. pkgs. cream cheese, softened
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
2 eggs
1 cup milk
2 cups heavy cream, whipped and sweetened

CUPCAKES: Preheat oven to 350°F. Melt over hot (not boiling) water, Nestlé Semi-Sweet Real Chocolate morsels: remove from heat and set aside. In small bowl, combine flour, baking powder, allspice and salt; set aside. In large bowl, combine cream cheese, sugar and vanilla extract; beat until creamy. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Add melted chocolate; mix well. Alternately blend in flour mixture with milk. Spoon batter into paper-lined baking cups.

BAKE at: 350°F. TIME: 18-20 minutes.

Cool completely; frost tops with dollops of Whipped Cream Topping or pipe through pastry tube.

Makes 24 cupcakes.

Unemployment Claims Total 86,392 In State

Persons in active claims status under the five unemployment programs currently in force in Minnesota totaled 86,392 for the week ending June 27, Commissioner Emmet J. Cushing of the Minnesota department of employment services reported recently.

The total is down 1,989 from the preceding week.

Initial claims filed during the week for the regular program totaled 3,874, down 807 (17 per cent) from the previous week and up 1,034 (36 per cent) from the corresponding week a year ago. Total number of active regular claims was 57,586, down 1,910 (3 per cent) from the previous week.

Initial claims for extended benefits (paid when regular benefits are exhausted) totaled 1,447; for federal supplemental benefits (paid when regular and extended benefits are exhausted), 823; for additional federal supplemental benefits (paid when regular federal supplemental benefits are exhausted), 272; and for special unemployment assistance (paid to workers not ordinarily covered by unemployment insurance), 116.

For the week of June 20, the latest for which figures are available, the total amount of benefits paid under all programs was $4,418,352. Included in those benefits were $2,925,936 in regular benefits, up $1,662,695 (132 per cent) over the corresponding week a year ago. The average weekly benefit amount was $65.24, up $4.06 from a year ago.

During the week of June 20, payments for extended benefits were $844,517; for federal supplemental benefits, $453,203; for additional federal supplemental benefits, $149,654; and for special unemployment assistance, $45,042.

Since the first of the year, $108,314,963 has been paid, up $41,196,142 (61 per cent) from the same period a year ago.

In the Twin Cities metropolitan area serviced by five claims offices (Minneapolis, St. Paul, Hopkins, Bloomington and Fridley), the number of persons on active claims status under all five unemployment insurance programs was 44,641 for the week ending June 27. This was 570 or 1 per cent less than the previous week and 136 per cent more than the same week a year ago.

The number of persons filing initial claims for the regular program totaled 2,075, down 168 from the previous week. Initial claims for extended benefits totaled 721; for federal supplemental benefits, 458; for additional federal supplemental benefits, 113; and special unemployment assistance, 67.

Spicy Homemade Cookie Treat!

Just one batch of Old-Fashioned Oatmeal Cookies fills the cookie jar to overflowing—one recipe makes five dozen crisp cookies. Even so, they will disappear quickly, as the combination of raisins, oatmeal, spices and dark brown sugar makes them irresistible.

These cookies travel well in a lunch box or to the dorm. Save some for serving after school with milk, in the afternoon with tea or coffee, in the evening with hot chocolate.

Remember, baking from scratch insures you of the quality of all the ingredients and saves you money, too. So try Old Fashioned Oatmeal Cookies soon.

OLD-FASHIONED OATMEAL COOKIES

- 1 cup raisins
- ½ cup hot water
- ¾ cup shortening
- ½ cup C and H Granulated Sugar
- 1 cup C and H Dark Brown Sugar, packed
- 2 eggs, unbeaten
- 2½ cups all-purpose flour
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 1½ teaspoons salt
- 1½ teaspoons cinnamon
- ½ teaspoon each nutmeg and cloves
- 3 cups quick cooking oats

Soak raisins in hot water for 5 minutes; drain (saving liquid) and chop. Combine shortening, sugars and eggs in mixing bowl; beat until fluffy. Combine flour, soda, salt and spices; blend into sugar mixture. Mix in ¼ cup raisin liquid (add water if necessary), oats and raisins. Chill. Shape into balls; put on greased baking sheet; flatten with bottom of glass, lightly greased and dipped in granulated sugar. Bake in 375 degree oven 12-15 minutes. Remove at once to rack to cool. Makes about 5 dozen crisp cookies.

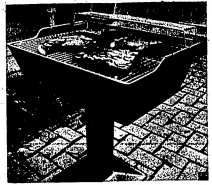
Safety Tips for . . .

Backyard Barbecues



Outdoor cooking offers hours of fun and relaxation for the entire family and for friendly gatherings, providing that certain safety steps are recognized and followed.

To guide barbecuing enthusiasts in their cooking, John Deere, a distributor of barbecue grills, makes these suggestions:

1. WHERE to use the grill is an important consideration. Place the grill on level ground, where it will be stable. An anchored grill is a good choice, because it can't be tipped over. Select an open area for proper ventilation. Never attempt to cook indoors on a charcoal grill; the burning briquets can generate poisonous carbon monoxide fumes.
2. WHEN to barbecue is influenced by weather conditions. On windy days, even if the grill's cooking area is protected by a windshield, be extra careful to prevent flames from escaping and doing damage to the surrounding area.
3. WHAT to use to start a charcoal fire is important, because some materials are more dangerous than others. Do not use kerosene or gasoline! A small amount of special charcoal lighter fluid is the preferred method of starting charcoal. Use a long, kitchen-type wooden match to ignite the fire, and immediately move away from the grill. Don't try to add more starter fluid after the charcoal begins burning. When lighting a gas grill, always raise the cover before turning on the gas.
4. HOW to be cautious during cooking involves both the operator and the design of the grill. It is recommended that you wear a large apron and insulated cooking mitts. When lifting the grill's cover, keep your distance from the heat. Some grills feature side-mounted lid handles to help eliminate the burn hazard. Be sure to use long-handled cooking utensils that have sturdy, heat-resistant handles to provide a firm grip. Keep children away from the grill during cooking and until the grill has cooled.

By following these tips, avid barbecuers can be sure of safer, more enjoyable years of outdoor cooking.

Christmas Tree Growers Plant Crop For 1982

Christmas tree growers in Minnesota are busy planting seedlings from which they will harvest Christmas trees in seven to 10 years.

About 300 Minnesota growers are expected to plant approximately 2½ million trees during the month of May, according to Alvin J. Krueger of Stillwater, president of Minnesota Christmas tree growers association.

The average grower will harvest, as Christmas trees, close to 50 per cent of the seedlings he plants. The other half, which will not come up to quality of grade for Christmas markets, will likely grow until the trees are suitable for fence posts, poles or timber.

Planting is the first stage of a number of operations a grower must perform before a Christmas tree is ready to make a happy holiday season in an American home, Krueger explained. Three years after planting, and every year thereafter, trees must be sheared and pruned in order to help develop into quality grade, symmetrically shaped Christmas trees. In the final year in the field, the trees are sprayed, cat baled and shipped to retail lots where children help Mom and Dad select their very own special tree.

Tree species favored in the Middlewest are Norway pine, Scotch pine, spruce and balsam fir. Genetically superior seeds are planted in a nursery and grown to two or three-year-old seedlings. The seedlings are taken from nursery beds and replanted every five feet in rows about five feet apart. Christmas trees can be grown in thin sandy soil which often has little value for other crops.

Minnesota Christmas tree growers association and the national Christmas tree association are comprised of members who meet in field days during the summer. They also meet in winter sessions and conventions to learn of new developments in the industry, and exchange views on production of natural Christmas trees.

How's Your Health

(Prepared in the public interest by the Minnesota Medical Association.)

Would you believe that your turtle neck sweater or a bra might cause you to develop acne?

The Minnesota State Medical association says that a recent article in the April issue of the "Archives of Dermatology", published by the AMA, deals with a skin problem known as acne mechanica. This condition can occur when forces such as pressure, tension, friction, stretching, pinching or pulling contribute to an outbreak of pimples and pustules.

The report by two researchers from the University of Pennsylvania school of medicine at Philadelphia states that mechanical factors are involved in at least 15 per cent of the acne cases treated by physicians.

The stress of tight straps and belts in clothing, football shoulder pads, or rubbing of back of truck drivers can aggravate this annoying skin condition.

Other factors capable of provoking this skin problem are chin straps, hockey and wrestling head and face guards, motorcycle face and head protectors, shirt collars, backpacks and straps, football pads, tightly tailored shirts, chairs, turtle neck shirts or sweaters, bras, and car, bus or truck seats.

According to the authors, this condition, also known as stress acne, is primarily a problem for individuals already prone to the skin problem.

Don't sweat it if excessive perspiration is a problem, advises the Minnesota State Medical Association. First of all, it is important to realize that perspiration is not under voluntary control. Additionally, there are many emotional and environmental factors other than the influence of heat which can affect the degree of perspiration.

Most antiperspirants contain some type of aluminum salt which appears to reduce temporarily the delivery of perspiration to the skin surface. Unfortunately, the effectiveness of these antiperspirants is often limited. After a brief period of control the perspiration begins to flow again. Sometimes these antiperspirants may have a deodorant effect.

In severe cases of excessive perspiration drugs given orally under a physician's care may control the problem but undesirable side effects may limit their effectiveness. Some of those drugs appear to be effective when applied to the skin; however, their use is still experimental.

The Minnesota physician's organization lists these specific things to remember about excessive perspiration. (1) Be sure the product you purchase is labeled as an antiperspirant, since there are many useful deodorants which are not intended to have, and do not possess, antiperspirant activity. (2) Explore the effectiveness of several products; some commercial preparations may be more effective that others. (3) Consult a physician regarding any possible benefit that might be gained from the use of oral or topical preparations. (4) Adjust to the physiological problem by learning to protect clothing in the accepted fashion (dress shields, etc.).

Summer earaches and head-colds should receive proper medical attention. Earaches and infections which are improperly treated or left unattended could be hazardous to your hearing ability.

questions and answers

Q. I'm getting ready to send in my first claim under Medicare's medical insurance, and I hear I should send it to the Medicare "carrier." What's a Medicare "carrier"?

A. The Medicare carrier is an organization selected by the Social Security Administration to handle medical insurance claims. The carrier reviews claims and makes payments for covered services. Your Medicare Handbook contains a list of Medicare carriers and their addresses. It also explains how to file medical insurance claims. If you don't have a Medicare handbook, you can get one at any social security office.

Q. I recently requested and received a statement of the earnings credited to my social security record. I believe there's an error in my record. Can I get it corrected?

A. A person's social security earnings record can be corrected any time up to 3 years, 3 months, and 15 days after the year in which the wages were paid or self-employment income was earned. Under certain conditions, your record can be corrected even if this time limit has passed. You should get in touch with a social security office right away. The people there will help you get your record corrected.

Q. I think my sister might be eligible for supplemental security income payments. Should she take any special papers when she goes to the social security office to apply?

A. Your sister should take any records which show the amount of her resources and income. This includes, for example, checkbooks, savings account books, stocks and bonds, life insurance policies, auto registration cards, latest real estate tax statements, and last year's income tax returns and W-2 forms. She also should take her social security card and her birth certificate.

Household Workers Social Security Reports Are Due by July 31st

Quarterly wage reports and social security contributions for household workers are due by July 31, according to social security officials here.

"People who pay a household worker $50 or more in cash wages in any 3-month quarter must send a report of the wages, along with the social security contribution, to the Internal Revenue Service within one month after the end of the quarter," a social security spokesman said.

Quarters are January-February-March, April-May-June, July-August-September, and October-November-December. Wage reports and social security contributions for the 2nd quarter of 1975 are due by July 31.

People who employ household workers may file the wage report on a form available at any Internal Revenue Service Office—"Employer's Quarterly Tax Return for Household Employees (for Social Security)."

The social security contribution for a household employee is 5.85 percent of covered wages, and the employer pays a matching amount.

Social security contributions help build retirement, disability, survivors, and Medicare protection for workers and their families. People who employ household workers can get a free copy of the leaflet, "Social Security and Your Household Employee," at any social security office.

A Simple Operation!
Simplicity describes the design as well as the operation of this drying system. Fewer moving parts reduces 'downtime' and eliminates a lot of unnecessary worry. Controls are placed for easy use and identification. There is no need to stand by the controls adjusting and readjusting. Depending on field drying conditions, periodic moisture tests and compensating adjustments are all the attention that's required. THE BEST TIME TO CONTINUE YOUR EDUCATION IS AFTER YOU'VE GRADUATED.

ENROLL IN THE NAVY.
Getting that high school diploma is important. Very important. But to really open doors, you need advanced education or job training. In the brand-new Navy Campus for Achievement program you can get it. And the Navy may pay up to 75% of your tuition costs for off-duty education and training, if you qualify.
By meeting our high standards, you may get college credit for your past civilian or Navy work experience. And for college, correspondence or service schools you may have completed. Depending on the college program you choose, your past education or work experience could account for as much as 75% of the credits required for a degree.
If you're interested in college, you may earn a technical school certificate. If, for some reason, you haven't finished high school, you can earn your diploma under this program. But your very best bet is to graduate first.
Keep in mind, too, that your education doesn't have to end with your Navy career. The Navy Campus for Achievement Degree Program gives you 10 years to finish your college education. In the Navy or out.
If you want to continue your education in the Navy, talk to your local recruiter. Or call 800-841-8000. It's toll-free.

SKIMMING ACROSS the county road near the Darrow Lundeen farm in the River Valley bridge area is Kelly Lundeen. The airboat was purchased by Kelly and his father for use in their wild rice paddies and is powered by an aircraft engine. The operator uses a throttle control for speed and a lever which controls the rudder flaps for direction. Since the propulsion comes from the airplane propeller at the rear of the boat, there is no unit to protrude below the bottom of the boat itself. As a result, the fiberglas shell skims over the water and requires very little water depth for operation. While the boat was purchased for a useful work function, it has been quite heavily employed for transportation during the floods in the River Valley area. About a foot of water covered the county road at the Lundeen driveway.

Public Meeting On Bond Issue Slated Tonight

Public meeting on the supplementary bond issue for construction of a new medical office facility in Thief River Falls will be held tonight (Monday) at 8 p.m. in the city auditorium meeting room. Any residents of the city who have questions about the proposal are encouraged to be in attendance and have their questions answered.

Participating in the program will be J. J. Womack, chairman of the Citizens for the Medical Office Building committee; Mayor Bob Carlson; and Marvin Lundin, chairman of the hospital board of trustees. Other city and hospital officials will also be present to assist in providing information which may be requested.

Special election on the issuance of $800,000 in supplementary general obligation revenue bonds will be held this Thursday from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Polling places will be as follows: First ward, Northrop school; second ward, Masonic hall; third ward, city auditorium; fourth ward, Knox school; and fifth ward, Franklin school.

Question on which the voters will cast their ballots is as follows: "Shall the city of Thief River Falls be authorized to borrow money by issuing its general obligation revenue bonds (in addition to the $2,000,000 general obligation revenue bonds authorized by the electors on April 15, 1975) in the amount of $800,000 to provide funds for the construction and equipment of an addition to Northwestern hospital, for use as a hospital and related medical facility, to be leased to Northwestern hospital of Thief River Falls, a Minnesota non-profit corporation?"

The city has been assured by the Farmers Home administration that the additional funding will be available at the same five per cent interest rate as applied to the initial $2 million issue. The increased funding is made necessary by bids considerably higher than the architect's estimate, and the addition of approximately 6,000 square feet of space after application for funding was initiated.

Low bidders on the project have agreed to hold their bids for 15 days beyond normal 30-day waiting period. Bids were opened on June 5, making July 21 the final date at which a decision based on existing bids could be made.

Hospital board chairman Marvin Lundin, in explaining the situation to the city council recently, noted that the supplemental bond issue is the only alternative to abandoning the entire project. He said that scaling down the clinic building would not provide the expansion space for specialists which is a prime reason for the project. Cutting back on the hospital addition would result in disqualification of the project under FmHA guidelines.

WAVING GRAIN FIELDS in eaastern Pennington county last week were waving under flood waters that poured out of the Red Lake river to cover neighboring farm land. This photo on the Darrow Lundeen farm shows the edge of a flooded area where water covers the grain in the foreground and extends between the rows well up the incline in the background of the photo. This photo was made possible through use of the airboat shown in the photo at the top of the page.

Cutbacks In CETA's Program Cost Jobs

Work crews comprised of county youths enrolled in the federally financed CETA I (Comprehensive Employment Training Act) program were a common sight on city property this spring, usually engaged in the clean-up of parks and other public grounds. But they won't be seen anymore. Large cutbacks in CETA funding have caused their enrollment to be eliminated, at least for fiscal year 1976.

The CETA program, which is designed to provide on the job training, work experience and vocational education for the unemployed at an hourly pay rate, was established in northwestern Minnesota in October of 1974. Pennington county is CETA headquarters for a four-county area including Kittson, Roseau and Marshall counties.

To finance beginning administrative costs, including transition costs for personnel, as well as to activate a full scale assistance program in the four counties, the local CETA office received a substantial allocation of $568,000 for fiscal year 1975. This figure becomes even more imposing when one considers the entire year's allocation had to be spent over a five-month period due to the beginning of fiscal year 1976 in July.

And the money was spent. A total of $330,308.07 went to the establishment of on the job training, vocational education and work experience in the four counties. Pennington county received $161,872 of this amount.

Area supervisor Lowell Koebernick knew the 1976 budget would be somewhat reduced, but he didn't anticipate the cuts to be remotely as severe as they were. The total '76 fiscal budget, distributed over a 12-month period, is $424,000, with a four-

Form Task Force At Meeting Here To Aid Victims

A Minnesota and North Dakota citizen task force has been organized to develop a program of relief for people hurt by excessive water in the Red River Valley area.

The Red River Valley emergency task force, to be chaired by Willis Eken, a Twin Valley farmer and vice-chairman of the Minnesota House agriculture committee, was formulated under the leadership of Minnesota Farmers Union president Cy Carpenter Wednesday at meetings in Moorhead and Thief River Falls.

The group will develop a recommendation of assistance for farmers, small businessmen and homeowners who have incurred losses due to flooding in the Red River Valley.

The task force will be a combination of ASCS farmer committeemen, farmer board members of the Farmers Home administration, county agents, local bankers, county commissioners, small businessmen, city officials, civil defense personnel and farmers.

"The committee is being formed so a specific program can be developed for the entire Red River Falley area from the affected citizens themselves," Carpenter stated. "The disaster relief should involve such things as the repair of county roads and bridges, relief for farmers who have suffered severe crop and livestock damages, plus other farm community problems.

Representatives from the offices of Sen. Hubert Humphrey, Sen. Walter Mondale and Rep. Bob Bergland, of Minnesota and Rep. Mark Andrews and Sen. Quentin Burdick of North Dakota attended the meetings sponsored by Minnesota Farmers Union Wednesday.

According to Carpenter, they have pledged support to working toward emergency relief that will be recommended by the committee.

Meetings will begin early next week in Crookston to develop a comprehensive program of disaster relief.

TRF Woman Dies In Polk County Car Accident

Mrs. Kay Kelley, wife of Sgt. Mike Kelley, U.S. Army recruiter in Thief River Falls, was killed Friday night in a two-car collision at the junction of Highway 75 and County road 21 in Polk county. Their daughter, Millisa, 3, was taken to St. Luke's hospital in Fargo, where she is listed in serious condition.

Sgt. Kelley was driving east on the county road at approximately 9 p.m. when his car was struck broadside by a vehicle driven by Diane Schantzen of Minneapolis, which was traveling north on 75. The Kelley car reportedly proceeded from a stop sign just prior to the collision.

Christopher Kelley, 16 months, was taken to Riverview hospital in Crookston, where he was held for observation. Sgt. Kelley was treated for cuts and bruises. Valerie Johnson, Mpls., a passenger in the Schantzen car, suffered a broken arm. Diane Schantzen and a second passenger, Dana Heisick of Fridley, were treated for cuts and bruises.

Bids Received For City Road Improvements

Apparent low bids on highway and bridge improvements in 49 counties, totaling $38,275,177, have been received by state highway commissioner Frank D. Marzitelli.

In Pennington county, Olmschied construction, Inc., of Thief River Falls, submitted the apparent low bid of $142,024 for bituminous surfacing on one and eight-tenths miles of US 59 between railroad tracks in Thief River Falls, and on Fourth street between Main and Atlantic avenues. Work is to begin August 4 and to be completed within 30 working days.

Good Student Housing Is Major Concern In TR Falls

STUDENT HOUSING for students attending Northland community college and the Thief River Falls area vocational-technical institute is a constant problem. Paulette Kassa (left) from the college and Sharon Kompelien from the vocational school compare listings in the photo above. Both have conducted inspection of a number of rental facilities listed and supervised a survey conducted among students. Seventy per cent of the 166 students who responded to the survey report they are happy with present accommodations.

A continuing problem which has plagued administrators at the Thief River Falls area vocational-technical institute and Northland community college for some time appears to be getting worse instead of better. The problem is what to do with out-of-town students looking for places to stay while attending school here.

With new programs to be offered—such as the nursing program to be operated cooperatively between the vocational school and community college as part of a total four-year program—the demand for housing is expected to increase.

"We know the residents of Thief River Falls want our schools to grow and our enrollments to increase," explained Ken Wiebolt, acting president of Northland college and Richard Berry, associate director of the AVTI. "We want our schools to grow, too, and to provide a varied and complete education to all those in our area who want it. But we need the cooperation of the residents of Thief River Falls to provide the necessary housing."

To assist students with finding housing, both the college and AVTI have compiled lists of available housing. Sharon Kompelien of Roseau and Paulette Kassa of Goodridge have been working on the project for the vocational school and college, respectively. This summer they visited a number of the places listed for rent and, although they found some to be quite nice, they found others to be mostly inadequate.

"The good, clean, comfortable places are always full," Mrs. Kassa said. "Word seems to get around pretty fast among the students and they know where the best places are."

"It takes the students a while to find the housing they want," Miss Kompelien added, "but most of the students I talk to like what they find."

Both housing coordinators agreed, however, that students often would prefer more freedom than landlords or landladies are likely to want to give. Most landlords and landladies prohibit smoking, drinking and pets and will not allow female students to have male visitors. These rules apply particularly to situations where apartments are in the home.

Students seem to prefer group housing where three or four students can share expenses. An ideal set-up would include a private entrance, private bath, at least two rooms to allow separation of eating and bedroom areas, and kitchen facilities which include a refrigerator and stove with an oven. It seems that

APARTMENTS for students at the Thief River Falls area vocational-technical institute and Northland community college are in short supply. Many of the rental units listed as apartments are merely sleeping rooms with cooking privileges or a hotplate, AVTI and college spokesmen said. The apartment above, shared by four or five girls at the home of Mrs. Ethel Monroe, offers separate kitchen, bathroom and bedroom space. School officials would like to see more of this type of unit.

Senior Meals Plan Slated In October

Senior meals and activity program has been projected to get underway October 6 at Northwestern hospital in Thief River Falls under a cooperative program with the Tri-Valley Opportunity council at Crookston. The plan would provide a noon meal Monday through Friday for 40 to 50 people who are over age 60 and their spouses and would be prepared and served at the hospital convalescent and nursing care unit.

Miss Susan D. Abbott is director of the program administered in Minnesota by the governor's citizen council on aging under Title VII of the older Americans act. The plan has been submitted to Tri-Valley by the local hospital.

Mayor Bob Carlson of Thief River Falls initiated current efforts on the project by contacting the Tri-Valley office. The Crookston-based organization is the one which also administers the senior citizen bus program now in operation in Thief River Falls and other area counties.

Under the plan submitted for approval, the hospital would make available its CNC lounge and coffee shop areas on the ground floor for the noon meal. The meals would be served on a daily reservation basis and persons participating would be expected to make a contribution for the meal to the extent that they individually determine they can afford to pay. No one will be LOUNGE AREA and coffee shop of the convalescent and nursing care unit of Northwestern hospital would be used this fall as a site for providing a noon meal to 40 of 50 senior citizens under a program sponsored by the Tri-Valley Opportunity council. The program, under a grant administered by the governor's citizen council on aging, is designed to provide better nutrition for senior citizens who would likely not prepare such meals for themselves.

Johnny Lillevolds, Of Grygla Note 25th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Lillevold of Grygla were honored on Sunday, July 6, when a large number of relatives and friends gathered at their home to help them celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary.

Those from out-of-state that attended were Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Howland and family of Hawthorne, Calif., Mrs. Victor Pittman and family of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Paul Olstad and children of Houston, Tex., and Mrs. DeShazo of Collinsville, Okla.

Others attending were Mr. and Mrs. Roland Graham of Bloomington, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Freitag, Roger Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Weikleenget and Mrs. Arden Schroeder and daughter, all of Minneapolis and Mr. and Mrs. Peter Weikleenget of Wyoming;

Also Mr. and Mrs. John Roseland and family of Newfolden, Mrs. Arlen Ellingson of Goodridge, Milton Morken of Moorhead, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cleven and family and Mr. and Mrs. Steve Doebler of Warroad, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Black of Middle River and Mrs. Sally Olstad of Bemidji;

Also Glen Knutson, Mr. and Mrs. Harley Knutson and Valarie; Olaf, Arvid and Marvin Olson, Mr. and Mrs. Duane Lillevold, Mrs. Gladys Olsen, Mr. and Mrs. Waldorf Olson, Mr. and Mrs. Rod Ernest, and Mr. and Mrs. Waldemor Olson, all of Thief River Falls.

The anniversary cake, made by Mrs. Sheldon Peterson, was cut and served by Mrs. Allard Morken and Glenda Anderson. Pouring were Mrs. Knute Homme and Mrs. Manley Anderson. Diane Lusignan presided at the guest book as Kari Anderson and Verlene Cleven ladled the punch.

The event also included a humorous reading by Lillian Sundberg.

In the evening several neighbors and friends returned for a charivari.

Moccasin Club Study Floral Arrangements

Designing Crescent and S-curve floral arrangements were discussed and demonstrated at the June meeting of the Moccasin garden club held at the home of the club president Mrs. Sidney Wilson. Her daughter, Dianne, was co-hostess. In charge of the lesson on arrangements was Mrs. Marry Koglin, the program chairman.

Members answered roll call by relating their experiences in planting dish gardens, planters and window boxes. During the business session, plans were made for participation in the annual District Flower show to be held at Badger. The tour of the members' gardens was scheduled for August.

Members attending, in addition to those already mentioned, were Mrs. Al Bacon, Mrs. Alton Carlson, Mrs. Melvin Torkelson, Mrs. Wallace Tieman, Mrs. Norton Nelson, Mrs. James Nelson, Mrs. Ruben Nelson, Mrs. Henry Anenson, and Mrs. Alvin Burstad.

Also present were three guests: Miss Kelly Shasky, Mrs. Clarence Wold and Mrs. Lorraine Tinkham.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Wilson and Dianne.

The next meeting of the Moccasin garden club will be held July 22 at 7:30 p.m., at the home of Mrs. Alice Lendobeja with Mrs. Elwood Tieman as co-hostess. Arrangements will be made for the annual flower show. Mrs. Henry Anenson will be in charge.

Gladee Olson - Dale Koop Vows Spoken At St. John

Miss Gladee Olson and Dale Koop, both of Thief River Falls, exchanged marriage vows May 31st at St. John Lutheran church in this city.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Olson and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Koop, all of rural Thief River Falls.

Rev. Paul R. Biegner officiated at the double ring ceremony witnessed by members of the immediate families. Organist and soloist was Mrs. Max Jensen, who played "The Wedding March" and sang, "Children of the Heavenly Father."

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. She was attired in a sheer-over-satin long-sleeved, floor-length gown in empire silhouette. Lace, in daisy pattern, graced the bodice, stand-up collar and edged the long fitted sleeves. Matching lace edged her floor-length veil that feel from a lace profile headpiece interwoven with satin ribbon. She carried a bouquet of pink roses, white daises and babies' breath, tied with a pink ribbon streamer.

For something old, the bride wore the same silver heart-shaped earrings that her mother had worn at her wedding. To complete the sentimental theme, she wore a blue personalized garter and carried a white handkerchief with pink and blue flowers that she had borrowed from her grandmother.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was her sister, Debra J. Olson of Los Angeles, Calif. She wore a pink floor-length gown featuring long sheer sleeves. She carried a bouquet of white daisies with babies' breath and pink ribbon streamers.

The bride's personal attendant was Miss Verla Mehrkens.

Best man was Alan Koop of Thief River Falls, brother of the groom. Both the groom and his attendant wore black tuxedos with pink ruffled shirts and pink carnation boutonnieres.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Olson wore a long-sleeved, mint green, street-length dress complemented by pink accessories. Mrs. Koop wore a burnt orange, A-line street-length dress. Both wore identical corsages of pink roses and white daisies.

Honor guests at the wedding were Mrs. Myrtle Peterson of Thief River Falls, grandmother of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wilkens of Grand Forks, N.D., godparents of the groom.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors for approximately 150 relatives and friends. Miss Verla Mehrkens, a friend of the bride, registered the guests. At the punch bowl were Kevin Olson and Nathan Olson, brothers of the bride.

The three-tiered wedding cake, decorated with pink tiffany roses, was cut and served by Mrs. Walter Wilkens of Grand Forks. Pouring were Mrs. Myles Koop, sister-in-law of the groom, and Mrs. Peter Lamb of Chicago, Ill., cousin of the groom.

Following a weddding trip to Brainerd, Duluth and along the North Shore Drive, the couple is at home in this city at Northwestern Trailer court. The bride is a graduate of Lincoln high school and the Thief River Falls area vocational-technical institute. She is employed as deputy register of deeds at the Pennington County courthouse. The groom, a graduate of Lincoln high school, is engaged in farming with his father. Photo Neal Fox Studio, Thief River Falls.

Stokke Family Reunion Held Here July 5

Stokke family reunion picnic was held Saturday, July 5, at the Sportsman club.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

by Ellen M. Spray

There she sat on a wooden bench surrounded by round-top trunks and wooden crates. She was young, maybe in her mid-twenties. On her face was a look of wistfulness as though she was thinking of the home she left in the Old Country. Yet her shoulders were erect and there was a slight smile on her lips as in anticipation of a new life in an unknown country.

Those who have seen this woman at the Manitoba—Man and Nature museum in Winnipeg have had varying emotions. For me she represented my mother and all the women of her age who immigrated to this country, coming by boat to New York, and by train to Winnipeg.

It is fitting that this immigrant should have a place of her own. She represents the pioneer women who settled in the Red River Valley. Many came alone and were met by their husbands or fiances who had come earlier to establish a home here.

As we are planning the Bicentennial celebration of our country, I would recommend that anyone, especially school children, planning to visit Winnipeg should include some time at the museum. The history of man, beginning with the Indians with their buffalo hunts, tepees, bows and arrows, and bead work, down through the present day that includes man's trip to the moon, is depicted in great detail. There are separate rooms that contain an actual sodhouse with the bare necessities, an early drug store, boarding house, cafe, barber shop, dental office, drug store, bank and post office. To make the rooms more authentic are the corresponding "smells" in the drug store, cafe, grain storage room and rope-mending shop.

Of special interest to the grandsons, whom I accompanied to the museum, was the replica of "Nonsuch," the sailboat that brought the men who established the Hudson Bay Fur trading company. The minute detailed planning was evident everywhere, and especially in the huge room that housed "Nonsuch." The area surrounding the sail boat featured a wharf with a rowboat moored at the pilings. On the other side were buildings with seagulls and pigeons perched on the roofs. Between the buildings were dusty, dirty whiskey bottles and other debris. Scurring across the planks was a big, fat rat.

The same detailed planning was evident everywhere, from the pair of trousers being pressed by placing them under the mattress on the bed, to the dark loft room illuminated by an enclosed flickering candle.

To do the museum justice, one should spend several afternoons there. One afternoon isn't enough.

It is always a treat to spend time in Winnipeg. The people are so friendly and courteous to their tourists. (Do we treat them with the same courtesy?) Their parks are outstanding. What amazed me was their immaculate public rest rooms, free from writings on the walls.

We could take a few lessons from our neighbors to the north.

Old Fashioned Cherry Pudding

This recipe comes from Della Lutes, author of The Country Kitchen. It has been tried by several women in this area, and they recommend it highly.

1 can sweetened cherries, drain and reserve juice for sauce
1 cup sugar
2 heaping tablespoons butter, melted
1 cup milk
2 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt

Method: Butter individual pudding dishes. Place two tablespoons of cherries in bottom of each dish. Make a batter, using remaining ingredients and pour over cherries until dish is two-thirds full. Bake in a 350 degree oven for about 30 minutes or until cake tester comes out clean. Remove pudding from the baking dishes, leave upside down and cover with a sauce made from the juice, adding a third of the amount of water as juice, thicken with a little cornstarch. Cook until clear, stirring constantly, then beat in one-half cup of thick cream.

Summer Theatre In Rehearsal On Final Production

Final production of the 1975 Northland summer company is well into its rehearsals and the cast and crew encourage area residents to plan to see "Little Mary Sunshine" on one of the five evenings it is presented. The play will be performed Monday through Friday, July 28 through August 1 at 8 p.m. each evening.

Director Michael Tillmann announced that tickets will go on sale today at Larson's Music Company and at the Northland community college office. Reservations may be made, by calling 681-2181.

As a special feature of this musical production, special ticket rates will be given for two special groups. Senior citizens (age 62 and over) may receive free tickets for the opening performance on Monday, July 28. Students (grade school, high school, college or vocational school) may reserve tickets for the Thursday evening July 31 performance for a cost of one dollar per ticket. Standard ticket prices are $1.75 for adults, $1.25 for students and 75 cents for children under 12.

"Little Mary Sunshine" is a musical parody by Rick Besoyan. Its music includes the title song "You've Got To Hand It To Little Mary, Sunshine," Mary's philosophy of life "Look For A Sky Of Blue", the nostalgic "Do You Ever Dream Of Vienna?", Ranger Jim's love song "You're The Fairest Flower", and speciality numbers "The Colorado Love Call", "Playing Croquet", "Once In a Blue Moon", Ernestina's "In Eisenschnooken On the Lovely Essenzook Zee", and Nancy Twinkle and the Eastchester Finishing School Girls' musical tribute to their heroine, "Mata Hari".

Being presented in the style of an old-fashioned melodrama with touches of the Nelson Eddy-Jeannette MacDonald musical thrown in for comic measure, "Little Mary Sunshine" takes place in a Colorado wilderness when the heroine, Little Mary herself, runs the Colorado Inn, a small house of respite which she purchased with the money she made from selling her homemade cookies. The Forest Rangers arrive for a visit and are appalled to learn that poor Mary is in danger of losing her dear inn because the mortgage is due and she cannot pay. Everyone is sad except, of course, Little Mary, who tells them to "Look For A Sky Of Blue" and proceeds to become engaged to Ranger Jim, her favorite, and, so far as one can tell, only beau.

Through the efforts of Ranger Jim, along with Billy, Jester, his second-in-command, and Nancy Twinke, Mary's maid, the problem is solved and the cast is rejoined at the end of the production with a musical tribute to looking "For A Sky Of Blue" and a reaffirmation of the opening belief that "You've Got To Hand It To Little Mary Sunshine."

Among the cast members for the production are Kathy Wald as Little Mary, Rick Erickson as Ranger Jim, Myrnelle Brusegaard as Nancy Twinkle, Charles Erickson as Bill Jester, Donna Keck as Ernestine Von Liebendich, Bill Satre as Yellow Feather, Paul Mehrkens as Chief Brown Bear, Joel Peterson as Fleet Foot and choruses of Finishing School Girls and Forest Rangers.

Senior Citizen Meals Program Planned Here

turned away if they cannot make a contribution, however.

Hospital administration noted that this program will not provide meals delivered to a home or residence (sometimes known as a meals on wheels plan) because regulations require that the meals be served in a group or congregate setting.

With use of the hospital facilities, there will also be opportunity for meal participants to take part in various activity programs. These could include general socialization activities, occupational therapy, chapel services and assessment of health maintenance needs. Information relative to various local, state and federal programs for elderly citizens would also be available on a consultation and presentation basis with speakers from the various agencies in attendance.

Facilities of the hospital and CNC unit will be made available for the program and the social service department of the hospital will coordinate the total program along with Miss Abbott and her staff members.

Mayor Carlson noted that the senior citizen bus service which he helped to establish would likely be used to transport meal participants to the hospital. There are also a number of residents of downtown apartments who would be within walking distance of the facility.

Miss Abbott explained that the senior meals program, is designed to improve the diets of persons 60 and over who lack finances, incentive or mobility and have been unable to prepare nutritionally adequate meals for themselves. In addition, the program is seen as a way of ending the isolation in which many of the elderly find themselves and bringing the types of information mentioned above.

Community involvement is also considered important to the program. "Volunteers will be needed to help serve, to be drivers and escorts for participants who need such service and to just be there as friends," Miss Abbott added.

Detailed planning and final approval of the program will take place within the next two months and additional information will be presented as plans are developed and approved.

A day care program for the elderly has been under consideration by the hospital for some time. Transportation and meal cost have always been unresolved problems and barriers to starting a program. With the Tri-Valley sponsorship of the meal subsidy and the availability of the senior citizens bus service, it appears that the day care program can now become a reality for senior citizens of the community.

Area Nurses Take U Courses Via Telelecture

Over 2,000 nurses in the state participated in University of Minnesota nursing telelectures, on cancer, pediatrics and geriatrics during the past year.

Thief River Falls area coordinators were Marilyn Wigness and Margaret Torfin.

The telelecture system of amplified telephone calls to classrooms around the state is one method of continuing education sponsored by the university's school of nursing.

Accept Asp For NCC Admission

HIGH WATER LEVEL in the Red Lake river is indicated in this picture at the Highlanding bridge. Water flow at this bridge, measured at 1,000 cubic feet per second during normal summer periods, was measured at 3,290 cubic feet per second last Tuesday morning.

CETA Cutbacks Result In Loss Of Local Jobs

county operating budget of $321,823—less than the amount spent in the five months of fiscal 1975.

The cuts led to drastic reductions in the number of CETA enrollees. Out of approximately 370 people involved in CETA I programs at the beginning of fiscal 1975, only about 127 are currently enrolled.

Work experience crews were the hardest hit. Out 205 enrolled in the four counties, 60 have been retained. In Pennington county, 17 of 96 are still being aided by CETA. Other programs suffered too. Operation mainstream, where elderly residents participate in clean-up chores, was all but disbanded. The number of students in the vocational education program (receiving financial aid while attending the AVTI) have been reduced from 62 to 17. Only persons in the on the job training program were unaffected.

Koebernick said he didn't know why the budget reduction was so massive, particularly since the CETA programs haven't been in force long enough for their effectiveness to be properly evaluated, but he doesn't expect the belt tightening to last forever. "By fiscal 1977 our allocations will be significantly increased—hopefully", he said.

Viking Man Joins Army To Become An Engineer

Robert H. Sterger, Viking, son of Mrs. Edna Sterger of Fergus Falls, recently enlisted in the United States Army for three years to become a pioneer engineer. He is presently undergoing seven weeks of basic training at Fort Leonardwood, Mo., after which he will begin his seven week engineer training.

His instruction program will include: Instruction on the history of the U.S. Army engineers; familiarization in the operation and care of engineer hand tools and power tools; techniques of rigging, mine-countermine and boobytrap warfare; construction of expedient surfaces and culverts; employment of explosives and demolitions; techniques of squad defense; construction, reinforcement and repair of non-standard bridges; construction of various types of float bridging equipment and techniques of assault river crossing operations; and construction of field fortifications, including camouflage.

Upon completion of the program, Sterger has a guaranteed assignment to Korea.

Give Tips On Management Of Flooded Soils

Using trucks and farm equipment on wet soils is harmful, reports the U of M extension service: Most wet soils are compacted more seriously by traffic and cultivation than when reasonably dry. Put off all operations that can wait until the soil is dry enough to crumble at a depth of five to six inches rather than slick over or pack.

Plants are effective in drying waterlogged soils. Don't discourage the growth of cover crops or even weeds which will help dry the soil after flood.

Do not add fertilizers, such as nitrogen, until plant symptoms indicate the need. Nitrate nitrogen is lost from the soil either by leaching or by the biological process called "denitrification," which takes place in saturated soils. However, only a portion of the soil nitrogen is in nitrate form. Fertilizers containing ammonia or its compounds and applied late in the fall are probably only partially converted to nitrate. Much of the ammonia remains in the soils and will become available when soils become dry and warm.

Phosphates and potash are not lost as a result of waterclogging or leaching. You need not add these elements except, perhaps, in places where a great deal of soil has been lost by erosion.

Deposited materials are less harmful than many people suppose and in many instances are beneficial. It is seldom necessary to remove any of the sedimentary materials, even when quite thick, except around the root crowns of trees. If the deposits are very gravelly or sandy, additional fertilizer, particularly nitrogen, may be required to start crops.

Deep tillage is never beneficial on wet soils and may be distinctly harmful. Defer all work of this kind until the soil at the cutting point of the tool is dry enough to shatter.

Fund Raising Passes $40,000

Minnesota DFL'ers have gone over the $40,000 mark in their 1975 Dollars for Democrats drive, according to state DFL chairman, Hank Fischer. State Democrats hope to raise $250,000 in modest size contributions from thousands of Minnesotans.

Last year, a similar fund-raising effort brought in $202,500 in pledges to the Democratic party. Individual contributions received in the Dollars for Democrats drive are averaging $8.90.

First Quarter 1975 Gasoline Consumption Up

During the first three months of 1975, Minnesota motor gasoline sales increased 2.1 per cent from the same months last year.

According to a report prepared by the U.S. department of transportation's highway administration (FHWA), Minnesota's increase was below the 5.5 per cent average increase of the 44 states reporting. Of those state's, only Missouri showed a decrease in consumption and only Illinois, Indiana, Nevada, and New York showed a smaller increase than Minnesota.

Minnesota gasoline sale increases from 1974 for the first three months of 1975 were as follows: January, 0.3 per cent; February, 4.5; and March, 1.7.

Good Student Housing Here Major Concern

TV dinners are big with the student population.

Mrs. Ethel Monroe has been renting an upstairs apartment to students for 23 years, and her apartment is listed by the vocational school and college as among the better ones available. It is an upstairs unit with two double rooms and one single room, plus a kitchen and private bath. Five or six girls usually occupy the rooms and there has seldom been a problem keeping the rooms filled.

Mrs. Monroe is one of the landladies who makes clear her rules of no drinking, no smoking and no male visitors. She makes an effort not to invade the privacy of her tennants, however, and therefore seldom has a close association with them. In the 23 years that she has been renting, she has only had to ask three tenants to leave.

Since a student population is highly transient within the community, Mrs. Monroe asks for a 30-day notice before a renter moves out. This gives her an opportunity to find a new renter and keep the space filled as much as possible. Her rental charge was recently increased to $40 per month per tenant—about average for the facilities available. The rate includes head, electricity and some furnishings.

Another family which rented to students for a few years is now converting the space to other use. This family also rented to girls only, and is not particularly disappointed to find other use for the space. One of the tenants having a male overnight guest didn't serve to make the rent business popular with the family.

"One of the problems we find is that persons who list apartments for rent aren't really talking about apartments at all. They have sleeping rooms with either kitchen privileges or an electric hotplate or gas burner. Students going to look at the 'apartment' are disappointed by what they find," Kassa and Kompelien said.

Persons who rent out these rooms to students generally have little trouble with tenants. They keep a closer watch on their property and are more restrictive in their rental agreements.

A much greater problem seems to exist with rental property where the landlord is not himself a tenant. Jerry Wetch and Steve Seglem are two landlords who have a number of houses to rent and who do rent to students.

"I rent to male students because I feel sorry for them," Wetch explained in a telephone interview. "It's hard for boys to find a place to stay in town and so I make some of my houses available at the same rent I would charge a family. And I only have two rules: Don't damage the property and get along with the neighbors."

Wetch maintains that students have given him a lot of problems although most of them have been good tenants. The problems seem to be on the increase, however, as a general lack of respect for property seems to be growing.

"I had one group of boys who practiced throwing hunting knives at the wall," he said. "They finally got the wall so chewed up that one of the knives fell down between the studdings. They kicked the bottom out of the wall to get the knife back."

Wetch has had tenants use fictitious names and skip out without paying rent. "The one who leaves is always the one who does any damage to the property," he said. "You know how that story goes. I've even had a couple with a baby come and rent a house and a month later there were four boys living there. I have no idea where one of the boys and his girl friend borrowed the baby."

Seglem has been renting houses in Thief River Falls for the past two years. He has five or six houses rented to students—generally two or three students to a house—during the course of a normal school year. His property includes 31 apartments of one or two-bedroom size and houses which range from one to three bedrooms. Although he has also had some problems, the experience of renting to students has not been all bad.

Consensus of opinion at the schools is that there is a need for more in-home apartments—perhaps in dry basements or second stories—where students can have separated eating and sleeping areas and at least some of the freedom that being of legal age entitles them. Belief is that they could be easily rented at a profit to the owner. Four or five students sharing an area at a rental of $40 to $50 per month could gross the owner about $2,400 a year. Such a return could well make some remodeling worthwhile.

Married students with families also have problems finding adequate rental facilities and would be another source of potential income from rental of suitable space.

Both schools emphasize that their housing service is strictly a listing of available units which have been placed with the schools. Any rental arrangements, agreements or disputes must be settled among the landlord, the student and the student's parents.

For further information about type of facilities needed or to list available rental areas, call the area vocational-technical institute at 681-5424 or the community college at 681-2181, and ask for the student housing service.

FLOODED BALES indicate one of the problems which livestock producers will have in the flood areas of Pennington county. This photo was taken at the Orlan Stolaas farm where much of the hay field was under water. Shortage of livestock feed will likely cause a number of distress sales of livestock when available pasture areas are depleted. Dairy farmers in the area report a drastic reduction in milk production as protein value of feed is reduced.

BLACKENED GRASS, bent sharply in the direction of water flow, gives an indication of the water level during flooding in this drainage ditch which leads to the Red Lake river at the Highlanding bridge. While water in the ditch was reduced to the level above a few miles from the bridge, the huge culvert at the end of the ditch was nearly submerged as water backed into the ditch from the river.

U of M Names New Regents' Committee

Committee chairpersons and assignments of the University of Minnesota board of regents were announced recently by regents' chairman Neil C. Sherburne.

The major change in committee assignments for the coming year will be to allow regents to serve on committees in subject areas that interest them, Sherburne said.

In addition, he said, the regents hope to foster a better liaison with the faculty through the faculty and staff committee.

"My hope is that we will get participation by the faculty coming to meetings as students have in the past come to the student concerns committee," Sherburne said.

Committee chairpersons will be Wenda Moore, Minneapolis, faculty and staff affairs; L. J. Lee, Bagley, physical plant and investments; David C. Utz, Rochester, educational polity and long-range planning, and Loanne Thrane, Chanhassen, student concerns.

All regents will be considered members of the executive committee, which will need seven members to take action in emergencies.

The regents' committees meet Thursday afternoon prior to the regular monthly meeting, which is usually on the second Friday of each month.

Postponed NFO

Postponed Pennington county NFO meeting will be held at Highlanding hall Tuesday at 9 p.m. Lots of new information will be presented and everyone is welcome to attend.

Grant $388,000 For Emergency Medical Service

Agassiz health planning council has received notice that grant monies will be available for purposes of improving emergency medical services throughout its planning region.

Statewide grant applications were approved for both North Dakota and Minnesota. The emergency medical services act of 1973 authorizes the funding, and overall administration of the program is the responsibility of the department of health, education, and welfare.

Northeast North Dakota, which includes Grand Forks, Nelson, Walsh, Pembina, Cavalier, Towner, Ramsey, Benson and Eddy counties, will receive approximately $210,000 in federal funding. Work on an emergency medical communications system will now begin and upgrading of transportation services will be accomplished. Poison control, burn care, and coronary care services will also be developed under the grant.

Northwest Minnesota region, which includes Kittson, Roseau, Lake of the Woods, Marshall, Beltrami, Polk, Pennington, Red Lake, Clearwater, Norman, Mahnomen, and Hubbard counties, will receive approximately $178,000. The development of an emergency medical communications system, upgrading of transportation services and public education programs will be funded with these monies.

Statewide administration of the grants will be provided by the health departments of North Dakota and Minnesota respectively and regional coordination will be provided by the Agassiz health planning council.

Law Protects Job Rights For Guard Members

Employers must permit members of the national guard to attend annual military training activities without being penalized, according to section 9 of the selective service act of 1967.

Letters to the adjutants general of the respective states from the national guard bureau, recently cited the law as a reminder to commanders prior to the annual training periods which all guard units perform.

Brig. Gen. James G. Sieben, the adjutant general for Minnesota, said the law points out that employers may not withhold permission for individuals to participate in military training, even if such action is voluntary.

"As I understand it", Sieben stated, "The intent of this law is to assure an adequate force of trained military units for defense.

"Currently, the national guard constitutes 40 per cent of the army's combat forces available in event of a national emergency. It is vital that these units be maintained at a high state of readiness; and the only way to sustain acceptable proficiency is through intensive and realistic training. This summer we will have nearly 10,000 Minnesota national guard troops taking part in two weeks of such training".

The law protecting job rights of employees participating in guard and reserve activities also requires the employee to provide the employer with advance notice of training dates.

Employers having questions about their employee-guardsmen may contact the nearest national guard armory or call the national guard public information office at (612) 296-4684.

WILD RICE PADDIES along the Red Lake river are normally flooded during the summer. The summer flood which struck the area within the past two weeks resulted in the paddies receiving more water than wanted and the future of the wild rice crop in uncertain. The photos above show one of the Darrow Lundeen paddies near the River Valley bridge, with water flowing out of the paddy across a dike built to keep the flood waters out.

Jodi Adams Is On Dean's List

Recently announced spring quarter dean's list at the University of Wisconsin-River Falls includes Jodi Adams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alan M. Adams of Thief River Falls.

To qualify for dean's list standing, a student must earn a grade point average of 3.5 or above in a 4.0 scale.

Memorials Given To Heart Fund

Research into the causes and control of heart disease has been made possible by gifts in memory of William MacKechnie, late resident of Thief River Falls, according to David Drotts, Thief River Falls heart memorial gifts chairman for Pennington county.

In Minnesota, an estimated 18,700 citizens will die from heart disease this year. In Pennington county for example, there were 178 deaths last year, and of this number 104, or 58 per cent, were from heart disease, reports Drotts.

Thought For The Day

"The modern church comes together and talks of their problems. The early church came together and spoke of their power. The choice is yours as to the kind of church you will be."
—Dr. Cort R. Flint

Civic Spirit Needed

Comment on municipalities in the United States today is carried in the following editorial from the Christian Science Monitor:

The breakdown of municipal services in cities across the nation is one of the most dismal phenomena of American life today. The decline set in long before recession but clearly has been aggravated by the current economic difficulties. From San Francisco and St. Louis to Cleveland and New Orleans cities are reeling from financial deficits and curtailing services.

What more graphic illustration of the urban slide can be found than the pileup of trash in the streets of New York City! Surely this spectacle should be a sobering reminder that unless there is a lifting of civic consciousness, unless Americans begin to take a deeper interest in their cities and to demand more efficient management, the quality of life will continue to deteriorate.

The current crisis in New York obviously is a familiar game being played out by the politicians in power. Precisely those services are being cut which will create the greatest confusion, spark a public howl, and make the biggest impact in Albany and Washington.

But is this the way the public wants the system to work? The fact of the matter is that New York is a prime example of a municipal bureaucracy run rampant. In 12 years time the city payroll has spiraled from 213,000 to more than 330,000 employees. Moreover, while the municipal civil servants used to be an underprivileged class, today they are beneficiaries of sometimes overgenerous wages and pension awards.

This is not to deny a fair wage to the policeman who keeps the public safety, the fireman who risks his life, and the school teacher entrusted with the vital education of children. That these civil servants need organizations to defend their interests and win public recognition goes without saying. Nor can one fail to sympathize with the plight of municipal employees as inflation erodes their pay packets.

But somewhere there has to be a balance between the individual civil servant's need and the public's ability to pay. There also has to be a willingness of city governments to hold out against strikers who defy public order and safety. And, if city politicians want to win the public's confidence, there has to be a willingness to take the hard road of fiscal austerity, to cut back bureaucracies, and stop the feather-bedding.

Getting down to the root problem and solutions, we are impressed by what an urban specialist told us. What is needed most, he suggested, is that spirit enunciated long ago by President Kennedy. In short, citizens ought to ask themselves what they can do for their cities and not just what they can get from them.

OK For AMAX

Duluth News-Tribune editor wrote the following editorial regarding the MPCA and test drilling for minerals in Minnesota:

What a pleasure it is to say something nice about the Minnesota Pollution Control Agency!

Too often, that organization is identified as the leader in a Twin Cities consortium whose purpose in life is to keep Northeastern Minnesota Green—not with dollars, but with trees, weeds, and swamp grass. Having turned their own Mississippi River brown with industrial waste, they seem determined to prevent the residents of this part of the state from doing equal damage to their environment.

But people have to work, after all, to earn the money to pay the taxes that support the PCA executives and staff. Belatedly, the PCA seems to be recognizing this truth, and that with thoughtful planning, it is possible to find a balance between commercial development and protection of the environment.

The sign of PCA enlightenment came Tuesday when the board voted 7 to 2 to grant AMAX Exploration Inc. a permit to dig a copper-nickel test shaft near Babbitt.

Environmental groups have objected to an AMAX permit because of potential damage to the area's surface and ground water systems. But the PCA water quality staff and a special permit-hearing examiner, St. Paul attorney D. D. Wozniak, were able to work out special conditions and agreements with AMAX to diminish these dangers.

In any case, no one will ever know the hazards of this kind of mining, if any, and how they can be controlled, if necessary, until some test work is done. And by no stretch of the imagination is the AMAX project anything more than a test. AMAX proposes to dig a shaft 14 feet wide and 1,750 feet deep. Total extraction from the shaft, over 18 months, is expected to be no more than 60,000 tons, which is less material than most taconite plants process in a day. The entire test site, with buildings, shaft, and water-settling basin will cover only six acres. It will be located about four miles south of Babbitt, far from the Boundary Waters Canoe Area, and outside the Superior National Forest.

This could be a modest beginning to a major copper-nickel mining industry. There is no sense in kidding ourselves that such a development isn't the main motivation for making test shafts in the first place. But it would seem best to approach this kind of development in the cautious, but progressive manner now authorized by the state.

For it would seem a very real possibility that some day soon the nation will have no choice but to mine that copper-nickel, whatever its concentration. It would be better to begin to explore the environmental ramifications of this kind of mining now, in an orderly way, than keeping the lid on for a number of years, only to have copper-nickel mining boom overnight, out of a national emergency, or a worldwide copper-nickel shortage.

In short, the PCA is acting in the best interests of the mining industry and conservationists alike.

Arabs Seek Loans

Following editorial is from the Morris Tribune:

Three Arab oil-producing nations are seeking $2.5 billion in loans from the United States and western European countries. Iraq, Algeria, and Oman, whose 1973 oil production exceeded 1,100 barrels, have turned to America and Europe for needed capital, rather than bother their prosperous Arab neighbors. We presume that Iran and Saudi Arabia are too busy building huge military establishments to waste time and resources on their fellow oil producers.

The loans, we are told, are necessary if Iraq, Algeria, and Oman are to complete development programs initiated before the current decrease in world demand for oil. In other words, when the OPEC countries quadrupled oil prices, America and several European countries suffered an economic downturn and reduced oil consumption. Now that we can't afford to buy as much oil, the Arabs want us to lend them $2.5 billion to compensate for their decreased oil revenue. Despite the obvious economic consequences of their actions, the Arab nations are more than eager to kill the goose that lays the golden eggs.

As if present oil prices aren't ridiculous enough, the OPEC countries are planning another increase in September. Treasury Secretary William Simon, asked about America's response to a price jump, said that the United States does not intend to "just sit here and quake in our boots" if another increase is imposed. "We look at all the options available in the government. The President is well aware of all the steps that can be taken," according to Simon.

The Congressional Budget Office warned Monday that an increase in the world oil price could send the U.S. economy into another tailspin. Simon, asked if any increase in the OPEC oil price would be acceptable, replied, "Not to me. The present price is not acceptable to me." Predicting that the Arab price line cannot hold forever, Simon said that the price is fixed by political, not economic considerations. Economist Eliot Janeway offered an interesting observation on the oil question. "All we have to do is simply refuse to give the Arabs what we have if they refuse to put their oil within a reasonable price range. We have food. They need food, spare parts for their planes and other equipment. We should say to them, 'We'll deal with you on a barter basis, our quid for your quo.'" Western Europe and America ought to consider Janeway's advice in regard to the proposed loans to Iraq, Algeria and Oman.

Ironically, the Arab loan proposal coincides with a recent statement from Nobel Prize winner Aleksandr Solzhenitsyn, in regard to the economic aspects of detente. In his first formal address in this country, Solzhenitsyn declared that the Soviets are exploiting detente and luring western capital to help build a regime committed to "ideological warfare." American loans to the Soviet Union have come under fire lately as capital is needed in this country if we are to find jobs for our unemployed. Perhaps it is time for the United States to adopt a foreign policy more in accord with our economic interests.

Borrowed Nonsense

Did you hear about the man who was convicted of a jewel theft?

No trace of the jewels was found while he languished in jail. His wife wrote and asked how she could plant potatoes in the garden, with nobody to dig for her. "Don't dig up that garden," the husband replied. "You might uncover the jewels."

Back came a letter from the wife to report that the authorities had obviously read the note and had dug up the entire garden. "What do I do now?" she demanded. "Plant the potatoes," he replied.

4-H'ers are concerned about safety—on the farm, in the home, on the highway and during recreation. Nearly 332,000 of them take part in the national 4-H safety program sponsored by General Motors and conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service.

MINNESOTA REPORT

WALTER F. MONDALE

The state Department has informed me that great progress is being made in negotiations with Canada on energy issues concerning the Upper Midwest. We hope that these negotiations will soon lead to exchange agreements with Canada for much needed crude oil.

This spring I discussed the potential impact of Canada's intention to phase out exports of crude oil to the United States. At the time I said that this phaseout could be disastrous for Minnesota which is dependent on Canadian crude for almost 90 per cent of its crude oil output. I called upon the Federal Energy Administration to act quickly to avert the crisis. Now, it appears that a solution can be found.

The State Department announcement is good energy news for Minnesota. For the first time, both the U.S. and Canadian governments have officially agreed to encourage oil companies on both sides of the border to arrange exchange agreements. With this encouragement, I am hopeful that our Upper Midwest refiners will be able to arrange for exchanges of Alaskan or other U.S. oil that will allow Canadian crude oil to continue flowing in the Upper Midwest for years to come.

The State Department has also indicated that there has been real progress in negotiations leading toward a pipeline transit treaty. This treaty would cover pipelines in both the United States and Canada and would remove a major obstacle toward gaining approval of the Arctic Gas pipeline proposal. This pipeline would bring the 30 trillion cubic feet of Alaskan natural gas—over ten per cent of the nation's total natural gas reserves—to the lower 48 states, with a significant portion of that gas coming to the Upper Midwest.

These two significant developments indicate that our two governments are willing to discuss energy issues of importance to both nations in a constructive and positive manner. This confirms my impressions when I traveled to Ottawa this past February to confer with Prime Minister Trudeau, Energy Minister Macdonald and other key Canadian officials.

Many problems remain, but I am hopeful that, building on this base, we can now proceed to remove any remaining difficulties and conclude a variety of energy agreements of importance and mutual benefit to both nations.

Senate Report

— by —
Senator Richard Fitzsimons
Minnesota District One

When a natural disaster strikes—such as the one we have recently experienced—there are fortunately a number of governmental agencies able to help. Even though many of us are sometimes frustrated by lack of speed on the part of these organizations, they nevertheless have good records of helping out in emergencies.

Briefly, here's a rundown of the machinery required to get help for our area:

When a natural disaster strikes, county commissioners pass a resolution asking the governor to petition for natural disaster area designation from the federal government. (This has been done.)

The governor's request is then forwarded to the federal disaster assistance agency office in Chicago where it is eventually sent to the President. Only the President can designate an area as a disaster area, thereby making it eligible for special aid.

But there are a number of other steps that must be completed before the President acts on the requests, and these account for the seemingly endless delays.

Along with his request the governor must submit a list of estimated damages. While this may be relatively easy to do in the case of a tornado or other similar disaster, when there's a flood it's a different story. Officials can't really get an accurate estimate until the waters recede, and this sometimes takes quite a while.

Another reason for the time-consuming and cumbersome delays is that often the damage is not as clear-cut as in our case. These painstaking requirements are designed to prevent undeserving areas from receiving limited funds.

Once the governor makes his report and the federal government sends out inspectors to verify it, the President makes his decision. If the decision is favorable, then the machinery starts to help the devastated area.

Once they get the okay, federal agencies are authorized to set up aid centers. The Small Business administration and the Farmers Home administration move in to make loans at five per cent interest with up to 30-year repayment periods. Also there is a public assistance center which is authorized to make outright grants to local governmental units to aid in the repairing of public roads, bridges, sewers, etc.

In Minnesota, all of the disaster planning is under the direction of the emergency services divisions (formerly civil defense) of the public safety department.

So, even though it is easy to get the impression that nothing is being done—especially when there's a disaster complicated by flooding—a well-planned procedure exists for getting help to people. The challenge, of course, is to make it work effectively.

I am sure that this procedure will be accelerated by the joint action taken by the North Dakota and Minnesota congressional groups. In a case such as ours, it behooves all elected officials to assist the governor in any way they can to help those that are affected by a disaster.

Relatives Vacation Here

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Grimes (nee Ann Radniecki), of Jacksonville, Fla. arrived June 25 to spend some time with relatives and friends. They are staying at the Richard Radniecki home.

Sam Grimes is a bird photographer along with being a field ornithologist. He has discovered the first nest in North America of the cattle egret, an exotic species, which has entered the United States not through man's introduction, but through its own volition. It is the first time this has taken place in recorded history. The name S. A. Grimes is known to all avid bird watchers.

Family Reunion

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Luneen, Mr. and Mrs. Darrow Lundeen and Shari, along with Mr. and Mrs. Jim Priggi and boys from Phoenix, Ariz., and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bakke and family from Denver, Colo. (nee Vivian Priggi), motored to the Iron Range for a family reunion held at the Charles Priggi resort at Long Lake.

The entire Priggi family came to visit and enjoy a pot luck luncheon as well as water recreation on the lake.

The Fred Lundeens were overnight guests while there at the Milton Myrum home in Chisholm, along with the Darro Lundeen family. The Jim Priggi family, along with the Bob Bakke family, have been spending some time in this area visiting relatives and friends before returning to their home.

Sunday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rustan and Shari helped Mrs. Eddie Larson celebrate her sister's birthday. Dinner guests at Richard's Sunday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Jim Kolodge of Minneapolis, Milan Rustan, Greg, Jeff and Cindy Hilegmen, and Scot Weberg.

Nat Guard Reunion

The 9th annual Nalt Guard Grand Forks unit buddies reunion was held at the Korydon Chervestad home Sunday, featuring an outdoor steak cookout and reminiscing was enjoyed by all.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Larry Scharmer and family of Drayton, N.D., Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Hedlund and family of East Grand Forks, Mr. and Mrs. Myron McCullum and family of Bejou, and evening visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Kelly Lundeen and Alison, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Nelson and Jennifer, Mr. and Mrs. Andy Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Jensen of Goodridge, Ronne Rustan and friend and Milan and Edwin Olson.

Saturday afternoon visitors at the Brad Nelson home were Mr. and Mrs. Jim Sundrud and Jennifer of Trail, Arlan Marquis and Joanie Jenson of Oklee. Sunday company were Mr. Carl Nelson of Mavie, Jeff and Joel Dahlen of Goodridge.

Bremerton, Wash. Visitor

Mrs. Alice Lunden arrived June 7 to attend her brother's, Mr. Melvin Hovet, funeral at Goodridge. Alice has spent much of her time here visiting with relatives and old friends. They are. Art Gustafson, Olaf and Orlan Stolaas, Sena Chervestad and her sister, Mrs. Lloyd Watne and brother, Jesse Anderson and with the other brothers.

Her daughter Lou Ann, Mrs. Dennis Brundage, and children Todd and Vicki drove to Minnesota last week to visit with her mother and aunt, Mrs. Watne and other relatives, where they were overnight guests.

LouAnn stopped by her rural country school, the Pleasant View, located on the Chervestad farm and she stated she had broken her leg on the merry-go-round in the year 1948 while having fun and was rushed to the Thief River Falls hospital for immediate attention.

Her parents lived on the farm south of Art Gustafson's, owned by Suko of Plummer at the present time.

Before later years, they moved to the state of Washington and have lived there for many years. Mr. Brundage is the owner of the Oneonta bus line in Oneonta, N.Y. Mrs. Brundage and family and Mrs. Lunden motored to Minneapolis where her mother went back to Bremerton, Wash. on the plane after a month's vacation here.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Halvorson and Kevin from Grand Forks, N.D. and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Halvorson of Goodridge visited at the Malcolm Stucy home and were coffee and dinner guests there on Saturday. In the afternoon the Lester Halvorsons and Malcolm Stucys drove to Grygla and visited with their sister, the Milton Sandsmarks and with the Phil Salvorsons who were visiting during the 4th of July weekend from Minneapolis at the Sandsmark home. Company at the Stucy home during the week were Marcell Gutterud of Thief River Falls and Kenneth Stucy.

Barbara, Robert and Roger Flaten, along with Mr. and Mrs. Orlando Chervestad, attended the wedding of Betty Flaten and Dennis Erickson at the Redeemer Lutheran church in Thief River Falls Saturday. Betty and Dennis will be making their new home at Warroad where they are employed at Marvins Woodworks Co. Betty is Barbara's twin sister and has been living at the Rudy Martenson's foster home for many years. Mrs. Robert Wiseth and Kurt were doing some babysitting for the three other foster children who are staying at the Chervestad home. Thanks there Ethel. Ethel also visited with her mother, Signe Evenson the same evening.

On Sunday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Julian Gunderson and family and mother, Birdie motored to Pine Lake and visited with Mrs. Truman Gunderson and Lorraine of Minneapolis who have a cabin on the lake. Others there were Mr. and Mrs. Gary Gunderson and family of Minneapolis. Sunday visitors at Julian Gundersons were his mother Birdie and Tom Hofstad.

Storm shelter company in the basement at the Orlando Chervestad home on the 4th of July evening and listening to storm warnings and tornado weather reports were Mr. and Mrs. Brad Nelson and Ryan, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Nelson and Jennifer, Sena Chervestad and Signe Evenson, Robert, and Roger Flaten along with the Orlando Chervestads. They all waited for the storm to subside.

Company at Radnieckis

During the week callers who enjoyed pot luck suppers and visiting, etc. at the Richard Radniecki home were Mr. and Mrs. Sam Grimes of Jacksonville, Fla., Mr. and Mrs. Jack Radniecki of Oklee, Mrs. Sybil Radniecki, Wylma Radniecki, Mr. and Mrs. Stan Radniecki, Jr. and family from St. Cloud, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Radniecki and family, Mr. and Mrs. Tim Radniecki and girls, Mr. and Mrs. Al Radniecki and Mathew, and grandson Joe and Bobby from Aurora, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Jorgenson, Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Lindberg and girls of Thief River Falls, and Mrs. Richard Lambert and girls. This weekend the Clarence Blessums, Mike and Julie from Wolford, N.D. came to visit.

We Didn't Think This Could Happen

My sister, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wiseth, Vance and Kurt of Goodridge, Minn. along with Tom Cullen and his brother-in-law Stanley went on a motor boat excursion last week over the 4th of July and you couldn't guess where. They traveled from Tom Cullen's place and boated over section and section of wheat fields to the Lynn and Norma Hanson home to their steps to ask for some dry matches to light their cigarettes. The water in most places was shoulder deep.

Dorn To Europe With Gopher Hockey Team

Former Lincoln high school athletic star Tony Dorn Jr. is one of 22 University of Minnesota hockey players currently working out in the Twin Cities in preparation for the Gophers' European tournament and exhibition trip later this month.

Minnesota coach Herb Brooks announced Wednesday that he will take members of the 1974-75 Gopher varsity to West Germany, Austria, Switzerland and Italy where the squad will engage in nine or ten games against international competition. Most games will be played in the world amateur tournament.

The Gopher squad began practice sessions Friday at Augsburg College in Minneapolis. Squad members practice daily, except for one day off—July 15—up until the final day before departure.

The team will leave on its European jaunt July 22 and will return August 11.

Dorn, a 1974 Lincoln high school graduate and a member of the Gopher varsity last year as a freshman, joins Roseau high school product Robby Harris as Region Eight representatives on the Gopher European squad. Harris was the Gopher captain as a senior during the 1974-75 season.

Tim, Scott Engelstad Named All-Region

Northland community college tennis players Tim and Scott Engelstad were both honored recently when they received word that they were named to the 1975 NJCAA all-region tennis squad for the five-state area Region XIII.

The Thief River Falls brothers, 1975 MJCAA state doubles champions and runner-up finishers in the NJCAA Region XIII tournament, received certificates from Region XIII officials last week.

Wrestling Card Announced

Pairings have been announced for the professional all-star wrestling card that will be held at the close of the 1975 Pennington county fair on Sun., Aug. 3, in Thief River Falls.

Always a popular attraction here, the upcoming wrestling matches will pit Billy Robinson against Nick Bockwinkel, Baron Von Raschke vs. Ivan Putski, Buddy Wolff vs. Pierre LeDuc and Bull Bullinski vs. Kim Duk.

The eight wrestlers are all mammoth size, weighing an accumulative 2,124 pounds. LeDuc is the heaviest at 294 while Putski weighs in at 290 and Van Raschke is 285.

The matches will be held in the Thief River Falls sports arena.

Roseau Golfers Win National Tournament

Dr. Bob Harris and son John of Roseau won the prestigious national father-son golf tournament title recently at Pinehurst, North Carolina.

The Harris's won the crown with a 72-hole total of 287, one under par.

The first day the tournament was played on a best ball basis as Bob and John shot a 70. The second day each golfer shot his own round as Bob shot a 72 and John finished with a 73. The final day the players alternated shots and finished with a 72 to win the event by two strokes.

The championship finish by the Harris's marked the first time Minnesota golfers have won the event in the tournament's six-year history.

NDSU Artificial Turf Nearly Completed

North Dakota State University's new artificial football playing surface in Fargo is expected to be completed in two weeks, school officials announced Thursday.

Completion of the new Monsanto astroturf field was scheduled to start today (Monday) and is expected to be finished by July 28.

North Dakota State, along with Fargo South, Fargo North and Fargo Shanley high schools will use the artificial surface for football beginning this fall.

Rande Smith, a 1972 Lincoln high school graduate, will be playing on the new turf as a senior with the North Dakota State Bison.

GREG HAVEL, base runner for Gaslight Lounge-Ford Tractor of Fargo, literally received a face full of dirt Sunday as he tried to slide head-first across home plate against Arctic Cat of Thief River Falls in a semifinal round game of the annual Far North invitational fast pitch softball tournament. Arctic Cat catcher Bruce Johnson made the tag on the play in the sixth inning to preserve a 4-3 Arctic Cat win. Arctic Cat followed its win over the Fargo ball club with a 6-4 decision over Nelson State Farm Insurance of Thief River Falls in the tournament championship game.

Scheduled To Clash Tuesday

VFW, Arctic Share Lead In Fast Pitch East Division

Arctic Cat manhandled the Legion 16-0 while VFW lost a 1-0 squeeker to Nelson State Farm Insurance Friday, resulting in a first place East Division tie in the Thief River Falls fast pitch softball league.

VFW and Arctic Cat own identical 10-4 records, setting the stage for a crucial first place confrontation Tuesday when VFW and Arctic Cat clash in the second game of the scheduled doubleheader. State Farm meets the Legion in Tuesday's first game in another key East Division clash. State Farm is 8-4 and the Legion is now 7-5.

Other late week league results found Pepsi-Cola beating Melvies 12-2 and Schmidts stopping Falls Diesel 8-3 Wednesday while Schmidts edged Pepsi-Cola 6-5 in a Thursday night make-up game.

Mark DuChamp and Al Erickson battled each other in a classic pitcher's duel, matching four-hitters, but DuChamp's Nelson State Farm Insurance ball club edged Erickson's VFW squad 1-0 in eight innings.

Neither team advanced a base runner to second until the fourth inning when State Farm's Roger Cota singled to left and advanced to second when the ball was misplayed.

VFW put runners at second in the fifth and again in the top of the eighth, but that's as far as DuChamp was willing to let them advance as he struck out nine batters in a neat pitching performance.

The game was finally decided in the bottom of the eighth when Mike Moran singled with one out, went to second on a wild pitch, tagged up and moved to third on DuChamp's sacrifice fly and scored when Steve Phillion singled to left.

Arctic Cat 16
Legion 0

Arctic Cat mauled the Legion 16-0 in six innings in Friday's doubleheader nightcap.

Losing pitching Rob Almquist suffered through game-long wildness as he walked 12 batters and surrendered 13 base hits. Big blow of the game was a bases loaded triple by Arctic Cat's Bruce Johnson in the sixth inning. Jeff Vacura added a two-run triple in the same inning.

Meanwhile, winning pitcher Tom Neibauer held the Legion batters in check until Tom Goddard dropped a single into rightfield in the bottom of the fifth.

Schmidts 8
Falls Diesel 3

Schmidts, struggling throughout the 1975 season, came up with its biggest base hit production of the summer in banging out 12 hits to beat Falls Diesel 8-3 in Wednesday's doubleheader nightcap.

Schmidts jumped out to a 3-0 first inning lead as Larry Coltom and Gary Borg laced back to back singles and Gene Halverson scored Coltom with a base hit to centerfield. Borg scored on a fielder's choice and Lloyd Noreen singled home another run.

Falls Diesel pulled to within 3-2 in the second inning when Schmidts' defense committed three costly errors.

Schmidts scored four runs in the top of the third, however, capitalizing on a streak of wildness incurred by losing pitcher Earl Graham who walked three straight batters and then surrendered a pair of singles and a sacrifice fly for a 7-2 ball game.

An RBI single by Scott Reed in the bottom of the fourth made it a 7-3 game, but Schmidts' Ron Ueland trippled and scored the game's final run in the sixth.

Melvies 2

Pepsi-Cola out-hit Melvies 13-3 and out-scored them 12-2 in taking a five-inning first game triumph Wednesday.

Winning pitcher Howard Dalager stroked a two-run home run in the first inning to start the Pepsi-Cola onslaught. The winners made it 5-0 in the second and 6-0 in the third on Mark Haats' solo home run.

Melvies trimmed the difference to 6-2 in the bottom of the third, but Pepsi-Cola broke the game wide open with a six-run outburst in the fourth on six hits and three Melvies errors.

Schmidts 6
Pepsi 5

Dennis Bakke hit a lead-off home run in the bottom of the seventh inning to lift Schmidts to a dramatic 6-5 come-from-behind win over Pepsi-Cola in a Thursday night make-up game.

Pepsi enjoyed an early 5-0 lead before Schmidts rallied to tie the game with a two-run sixth inning. Bakke then promptly ended the contest in the seventh when he tagged Howard Dalager's first pitch of the inning, clearing the light pole in leftfield with a towering home run.

KEITH DAILEY, Thief River Falls Elks base runner, was called out on a close play at third base during the Elks-Red Lake first round game Saturday in the seventh annual Thief River Falls Elks youth baseball tournament. The Elks won the tournament championship by beating Red Lake Falls 13-3 Saturday and the Bemidji Lions 12-2 and Thief River Falls Lions 10-3 Sunday.

Arctic Wins Far North Fast Pitch Tournament

Arctic Cat outlasted Nelson State Farm Insurance 6-4 in an all Thief River Falls final to the 13th annual Thief River Falls Far North invitational fast pitch softball tournament held Sunday on the fairgrounds diamonds.

Arctic Cat played just two games to win the abbreviated 11-team event. Five teams scheduled to make an appearance here did not fulfill their obligations, trimming the planned 16-team tournament field. Eight of the 11 teams on hand were Thief River Falls entries.

Receiving a pair of byes-forfeits, Arctic Cat advanced immediately into the tournament semifinals, beating Gaslight Lounge-Ford Tractor of Fargo 4-3.

State Farm played three games during the day-long tournament. State Farm whipped the Thief River Falls American Legion 10-1 in a first round contest, received a second round bye and then stunned the Thief River Falls VFW 6-1 in a semifinal encounter.

The complete list of first round games found the VFW beating Roseau Sand and Gravel 2-1, State Farm clobbered the Legion 10-1, Pepsi-Cola of Thief River Falls defeated OK Tires of Bemidji 4-2, Gaslight Lounge-Ford Tractor of Fargo edged Schmidts of Thief River Falls 3-2 and Falls Diesel bombed Melvies 24-6 in a Thief River Falls match-up.

VFW blanked Pepsi-Cola 7-0 and Gaslight Lounge-Ford Tractor handled Falls Diesel 15-1 in a pair of quarterfinal games.

State Farm dumped VFW 6-1 and Arctic Cat edged Gaslight Lounge-Ford Tractor 4-3 in semifinal round action.

In consolation round play, OK Tires of Bemidji stopped Roseau Sand and Gravel 12-6 while Schmidts got by Melvies 8-6 in a pair of quarterfinal round games.

The Legion crushed OK Tires 15-0 in the lone consolation bracket semifinal game.

Schmidts tipped the Legion 7-6 in the consolation championship game.

State Farm scored the game's first run in the championship game when Mike Schmitz drew a bases loaded walk in the bottom of the first inning.

Arctic Cat grabbed a 3-1 lead in the third, however, highlighted by a two-out, two-strike, two-run home run by Bruce Johnson. An opposite field single by Ron Ostby scored the first Arctic Cat run.

State Farm sliced the difference to 3-2 in the bottom of the third on an RBI single by Roger Cardinal.

Gordie Peterson stroked a lead-off home run in the top of the fourth inning to push Arctic Cat in front 4-2 and run-producing base hits by Tom Neibauer in the fifth and Nick Neibauer in the sixth made it a 6-2 ball game.

State Farm capitilized on a streak of wildness by Arctic Cat pitcher Mike Neibauer in the bottom of the seventh to slice the margin to just 6-4. A wild pitch scored the first State Farm run in the seventh and a bases loaded walk scored another to make it a 6-4 contest with the bases still loaded and just one out.

Tom Neibauer, playing rightfield after pitching Arctic Cat past Gaslight Lounge-Ford Tractor, came on in relief and struck out the side.

Arctic Cat finished the game with a 9-4 base hit advantage. The winner's committed the game's only error.

Bemidji Sweeps TRF By 4-1, 3-2

Highly regarded Bemidji had its hands full Saturday, but still managed to sweep an American Legion baseball doubleheader from Thief River Falls, 4-1 in 10 innings and 3-2.

The games, originally scheduled to be played in Thief River Falls, were played at Red Lake Falls because of the conflicting Thief River Falls Elks youth baseball tournament.

Coach Rocky Wilson's Thief River Falls ball club watched its record slip to 11-8 with the twinbill setback. Thief River Falls will close out its 1975 regular season schedule this week with a 7 p.m. game at East Grand Forks Wednesday and a 6:30 p.m. doubleheader against Moorhead on the fairgrounds diamond Friday.

Three Bemidji runs crossed the plate with two out in the top of the tenth inning to give Bemidji a 4-1 marathon first game win.

An error and a bases on balls put two Bemidji runners on base with one out in the tenth. A fly ball to leftfield resulted in the second out of the inning before three straight singles Red Beck, Harold Hart and Dan Degerman scored three runs. Hart was cut down at the plate trying to score on Degerman's base hit to end the inning.

Both teams scored third inning runs in the well-played game. Bemidji scored in the top half of the inning when Degerman reached base on an error and later scored on a fielder's choice. Thief River Falls scored when John Gunderson walked, stole second and scored after a pair of fielder's choice plays.

Bemidji scored two runs in the fourth inning to complete the doubleheader sweep with a 3-2 nightcap victory.

Thief River Falls scored in the first inning as Jeff Lindquist walked and scored on a double by Duane Gonsorowski.

Bemidji tied the game in the top of the second when Pete Maus stroked a lead-off double, went to third on a fielder's choice and scored on a wild pitch.

Thief River Falls took a 2-1 lead in the bottom of the frame in similar fashion as Mitch Dicken lead-off with a double, went to second on a wild pitch and scored on a sacrifice fly by Tim Erickson.

Bemidji scored twice in the fourth to win the game, however, as Tim Montebello and Maus hit back-to-back lead-off singles, moved up on a fielder's choice and scored on a double by Hart.

Babcock Leading TRF Fast Pitch Batting Charts

Lonnie Babcock, an Arctic Cat outfielder, reigns as the current leading hitter in the Thief River Falls men's fast pitch softball league, according to statistics announced last week by league commissioner Dick Bjerken.

Babcock has produced 15 hits in 28 at-bats this summer for an eye-catching .536 batting average through games played Wed., July 9.

Bruce Johnson of the American Legion squad and Scott Kleven of VFW share second place with identical .500 averages. Both players have 17 hits in 34 trips to the plate.

Vern Lindquist of Pepsi-Cola is the only other league ball player sporting an average above the lofty .400 plateau. Lindquist owns a .429 average on 12 hits at 28 at-bats.

East Division leading VFW boasts the most individuals among the league's top 14 hitters—four. VFW batters ranking among the league leaders include Kleven, tied for second at .500; Wayne Smith, sixth at .390; Wayne Liden, 13th at .342; and Paul Williams, 14th at .341.

Arctic Cat has three hitters among the 14, including Babcock, first at .536; Bruce Johnson, 10th at .350; and Tom Neibauer, 11th at .345.

Legion, Pepsi-Cola and Melvies all have two batters among the

Elks Beat Lions For TRF Elks Title

Elks defeated the Lions 10-3 Sunday in an all Thief River Falls final of the seventh annual Thief River Falls Elks youth baseball tournament played on the fairgrounds baseball diamond.

The two-day affair featured eight teams of 13-15-old baseball teams and was sponsored by the Thief River Falls Elks lodge 1308.

Rain delayed the start of Saturday's first round, and forced some games to be switched to a Red Lake Falls playing site. Saturday's opening round results found the Thief River Falls Lions knocking off Roseau 10-9 in nine innings, East Grand Forks outlasted the Bemidji Braves 11-10 in eight innings, the Thief River Falls Elks clubbered Red Lake Falls 13-3 and the Bemidji Lions defeated Detroit Lakes 5-3.

The Lions drilled East Grand Forks 10-1 and the Elks handled the Bemidji Lions 12-2 in a pair of one-sided Sunday afternoon semifinal games.

Roseau edged the Bemidji Braves 5-4 and Detroit Lakes stopped Red Lake Falls 6-4 in a pair of Saturday night consolation semifinal games.

Detroit Lakes defeated Roseau 9-2 in Sunday afternoon's consolation championship game.

Home Runs Spark TRF Past Argyle

Jeff Lindquist and Terry Sullivan hit home runs Friday to spark Thief River Falls past Argyle 7-1 in an American Legion Northwest League baseball game played at Argyle.

Lindquist stroked a two-run home run in the third inning to open the game's scoring and Sullivan hit a two-run shot in the sixth that widened the Thief River Falls lead to 5-0 at the time.

The win completed Thief River Falls' 1975 Northwest League obligations with a 6-1 record, earning coaching Rocky Wilson's ball club a share of the league pennant with East Grand Forks.

An RBI double in the fourth inning by Murray Melander was spaced between the home run blasts by Lindquist and Sullivan.

Argyle scored its lone run off Lindquist in the sixth when Bruce Chwialkowski hit a lead-off home run for a 5-1 game.

Thief River Falls finished the game's scoring in the seventh when Mitch Dicken walked and Jeff Tunberg, Lyle Johnson and Duane Gonsorowski all came through with singles for two runs.

Water, Mineral Divisions Split Apart By DNR

Commissioner of natural resources Robert Herbst announced today that the DNR's division of waters soils and minerals has been split into two separate divisions for administrative purposes.

Herbst said the work load of a single administrator of the combined division had proved to be excessive, and that efficient management required a separation of the functions.

"With the continuing demands imposed by the reserve mining case and the advent of copper nickel exploration, in addition to the regular routine management of the minerals operation," he said, "an administrator must be free to devote full time to this responsibility."

THIEF RIVER Falls Elks base runner Mark Thorstad managed to slide around the tag Saturday on a close play at third base during the Elks-Red Lake Falls first round game of the seventh annual Thief River Falls Elks youth baseball tournament. The Elks won the tournament championship by beating Red Lake Falls 13-3, the Bemidji Lions 12-2 and the Thief River Falls Lions 10-3 in Sunday's championship game.

Slow Pitch Features Tight Major, Commercial Races

First place in the Commercial Division and second place in the Major Division are hotly contested positions following Friday night's Thief River Falls slow pitch softball action.

Times-KTRF upset first place Grain Belt 7-3 in the night's key Commercial Division contest to put idle Furuseth-Nelson Inc. just a half game behind the division leaders. The Jaycees, whose game against Furuseth-Nelson was postponed, is just one game back.

Hamms-Pizza Hut edged Hartz 10-9 in eight innings and the first place Arctic Raiders stopped Solheim Furniture 8-5 to push Hamms-Pizza Hut ahead of Solheim Furniture in the Major Division second place chase.

Other Friday results found Northland Electronics beating Modern Woodman 10-8, Arctic Power whipped Hydra-Mac 21-11, Professional building edged Kat Haus 4-3, and Warehouse Foods clipped Popplers 13-10.

Week's Schedule

Mon., July 14—(1) Jaycees vs. Grain Belt; Professional Building vs. Popplers. (2) Kat Haus vs. Warehouse Foods; Times-KTRF vs. Furuseth-Nelson.
Tues., July 15—(1) Arctic Power vs. Hartz; Arctic Raiders vs. Modern Woodman. (2) Solheim Furniture vs. North. Electronics; Pizza Hut vs. Hydra-Mac.
Fri., July 18—(1) Hartz vs. Hydra-Mac; Furuseth-Nelson vs. Grain Belt. (2) Kat Haus vs. Popplers; Solheim Furniture vs. Modern Woodman. (3) Arctic Raiders vs. Arctic Power; Pizza Hut vs. North. Electronics. (4) Times-KTRF vs. Professional Building; Jaycees vs. Warehouse Foods.

Pro. Bldg. 4, Kat Haus 3

John Barry hit a bases loaded single with two out in the bottom of the seventh inning to lift Professional Building past Kat Haus 4-3.

Tom Barry's two-run third inning home run helped give Tom Nelson the pitching decision over Russ Delorme.

Warehouse 13, Popplers 10

Five Warehouse Foods batters combined for 16 of the team's 18 hits in a 13-10 win over Popplers.

Winning pitcher Bob Goff collected four hits in four at-bats for the winners while Bill Gallihar, Larry Kaiser, Gary Hamness and Dan Drevlow all went three for four. Kaiser hit a three-run home run to key a six-run Warehouse Foods first inning off losing pitcher Mike Stewart.

Power 21, Hydra-Mac 11

Bruce Johnson collected four hits in four at-bats, hit a home run and drove in seven runs to lead Arctic Power to a 21-11 five-inning win over Hydra-Mac.

Larry Poole and Dick Nieland also starred at the plate for Arctic Power by going three for four as the winners posted a sizeable 21-8 base hit advantage.

Dennis Bendickson was the game's winning pitcher. Dale Bergren took the loss.

Times-KTRF 7, Grain Belt 3

Paul Forsberg, Mike Lundgren and Don Howe all enjoyed three for four batting performances to spark Times-KTRF to a 7-3 upset win over Grain Belt.

Times-KTRF out-hit Grain Belt 16-6, with Forsberg picking up the pitching decision by holding Grain Belt hitless over the final four innings. Bill Weigelt was the loser.

Raiders 8, Solheim's 5

Bill Dicken stroked a three-run home run in the first inning to carry the Arctic Raiders to an 8-5 win over Solheim Furniture.

The Raiders opened a 4-0 first inning lead and stretched the margin to 7-1 in the fourth inning. The Raiders posted a 15-12 base hit advantage as Roger Reierson out-dueled Del Offerdahl on the mound.

Pizza Hut 14, Solheim 2

Hamms-Pizza Hut exploded for nine runs in the first inning enroute to a 13-2 five inning rout of Solheim Furniture.

Rick Dicken pounded out four hits in four at-bats for the winners, including a bases loaded triple in the first inning. Winning pitcher Roger Ness also enjoyed a perfect day at the plate, going three for three.

Hamms-Pizza Hut out-hit Solheim Furniture 17-5, collecting nine hits in the first inning. Paul Williams hit a first inning home run for Solheim Furniture. John Drury was the game's losing pitcher.

Pizza Hut 10, Hartz 9

Lyndon Pream hit a bases loaded single with two out in the bottom of the eighth inning to lift Hamms-Pizza Hut past Hartz 10-9.

The game was tied 6-6 at the end of the regulation seven innings when Hartz erupted for three runs in the top of the eighth, only to be out-done by a four-run burst by Hamms-Pizza Hut in the bottom of the frame.

Hamms-Pizza Hut enjoyed an 18-12 base hit advantage, with Pream going three for five. Sid Brouse hit the game's only home run for Hartz.

Roger Ness outlasted Jon Looker for the pitching decision.

N.E. 10, Woodman 8

Northland Electronics erupted for six runs in the first inning and tacked on four more in the sixth to edge Modern Woodman 10-8.

Modern Woodman held a 12-10 base hit edge, but the losers also topped the error charts 6-3. Pete Gunderson picked up three hits in three at bats for Northland Electronics to back the pitching of Wes Gjovik.

Minnesota Volunteer

The May-June edition of the "Minnesota Volunteer" is must reading for anyone interested in fishing in Minnesota.

The "Minnesota Volunteer" is the official publication of the department of natural resources and is published six times a year. The May-June edition is devoted to fishing in Minnesota with a fine centerfold by Minnesota's famous wildlife artist Ken Haag. He has pictured Minnesota's largest fish taken by angling. There is a listing of Minnesota's record fish, the year it was caught and by whom.

An in-depth article which takes a state-wide look at Minnesota's family of fishes combines research endeavors of Dr. John Moyle, Charles R. Burrows and Joe Scidmore. In another article Charles Burrows reveals: "Over one million of Minnesota's 3.8 million residents buy fishing licenses. An additional 530,000 kids under age 16 fish without licenses to bring our total resident fishing population to about 1,600,000. To this throng, we must add another 400,000 non-resident anglers."

Smallmouth Bass

Don Wendt of Grand Rapids congratulates Jerry Vogel of Hopkins for a fine string of smallmouthed bass caught in Big Turtle Lake near Deer River and Grand Rapids. The largest weighed five pounds and a string of three weighed 13 pounds 3 ounces. Ron Newstrom of Hopkins caught a smallmouth weighing four pounds one ounce. Deer Lake has produced some good smallmouth fishing.

Heard On The Radio

"There has been so much rain in the Dillworth area that the Buffalo river is under water."

Celebrity Golf Tournament

Bronko Nagurski, honorary chairman of the second annual Camp Confidence celebrity golf tournament, announced today that Les Kouba, internationally-known wildlife artist, will appear at the event to be held July 19, at the Brainerd Golf and country club. Kouba will be appearing not as a golfer, but rather doing his specialty—in this case, painting a scene of "whitetail deer visiting Camp Confidence."

The painting, which will be done at the golf course during the play of the tournament, will be sold with proceeds going to support the activities at Camp Confidence. Kouba gained fame as the creator of the federal duck stamps in 1958-59 and in 1967-68, but is perhaps best known through his paintings as an active supporter of Ducks Unlimited.

A field of 40 celebrities and 140 golfers are scheduled to tee-off in the 18-hole event set for Sat., July 19. Nagurski says that the celebrity field is filled but a few openings remain for golfers who wish to participate. Those wishing to play in the event should write to celebrity golf, Brainerd State hospital, 56401.

All proceeds from the tournament go to support Camp Confidence, a year-round camp and outdoor education center for the mentally retarded, which is located on Sylvan Lake near Brainerd. The 1974 tournament raised more than $18,000 for operation of the camp. Spectator tickets, which entitle the holder to a chance at thousands of dollars in prizes, are on sale throughout the state.

Record License Sales

Pennsylvania led all the states last year in sales of hunting licenses with 1.7 million licenses, tags, permits and stamps sold. California, Michigan, New York, Texas and Virginia ranked below Pennsylvania, each selling over the million mark.

Herbst Suggests DNR Changes For Voyageurs Park

Minnesota's commissioner of natural resources Robert Herbst has made it clear that he disagrees with some of the management plans advanced by the national park service for Voyageurs national park.

In a statement submitted at a public hearing in Duluth last month, Herbst informed the national park service that the department of natural resources does not support a planned total ban on hunting and trapping and disagrees with the forest management proposed for the area.

The commissioner also repeated his belief that Gold Portage Bay should be left outside of the park so that it would continue to be useable by duck hunters who have few good places to hunt in the immediate area.

Herbst also wanted to make clear that the DNR has jurisdiction over the fisheries resource and primary responsibility for fish management. He added that control over water and beds of the lakes within the park are the soverign right of the state and these rights have not been transferred to the federal government.

Returning to the hunting issue, Herbst said he was well aware of the policy of the national park service opposing public hunting within national parks but urged that an exception be made for the Voyageurs unit.

While agreeing with the philosophy that abundant wildlife be maintained for the benefit of park visitors, he said that without some hunting or trapping, wildlife populations in Voyageurs Park could build up beyond the carrying capacity of the habitat, ultimately resulting in widespread starvation or disease epidemics.

To avoid this, he advanced a unique proposal to allow limited public hunting with the use of muzzle loading muskets and bows and arrows.

"These are the tools used by the Indians and fur traders at the time of the voyageurs," he explained, "and the idea harmonizes well with the theme of the park.

"These men survived on their ability to take game. Hunting by the methods proposed is entirely consistent with the objective of re-creating the history of the region."

He added that trapping was the reason the voyageurs came to Minnesota in the first place and that if history is to be preserved in the park this activity should be continued, at least on a limited basis.

Without some trapping, Herbst said, there is a grave risk of over population of fur bearers, raising the possibility of outbreaks of tularimia and other diseases caused by excessive numbers.

He said both hunting and trapping could be "woven into" the park's interpretive program, which is designed to explain the areas ecology and history to park visitors.

Turning to the proposals in the master plan relating to forest management, Herbst said the stated objectives will not be achieved by the management methods proposed.

"The plan indicates that the goal of the national park service is to restore the pine forests found by the first voyageurs to the area but says that all natural forest fires are to be suppressed and only mentions the possibility of using controlled fires as a management tool.

"In fact, it will be impossible to restore the area to the 'great coniferous forest' envisioned in the master plan without the use of natural fires, presciribed burining or logging. Otherwise the forest will evolve to its natural 'climax' and any thought of re-establishing the original forest will be in vain."

Legion Blanks Newfolden 10-0

Jeff Tunberg and Tim Erickson combined to pitch a three-hit shutout Thursday as Thief River Falls blanked Newfolden 10-0 in an American Legion Northwest League baseball game played on the fairgrounds diamond.

Tunberg worked the first four innings of the 10-run rule shortened five-inning ball game, giving up only two singles while striking out three batters. He did walk a batter. Erickson pitched the fifth inning, striking out two batters and giving up one base hit in a short, but impressive stint on the mound for the outfielder.

Thief River Falls, meanwhile, made the most of seven base hits, combining that total with an equal number of walks for 10 runs. The winners left only three runners on base. In contrast, Newfolden put only four men on base.

A two-run single by Jeff Lindquist scored the game's first runs in the first inning after a pair of inning-opening walks had been issued to Tunberg and Brad Kosel.

Tunberg drove in two runs in the second inning with a double, scoring himself just moments later on a single by Kosel.

John Gunderson singled, stole second and scored on a base hit by Brian Peterson in the third inning. Peterson also stole second and scored on a pair of fielder's choice plays.

Thief River Falls wrapped up the 10-run rule win with a three-run fourth inning. Gunderson and Dicken were both hit by pitched balls and Murray Melander and Tim Erickson both walked to force in one run. A single by Tunberg scored two more runs.

Though summer is a time for enjoying the outdoors, everyone should stay alert to the importance of properly safeguarding their hearing ability. Care should be exercised, for example, when using noisy outdoor tools such as power lawnmowers and power saws to avoid prolonged or continuous exposure to excessive noise levels.

Adopt New Rules For 1975 Duck Stamp Contest

Annual duck-stamp contest for wildlife art to adorn next year's migratory bird hunting stamp opened officially on July 1.

Final regulations governing the administration of the contest were published in the "Federal Register" on June 19.

Artists interested in submitting an entry should write to the director, U.S. fish and wildlife service, audio visual office, Washington, DC., 20240, for copies of the contest rules and an entry form.

Entries will be accepted anytime after July 1, but must be received or postmarked no later than midnight, October 15.

Only one entry per person will be accepted.

The migratory bird hunting stamp was authorized and required by the migratory bird hunting stamp act of 1934. Popularly known as the duck stamps, they are sold through post offices and must be carried by every migratory waterfowl hunter over 16 years of age. All the stamp revenues, beyond printing and handling costs, are used solely for the acquisition of additional migratory bird refuges.

Prior to 1949, wildlife artists were commissioned to provide the design for the annual stamp. Since that time, the design has been chosen by a contest open to all artists who are residents or citizens of the United States. The prestige of winning the contest has enhanced the reputations of established artists and has elevated otherwise unknown artists to public acclaim.

The annual contest held by the service is the only art contest regularly sponsored by the federal government. The colorful stamps that are selected through the contest constitute the longest running, annually issued series of stamps in revenue or postage stamp history.

The newly adopted regulations describe the technical specifications for designs created for the contest.

Suggest Cleaning Flooded Tractor And Machinery

Silt and clay particles carried in flood water are small enough to get between surfaces of close-fitting machinery parts. These particles settle out in parts of tractors and machines that have been under flood water, according to the University of Minnesota extension service.

Special care is required in cleaning and conditioning flooded equipment. The cleaning operation should be done as soon as possible. Delay will make dirt harder to remove, and may cause considerable rusting and corrosion.

Tractor

Do not move a tractor that has been submerged nor attempt to turn the engine over because dirt will damage bearings and close-fitting parts. A tractor that has had the engine submerged should be completely taken apart. Each part must be well cleaned. The job should be handled by your dealer; if not, in a well-equipped shop. For a tractor that was not flooded deeper that the platform and has no water in the engine, service only the wheel bearings and other subjerged parts.

If you have urgent need for a tractor or engine or do not feel it is worth the cost of having it reconditioned by a mechanic, use the following procedure. (This procedure is not thorough enough to prevent eventual damage and need for overhaul).

(1) Remove spark plugs, air cleaner, intake manifold and carburetor. Clean and wash these parts thoroughly in kerosene or cleaning solvent.

(2) Drain the oil in crankcase and disconnect fuel lines.

(3) Crank the engine slowly with the spark plugs removed to force the water out of the cylinders.

(4) Squirt light lubricating oil into each cylinder and let stand for about five minutes. Then crank the engine slowly to permit oil to lubricate cylinder walls and rings.

(5) Completely flush the fuel system (tank, pump, lines, etc.).

(6) Replace magneto, starter and generator; or if time permits, clean and dry them. A specialist should service this equipment.

(7) Drain and flush the transmission and final drive with kerosene. Refill them with new, clean oil.

(8) Remove all wheel and track bearings that do not have positive seals and clean with kerosene or solvent. Replace them and lubricate with new lubricant. Factory-sealed bearings should not require cleaning if the seal is not broken.

(9) If there was a substantial amount of dirt in the crankcase, transmission, or gear train, the oil should be changed again after a few hours of operation.

Farm Implements

Before trying to operate any machine, inspect it carefully and remove all dirt and debris. If the implement has an engine that has been subjerged, do not attempt to start or even turn over the engine. Follow the reconditioning procedure outlined for tractor engines.

Carefully clean all exposed gears and sprockets with kerosene or solvent, then coat with light oil. Clean all chains by soaking and dipping them repeatedly in a bath of kerosene or solvent. Soak for several hours in a bath of light oil and drain off the excess oil.

Inspect enclosed gear cases for water or grit. If water or grit are present, or if you are in doubt, drain case, flush with kerosene, and refill. Clean and oil or grease all bearings that do not have protective seals. Nonsealed bearings with pressure grease fittings can sometimes be cleaned by merely forcing grease into them until a considerable amount has oozed out from the sides of the bearings. Remove the excess grease. Caution: Some sealed, factory-lubricated bearings are equipped with grease fittings. The seals of these bearings may be damaged if grease is forced out through them.

Examine all belts and repair or replace them if necessary.

Remove knives from mowers and choppers. Clean and dry the knives and cutter bars, coat with light oil and reassemble. Inspect the insides of equipment and remove accumulations of dirt, debris or water.

Clean all dirt and rust from the surfaces of soil-working tools (moldboards, disks, cultivator shovels, etc.). Coat them with rust-preventive compound, grease or used crankcase oil.

Remove all hay from balers. Clean and oil the bale-chamber surfaces. Clean and oil automatic typing machines. If disassembly is needed for thorough cleaning, this is best done by an experienced dealer serviceman.

INTENTIONAL DUPLICATE EXPOSURE

Suggest Cleaning Flooded Tractor And Machinery

Silt and clay particles carried in flood water are small enough to get between surfaces of close-fitting machinery parts. These particles settle out in parts of tractors and machines that have been under flood water, according to the University of Minnesota extension service.

Special care is required in cleaning and conditioning flooded equipment. The cleaning operation should be done as soon as possible. Delay will make dirt harder to remove, and may cause considerable rusting and corrosion.

Tractor

Do not move a tractor that has been submerged nor attempt to turn the engine over because dirt will damage bearings and close-fitting parts. A tractor that has had the engine submerged should be completely taken apart. Each part must be well cleaned. The job should be handled by your dealer; if not, in a well-equipped shop. For a tractor that was not flooded deeper that the platform and has no water in the engine, service only the wheel bearings and other subjerged parts.

If you have urgent need for a tractor or engine or do not feel it is worth the cost of having it reconditioned by a mechanic, use the following procedure. (This procedure is not thorough enough to prevent eventual damage and need for overhaul).

(1) Remove spark plugs, air cleaner, intake manifold and carburetor. Clean and wash these parts thoroughly in kerosene or cleaning solvent.

(2) Drain the oil in crankcase and disconnect fuel lines.

(3) Crank the engine slowly with the spark plugs removed to force the water out of the cylinders.

(4) Squirt light lubricating oil into each cylinder and let stand for about five minutes. Then crank the engine slowly to permit oil to lubricate cylinder walls and rings.

(5) Completely flush the fuel system (tank, pump, lines, etc.).

(6) Replace magneto, starter and generator; or if time permits, clean and dry them. A specialist should service this equipment.

(7) Drain and flush the transmission and final drive with kerosene. Refill them with new, clean oil.

(8) Remove all wheel and track bearings that do not have positive seals and clean with kerosene or solvent. Replace them and lubricate with new lubricant. Factory-sealed bearings should not require cleaning if the seal is not broken.

(9) If there was a substantial amount of dirt in the crankcase, transmission, or gear train, the oil should be changed again after a few hours of operation.

Farm Implements

Before trying to operate any machine, inspect it carefully and remove all dirt and debris. If the implement has an engine that has been subjerged, do not attempt to start or even turn over the engine. Follow the reconditioning procedure outlined for tractor engines.

Carefully clean all exposed gears and sprockets with kerosene or solvent, then coat with light oil. Clean all chains by soaking and dipping them repeatedly in a bath of kerosene or solvent. Soak for several hours in a bath of light oil and drain off the excess oil.

Inspect enclosed gear cases for water or grit. If water or grit are present, or if you are in doubt, drain case, flush with kerosene, and refill. Clean and oil or grease all bearings that do not have protective seals. Nonsealed bearings with pressure grease fittings can sometimes be cleaned by merely forcing grease into them until a considerable amount has oozed out from the sides of the bearings. Remove the excess grease. Caution: Some sealed, factory-lubricated bearings are equipped with grease fittings. The seals of these bearings may be damaged if grease is forced out through them.

Examine all belts and repair or replace them if necessary.

Remove knives from mowers and choppers. Clean and dry the knives and cutter bars, coat with light oil and reassemble. Inspect the insides of equipment and remove accumulations of dirt, debris or water.

Clean all dirt and rust from the surfaces of soil-working tools (moldboards, disks, cultivator shovels, etc.). Coat them with rust-preventive compound, grease or used crankcase oil.

Remove all hay from balers. Clean and oil the bale-chamber surfaces. Clean and oil automatic typing machines. If disassembly is needed for thorough cleaning, this is best done by an experienced dealer serviceman.

A MEMBER of the Norwegian parliament, Mrs. Ambourg Saelthun of Ljosne, Norway, stopped in Thief River Falls with her husband Olas, (second from right) Thursday for a two day tour of the area. The Saelthun's, who had attended a United Nations international women's year conference in Mexico city, flew to TRF from Mpls., where they were greeted by state representative John Corbid (left), Sylvia Olson (second from left), and Susan Malde (right), who acted as an interpreter. In the two days, the Saelthun's were escorted to a sugar beet farm in Hallock, a sheep ranch in Roseau, a sugar plant in Warren and an experimental station in Crookston. Mrs. Saelthun plans to prepare a report on area agricultural practices for the Norwegian parliament.

COUNTY BOARD PROCEEDINGS

July 14, 1975
OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS
Board of County Commissioners
Pennington County, Minnesota
July 1, 1975

Pursuant to a call for a special meeting because of the inclement rainfall the County Board met in special session in the Commissioners' Room in the Courthouse at 10:00 A.M. July 1, 1975.

Members present: Hanson, Christianson, Naplin, Stenberg and Tasa. All present.

All members waived the ten day statutory requirement for call of a special meeting.

Commissioner Stenberg introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption:

WHEREAS, reports of unusual and excessive rainfall in parts of Pennington County have been reported to the County Board, and

WHEREAS, concern for the welfare of those persons that are dependent upon farming for a livelihood prompts the Board to be concerned about the extent of possible damage to agriculture as well as public utilities.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the County Board request the County Disaster Committee to make investigation at their earliest opportunity to determine the extend of damage.

The foregoing resolution was duly seconded by Commissioner Hanson and declared unanimously carried.

A belated application for renewal of a Bottle Club License for the Thief River Golf Club was presented to the Board for consideration. Moved by Christianson seconded by Stenberg that application for renewal of a bottle club license from the State of Minnesota by the Thief River Golf Club be approved pursuant to MSA 340.14 and a fee of $100.00 be stipulated for a private club operating under a part year and approved for the period from July 1, 1975 to July 1, 1976 and the Chairman was instructed to affix his signature as approval of application. Motion declared unanimously carried.

Moved by Hanson seconded by Naplin that meeting adjourn. Motion declared carried.

Glenn Tasa, Chairman
Pennington County Board
Attest: C. W. Rodekuhr, County Auditor & ex-officio, Clerk of the Board.

OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS
Board of County Commissioners
Pennington County, Minnesota
July 3, 1975

Pursuant to call for a special meeting because of an additional unprecedented rainfall the night of July 1st and subsequent filing of a report by the Pennington County Disaster Committee the County Board met in special session in the Commissioners' Room in the Courthouse at 7:30 P.M., July 3, 1975.

Members present: Hanson, Christianson, Naplin, Stenberg and Tasa. All present.

All members waived the 10 day statutory requirement for call of a special meeting.

A report of Natural Disaster was reviewed as filed by the Pennington County USDA Emergency Board. The report stated adverse weather during the period from June 26 thru July 2, 1975 caused unprecedented damage to some 850 farmers and some 174,090 acres of crop and hayland.

After discussion it was determined that the Board should petition the Governor for a Federal Agricultural Disaster Designation by the Secretary of Agriculture. It was almost a foregone conclusion that a Presidential Declaration would be a necessity, but no accurate record of damage to roads and bridges was available at this early date, and that a more definitive report would have to be made later.

Commissioner Hanson introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption:

WHEREAS, the County of Pennington, Minnesota, has sustained catastrophic losses as a result of an unprecedented rainfall on June 30 and July 1, 1975, and

WHEREAS, an estimated 850 farmers in this County have been affected with losses sustained by 65 per cent of the major crops consisting of wheat, flax, oats, barley and corn and 80 to 100 per cent of the hay crop with the total acres involved totaling some 174,090 acres, and

WHEREAS, the Pennington County USDA Emergency Board has filed their report and recommendation that the County of Pennington, Minnesota should be designated as a Disaster Area to assure the availability of emergency loans to the farmers for seed, feed, fertilizer and other operating expenses.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Board of County Commissioners for and on behalf of the Citizens of Pennington County, request that Governor Wendell R. Anderson petition the Secretary of Agriculture for Federal Agricultural Disaster designation.

The foregoing resolution was duly seconded by Commissioner Naplin and upon vote declared unanimously carried.

The Board then discussed the problem of Solid Waste and the developments of recent days as they were discussed in joint session with the City Council of Thief River Falls and the Regional Development Commission.

Commissioner Stenberg introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption:

WHEREAS, a resolution has been received from the City of Thief River Falls indicating that they wish to have the County undertake a search for a site to locate a Solid Waste Landfill operation in the County, and

WHEREAS, it is imperative that soil borings be made to determine a proper site location.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Pennington County Soil Conservation Service be petitioned to assist the County in its search by assisting in preliminary soil tests required for a sanitary landfill operation at sites selected for sampling by consulting engineer D. H. Stewart.

The foregoing resolution was duly seconded by Commissioner Naplin and declared unanimously carried.

Glenn Tasa, Chairman
Pennington County Board
Attest: C. W. Rodekuhr, County Auditor and ex-officio Clerk of the Board.

Advise Stockmen To Watch Health Of Their Herds

In the wake of floodwaters there is some danger of infectious diseases, but unless serious outbreaks of infection have occurred recently, the danger is not sufficiently great to be alarming, reports the University of Minnesota extension services.

However, wherever animals are assembled in concentration pastures for care during the emergency, it is advisable to be on the watch for any indication of infectious diseases and arrange for the handling and feeding of the animals by an experienced stockman, under the supervision of a veterinarian. All contagious and infectious diseases should be reported promptly to the nearest veterinarian or county extension agricultural agent.

It is important to clean out all hog houses, barns and chicken houses and spray them with a good disinfectant before they are again occupied by livestock. It is also advisable to spray animals with a pyrethrum insect repellent.

In dairy barns remove debris, scrub and disinfect walls, ceiling, floors, stanchions, etc. The milk house and equipment should be scrubbed with detergent and hot water. Sanitize equipment, walls, ceilings and floors with dairy sanitizer solution.

Before restocking pastures that have been flooded, inspect them, especially along fence lines and corners. The short time taken will be well repaid through the prevention of cuts and other injuries to livestock from pieces of barbed wire, sharp metal and trash.

As soon as flood waters have subsided, search all pastures for dead animals.

If dead animals are found, dispose of them promptly to protect the living animals in the neighborhood. It is a good practice to dispose of all animal carcasses in a sanitary manner even though the danger may at times seem remote.

Whenever it is convenient, send carcasses of drowned animals to a rendering plant. Such carcasses may have some commercial value. If rendering is not practical, the dead animals should be disposed of on the premises. Burial is preferable to burning. Use power equipment, if it is available, to lighten the task.

Choose a site where subsurface drainage will not reach the water supply of persons or livestock. Burial should be deep, so that predatory animals cannot reach the carcasses.

Joie Chitwood Thrill Show To Appear At Fair

Precision driving and auto jumping by the Joie Chitwood Thrill Show, will be a featured attraction of the Pennington county fair Wednesday, July 30 at 7:30 p.m.

The show, originated by Joie Chitwood Sr. over 30 years ago and now presented by his sons Joie Jr. and Tim, features 21 acts including slides, spins, rollovers, crashes and precision driving on two wheels. For the show's grand finale, a rocket leap, an explosion will help propel a car 65 feet through the air from ramp to ramp.

Joie Chitwood Sr. now resides in Florida while his sons lead two units of daredevil drivers on tight schedules of one-night stands as far north as New England and as far west as the Dakotas. Far from carefree daredeveils, the Chitwood crew practices new acts days, weeks, or even months before they are included in the show.

Joie Jr. appeared in the show for the first time when he was five years old and is a 25 year veteran now. Tim, 24, has been driving for 18 of his years and has a degree in mechanical engineering from the University of Florida.

Kent J. Hanson Completes Life Insurance Class

Kent J. Hanson of Thief River Falls, local representative for Mutual of Omaha and United of Omaha, was recently awarded a certificate of proficiency for successful completion of an intensive course in life insurance underwriting.

The school, which incorporates advanced methods of educational training, utilizes audiovisual facilities. It was held in Omaha, Neb.

Invitations are extended only to career representatives and are based upon completion of study courses and sales achievements.

Food Containers Contaminated By Flood Need Care

If cartons or cases of food are contaminated following a flood, remove cans and glass containers and stack in separate piles to identify them if labels are lost, suggests the University of Minnesota extension service.

Put aside—and do not let anyone use—all containers with leaks, swelled ends, or faulty closures. Also, set aside all glass containers with porous closures, such as paper and fiber. (Do not destroy these unless you are afraid someone mistakenly will use them. Public health officials may be able to salvage them for use later).

Wash usable canned and glass-packaged foods with detergent and water. Rinse with clear water. Then cover containers with chlorine solution (1 tablespoon household bleach to each gallon of clear water) for at least one minute.

If labels have come off, mark contents on each container.

Clean rusty cans or metal lids with steel wood or wire brush. Select rusty containers first and use right away.

Carefully examine sealed metal drums, sealed metal-lined casks or cases, and sealed wooden barrels such as used for liquids. If leaks are found, put aside for health teams to check. Destroy containers that cannot be put where no one will use the foods until they are checked; they may be dangerous.

Examine sealed foil or celeophane containers carefully for leaks or breaks, and discard any damaged containers. If the food in these containers is normally finely divided (powdered or granulated) but is now caked or not free-flowing, discard. Discard sound foil packages which show stain on the inner paper wrapper. Unbroken packages with evidence of outer water contamination may be wiped dry and used.

For cans with fitted lid, non-sealed type (cocoa, baking powder, etc.), if there is damage from floodwater, open and examine. If the cans look wet or water has entered, or if dented, discard them.

Discard wooden boxes and barrels, fiberboard cases and drums, other cloth paper, and fiber containers if there are signs of damage by floodwaters.

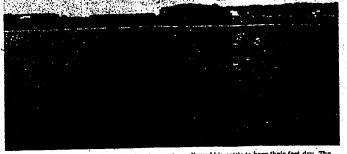
Clean fruits, root and tuberous vegatables and immerse for at least one minute in chlorine solution (1 tablespoon to each gallon of water). As additional precaution, peel these foods and cook before eating if possible. Discard head and leafy vegatables.

Roger Wagner Appointed To UMC Faculty

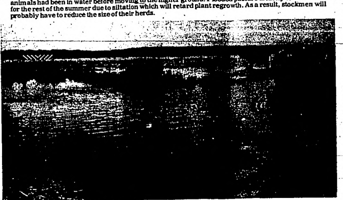
Roger A. Wagner, a native of Crookston, has been appointed to a teaching position on the faculty of the University of Minnesota technical college at Crookston, pending confirmation by the university's board of regents.

UMC provost Stanley D. Sahlstrom has announced that Wagner, who has been a science teacher in the Crookston public schools for the past nine years, will become an instructor of horticulture in the college's division of agriculture. His teaching duties will begin this fall.

All Thief River Falls Stores Open Thursday Nights 'til 9



ONLY A PENINSULA in the Verner Arveson pasture allowed his cattle to keep their feet dry. The animals had been in water before moving to the higher ground. Flooded pasture is likely to be useless for the rest of the summer due to siltation which will retard plant regrowth. As a result, stockmen will probably have to reduce the size of their herds.



THIS ROADWAY became a waterway during the flood in the River Valley area within the past two weeks. The cattle were able to find enough high ground for at least a few days of grazing.

Flood And Storm Damages May Be Tax Deductions

Flood and storm damages may be used as income tax deductions for individual taxpayers who itemize their deductions, according to the University of Minnesota agricultural extension service.

Amount of deduction earned may be figured by the amount of expenses needed to restore the property to its adjusted base or value before the disaster. Or the deduction may be figured by the decrease in fair market value.

Insurance and all other forms of recovery must be subtracted from the deduction when using either method to decrease income tax liability. The first $100 of casualty loss on personal property must also be subtracted from the deduction.

Evidence will be needed to support any claim. Before-and-after photographs, receipts and professional appraisals are considered good evidence.

Extension farm management specialists advise all taxpayers to be aware of the possibility of using the property-damage deduction, because it can greatly reduce income tax liability.

Webb Retires; Bridgeman Gets New Manager

Howard J. Webb, manager of the Bridgeman creameries, Grand Forks branch, has taken early retirement because of health reasons, and has retired effective July 1.

Webb, who is a native of Crookston, started his career with Bridgeman as a salesman in Grand Forks on March 1, 1947. He has also served as a Bridgeman manager at Crookston and later in Minot, N.D.

During his career, Webb became well known for his dairy production—marketing knowledge. His special field of interest is marketing frozen confections and novelty products.

He and his wife, Evelyn, will continue to reside in Grand Forks. They have one son, John, an attorney in Denver.

Webb's replacement as manager of the Bridgeman creameries, Grand Forks branch, will be Dennis Tollefson, 28. Tollefson has been with the Bridgeman organization for eight years in the production department. Tollefson and his wife, Patricia, have one son and reside in Grand Forks.

No Graduation Ceremony For U Summer Grads

There will be no August commencement ceremony on the Twin Cities campus of the University of Minnesota for students completing their studies during the university summer sessions.

Summer session graduates will instead be eligible to participate in December commencement ceremonies. As in the past, diplomas will be mailed to graduates after all records are cleared and course materials are completed.

The August commencement ceremony was eliminated this year when the university streamlined graduation programs, according to Claudia Wallace, university special events coordinator.

The large all-campus commencement ceremonies in June and December have been replaced by individual collegiate ceremonies.

PRECISION CRASHES, as well as precision driving, are featured during the Joie Chitwood Thrill Show, which will be appearing at the Pennington county fair Wednesday, July 30, at 7:30 p.m.

Substitute Feed Values Given For Livestock

Floods or other emergencies may cause shortages of conventional roughage feeds and necessitate substitutions in animal rations, according to the extension service of the University of Minnesota.

Fibrous grains such as oats and barley may be substituted for the greater part, if not all, the hay usually fed. Continued use of some hay is advised, unless the operator has had some experience in high-grain feeding. Amounts grain to supply all the maintenance and growth feed energy to animals under different conditions are listed below. If some hay is fed, grain figures can be reduced.

Amount of grain (1 lb.-Head-Day) required for maintenance, one-half pound of grain or one pound of gain is as follows: Animal Weight—200 pounds, 2.5, 3.4 and 4.5; 300 pounds, 3.3, 4.6, and 6.0; 400 pounds, 4.0, 5.6, and 7.2; 500 pounds, 4.6, 6.5 and 8.4; 600 pounds, 5.2; 7.3 and 9.4; 700 pounds, 5.8, 8.1 and 10.5; 800 pounds, 6.4, 8.9 and 11.4. This is assuming grain to contain 75 per cent TDN.

The extent of grain substitution for hay has to be decided by local availability and costs. Bulky hay cost more to ship than do grains, on the basis of feed value supplied. The cheapest feed often is not the best buy. If hay must be bought and hauled, it is wise to pay particular attention to quality. Cheap hay can cost more than it is worth, to ship.

Following floods available hay may be damaged by water and often is moldy. It is impossible to make a general statement of the value of such hays. Most of the molds that affect hays are quite harmless and can be safely fed. A few, however, are toxic. It is best to avoid feeding moldy hay when possible. When it must be fed, proceed with caution, diluting it with other (non-moldy) feeds as far as possible. Watch animals carefully for any signs of sickness. Bred cows and ewes are especially susceptible to troubles from such feeds. Sweet clover hay, when moldy, interferes with Vitamin K activity and may cause internal hemmorrhage.

Goodridge Man Enlists In Army

Kendall D. Jensen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Max J. Jensen of Goodridge, recently enlisted in the United States army for two years.

Jensen chose the field of tank crewman for his occupation. He will learn tank driving, maintenance and gunnery, plus use of small arms weapons, communications, map reading and landmine warefare. Upon completion of his seven weeks of basic training in Fort Knox, Ky., Kendall will advance to crewman training, an eight-week course at Fort Knox.

Woltas To Direct Aircraft At AFB In Grand Forks

Airman John O. Woltas, son of Mrs. Orpha J. Woltas of Greenbush, has graduated at Keesler AFB, Miss., from the U.S. air force air traffic controller course conducted by the air training command.

The airman, now qualified to direct aircraft to radar controlled landings and regulate air traffic, is being assigned to Grand Forks AFB, N.D., for duty with a unit of the air force communications service.

Airman Woltas is a 1974 graduate of Greenbush high school.

Randy Merriman To Visit County Fair At Warren

Randy Merriman, the Minnesota state fair "Statesman," will be in Warren Sunday to visit the Marshall county fair and its officials in behalf of the state fair, which opens on August 21.

As part of his official "Statesman" duties, Merriman will be presenting a certificate of appreciation to the Marshall county fair board for their all-out cooperation and participation in making the Minnesota state fair world famous as the "Great Minnesota Get-Together".

We Urge You To Vote Yes In the Special Election Thursday.

We were pleased to endorse the $2 million bond issue for the medical office building a few weeks ago. Of course, we were sorry that bids came in above the estimate. It means more money will be needed for financing. But we remain totally convinced that the need for the new facility is great and that it should be built, in spite of the increased costs. We wish to re-emphasize our endorsement of this project.

SITE VISIT to Northwestern hospital in Thief River Falls was made Monday by Sandra Rorem, manager, and Dr. David Spencer, program director, of Smiley's Point clinic in Minneapolis. The local hospital is being considered as a site for a rotating residency program in family practice. On site visits are being made by the team to 25 hospitals in the state with eight to be selected for the program. Hospitals contracted for the program would host medical doctors for a period of a month at a time and the doctors would handle examination and treatment of patients. About eight doctors a year could be expected to participate. Meeting with the site visit team, Dr. Jerome Bray (right), chief of the medical staff, shows the team a drawing of the proposed medical office building addition to the hospital.

Special Election On Bond Sale Thursday

Special election on the sale of $800,000 in supplementary bonds for the construction of a new medical office facility addition to Northwestern hospital in Thief River Falls will be held Thursday. Polls will be open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Question asked on the ballot will be: "Shall the City of Thief River Falls be authorized to borrow money by issuing its general obligation revenue bonds (in addition to the $2,000,000 general obligation revenue bonds authorized by the electors on April 15, 1975) in the amount of $800,000 to provide funds for the construction and equipment of an addition to Northwestern hospital, for use as a hospital and related medical facility, to be leased to Northwestern hospital of Thief River Falls, a Minnesota non-profit corporation?"

The April 15 bond issue of $2 million fell short of the needs when the construction bids opened June 5 came in well in excess of previous estimates. The city of Thief River Falls, which owns the present hospital, has authorized the special election at the request of the hospital's board of trustees.

Low bidders on the project have agreed to hold their bids beyond the normal 30-day holding period, therefore a majority of yes votes on Thursday would permit construction to begin soon. No further bidding or other actions requiring time for notification would be required.

Polling places for the special election will be as follows: First ward, Northrop school; second ward, Masonic hall; third ward, city auditorium; fourth ward, Knox school; and fifth ward, Franklin school. A yes vote is in favor of the supplemental bond issue and a no vote is opposed to it.

A public hearing called for Monday evening in the city auditorium resulted in only one community resident appearing in addition to hospital and city officials.

Name New President For Northland College Here

Northland community college in Thief River Falls will have a new president for the 1975-76 school year following action taken Tuesday afternoon by the Minnesota board for community colleges in St. Paul. The board agreed to appoint Dr. Theodore (Alex) Easton to the position and he will assume his duties here early in August.

Dr. Easton will become the third president of Northland, succeeding Victor Charles who left in September of 1974 to become assistant to the president of Anoka-Ramsey community college. Charles White was the first president of the college which began in rented quarters in Lincoln high school.

Kenneth Wiebolt, who has served as acting president of the college during the past year, will continue in his previous position as dean of students.

Contacted by the Times at Nebraska Western college at Scottsbluff, where he has served as president since January of last year, Dr. Easton is "extremely happy to have been chosen and looking forward both professionally and personally to joining the Thief River Falls community."

He added that he believes there is great potential at Northland and that he anticipates continuing efforts to make the college and its services more familiar and available to the community it serves. Community colleges everywhere have a challenge to meet in growth and service, he said, and he hopes to be able to help Northland meet that challenge.

Selection of Dr. Easton was made by the chancellor of the state community college board from a list of three candidates submitted by a local selection committee. It was the purpose of the local committee, comprised of college advisory board, administration, faculty and student representatives, to take applications and conduct interviews before submitting three candidates to the chancellor's office.

Since January of 1974 Dr. Easton has been president of Nebraska Western college at Scottsbluff, a comprehensive community college currently enrolling 760 credit and 1,500 non-credit students. For the prior five years he was dean of the college with responsibilities including general supervision of all internal affairs of the college.

He received his Doctor of Education degree in 1973 from the University of Colorado with a major in higher education administration and emphasis on community college administration. He holds a 60 semester hour certificate awarded in 1965 from the University of Texas for work in educational psychology. His Master of Education degree in guidance and couseling came from the University of North Dakota in 1962 and he received his Bachelor of Science degree in 1957 from Dickinson state college in North Dakota.

Dr. Easton, 40, is married and he and his wife Zona have four children: Lili, 18; Stephen, 17; Julie, 14; and Wendy, 12. The new

Ardys Olson Is 2nd Runner-Up In State Event

Ardys Olson, 17, daughter of Art Olson of Thief River Falls and Gunvar Olson of Ortonville, was named second runner-up in the Miss Minnesota teenager pageant held Friday and Saturday at Augsburg college in Minneapolis.

Miss Olson, who is living in Thief River Falls this summer and will be a senior at Ortonville high school this fall, received a trophy and $250 scholarship for her runner-up finish at the event.

Named as the Miss Minnesota Teenager from among 27 semi-finalists was Barbara Perron of White Bear Lake. First runner-up was Chris Cook of Brooklyn Center who was also named Miss Congeniality. Following Miss Olson as third runner-up was Linda Kremer of Fergus Falls with Peggy Finn of Staples as fourth runner-up.

The 27 semi-finalists who appeared in the pageant were selected from more than 200 applicants.

Friday events included rehearsal of production numbers, get-acquainted period with the candidates and practice for the program. Friday evening the candidates read the essays they had prepared and attended a social which followed that part of the pageant.

Saturday included more rehearsals, lunch and interviews with the judges, and the pageant itself. Pageant included presentation of the production number, modeling of evening gowns and reading of the essays selected at the previous night's judging. Fourteen finalists were selected and the state winner and runners-up were chosen from that group.

1976 County Crop Wheat Acre Allotment Given

A 1976-crop wheat allotment of 14,541 acres for Pennington county was recently announced by Kermit Finstad, chairman, County ASC committee. An allotment of 1,103,925 acres has been proclaimed for Minnesota, and 61.6 million acres is the national wheat allotment determined last April.

The 1976 national allotment was computed on the basis of an estimated national yield of 33.1 bushels per acre and estimated total utilization (less imports) for the 1976-77 marketing year of 2,040 million bushels. Domestic use was projected at 841 million bushels; exports at 1,200 million bushels and imports at 1 million bushels.

The 8.1 million-acre increase in the national allotment over the 53.5 million-acre total for 1975 is primarily due to a substantial improvement in the export outlook since the 1975 allotment was established a year ago. At that time, total wheat utilization for 1975-76 was expected to be about 1,750 million bushels (including 950 million for exports) whereas currently the estimate for 1975-76 ranges from about 1,859 to 1,984 million bushels of which some 1,050 to 1,200 million bushels in projected for export.

Allotments do not represent a limit on the amount of wheat that may be planted. Rather, they are used solely as a basis for making payments to growers should the market price for wheat fall below the established target price or if growers qualify for disaster payments. Under these two programs, growers are eligible for payments only on alloted acres.

Arthur Hamrum Heads Plummer School Board

Arthur Hamrum was elected chairman of the Plummer board of education Monday evening at the reorganization of the board for the 1976 fiscal year. Hamrum was elevated from the post of vice chairman to succeed Ray Rosten.

Jerry Gerardy, a new member of the board, was elected vice chairman to succeed Hamrum. Merlin Carlson was elected as clerk to succeed Melvin Eskeli and Dwight Robidoux was reelected treasurer. Other board members are Eskeli and Jerry Fritag.

Robidoux, who had been appointed to the board to fill an unexpired term, was elected for a two-year period of service in the 1975 election. Gerardy and Fritag were elected for three-year terms.

In other business at the reorganizational meeting, the Times was designated as the official newspaper for the school district and the Plummer state bank and First Northwestern bank of Thief River Falls were named as official depositories of District 628 funds, according to Supt. Edward Arntson.

County Board Submits New Resolution To Governor

Ah-h-h -h-h-h!

REFRESHING FLING in the pool is a good way to cool off during the hot days which have descended upon the Times area. Temperatures into the 90's on Tuesday and today have caused area residents to seek whatever means available to keep their cool. Bobbi Nyland risked whiplash in exchange for a cool in the pool to attempt this Times photo.

Pennington county board of commissioners, during meetings Monday and Tuesday in the county courthouse, passed a resolution to be sent to Governor Wendell Anderson asking that the governor submit a request to the President to designate Pennington county as a major disaster area based on detailed damage estimates included in the resolution.

The board had passed a similar resolution July 3, and the governor has already submitted a disaster request as a result of this resolution. But the board decided that a more proper resolution, one providing specific information on the value of the losses (gathered by the county disaster committee), should be sent to Anderson.

County auditor C. W. Rodekuhr, in a letter accompanying the resolution, said the estimates of losses are preliminary and, in the opinion of the board, much lower than first thought. "The county road and bridge crew worked long and hard and, in all instances, were able to hold bridge losses to minor repairs rather than complete washouts by placement of gravel and fill in the right places at the right time", he wrote.

The resolution reported that an estimated 75 miles of county, state aid and township roads received severe to moderate damage by washouts and erosion, with approximately eight bridges and two large culverts also damaged, totaling about $90,000. In addition, an estimated 158½ miles of public drainage ditches have been extensively damaged by erosion and siltation, causing $132,300 damage.

According to the resolution, although damage to roads and bridges were less than originally estimated, agricultural losses due to rainfall were extensive. An estimated 850 farmers sustained crop and hayland losses on 170,090 acres of wheat, flax, oats, barley and corn with an estimated 65 per cent loss for each type of crop and an estimated 80 to 100 per cent loss of hay. An estimated 30 farm homes, 100 other farm buildings and 30 to 40 pieces of farm machinery were damaged.

Total agricultural damage was estimated at $20,200,000, bringing the grand total of estimated damages to $20,422,527.

In other matters, Leonard Skaar, representing the county Soil Conservation service, requested and received from the board approval to enter into an SCS contract for soil sampling in Pennington county over a two year period. The project in the county is estimated at $39,000 with the state, federal and county governments equally sharing the cost. The sampling is desired by many city and county groups, including the Thief River Falls city council, to assist individual and organizational agriculture planning.

The vote on the resolution was 4-0 in favor, with commissioner Odin Hanson abstaining.

Approximately 45 area farmers approached the board to advise caution on any future drainage projects on the Red Lake river due to the high water in ditches.

Scout Day Camp Bus Pickups Set

Thief River Falls Girl scout day camp will be held at Camp Moe for two sessions beginning Monday. The first session will be July 21-25 and the second July 28-August 1. Camp will be run from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. daily.

Transportation to and from the camps will be by bus, with pickups scheduled to begin at 9:30 a.m. at Northrop school and continue on at Washington, Knox and Mark Twain schools. The bus will return to the schools at approximately 3:30 p.m.

SECOND RUNNER-UP trophy was won by Ardys Olson, daughter of Art Olson of Thief River Falls, in the Miss Minnesota Teenager pageant held Saturday at Augsburg college in Minneapolis. There were 27 semi-finalists in the contest which attracted more than 200 applicants from throughout the state. Ardys will be a senior at Ortonville high school this fall.

Summer Theatre Now Rehearsing For Final Play

Music . . . dancing, singing . . . the wit and fancy of an old-fashioned hero and heroine . . . the sinister deeds of a villain . . . a melodrama delicately touched with the romanticism of Nelson-Eddy and Jeannette MacDonald's musicals. These are the items which describe the final production of the Northland summer theatre, "Little Mary Sunshine". The Northland company will present the musical at the Northland college theatre Monday through Friday, July 28 through August 1, at 8 p.m.

Tickets are already on sale for this musical production and may be purchased at Larson Music company in downtown Thief River Falls or by calling the college ticket office at 681-2181. Senior citizens wishing to get free tickets, available for the Monday evening performance only, should call the college office soon.

Students (at any school, college, university or technical school) may get reduced rate tickets for one dollar, available for the Thursday evening performance only. All special rate ticket reservations must be called in by Friday, July 25. The office is open from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on weekdays. Regular rate tickets may be reserved for any evening and are on sale at the rates of $1.75 for adults, $1.25 for students, and 75 cents for children under 12 years of age.

Directing the production is Michael L. Tillmann, Northland guest director from Marshall. Tillmann has directed all eight Northland summer theatre productions since the inception of the program in the summer of 1973. In addition, he has served as director of the Hayward, Wis., Thief River Falls and Marshall high school theatres; the Thief River Falls Community Theatre production of "A Thurber Carnival" in 1971 and the Marshall Four Winds community theatre production of "The Wizard of Oz" in 1974. He holds a B.S. degree in speech, theatre and English from the University of Wisconsin-Rover Falls and an M.A. degree in speech and communication theory from the University of

Members of Northwestern hospital association who wish to nominate candidates for the board of trustees have until July 23 to make such nominations in accordance with by-laws of the organization. Annual meeting of the association will be held Monday, July 28, at 8 p.m. in the chapel of the hospital's convalescent and nursing care unit.

Nominating committee of the association has placed the names of James Engelstad, Marvin Lundin and James Winjum in nomination for election for three-year terms. All are presently serving on the board and three directors are to be elected at the annual meeting.

Any member of the hospital association may submit additional nominees but must do so in writing to the secretary of the association at the hospital at least five days before the annual meeting. Only members of the hospital association may be nominated and no nominations may be submitted at the annual meeting.

According to by-laws of the association, no trustee may serve more than three elected terms of three years each. A trustee who has served three elected terms will not be eligible for renomination as a trustee until three years after his final term.

Fiscal year of the hospital association is May 1 through the following April 30. Reports of the activities of the association and operation of the hospital will be presented by various officers of the association.

Membership in the Northwestern hospital association is open to anyone and requires only the purchase of a $10 lifetime membership which is not transferrable. Association membership may be purchased at the hospital administrative offices.

Edward Hulberts Are Honored On 25th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Hulbert of 23852 Candor Lane, El Toro, Calif., were the honor guests at a surprise 25th wedding anniversary open house on Wednesday evening, July 2.

Hulbert is the son of Mrs. Lucile Hulbert, long-time resident of Thief River Falls, and the late Dr. Alton Raymond Hulbert. He is presently serving as manager of Serve-Mart at the El Toro Base. He and his wife, Ronnie Ann of Barstow, Calif., were married 25 years ago in Las Vegas, Nev. They have made their home at El Toro for the past seven years.

Hosting the anniversary celebration were the couple's two daughters: Dena Ann Hulbert, who attends Saddleback college, and Mrs. Martin (Donna) Condon, who lives at Orange, Calif., with her husband and two sons, Jason, 5, and Tyrone, almost four.

Approximately 100 relatives and friends were invited to the celebration and were guests at a buffet dinner which included an assortment of salads, a garnished tray of cold cuts, mixed nuts, mints, punch, mixed drinks and champagne. A decorated cake was also served.

The couple received many greeting cards, gifts and letters from relatives and friends who were unable to attend, as well as from those who were present.

OBSERVING their 50th wedding anniversary on July 6 at an open house celebration at the Nazareth Lutheran church at Holt are Mr. and Mrs. Harry Engen, the center couple. With them for the occasion were their attendants at the wedding 50 years ago, Mrs. Emma Haagenson and Carl Lunke, cousins of Mrs. Engen.

Harry Engens Of Holt Observe 50th Anniversary

Approximately 200 relatives and friends attended the open house on Sunday, July 6, at the Nazareth Lutheran church in Holt in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Engen. The event was in observance of the couple's 50th wedding anniversary.

Hosting the anniversary celebration were the couple's children: Harley Engen of Seattle, Wash., Mrs. Walter (Delores) Smith of Moorhead, Vernon of Warner Robins, Ga., Mrs. Lyle (Rebecca) Olson of Holt, and Mrs. Don (Janice) Critchley of Red Lake Falls, together with their families, which includes 12 grandchildren.

Also present were the couple's attendants of 50 years ago, Mrs. Emma Haagenson and Carl Lunke, cousins of Mrs. Engen. They together with the honored couple were presented with rose corsages and corresponding boutonnieres from the hosting children. For the occasion, Mrs. Engen and Mrs. Haagenson wore aqua floor-length gowns.

The couple's granddaughters served punch to the guests as they arrived. Mrs. Art Lunke, a sister-in-law, presided at the guest book. Centering the serving table was a three-tiered anniversary cake, supported by a center pedestal. A filigried ornament, featuring entwined wedding rings, topped the upper tier and a 50th anniversary symbol topped the middle tier. For the reception, decorated sheet cakes were cut and served by Mrs. Bertil Ness and Mrs. Clifford Jorland, sisters of Mrs. Engen.

Coffee was poured by Mrs. Gladys Brown of Mayville, N.D., sister of Engen, and Mrs. Hilmer Lunke, a sister-in-law of the couple. Members of the Mary circle of the Nazareth Lutheran Church Women served the reception.

Relatives and friends attending were from Warner Robins, Ga., Grand Forks, Fargo and Mayville, N.D.; Tucson, Ariz.; Portland, Ore.; Fairbanks, Alaska, Alameda Calif.; Iowa Falls, Iowa.; Thief River Falls, Moorhead, Red Lake Falls, Duluth, Crookston, St. Hilaire, Middle River, Holt, and Newfolden.

With the exception of three years, when the couple lived at Aurora, Mr. and Mrs. Engen have lived at Holt since their marriage. They farmed for a short time before moving into Holt where Egen operated a garage for 12 years and a store and cafe for 10 years. They are members of the Nazareth Lutheran church, the Senior Citizens Keenagers, the Sons of Norway and the Eagles lodge.

Dawn Rae Hegge Weds Dale J. Hanson At Oklee

Bouquets of white garden flowers graced the altar at Zion Lutheran church in Oklee on Saturday, June 7, for the candelight wedding of Miss Dawn Rae Hegge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hegge of Oklee, and Dale Justin Hanson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orlin Hanson of Goodridge.

Rev. Charles Gunderson officiated at the double ring ceremony. Aimee Anderson, a friend of the couple, sang "On Top of the World," and "Wedding Song", during the ceremony, "Wedding Prayer," as the couple knelt at the altar following the exchanging of the vows, and "Welcome to My World," after the couple lit the wedding candle symbolizing oneness. Accompanist was Julie Aanenson, a friend of the bride.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father. She was attired in a floor-length gown of ivory bridal sateen with pearl embroidered lace sleeves, stand-up collar and plastron, all edged with coordinating lace trim. Matching lace encircled the skirt at the hemline. At the waistline was a narrow satin sash that was tied in back in a bow. Flowing from her satin headpiece into a chapel-length train was a veil of bridal illusion, edged with the same lace that trimmed her gown. She carried a modified cascade of red roses and white carnations.

Maid of honor was Miss Jean Rustan, a friend of the bride. Other attendants were Mrs. Dale Spong, a sister of the bride, and Miss Linda Sollie, a friend. They wore identical floor-length gowns in pastel floral print in green, yellow and pink, respectively. Their empire-fashioned gowns were styled with stand-up collars and long sleeves with cuffs. Large, floppy hats, the same color as their gowns, completed their attire. Each carried a single white mum centered with a rose accenting their gown and hat.

Cindy Johnson served the bride as her personal attendant.

Best man was Kenneth Lindblom, a friend. Harlen Iverson, a cousin of the groom, and Dean Hanson, a brother, were groomsmen. The ushers were Loren Hegge, brother of the bride, and Vance Haugen, a cousin of the groom. The groom wore an ivory-colored suit and shirt, trimmed in brown. His boutonniere was a red rose taken from his bride's bouquet. His attendants wore brown tuxedos with ivory shirts, and white carnation boutonnieres, wich colored centers, matching the flowers carried by the bride's attendants.

The mother of the bride was attired in a pink floor-length gown with a coordinating floral print jacket. She wore white accessories and a corsage of white mums with yellow rose bud centers. The groom's mother wore a pink floor-length gown with matching sheer sleeves, white accessories, and a corsage of white mums with pink rose bud centers.

Special honor guests at the ceremony were the groom's great-grandmother, Mrs. Caroline Haugen of Thief River Falls, his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Haugen, and his paternal grandmother, Mrs. Selma Hanson of Goodridge.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlors with Mr. and Mrs. Marlyn Haugen, uncle and aunt of the groom, as host and hostess. The bride's sister, Mrs. Don Burback of White Bear Lake, registered the guests. At the punch bowl were Ellen Hegge, sister-in-law of the bride, and Rosetta Hruby, a friend of the bride.

Centering the serving table was a wedding cake made and decorated by Mrs. Martha Walhaug, a friend of the bride. The cake, featuring a miniature bridal party, was topped with a bride and groom, corresponding with the bridal party descending the miniature stairs. Mrs. Leona Sletto, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Vernon Iverson, aunt of the groom, cut and served the cake. Pouring were Mrs. Elna Halle and Mrs. Charles Prigge, aunts of the bride and groom, respectively.

Waitresses were Colleen Burback, niece of the bride, Julie Moen and Kimm Larson, cousins of the bride, and Karen Haugen and Kim Prigge, cousins of the groom. Gift bearers were Donna Davis, Karen Moen and Lori Kvasager, cousins of the bride, and Lila Baraness, a friend of the bride. Wendy Larson, a cousin of the bride, Don Burback, Jr., a nephew of the bride, and Deone Haugen, a cousin of the groom, distributed the wedding favors. The women of the Grace circle of Salem church assisted in the kitchen.

Out-of-town guests were from Grand Forks and Bismarck, N.D., Goodridge, Climax, Warren, Fisher, Ada, Kennedy, Hibbing, Gilbert, Thief River Falls, East Grand Forks, Red Lake Falls, Gully, Moorhead, Grygla, White Bear Lake, Trail, Twin Valley, Garfield, Minneapolis, Plummer and Bagley.

The couple is now at home in rural Goodridge where the groom is farming with his father. He is also employed by Edson Construction company. Photo, Lund Photography, Roseau.

25th Anniversary Is Observed By Earl Waterworths

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Waterworth of Newfolden were honored on their silver wedding anniversary on Sunday, July 6, with an open house sponsored by their children, Jonathan and Marie Waterworth of Wichita, Kans. Cindy, of Chicago, Ill., and David and Philip of Newfolden. Reverend and Mrs. Jonathan Waterworth of Wichita, were unable to attend the festivities, but called to extend their congratulations.

For the occasion Mrs. Waterworth wore a mint green polyester dress. Her corsage or red roses and white carnations and Waterworth's white carnation boutonniere were gifts from their children.

Mrs. Rolland Amundson presided at the guest book. Mrs. Albert C. Peterson, mother of Mrs. Waterworth, and Mrs. Ray Thibodo, both of Stephen, cut and served the cake. Mrs. Thibodo also cut the wedding cake 25 years ago.

The anniversary cake, baked and decorated by Mrs. DuWayne Olson, featured pillared tiers with accents of bells and silver lace. Fresh pink roses, carnations, and babys' breath graced the layers. These flowers were gifts of Mr. and Mrs. DuWayne Olson. Topping the cake was a silver christogram.

Mrs. Paul Waterworth of Drayton, poured the coffee as Mrs. Rodney Liedberg and Miss Janell Hanson served the punch. Mrs. Lowell Hogberg, Mrs. Wallace Hanson, Mrs. DuWayne Olson, and Mrs. Aaron Waterworth assisted with the serving. Hosts and hostesses for the afternoon were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Anderson of Stephen, uncle and aunt, and Mr. and Mrs. William Waterworth of Newfolden. Waterworth was best man at the wedding in 1950. All were presented with carnation corsages and boutonnieres.

Friends and relatives who attended the anniversary celebration were from Denver, Colo., Missoula, Mont., Chicago, Ill., Grand Forks, Cavalier, and Drayton, N.D., East Grand Forks, Thief River Falls, Minneapolis, South St. Paul, Embarrass, Gary, Gully, Middle River, Karlstad, Strandquist, Viking, Argyle and Newfolden, Minnesota.

The Waterworths,' Earl and Eunice, were married June 29, 1950 at the Eagle Point Baptist church or rural Stephen. They have since made their home on a farm by Newfolden.

County Board Submits New Flood Request

After discussion, the board passed a resolution requesting a meeting with the Red Lake Watershed district to discuss drainage problems along the river. The board will introduce several proposed projects at the meeting, including: A survey of the river to examine the possibility of increasing its water capacity; construction of ditches and dikes on the northern and southern lines of the Red Lake Indian reservation; and establishment of impoundment areas during high water periods.

City engineer D. H. Stewart, a consultant for the county in solid waste proposal discussions, reported that a number of sites in the county are being investigated for possible use as a sanitary landfill. The board approved a suggestion that an SCS drill rig, soon to arrive in the area, be used to help determine underground soil conditions at some of these sites.

A resolution was passed converting the state-aid road 18 designation from the Long's bridge road north of the city to the golf club road. The Long's bridge road does not meet minimum state road standards.

Commissioner Arthur Christianson was selected by the board to serve on a task force formed by the Northwest Regional Development commission to discuss the mental health needs of the region.

Wallace Sparby, executive director of the agriculture stabilization and conservation committee, addressed the board to discuss a federal program to provide farmers payments for pasture renovation practices. The board approved the program, although no direct action was requested.

The board appropriated $8,200 to the county fair board as its annual payment for fair publicity and operation and $1,565 for the purchase of a riding lawnmower to be given to the county historical society.

Summer Theatre Now Rehearsing For Final Play

North Dakota.

The cast for "Little Mary Sunshine" is led by Kathy Wald, a graduate of Lincoln high school and currently a music major at Moorhead state college. The male lead is played by Rick Erickson of Viking, a recent graduate of Warren high school. Other major roles are played by Charles Erickson of Roseau, Myrnelle Brusegaard, Donna Keck, Billy Saetre, Paul Mehrkens and Joel Peterson, all of Thief River Falls.

Other cast members are Leigh Ann Harris, Judy Stoffel, Anne Saetre, Jan Swanson, Jane Olson, Perry Bucholz, Chris Cuppett, Deb Penning and Gary Heaton.

"The cast has been doing an outstanding job in preparing for this musical. The music is learned, the scenes are blocked and we are anxiously awaiting the rented sets and costumes to complete the 'look' of the production. This is a fun play . . . it is the unrealistic magic of a musical spoof at its very best and should provide entertainment for all who see it."

"Little Mary Sunshine" is still nearly two weeks away, but ticket reservations are going well, and those who plan to see the show should arrange for tickets soon, he added.

COLLISION BETWEEN a car and tractor at 11 p.m. on Highway 59, one mile south of Thief River Falls resulted in an injury to the driver of the tractor and extensive damage to the car and property west of the highway when the driverless tractor ran uncontrolled. Marshall Scott Kays of the city was driving north on 59 when he struck a tractor without lights driven by William Boman of St. Hilaire, which was headed north on the highway. The impact threw Boman to the ground causing him a fractured shoulder. The tractor turned off the road, through a ditch, and continued on. It passed through the yard of the Phillip Groethe residence, knocking down several trees and crossing a garden. It proceeded into the Lloyd Seaverson farm, where it ripped free several hundred feet of barbed wire fence and crashed into a gate. Kays was uninjured, but the car received an estimated $600-$700 damage.

Jeffrey Walton Rites Held At Middle River

Funeral services for Jeffrey Walton, 25, of Hill City and formerly of Middle River, were held Thursday at 3 p.m., at the First Lutheran church in Middle River. Walton died Sunday evening, July 6, in a boating accident at Quadna Hill Lake near Hill City.

Rev. Donald Fredine officiated at the services. Mrs. Floyd Peterson was the organist and Alan Luoto, the soloist. Interment was in the church cemetery with the Collins Funeral home of Middle River in charge of arrangements.

Serving as honor guard were fellow Conservation officers.

Honorary pallbearers were Ike Anderson, Wally Hershback, Robert Wiljelm, Tom Chapin, Tim Peterson and Duane Lhotka.

Active Pallbearers were Rick Holmes, Roger Ryba, Wallace Walton, Charles Walton, William Halme and Dale Anderson.

Jeffrey Eugene Walton was born June 23, 1950 at Thief River Falls to Henry and Lavon Walton. He attended school in Middle River and was a 1968 graduate of that high school. He also attended the Brainerd area vocational insitute for two years.

Walton was employed by the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources. He was a forestry technician for three years, and at the time of death was a conservation officer, stationed at Hill City.

He is survived by one daughter, Kari, of Strandquist; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Walton of Middle River; one sister, Mrs. Thomas (Lynn) Gullikson of Middle River; and his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Signe Koll of Thief River Falls.

He was preceded in death by his paternal grandparents and his maternal grandfather.

Gerald Kuznia Services Held At Strandquist

Funeral services were held Thursday for Gerald Florian Kuznia, 23, of Strandquist, who died Friday evening, July 4th, as a result of a boating accident on Lake Bronson.

Services were held at 10 a.m., at the Assumption Catholic church in Florian with Rev. Joseph O. Menker, O.M.I., officiating. Interment was in the church cemetery. The Collins Funeral home of Karlstad was in charge of arrangements.

Military honors were provided by the American Legion post 27 of Warren.

Active pallbearers were Darrel Kamrowski, Rolland Pokrzywinski, William Kuznia, David Kuznia, Joseph Kuznia and Mike Borowicz.

Gerald Florian Kuznia, son of Floyd and Nettie Kuznia of Strandquist, was born Feb. 16, 1952 at Karlstad. He attended school for three years in Grand Forks, N.D., and completed his high school education in Karlstad, graduating in 1970. He also attended the Thief River Falls area vocational technical institute.

In February of 1972, he enlisted in the U.S. Marine Corps and served for a year in Okinawa. He received his discharge in February of 1974. He was employed for several months in Minneapolis before returning to Strandquist where he had since resided on his parent's farm, in Nelson park township, Marshall county. At the time of his death, he was employed by Smith Construction in Grand Forks.

He was a member of the East Grand Forks American Legion post.

Surviving are his parents, two brothers: Michael and Kevin Kuznia, both at home; five sisters: Mrs. David (Henrietta) Linder of Stephen, Mrs. Wyman (Dorothy) Hjelle of Newfolden, Mrs. Bruce (Karen) Clark of St. Louis Park, and Kimberly and Garnette, both at home; and his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Nick Donarski, Sr., of Stephen.

His paternal grandparents preceded him in death.

Services Today At Ekelund For Gunhild Skaaren

Funeral services for Mrs. Gunhild Skaaren, 96, of Thief River Falls were held today (Wednesday) at 10:30 a.m., at the Ekelund Lutheran church, rural Goodridge. Mrs. Skaaren died Sunday at Northwestern hospital.

Rev. Bruce Anderson and Rev. James Swanson officiated at the services. Mrs. Dick Marquis was the organist and Mrs. Arnold Hammer, the soloist. Interment was in the church cemetery with the Green Funeral home in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers were Nels Anderson, Jesse Anderson, Orvin Anderson, Johannes Anderson, Norman Anderson and Harold Anderson.

Mrs. Skaaren, the former Gunhild Anderson, was born March 13, 1879 in Lyon county, near Cottonwood, to Johannes and Anna Anderson. She attended school and grew to womanhood in that community. On Sept. 15, 1906, she was united in marriage to Kristian Skaaren at Cottonwood. That same year, the couple came to Pennington county and homesteaded in Star township. The couple lived and farmed in Star township until Skaaren's death in 1954. Following her husband's death, she made her home with her son, Jesse, and family. For the past year, she has been a resident at Valley Home.

Mrs. Skaaren was the last charter member of the Ekelund Lutheran church and Ladies Aid.

She is survived by one daughter, Marie Omlid of Kodiak, Alaska; a son, Jesse Skaaren of Thife River Falls; five grandchildren, eight great-grandchildren, and two brothers: Anton Anderson of Cottonwood and Tolvin Anderson of Perham.

She was preceded in death by one son, who died in infancy, three sisters and seven brothers.

Alice Carlson Services Held At Strathcona

Funeral services for Mrs. Alice Carlson, 82, of Strathcona were held Tuesday at the Evangelical Free church of Strathcona. Mrs. Carlson died Friday morning at the Greenbush community hospital.

Services were held at 2 p.m., with Rev. Ben Baughman and Rev. John A. Riveness officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Gjovik were the vocalists, and Mrs. Gjovik served as organist. Interment was in Greenwood cemetery at Strathcona. The Collins Funeral home of Middle River was in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers were Tommy Hanson, Edwin Erickson, Gene Connelly, Melvin Hanson, Chrest Hamness and Evan Hanson.

Mrs. Carlson, the former Alice Josephine Johnson, was born Jan. 26, 1893 at New London to George and Ann Johnson, and was the last member of that family. She attended school at New London and was married there on June 3, 1914, to John E. Carlson. After their marriage, the couple lived at New London for two years before moving to Humboldt. In 1919, they moved to Solway. They returned to Humboldt in 1926 and lived there until 1929, when they moved to Lancaster. In 1939, they settled in the Strathcona community on a farm in Deer township, Roseau county, where Mrs. Carlson had since made her home.

She is survived by two sons: Floyd Carlson of Strathcona and Glen of Silver Bay; two daughters: Miss Elaine Carlson of Strathcona and Mrs. Dennis (Ethel) Hultgren of Marion, Mich.; four grandchildren, five great-grandchildren, and several nieces and nephews.

She was preceded in death by her husband in September of 1973, one son, three brothers and two sisters.

Services Held At Trail For Emma Halvorson

Funeral services for Mrs. Emma Halvorson, 89, of Thief River Falls were held today (Wednesday) at 1 p.m., at the Nazareth Lutheran church north of Trail. Mrs. Halvorson died Saturday at Northwestern hospital.

Rev. Carl R. Wosje officiated at the services. Mrs. Arnold Hammer served as organist and soloist. Interment was in the church cemetery with the Peterson funeral home of Oklee in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers were Clifford and Lester Arveson, Harry Hanson, John Nelson, Elmer Engstrom and Jorgen Oftelie.

Mrs. Halvorson, the former Emma Dahle, was born Jan. 2, 1886 in Norway to Sven and Karri Knutson Dahle. She was baptized and confirmed in the Lutheran faith in Norway and received her schooling there.

In 1906, she and two of her sisters immigrated to the United States settling in Pennington county, in the Erie community. She was employed for a time in Grand Forks, N.D., and at Crookston. On Dec. 27, 1913, she was united in marriage to Henry C. Halvorson at Thief River Falls. The Halvorsons farmed in Polk county until 1921, when they moved to a farm in Hickory township. There they lived the remainder of their married life, except for the time spent in Seattle, Wash., in 1943 while Halvorson was employed in the shipyards. Following the death of her husband in 1951, Mrs. Halvorson continued living with her sons, Raymond and Clifford, until she came to Thief River Falls several years ago to make her home with her daughter and family, the Marvin Gustafsons.

She is survived by three sons: Raymond and Edwin Halvorson of Trail and Selmer of Minneapolis; five daughters: Mrs. Marvin (Regina) Gustafson of this city; Mrs. Walter (Clara) Johnson, Mrs. Ellsworth (Helen) Pitchford, and Mrs. Maynard (Alvina) Jablinski, all of Lynnwood, Wash., and Mrs. Palmer (Delores) Lee of Bothell, Wash.; 21 grandchildren and 15 great-grandchildren;

Also two brothers: Ole and Oslav Dahle of Thief River Falls, and two sisters: Mrs. Ernest (Bertha) Peterson and Anna Dahle, both of Grand Forks, N.D.

She was preceded in death by her parents, husband, two sons, Oscar and Clifford; a granddaughter, one great-grandson, three brothers and five half-brothers.

4 Auto Mishaps Noted By Police

Four automobile mishaps in Thief River Falls caused total estimated damages of $1,500 to vehicles and minor injuries to a young bicyclist within the last week.

At 3:45 p.m. Tuesday, July 8, an accident occurred at the entrance of the Arctic Enterprises parking lot. Mrs. Darrel Nielson of Trail was traveling south in the parking lot between rows of parked cars while Lyle Gilbertson of Thief River Falls was traveling west at the south end of the lot on a road connected to the lot. As the Nielson car came to the end of the rows, it met the Gilbertson car. Damages were estimated at $350 to the Nielson car and $500 to the Gilbertson vehicle.

On July 7 at 6:25 p.m., Kenneth Klotter of the city was driving north on Highway 59 near the Anchor Inn when bicyclist Allen Peterson, 11, of the city (also traveling north) crossed in front of the Klotter car from the shoulder on the east side to the west. The resulting collision sent Peterson to the hospital, where his cuts and bruises were checked. He was not admitted.

Robert Pettis of Strandquist was traveling east on Third street at 10:30 a.m. July 8 when he was struck by a car driven by Paul Miramontes of the city, which was pulling out of a parking stall on the 100 block of Third. Estimated damages were $150 to the Miramontes car and $250 to the Pettis vehicle.

At 11:54 a.m. Wednesday, July 9, the cars of Mrs. Leonard Boucher of Brooks and Mrs. Gary Boughton of the city collided on the 100 block of East Third street. Mrs. Boughton was traveling west on Third when she met the Boucher car, which had been traveling south in the alley between Main and LaBree avenues before turning west onto Third street. Damages were estimated at $65 to the Boucher car and $185 to the Boughton vehicle.

In other incidents, a patroling officer noticed a number of flowers in the street on the 300 block of Atlantic avenue north at 3:45 a.m. Thursday. Flowers were believed to have been taken from Peterson-Biddick. Damage was estimated at $30.

Morrie Miller of Northland Manor reported Saturday that the pinball machines (owned by Jim's game supply) at the Manor were damaged. The front of one machine was pried but not entered, and the other machine was tampered with so games could be played without inserting change.

A local business reported Monday the loss of two formals and a lawn mower. The formals were believed to have been taken the night of July 7. The value of the loss was estimated at $225.

Also on Monday, Mrs. Halver Arpeson of the city reported that her house had been entered on Sunday, July 6. Some drawers were gone through and money belonging to a roomer, Darrel Olson, was taken. William Barnhart of the city was apprehended in connection with the case. Police said that he also admitted taking money from the home of Ida Ness of the city April 13.

Special Milk Program At Bible Camp

Red River Valley Baptist association announces the sponsorship of a special milk program. Under this program, milk is available at no separate charge to all children in attendance at the Lake Bronson Baptist Bible camp, Lake Bronson, without regard to race, color or national origin.

This year's camping program will include: Junior boys camp, July 14-19; junior girls camp, July 21-26; teen camp, July 28-August 1; and a teen retreat, August 1-3. Anyone interested in attending is urged to contact the First Baptist church for more information.

Anderson To Be Speaker Sun. At St. John Church

Russell Anderson, a missionary-in-training, will be guest speaker at worship services at St. John Lutheran church of Thief River Falls and Redeemer Lutheran of Plummer on Sunday.

Anderson is serving his internship at First Lutheran church of East Grand Forks. He is also enrolled at the summer institute of linguistics at the University of North Dakota in preparation for world mission service. Anderson and his wife Harriet (a registered nurse) plan to be missionaries after his graduation from seminary.

A native of Luverne, Anderson has completed his second year at Concordia seminary, Springfield, Ill. Prior to that he attended Missouri synod schools at Milwaukee and Fort Wayne, Ind.

Music Teachers, Students Urged To Attend Camp

Teachers of vocal music as well as their students will have a unique opportunity to study under three nationally famous faculty members during the Bemidji state college summer music camp July 27-August 1.

Directing the camp choir and heading up the vocal director's course will be Dr. Douglas McEwen, director of choirs at Arizona state university, Tempe. Lectures for the course and private lessons will be available from Richard Knoll, tenor with the Kansas City lyric theatre, and Roy Samuelson, professor of voice at Indiana university.

McEwen, who has conducted tewnty all-state choir groups including two in Minnesota, has served as assistant director of the Meadowbrook choral institute, appeared as guest conductor with the Minneapolis (now Minnesota) symphony, and has recorded movie sound tracks during his professional career.

He has also toured the Middle East and Europe as assistant conductor and soloist with the Roger Wagner Chorale.

Both Knoll and Samuelson have sung leading roles throughout the United States and have appeared with numerous symphonies.

High school vocalists are eligible to enroll in the camp choir and vocal teachers and college students may enroll in the vocal director's course.

Application blanks and further information is available from Dr. Theodore W. Thorson, music camp director, Bemidji state college, Bemidji, MN 56601, 218-755-2916.

Safety Is YOUR Business

Marshall County Fair To Start At Warren Thurs.

Preparations are completed as the Marshall county fair gets ready to open its gates for the 69th time on Thursday and continue through Sunday.

Entry day will be on Thursday from 1 p.m. to 10 p.m. for the open classes and from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the 4-H department. 4-H livestock may be entered until 9 p.m. Judging of exhibits will start at 9 a.m. Friday. More than $5,000 in cash premium awards will be paid out to the exhibitors.

This year's fair will present many special events geared to the Bicentennial observance. An old time settlers' fair with demonstrations and displays will center at the Marshall county historical society's street of yesterday. There will also be numerous special demonstrations in the remodeled horse barn which will also house the expanded poultry show.

Senior citizens day will be held on Friday with a special grandstand program in the afternoon. An unused 4-H dormatory building will serve as headquarters and will also house several exhibits. All senior citizens are urged to register at the building which will be properly signed.

The Bicentennial flag will be dedicated during the fair and will be flown at a special flower garden shaped in the form of a map of the state of Minnesota.

Opening grandstand program will take place Thursday at 8 p.m. when the Chmielewski Funtime show will be on the stage with a full program of music, dancing and entertainment. This family troupe is from Sturgeon Lake and is headed by Senator Florian Chmielewski.

Friday also 4-H day at the fair with special programs by the seniors and kiddies' events in the afternoon. The 4-H Bicentennial share the fun acts, style queen revue, horse show and 4-H square dance are planned for the night program.

Horse racing will take over the race track Saturday afternoon when the Northern Minnesota horse racing association will present 11 events of racing featuring chariots, Ben Hur, four abreast, chuck wagons, ponies and thoroughbreds. The races are open to any and all contestants.

The ever popular demolition derby is on the schedule for Saturday night with interest greater than ever before. Secretary Maruska reported that already there are over 70 entries for the derby.

An all faiths church service will be held at the grandstand Sunday at 11 a.m. with a sermon and special congregational singing.

Sunday afternoon the stock car racing program has six racing events produced by the Northern Racing association with Jim Corckran, veteran Grand Forks race promoter, in charge. Attempt will be made to break track records on the half mile track.

The closing grandstand program Sunday night will feature the Blackwood Singers in a concert of Gospel and popular music. This troupe played the Marshall county fair in 1973.

The midway will again feature the William D. Stanley shows with its assortment of rides, concessions and shows. The advance sale of ride tickets for kiddies under 12 at 6 tickets for $1 is now under way in all communities in the area. The advance sale continues until the opening day of the fair.

Red Lake County Project Awarded

Swingen Construction company of Grand Forks, N.D., has been awarded a $138,040 contract to construct a bridge on CSAH 20 over the Clearwater river, and to improve one-tenth mile of CSAH 20 at the Clearwater river three miles southeast of Plummer with grading and aggregate base.

Contract was awarded by the state highway department as agent for the county.

Vaughan Attends Summer Stage Movement Study

Roger Vaughan of Thief River Falls attended a one-week workshop in stage movement at the University of Minnesota's summer arts study center at Quadna mountain lodge, Hill City, from July 7 through July 11.

Students in this workshop studied selected dance steps, relaxation and techniques which help the actor achieve performance control. The workshop was conducted by Robert Moulton, a professor of theatre at the University of Minnesota and an internationally known choreographer.

The summer arts study center now in its seventh season offers classes in the arts and humanities for graduate and undergraduate credit. Most classes are for one week although some workshops are two weeks in length. Additional offerings for this summer which still have registrations open are: art aesthetics, sculpture, color and design, rock and pop and advanced Shakespeare.

Interested students may receive further information by contacting the summer arts study center at 1128 LaSalle ave., Minneapolis, 55403. Telephone: 373-1925.

SLOW DOWN AND LIVE!

RUDOLPH HANSON (left) of Thief River Falls received a certificate of appreciation from the Farmers Home administration for his efforts in the preparation of emergency loans. Hanson has served the FHA at various intervals over a 13 year period, and was specifically honored for his work in Thief River Falls from February 2 to June 20 of this year. Area supervisor Loren Luschen presented the certificate.

61 Children Attend Screening Clinic At Roseau

Seventeenth pre-school multi-county screening clinic for well children was held in Roseau on July 8. There were 61 babies and pre-school children who went through the clinic that day. These clinics have been sponsored by crippled children services of Minnesota. The local sponsoring groups for these clinics are the Roseau, Greenbush and Warroad American Legion auxiliaries. The First Baptist church of Roseau contributed its facilities for these clinics.

The clinic provides screening of well-children for speech, vision, hearing and other handicapping conditions of children five years of age and under and also counseling for parents. Reports are sent to the family physician. Two pediatricians checked the children as well as a hearing and vision technician, nutritionist, dental hygienist, and public health nurses. The next clinic is scheduled for October 16.

FU Oil Company Reports Sales Of $1,359,815

Melvin Melin of Red Lake Falls and Irvin Aaseby of Thief River Falls were reelected to the board of directors of the Farmers Union Oil company at the annual meeting of stockholders held Wednesday evening in the Thief River Falls city auditorium. Total sales of $1,359,815 were reported in the annual audit review.

At a reorganization of the board since the annual meeting, William Rupprecht was elected president of the organization with Irvin Aaseby as vice president and Melvin Melin as secretary-treasurer. Jarvis Torgerson and Clarence H. Anderson are also directors of the cooperative, according to manager Ferdinand Mandt.

Local net savings on the year's operations were $134,102. Savings from wholesale purchases through Cenex, the regional supply cooperative, were $51,586 for a total net savings on the year of $185,688 or 13.65 per cent.

Cash refunds and stock retired since the organization started is $551,936. Total assets of the local cooperative now stand at $796,363 with member ownership (net worth) to total assets of 90.96 per cent.

This fiscal year's sales of $1,359,815 (the fiscal year ended March 31 (compared to sales last year of $1,090,058. Cost of sales exceeded the million dollar mark for the first time at $1,068,047 but left gross margins of $291,768 as compared with $228,518 a year ago. Operating expenses totaled $125,581, general expenses $30,222 and administrative expenses $16,927 with service charges on accounts and other revenue reducing total expenses by $15,066, leaving total expenses at $157,665.

Current assets of the cooperative are listed at $372,149—a substantial jump from $266,622 a year ago. Non-current assets, including investments in cooperatives, total $295,799 and fixed assets total $128,414 (after allowing $106,828 for accumulated depreciation) for total assets of $796,363.

Total liabilities of the cooperative totaled only $72,104, including $33,423 in patronage refunds payable in cash. A statement of changes in financial position showed the cooperative gained in working capital from $44,347 to $84,960.

Hawley Rodeo Set Saturday, Sunday

Hawley's 16th annual Rodeo will be held at 8 p.m. Saturday, July 19 and 2:30 p.m. Sunday, July 20. Some 100 cowboys touring the rodeo curcuit are expected to compete for $4,000 in total purse.

Last year's Hawley Rodeo attracted five cowboys who later advanced to the National Finals Rodeo, the world series of rodeo, at Oklahoma City including the 1972 and 1974 national saddle bronc champions and the 1974 third and fifth high national money winners.

The rodeo offers five major events-bareback bronc riding, calf roping, saddle bronc riding, steer wrestling, and bull riding. Other events include the cowgirls barrel race, amateur calf tying, clown acts and contract acts.

The rodeo is approved by Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association and Bob Barnes of Cherokee, Iowa, is stock contractor for the 16th straight year.

Caution Farmers About Treated Seed Stocks

Farmers and dealers were cautioned today by the Minnesota department of agriculture on proper storage or disposal of chemically treated seed stocks.

Department surveys indicate that a significant amount of treated seed intended for use this season will have to be carried over or destroyed because the disastrous weather conditions denied farmers the opportunity for replanting early drowned field crops.

"Treated seeds must not be comingled with untreated grains or used for human, livestock or poultry food products. This is illegal under both state and federal laws, because seeds that have been chemically treated may be hazardous if used in any edible products," explains Gleason Diser, director of agronomy services.

Grains, or the ultimate meat products produced from grain, containing any traces of the pesticides used in seed treatment are considered illegally adulterated and are subject to seizure and disposal.

Diser said that treated seeds can be used only as seed. He suggested that farmers who have treated seed stocks contact dealers for possible return of any bagged lots, or consider secure storage for those seeds that can be carried over until the 1976 season. A third option is to use oats or grass and forage seeds as an erosion control cover crop this fall on drowned out land.

Most seeds except soybeans have a good potential for carryover until next year, in reasonably dry and secure farm storage.

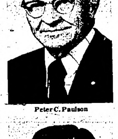
Paulson Retires As Executive Of Scout Council



Peter C. Paulson

Charles I. Lanham

Peter C. Paulson, scout executive of the Northern Lights council, has retired after 37 years of career services with the Boy Scouts of America. Charles I. Lanham has been selected to succeed him as scout executive effective this Tuesday, according to council president K. G. Pringle of Minot, N.D.

Lanham, a professional scouter since 1951, has been serving as scout executive of the Indian Nations council, with headquarters at Tulsa, Okla., since 1971.

The 44-year-old scout professional, prior to his Oklahoma position, had served several posts including council scout executive at Tyler, Texas and scout executive at Paris, Texas.

Lanham graduated from Oklahoma state university and has been a member of Rotary club for more than 20 years. He and his wife, Greta, have two children, a married daughter who is a special education teacher at Greensboro, N.D., and a son who is a student at Oklahoma state university.

While a scout, Lanham attained the rank of Eagle and is a Vigil member of the Order of the Arrow. He has earned the fellowship training award, the highest in professional scouting education.

The Paulsons, in their retirement, will realize their ultimate plan by moving to Hatton, N.D., on October 1st to start a new career on their farm just south of town. Here they will pursue their life-long interest in the raising of Arabian horses.

Paulson, who earned his Eagle scout rank in Hatton, started his scouting professional career as a field scout executive in St. Paul in 1938 and from there served in several positions including: Scout executive, Albert Lea; scout executive, Mankato; deputy regional executive, Philadiphia, Pa. for seven years; scout executive for three years in Wilmington, Del.; and regional scout executive of Region 2 for 12 years with headquarters in New York City. This Region included the states of New York and New Jersey, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

In 1971 Paulson moved to St. Paul to become regional executive of Region 10 and assisted in the merger of Regions 10 and 8 and subsequently served as area director. During this same time he also assisted a committee headed by Herman Stern in the consolidation of the four councils with headquarters in North Dakota.

This consolidation brought together the state of North Dakota, 18 western counties of Minnesota, three counties in Montana and three counties in South Dakota into the new "Northern Lights Council" with headquarters in Fargo and offices in Minot, Bismarck and Grand Forks. Paulson was then asked by the executive board to be its first scout executive which position he has held for the last year and a half.

Students May Still Apply For Basic Grants

Students looking for ways to finance their education after high school may be able to receive up to $1,400 a year in federal grants in time for the next school year.

Under the basic educational opportunity grants (basic grants) program sponsored by HEW's office of education, eligible students may be awarded anywhere from $200 to $1,400 a year to help meet their educational expenses. The U.S. government does not require repayment of such awards.

Students who have begun their post high school education after April 1, 1973, and attend at least half-time can qualify. They may attend any one of the over 5,000 eligible schools. These include not only traditional colleges and universities, but also vocational, technical or business schools, and hospital schools of nursing.

To apply for a basic grant a student must first complete and submit an "Application for Determination of Basic Grant Eligibility" for the 1975-76 academic year. These forms are available from high schools, colleges and libraries, or by writing Basic Grants, P.O. Box 84, Washington, D.C. 20044.

Within 4 to 6 weeks the applicant will receive a "Student Eligibility Report", which tells whether the student has qualified. When the report is received, it must be submitted to the financial aid officer at the school in which the student is interested in enrolling. The financial aid officer will then calculate the amount of the basic grant award.

A basic grant may not cover more than one-half of the total cost of education. This includes tuition, fees, room and board, books, supplies, and miscellaneous expenses.

In addition to qualifying for a basic grant, a student may also be eligible to receive any one of four other financial aid programs sponsored by the office of education. The financial aid officer is the best source in checking out these other forms of aid.

Pass Aid Bill, Declare Major Disaster Area

U.S. House of Representatives passed recently, by a vote of 403 to 0, legislation to improve the federal disaster loan programs of the Farmers Home administration.

Included in the bill was an amendment offered by Minnesota's 7th district congressman Bob Bergland allowing the secretary of agriculture to waive collateral requirements for FHA loans if such collateral is destroyed by a natural disaster. The Bergland amendment would also allow the secretary to waive collateral requirements if a county FHA committee believes that a farmer has the ability to pay back a loan although he lacks adequate collateral.

In a telephone call to Bergland, chairman of the House agriculture subcommittee writing the bill, U.S. senator James Eastland, chairman of the senate subcommittee originating similar legislation, pledged "complete cooperation and rapid action" to iron out differences between the House and seanat passed disaster aid bills "and assure the Red River Valley will receive full and timely benefits" from the new law.

In other action, Bergland; Minnesota senators Mondale and Humphrey; North Dakota senators Young and Burdick; and congressman Mark Andrews (R-ND), sent a letter to President Ford calling for "prompt action" in declaring the Red River Valley a major disaster area.

In the letter, the delegations also called for the establishment of "one-stop" disaster aid centers to provide information on all aspects of disaster aid available and facilitate the processing of claims and loans.

The bill recently passed by the House provides five per cent disaster loans for the first $100,000 in damages and additional loans, at the prevailing interest rate, for losses exceeding $100,000 and for funds needed for operation and production costs.

Award $666,000 For Emergency Medical Service

A total of $666,000 has been awarded to Minnesota to help develop comprehensive emergency medical services (EMS) systems and thereby improve the quality of emergency care and reduce morbidity and mortality in the state. The funds, for fiscal year 1976, come from the department of health, education and welfare through the emergency medical services systems (EMSS) act of 1973 (public law 93-154), title XII of the public health services act.

A grant of $500,000 was made to the Minnesota department of health, according to Dr. Warren R. Lawson, state health commissioner. The funds are for equipment and public education programs in the northern half of the state to meet needs determined by the Agassiz, Min-Dak, Arrowhead and Central health planning agencies.

The remaining $166,000 went directly to the Metropolitan council, the Southeastern health planning council and the region nine development commission for planning purposes.

Grant awards under title XII are authorized to states, units of general local government, public entities administering a compact or other regional arrangement or consortium, or any other public or non-profit private entity for feasibility studies and planning, establishment and initial operations, and expansion and improvement.

Under the EMSS Act of 1973, states will develop regional EMS systems. In Minnesota, regional EMS systems will be developed within the comprehensive health planning regions. Regional EMS systems will provide for the arrangement of personnel, facilities, and equipment for the effective and coordinated delivery of health care services under emergency conditions.

Lions Club To Buy Machine For School Program

Thief River Falls Lions' club has put forth its money raising efforts in order to purchase a machine for teaching children who wish to learn the art of sign language. This machine will be used by hearing impaired students here in Thief River Falls. The machine makes use of 8 mm films to demonstrate the universally developed sign language of Louis Fant.

Thief River Falls Lions' club and the International Lions club are pledged to help in projects which help those individuals with sight problems and those with hearing problems. Local project goal is $500.

Rev. Ringwelski To Be Ordained Here On Sunday

Rev. Frank M. Ringwelski will be ordained to the priesthood of the Diocese of Crookston in rites scheduled for 3 p.m. Sunday at St. Bernard's Catholic church in Thief River Falls.

The ordination ceremony will be followed by a reception in the parish hall, and the public is invited to both the 3 p.m. mass and the reception. St. Bernard's ladies guild will be in charge of the reception and the dinner for invited guests.

Born in Little Falls and reared in Minneapolis, Ringwelski was a member of the teaching order of Christian Brothers for 30 years before entering the Divinity school at St. John's university in Collegeville in 1972 to study for the priesthood.

His teaching career was in the fields of mathematics and science on both secondary and college levels. He taught at De La Salle high school in Minneapolis and at St. Mary's college in Winona, as well as at Christian Brothers' mission school in Nicaragua, Colombia and Guatemala.

Ringwelski speaks Spanish fluently and has served three summers in the diocesan migrant program in the Moorhead area.

Ordained deacon by Bishop Povish on January 6 in his home parish of St. Hedwig's in Minneapolis, he served his internship under Rev. James Bernauer at Thief River Falls with special responsibility for the mission parishes at Goodridge and Grygla.

State Health Board To Meet In Moorhead

State board of health members will tour a health care clinic for migrant agricultural workers when they are in Moorhead this week for a regular monthly board meeting.

Tour of the clinic, located in the Moorhead state college student health service, is set for 6:30 to 10 p.m. on Thursday.

The board meeting, open to the public, will begin at 9 a.m. Friday in the Moorhead city council chambers.

Moorhead is the sixth out-state location for a state board of health meeting since the board decided to schedule some of its monthly meetings outside the Twin Cities metropolitan area. Board members will see the results of 100 years of progress in Moorhead and its sister city, Fargo, N.D., which are celebrating their centennials during the month of June. The board previously has met in Duluth, Mankato, Rochester, Bemidji and St. Cloud.

The out-state meetings, according to Dr. Warren R. Lawson, state health commissioner, help improve communications between Minnesota citizens and the board of health and "help give the people a better idea of how the board works to improve and protect the health of all Minnesotans." In Moorhead, Dr. Lawson continued, the board will have the opportunity to observe local health services first-hand during the tour of the clinic for migrant workers.

Transportation in Moorhead will be provided by the Moorhead health department, Minnesota migrant health services, and the Moorhead chamber of commerce.

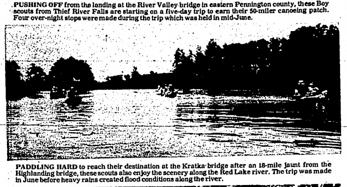
PUSHING OFF from the landing at the River Valley bridge in eastern Pennington county, these Boy scouts from Thief River Falls are starting on a five-day trip to earn their 50-miler canoeing patch. Four over-night stops were made during the trip which was held in mid-June.



PADDLING HARD to reach their destination at the Kratka bridge after an 18-mile jaunt from the Highlanding bridge, these scouts also enjoy the scenery along the Red Lake river. The trip was made in June before heavy rains created flood conditions along the river.

BREAKFAST always tastes better in the outdoors, according to these scouts who made the 50-mile canoe trip on the Red Lake river recently. The photo was taken during a stop at the Fred Dallmann property—an alternate stop to the Smiley bridge landing.

Summer Theatre Children's Play Set At Warren

Northland summer theatre company will present "The Ugly Duckling," a short children's play by A. A. Milne, as part of the festivities of the Old Settler's fair in Warren. The performance is slated to be performed in the church area on the fairgrounds at 4 p.m. on Saturday. Admission is 25 cents. Michael L. Tillmann directs the production, which was first performed in Thief River Falls on July 5.

Says director Tillmann, "We are happy for this opportunity to expand our activities to serving the area's children, and if "The Ugly Duckling" is successful, we will plan to add a children's production annually to our season."

For the benefit of children who are familiar with their children's stories, this is not the traditional story of the poor duckling who is outcast and finally accepted when he becomes a beautiful swan, but the idea is very similar. A. A. Milne has created a mythical kingdom which has the unusual problem of having a princess whom no prince wants to marry. Everyone thinks her plain, while princesses are supposed to be beautiful. But to the delight of all, it turns out that on her wedding day to the kind prince Simon, she truly is beautiful and they live happily ever after, which only proves that it is happiness and not appearance which makes up real beauty.

The cast for the production include Charles Erickson of Roseau as the king, Donna Keck of Thief River Falls as the queen, Jane Olson of Thief River Falls as the princess, Billy Saetre of rural Thief River Falls as the chancellor, Paul Mehrkens of Thief River Falls as the prince Simon, Joel Peterson of Thief River Falls as Carlo, and Jan Swanson of Thief River Falls as Dulcibella.

Director Tillmann says "Children of all ages will enjoy the production, which will last about 45 minutes. There will be children's music played before the play to entertain waiting youngsters." He also encourages parents to attend the performance as there is as much humor in the play for adults as for children.

The Northland summer theatre will, immediately after this production, go into rehearsal for its third and final offering of the 1975 season, the musical "Little Mary Sunshine", slated for performance on July 28 through August 1. Ticket information concerning this show will be released soon.

Anticipate Hectic East Division Finish

Final two weeks of the 1975 Thief River Falls men's fast pitch softball league regular season schedule should supply area softball fans with a steady diet of dramatic confrontations as three teams—Arctic Cat, VFW and Nelson State Farm Insurance—chase after the elusive East Division pennant.

Arctic Cat scored a big 5-2 win over VFW Tuesday. The triumph pushed Arctic Cat atop the East Division standings for the first time since June 2. The loss knocked VFW out of first place in the East for the first time in over a month. In fact, VFW tumbled all the way to third place behind State Farm who beat the Legion 11-6 in Tuesday's East Division doubleheader opener.

Arctic Cat's slim East Division lead is just one-half game over State Farm and only one full game over VFW. Arctic Cat is currently 11-4, State Farm 9-4 and VFW 10-5.

The object, of course, is the East Division pennant. With it goes a berth in the 1975 state Class A fast pitch softball tournament scheduled to be played August 9-10 at Owatonna.

The league's West Division champion will also receive a state meet berth. The West winner will play in the state recreation tournament scheduled to be played August 16-17 at Blaine. Season-long leader Pepsi-Cola looks like a solid bet to win West Division honors, although Schmidts is currently making a late-season rush at the Pepsi lead.

The rest of the 1975 schedules for the Arctic Cat, VFW and State Farm teams are basically the same, though VFW might have a slight edge here. Arctic Cat and VFW both have five games remaining and State Farm has seven left because of earlier postponements.

Arctic Cat and State Farm must play each other three more times—twice this week when the two front runners clash Thursday at 8 p.m. in a make-up game and Friday at 7:15 p.m. in a regularly scheduled contest.

Arctic Cat must also play the Legion and Falls Diesel to complete its schedule. State Farm will also meet VFW, the Legion, Pepsi and Melvies. VFW has single games remaining with State Farm, Legion, Pepsi and two against Falls Diesel.

It's interesting to note that VFW won four straight games against its East Division rivals before running into a recent slump. VFW owned 1-0 and 3-1 wins over Arctic Cat and a pair of identical 6-2 wins over State Farm before the Vets bowed to State Farm 1-0 and Arctic Cat 6-0 and now 5-2.

Arctic Cat beat State Farm 3-0 in the only regular season meeting between the two teams. Arctic also edged State Farm 6-4 in the championship game of Sunday's Far North invitational tournament after State Farm had knocked off VFW 6-1 in a semifinal encounter.

It's hard to predict just how things will turn out in the hectic East Division race, but Arctic Cat took a big step Tuesday by gaining the division lead. Now it's up to Arctic to keep it.

TRF Draws Crookston In Legion Tournament

Seeding arrangements for the upcoming area Sub District Four American Legion baseball tournament didn't quite turn out the way most observers had earlier anticipated.

Crookston's non-Northwest League 1975 schedule was expected to throw the post-season sub district tournament out of wack since Crookston's only way into the tournament would be as the eighth—or last seeded team. Normally first place teams face last place teams in first round tournament pairings.

Thief River Falls coach Rocky Wilson and East Grand Forks coach Dave Hetland had mixed emotions about sharing the Northwest League pennant with identical 7-1 records. First place, they felt, would mean playing Crookston in the tournament's first round.

A coin flip was used to determine first place for tournament seeding purposes. Neither coach was too keen about winning the flip. Wilson called the flip and lost. Good? No, not quite. Crookston it seems will be seeded seventh, not eighth, and will play Thief River Falls here Monday if it picks up an expected win over Hallock Thursday in a tournament-qualifying playoff game.

Archery Range Workers Needed

All Thief River Falls archery club members are asked to be on hand Monday at 6:30 p.m. to assist in getting the club's shooting range in shape.

Announce Pairings For Sub District Legion Tourney

Pairing were drawn Monday for the 1975 area American Legion Sub District Four baseball tournament.

First round tournament games will be played Monday at four different sites. Semifinals and championship games will be played at Warren Thursday and Saturday, July 24 and 26.

Playoff activity actually begins tomorrow (Thursday) when Warroad plays at Argyle and Crookston plays at Hallock to determine the final eight-team Sub District Four tournament field.

Monday's first round Sub District Four games will find the Warroad-Argyle winner playing at East Grand Forks, Oslo will be at Roseau, the Crookston-Hallock winner will be at Thief River Falls and Newfolden will play at Warren.

Thief River Falls coach Rocky Wilson announced that Monday's game here matching Thief River Falls against the Crookston-Hallock winner will have a 7 p.m. starting time.

Tournament semifinal games on tap at Warren Thurs., July 24, will send the East Grand Forks-Argyle-Warroad winner against the Roseau-Oslo winner at 6 p.m. while the Thief River Falls-Crookston-Hallock winner meets the Warren-Newfolden winner at 8:30 p.m.

Thursday night's winners will clash in the Sub District Four championship game at Warren Sat., July 26, at 7 p.m.

Thursday night's winners will both advance to the 1975 American Legion District Nine tournament scheduled to be played July 31 to August 3 at New York Mills.

Pairings for the Sub Ddistrict Four tournament were based on the 1975 regular season Northwest League standings. East Grand Forks and Thief River Falls shared the league's 1975 pennant with identical 7-1 records. Warren finished third at 4-2, followed by Roseau 4-3, Oslo 3-3, Newfolden 3-4, Hallock 2-6, Argyle 1-5 and Warroad 0-6. Crookston was not a Northwest League member this summer.

Thief River Falls and East Grand Forks settled their regular season tie with a flip of the coin to determine the number one and two seeds in the sub district tournament. East Grand Forks won the flip and took the number one seed.

Thief River Falls, sporting an 11-8 overall record this summer, will complete its regular season obligations this week when Wilson's ball club travels to East Grand Forks for a 7 p.m. game tonight (Wednesday) and then hosts Moorhead in a 6:30 p.m. doubleheader Friday on the fairgrounds diamond.

Thief River Falls' lone loss in Northwest League play this season with a 1-0 season opening setback at the hands of Oslo June 12. Thief River Falls then ran off seven straight league wins, including a recent 6-4 conquest of previously unbeaten East Grand Forks.

Thief River Falls has lost three games to Crookston this season, 7-6 in eight innings, 8-6 and 7-3. Thief River Falls beat Hallock 9-0 in the only meeting between the two teams.

First Place Fast Pitch Clash

Arctic Tips VFW 5-2 To Take East Lead

Arctic Cat knocked off VFW 5-2 Tuesday to claim sole possession of first place in the hectic East Division of the Thief River Falls men's fast pitch softball league.

Nelson State Farm Insurance squeezed into second place in the tight East Division race with an 11-6 win over the Legion in Tuesday's first game. VFW tumbled to third in the East, but just one game out of first.

Monday's West Division play featured a tripleheader as Pepsi-Cola edged Falls Diesel 4-3 and Schmidts took a pair from Melvies 17-1 and 8-7.

Arctic Cat and State Farm will be in the spotlight the rest of the week as the two East Division front runners play each other twice—an 8 p.m. Thursday night make-up game and a regularly scheduled 7:15 p.m. Friday clash.

Arctic Cat . . . . 5 VFW 2

Arctic Cat rallied from a 3-2 deficit with a three-run fifth inning for a 5-2 win over VFW and sole possession of first place in the league's tight East Division pennant chase.

Lonnie Babcock tripled and scored the tying run on a dropped fly ball to start the Arctic Cat fifth inning uprising. Ron Ostby drove in the actual game-winning run with a single to score Mike Neibauer who had doubled moments earlier. Bruce Johnson padded the lead with a long smash to the centerfield fence that went for a two-run inside the park home run.

Arctic Cat scored the game's first run in the third inning when Nick Neibauer tripled to the rightfield corner and scored on Mike Neibauer's single.

VFW gained a 2-1 lead in the top of the fifth as Wayne Liden tripled and scored on a sacrifice fly by Al Erickson. Two errors and a fake steal of second that allowed Nick Drees to steal home on the throw gave the Vets a short-lived lead.

Winning pitcher Tom Neibauer checked VFW on just two base hits. Arctic Cat collected nine hits off Erickson.

State Farm . . . . 11 Legion 6

Nelson State Farm Insurance stayed in the thick of the East Division pennant race with a wild 11-6 first game win over the Legion Tuesday.

State Farm jumped on Legion pitcher Mike Drury for six runs in the first inning. Drury, making his first start after an arm injury, walked five batters and gave up three first inning hits.

The Legion managed to cut the margin to 6-3 in the fourth, but State Farm pulled away with two runs in the fifth. The teams traded three-run innings in the sixth.

Pepsi . . . . 4 Falls Diesel 3

Randy Gaven hit a run-scoring single in the top of the eighth inning to give Pepsi-Cola a 4-3 come-from-behind extra inning win over Falls Diesel.

Falls Diesel scored in the first inning when Scott Reed singled, advanced to second on a passed ball and scored on a single to center by Dallas Kemmer.

Pepsi tied the game in the second as Mark Haats tripled and scored on a double by Tim Hoaas.

Falls Diesel regained the lead with a pair of runs in the fifth as Jeff Langlie reached base on an error, moved to second on a sacrifice bunt and scored on a single by Keith Grandstrand. An error and a sacrifice fly by Kemmer scored Grandstrand.

Pepsi tied the game again in the sixth, however, on a double by Gaven, a single by Howard Dalager, a wild pitch and an error.

Mark Drury doubled to start the eighth for Pepsi, scoring on Gaven's game-winning base hit.

Schmidts . . . . 17 Melvies 1

Schmidts blitzed winless Melvies 17-1 in a five-inning affair that was the first of two games Monday between the West Division teams.

Schmidts scored at will, racking up two runs in the first, one in the second, five in the third, two in the fourth and then capping the romp with a seven-run fifth inning.

Melvies scored its lone run in the first inning.

Schmidts . . . . 8 Melvies 7

Schmidts rallied from a 4-0 first inning deficit to edge Melvies 8-7 to complete Monday's marathon night of softball.

Melvies jumped on Schmidts starter Larry Coltom for four runs in the first inning when Coltom hit four batters, gave up a run-scoring single to Clark Carpenter and was tagged for a three-run double by Rick Kofstad. Coltom lasted only two-thirds of an inning before Dean Lawrenz came on in relief.

Schmidts went ahead 6-4 in the bottom of the second on an error, four walks and three singles.

Melvies regained the lead in the third, a rally highlighted by a lead-off triple by Kofstad and a surprise run-producing bunt by Irv Melvie.

Schmidts took command 8-7 in the fifth, but had to withstand a last inning Melvies come-back attempt to win the scheduled six-inning game.

Carpenter singled and Alvin Asp was hit by a pitch with one in the Melvies sixth and both runners moved up on a ground-out. Kofstad, with a double and a triple in three previous trips to the plate, bounced a hard-hit ground ball down the first base line that was just inches foul before Lawrenz fired a third strike past him for the final out.

UMPIRE DENNIS Bendickson was right on top of the play Tuesday as Nelson State Farm Insurance base runner Mark DuChamp tried to score from third base on a passed ball during the State Farm-Legion fast pitch softball game. Legion catcher Tom Goddard applied the tag on the play and Bendickson called the runner out. State Farm remained in East Division pennant contention with an 11-6 win.

Results Listed In TRF Aquacade Tennis Meet

Results were announced Tuesday in the Thief River Falls Jaycee Aquacade doubles tennis tournament.

Brent and Bruce Reichert of Crookston teammed up to beat Tim Engelstad and Mark Liden 6-3, 6-3 in the 15-25-year-old pro division championship match.

Bruce Johnson and Gary Harren outlasted Sylvia and Roy Lee 6-3, 4-6, 7-6 in the championship match of the senior division designed for tennis players 25 years old or older.

Dan Jorgenson and Steve Edlund defeated Dave Forney and Scott Stewart in the pro division consolation championship match while Don Engelstad and Denny Bakke edged Whitey Olson and Dan Skaja 7-6, 7-6 in the senior division consolation match.

Earlier, Brent Reichert was crowned pro division singles champion and Bill Jury was the winner in the singles portion of the junior division designed for players 15 years old or younger. Women's portion of the tournament is still being played.

Golf League Will Resume Season Activity Today

Thief River Falls men's golf league was scheduled to resume today (Wednesday) following a forced two-week lay-off caused by the recent severe flooding.

Two holes remain under water on the Thief River Falls Country Club golf course, but a modified nine-hole course has been designed and a shuttle service will be provided to move golfers across the river.

Both medal and match play leagues will swing back into action in the delayed fourth week. The length of the league's season has also been modified to consist of two four week halves.

Solheim Batters Hit Eight

Home Runs Highlight TRF Slow Pitch Softball Play

Major Division teams showed their power Tuesday in Thief River Falls men's slow pitch softball league play by hitting 13 home runs in the four games on the fairgrounds diamond.

Solheim Furniture supplied most of the fireworks by belting eight home runs in a 20-10 romp over Northland Electronics. Other results found Hamms-Pizza Hut beating Hydra-Mac 14-5, the Arctic Raiders dumped Modern Woodman 10-2 and Arctic Power surprised Hartz 10-5.

Monday's Commercial Division results, with four home runs being hit, found Grain Belt beating the Jaycees 9-4, Warehouse Foods ripped Kat Haus 15-5, Furuseth-Nelson Inc. whipped Times-KTRF 17-7 and Popplers knocked off Professional Building 12-9.

A key first place Commercial Division clash shapes up Friday when Grain Belt plays Furuseth-Nelson at 7:45 p.m. on field one. Grain Belt currently owns a scant half-game lead over second place Furuseth Nelson. However, Furuseth-Nelson must first meet the Jaycees tonight (Wednesday) in a make-up contest.

Solheim 20, N.E. 10

Solheim Furniture blasted eight home runs in beating Northland Electronics 20-10 in a six-inning game.

The winner's broke open a tight ball game with an eight-run outburst in the bottom of the first off losing pitcher Dave Wold that completed the 10-run rule win.

Paul and Tom Williams both hit three home runs in the game while Wayne Smith and Dave Kragness hit one apiece. Paul Williams was four for five at the plate while Tom Williams finished three for four.

Del Ray Offerdahl was the game's winning pitcher.

Raiders 10, Woodman 2

Bill Dicken hit a grand slam home run in the sixth inning to spark the once-beaten Arctic Raiders past Modern Woodman 10-2.

Gary LaValley and Byron Stokke both collected two hits in three at-bats for the Raiders who backed Brian Nelson's six-hit pitching with a 14-hit attack off loser Gerald Grabowska.

Week's Schedule

Wed., July 16—(2) Jaycees vs. Furuseth-Nelson Inc.

Fri., July 18—(1) Hartz vs. Hydra-Mac; Furuseth-Nelson vs. Grain Belt. (2) Kat Haus vs. Popplers; Solheim Furniture vs. Modern Woodman. (3) Arctic Raiders vs. Arctic Power; Pizza Hut vs. North. Electronics. (4) Times-KTRF vs. Professional Building; Jaycees vs. Warehouse Foods.

Pizza Hut 14, Hydra-Mac 5

Lyndon Pream belted a fourth inning grand slam home run to lead Hamms-Pizza Hut past winless Hydra-Mac 14-5.

Hamms-Pizza Hut posted a one-sided 21-9 base hit advantage, sparked by Rick Dicken's three for five effort at the plate. Ron Sorvig hit a two-run first inning home run for Hydra-Mac.

Roger Ness was the game's winning pitcher. Bruce Steiger took the loss.

Power 10, Hartz 5

Dennis Bendickson and Bruce Johnson both hit three-run home runs to carry Arctic Power to a 10-5 upset win over Hartz.

Power broke open a close game with six straight hits for six runs in the fifth inning. The winners left only two runners on base during the game while Hartz stranded nine.

Johnson enjoyed a perfect three for three day at the plate as Power finished with a slight 11-10 base hit edge.

Bendickson out-dueled Jon Looker for the pitching decision.

Warehouse 15, Kat Haus 5

Warehouse Foods snapped a 5-5 tie by exploding for 10 runs in the bottom of the fifth inning to beat Kat Haus 15-5.

Bill Galliher hit a grand slam home run in the Warehouse Foods first inning and Mark DuChamp hit a three-run home run in the winner's fifth inning uprising.

Winning pitcher Bob Goff scattered eight hits while receiving 15-hit support from his teammates off losing pitcher Russ Delorme.

Furuseth 17, Times-KTRF 7

Furuseth-Nelson Inc. scored six runs in the first inning and added seven in the fifth enroute to a 17-7 six-inning rout of Times-KTRF.

NELSON STATE Farm Insurance second baseman Roger Cota avoided the slide of Legion base runner Tom Goddard in an attempt to complete a double play throw during Tuesday's fast pitch softball game. State Farm beat the Legion 11-6.

A HEAD first slide by Pete Sullivan didn't help the Legion base runner on this play as Nelson State Farm Insurance third baseman Mike Schmitz made the tag as Sullivan tried to stretch a double into a triple during Tuesday's fast pitch softball league game. Umpire Dennis Bendickson made the call on the play. State Farm won the game 11-6.

TRF Lake Agassiz Slow Pitch Meet Planned July 27

Thief River Falls slow pitch softball association will host its annual Lake Agassiz men's invitational slow pitch softball tournament Sun., July 27.

The 16-team, ASA-sanctioned event will be a single elimination tournament with a consolation round. Trophies will be awarded for first place, runner-up and consolation champion.

Teams interested in taking part in the tournament should contact either Jack Petrillo at 681-7707, or Dennis Bendickson at 681-6922. Entry fee will be $35.

New Regulations For Taking Of Raccoon, Fox

New regulations affecting the taking of raccoon and fox were enacted by the recent legislature, the department of natural resources reported this week.

Under the new laws, fox may not be removed from a den or trapped within 300 feet of a fox den between April 1 and August 31 of any year. Purpose of the regulations is to prevent the taking of immature fox or the removal of the female during the time the young are being raised.

The law also prohibits the selling of live fox without a permit from the commissioner of natural resources.

The new law on raccoons removes the animal from the unprotected list. Previously the animals could be taken at any time of the year, but the new law provides for a season. That season can be set by order of the commissioner of natural resources anytime between October 15 and December 31.

Dogs may be used to hunt raccoon during the season, and hunters who simply like to use dogs to run and tree raccoons without taking them may do so at any time of the year.

The new law on raccoons goes into effect August 1, according to Jerome Liemandt, chief conservation officer. After that date, he said, raccoons may not be possessed out of season without a permit from the department of natural resources.

Couples Golf Tournament Is Planned Friday

Thief River Falls County Club will stage a tournament of champions couples golf tournament Friday, it was announced this week.

The event can be played between 3 and 6:30 p.m. on the Country Club course. Interested golfers should call the Country Club pro shop to arrange tee-off times.

An awards ceremony and dinner will be held Friday evening.

Fire Simulator Aids Foresters In State DNR

Through the use of a fire simulator, foresters with the Minnesota department of natural resources have been practicing new techniques in the art of fighting forest fires, it was announced this week.

The simulator, employing both film and sound, reproduces realistically actual fires that the trainee must cope with.

Instructors are able to present an almost infinite number of fire fighting problems for the trainee to solve, duplicating any conceivable combination of circumstances that a forester might encounter in fighting an actual fire.

To date, training sessions have been held at Grand Rapids, Bemidji, Brainerd and Lake City. Several community fire chiefs, and firemen who frequently are called on to fight wild fires in rural areas, have had an opportunity to observe fire control methods through the use of the simulator.

About 250 foresters and volunteer firemen have attended the training sessions so far.

Penn-Ro-Shall Dad And Lad Night Is Held

Penn-Ro-Shall District held its third annual Dad and Lad overnight campout at the Sportman's club at Thief River Falls, Thursday and Friday.

Present at the event were 39 Cub and Webelo scouts, eight Cub leaders, two adults other than fathers and 23 fathers. Oscar Elshaug was director of the event asisted by two Scouts from Troop 199, Paul Bellerud and Tim Sund. Packs participating in the event were Pack 79 from Karlstad, Pack 69 from Goodridge and Packs 57, 60 and 199 from Thief River Falls.

All Cubs and fathers participated in the events, including: A nature scavenger hunt, tire rolling relay, wheelbarrow race, speedy relay and obstacle course. Highlight of the day was the Tug-of-War between the dads and the lads. This year the dads were victorious. First, second, and third place ribbons were presented at the end of the day and each pack took home some ribbons to show to the other members of their packs.

Fish, Wildlife Service Combines Area Offices

Wetlands acquisition office of the fish and wildlife service, presently located in downtown Fergus Falls, will move to a new location on July 15, according to Norrell Wallace, wetlands program manager.

Since 1961, the Fergus Falls wetlands office has been responsible for the purchase of waterfowl habitat in western Minnesota. After July 15 they will be housed jointly with fish and wildlife service land management personnel on Highway 210 two miles east of Fergus Falls.

In the past 15 years, 106,000 acres have been purchased in western Minnesota by the fish and wildlife service and 130,000 acres of wetlands have been placed under perpetual easement. These lands, which belong to the people of the United States, have been purchased with duck stamp funds.

Jill Nelson Is Trophy Winner At Horse Show

Jill Nelson of Thief River Falls won the high point trophy Sunday at the third annual Happy Acres Tri-County youth horse show held at the Pennington county fairgrounds. The Happy Acres 4-H club and Thief River Falls Jaycees were co-sponsors of the event which attracted more than 50 riders and over 200 event entries from Pennington, Marshall and Red Lake counties.

Participants in the show were 18 years of age or younger and judging was done by Jean Miller of Crookston. Toby Sollom and Julie Oen served as announcers for the program. The sponsors expressed their appreciation to the participants, spectators and parents who assisted in the show presentation.

Deer License Sales To Begin Around Aug. 1

Deer firearms licenses should be available from most license agents shortly after August 1, the department of natural resources reported this week.

Hunters, at the time they purchase their license, will have to select the zone in which they intend to hunt. Those who apply for a permit to take an antlerless deer in the southern buck zone (zone nine) must have their applications post-marked no later than August 30.

A drawing will be held to select about 2,600 hunters from among those applying. The purpose of the zone nine regulation is to divide hunting pressure between November 1 and November 6, 7 and 8 and to stabilize the herd at a desirable level by taking a limited number of does.

The DNR has received questions from hunters regarding the closing of the season for two days (November 3 and 4) in zones one and three. The purpose of this closure is to reduce the number of violations following the first weekend of the season. In past seasons, a small percentage of hunters have continued hunting after their licenses expired, apparently because two days of hunting was insufficient.

Hunters electing to hunt after November 4 in zones one and three will be allowed five consecutive days of hunting. Officials said it was hoped this would provide an incentive to many hunters to select dates other than the opening weekend.

TRF Trap Club Hosts Crookston Shooters Tonight

Thief River Falls Trap Club will shoot against its Crookston counterpart tonight (Wednesday) beginning at 6 p.m. at the Thief River Falls Trap Club.

Free supper and refreshments will be served to all club members taking part in the Thief River Falls-Crookston shoot.

Because of a mix-up in recording scores following Monday night's regular season Thief River Falls Trap League shooting, scores were not made available to the Times for its regular Wednesday publication. However, league officials said the scores and standings will be posted at the club house tonight.

Prophecy Series Set At Hallock

"King Is Coming" is the theme of a series on prophecy at Grace Lutheran church in Hallock beginning on Sunday and continuing through Wednesday, July 23. Guest pastor-teacher is Rev. Roger Carlson of Hope Lutheran church in Minneapolis. His topics for Sunday through Wednesday are as follows: Sunday, 10:30 a.m. "A Panoramic View of the End Times"; Sunday, 7:30 p.m. "The Thief who comes to Reward"; Monday, 8 p.m. "The Tribulation—It Could be Sooner than you Think!"; Tuesday, 8 p.m. "Peace or Fire on the Earth?" and Wednesday, 8 p.m. "Eternity is Real and for Keeps".

Regulations prohibit the stocking of fish in Minnesota streams and lakes by private persons, except by permit, to prevent the introduction of disease carrying fish or species harmful to those already present in the waters.

Home Run Power Flashed Tuesday

Steve Nordhagen all had three hits apiece for the winners who enjoyed a healthy 24-11 base hit advantage. Nordhagen, the game's winning pitcher, hit a sixth inning home run. Mike Drury and Jim Olson picked up three hits apiece for Times-KTRF, with Drury hitting a two-run second inning home run.

Paul Forsberg was tagged with the pitching loss.

Popplers 12, Pro. Bldg. 9

Popplers scored 11 runs over the first two innings enroute to a 12-9 decision over Professional Building.

Professional Building matched a five-run Popplers first inning, but the winners scored six times in the second frame to take command.

Popplers held a sizeable 13-6 base hit advantage, but topped the error charts 7-4. Mike Stewart was the game's winning pitcher. John Barry took the loss.

Grain Belt 9, Jaycees 4

Grain Belt broke open a tight 4-3 ball game with a five run fifth inning to beat the Jaycees 9-4.

Bob Gustafson enjoyed a perfect three for three day at the plate for Grain Belt while Bob Kappilla and Bill Poole were both three for four. Grain Belt posted a 16-10 base hit advantage. The Jaycees committed two of the game's three errors.

Bob Sullivan decisioned Dave Olin on the mound.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our most heartfelt thanks to each one who showed their love and expression of sympathy in many different ways during the loss of our dear husband and father. Special thanks to Rev. and Mrs. Ron Dalzell who came and conducted the funeral in the absence of our pastor and for their singing and playing. Thanks to Dr. and Mrs. Johnson and to the pallbearers and to the ladies who served the lunch, to Green Funeral Home for all their kindness shown, to everyone who sent food or came to the home, and for all memorials, cards and flowers. All these kindnesses mean so much in the hour of sadness. God richly reward each one.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our most heartfelt thanks to each one who showed their love and expression of sympathy in many different ways during the loss of our dear husband and father. Special thanks to Rev. and Mrs. Ron Dalzell who came and conducted the funeral in the absence of our pastor, and for their singing and playing. Thanks to Dr. and Mrs. Johnson and to the pallbearers and to the ladies who served the lunch, to Green Funeral Home for all their kindness shown, to everyone who sent food or came to the home, and for all memorials, cards and flowers. All these kindnesses mean so much in the hour of sadness. God richly reward each one.

LEGAL NOTICE

July 2, 9, 16, 1975
Order for Hearing on Petition for General Administration
State of Minnesota,
County of Pennington-ss.
IN COUNTY COURT
PROBATE DIVISION
IN THE MATTER OF THE ESTATE OF Agnes Tornes, Decedent.

IT IS ORDERED that the petition for general administration filed herein and any objections filed thereto be heard on July 23, 1975, at 2:00 o'clock P.M. by this court in the courthouse in Thief River Falls, Minnesota. That, if proper, at said time and place a representative will be appointed to administer the estate, who shall collect all assets and file an inventory thereof, pay all legal debts, claims, and taxes, and expenses of administration, and sell such real and personal property as may be necessary and for the best interests of the estate. Upon completion of administration, the representative shall file a final account for allowance and shall distribute the estate to the persons thereunto entitled as ordered by the court and do all other acts to close the estate.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED, that creditors of decedent file their claims in this court within sixty (60) days from the date hereof and that said claims be heard on September 3, 1975, at 1:30 o'clock P.M. by this court in the courthouse in Thief River Falls, Minnesota.

NOTICE OF HEARING ON PETITION TO VACATE WALKWAY IN BLOCK ONE OF OAKVILLE ADDITION

Notice is hereby given that a Petition has been filed to vacate the ten (10) foot pedestrian way between lots twenty-one (21) and twenty-two (22) of Block One (1) in Oakville addition.

Petitioners desire to construct four (4) new dwelling houses on Lots 21, 22, 23, 24 and 25 of Block 1 and the existence of the walkway interferes with the planned construction.

Petitioners will convey to the City a public walkway to replace the walkway to be vacated. The new walkway is proposed to be located seventy-five (75) feet south of the walkway to be vacated and the legal description of the new walkway is as follows:

The Southerly ten feet (10) of Lot twenty-one (21) of Block One (1) of Oakville Addition to the City of Thief River Falls.

Said petition will be heard and considered by the City Council in the Council Chambers of the Municipal Auditorium Building of said City at 8:30 P.M. on the twelfth (12) day of August, 1975, at which time and place all persons desiring to be heard with regard to said petition may appear and present such information as they desire to the City Council.

Dated this 14th day of July, 1975.

NOTICE OF HEARING ON IMPROVEMENT TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that the City Council of Thief River Falls, Minnesota will meet in the Council Chambers in the City Auditorium Building at 7:30 p.m. on August 12, 1975 to consider making the following improvements, pursuant to M.S.A. 429.011 to 429.111.

WATER MAIN AND SANITARY SEWER EXTENSIONS

Greenwood Street, T.H. No. 59 East approximately 1,100 feet:

The proposed improvement would consist of water main and sanitary sewer extensions on Greenwood Street from Highway 59 East approximately 1,100 feet.

Property to be benefitted by this proposed project is parts of Gov't. Lots 8 and 9 in Section 35, T. 154 N., R. 43 W., Blocks 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 and part of 7 in Nelson's First Addition and Gov't. Lots 6, 7 and part of 8 in Section 2, T. 153 N., R. 43 W.

The estimated cost of the above proposed project is $46,000.

Dated this 11th day of July, 1975.

Increase Alfalfa Yields
Fertilize Now

Three requirements for top alfalfa production are adequate moisture, proper varieties and good fertilization. Alfalfa is a heavy user of potash. It takes 15 lbs. of phosphate and 50 lbs. of potash on soils of average fertility to produce one ton of alfalfa.

Now's the time to make sure your alfalfa has the nutrients necessary for maximum production this year. See us for your fertilizer supply.

DESERT OF TREES

Many of us grew up with pictures of caravans crossing the sands of the Sahara. Those in the West know that the desert has many faces.
